My dear Mrs. Bailey:

Many thanks
for the addresses which I am entering in my general utility note-books.
I am really getting a pretty good collection which should be very useful to myself and my friends in the event of foreign travel.

When I may get
away is problematical, but I am hoping for next year, and, should I stay here in my stomach, I shall certainly count upon you
for information.

It's odd about that
"other place", because,
you know, it was one you "went to"

and "bird". Surely it could not be Castroporami. Perhaps you will run across it some day.

Sincerely yours

Triffels Osborne
