

matter for it is interest only, or it is an injury to myself which all would acknowledge. I am most grateful to you for bringing the matter to my notice, and I wish you could take some action in the press - if I may be so bold as to suggest it.

I don't know whether the Authors Society in New York would be of any use in the matter. I shall enquire of the Secretary of the English Society of Authors.

With kindest thanks to you,

My dear Mr. Allen:

I am very much obliged for your letter. The "British Bulletin" had no right to take a story from one of my books & publish it as a new story without my permission. I do not know whether, under American law, such an offence is punishable, but if it is I should be disposed to take action.

I am writing at once to the Bulletin & warning that they insert an apology for their offence. I also think that the press should take up such a
