

BEVERLY FARMS.

July 5. 1896

John D. Rockefeller Esq.

Dear Sir.

Presuming on my acquaintance with you when we lived in Cleveland I take pleasure in introducing to you my friend, Mr. Perriu, whose letter will tell you in what he wishes to engage your interest.

Mr. Perriu's book, "The Religion of Philosophy" is the most original and brilliant work on the subject with which I am acquainted and I feel sure that no American philosopher equals him in power of expression. These qualities give him great power in the presentation of any subject connected with his suby study.

Yours truly
James Ford Rhodes
