

Boston: May 12. 1924.

The Merrymount Press

Dear Sir:

I do not know if copies of the Hickley Bills are still to be had or not. We were nearly the printer of it.
You might write to R. H. Hickley Co., 142 Berkeley St. Boston. They could tell you.

I enclose a list of the few books
we publish: Our bills put your name on our list for any future issues.
Our work here has been given so, that we are scarcely likely, however, to issue books on our own account.

Some other cylinders go under another cover.

Truly yours

D. B. Updike

We originally printed British editions on Japan paper. Hand-made paper and 1000 on machine-made paper. Since then it has been reprinted, but not by us.
Whether copies of our book remain I know not.

D. B. U.

William Ryder Esq
120 West 32^d Street

New York City.