My dear Mr. Lookesley

I am very glad indeed to learn that my Pitt volumes have been finding favor in the judgment of so competent a critic, & I thank you for the kind manner in which you express yourself upon them.

They are still two volumes to come but they are already in great part written & will come out I hope at the beginning of next year.

I have no doubt that with your literary taste & knowledge the neighbourhood of London will be a far more agreeable residence than any remote district of Yorkshire.

Believe me always very sincerely yours
Stanhope
