

1828
Dear Sir,
Your obliging letter through Mr Johnston has remained too long unanswered for which, I am in my family and much concerned & anxiously wait for the ~~response~~.

I had always a strong inclination to have my money to do with Annals. Thomey tempted me into one, and if money were not to a person on his education a rational object, I should have been properly furnished by the subsequent conduct of those Parties for being seduced by such a consideration.
I am pleased with your frankness, and you say you have anticipated people to their authors, my answer. Poets, whatever name they are regarded as, I think, Poets may do seldom work - You will regret succeed when they work to order. I think, as much as I am not under that necessity, any one, and your liberalizing being several pieces by I would prompt you, I am sure the which were voluntary, to do your utmost for but a word will suffice the best terms between us, the best terms you can afford are below what I can bring myself to accept - You are perhaps an one that the Annals with their ornaments, I have destroyed the sale of ~~some~~ ~~pieces~~ which (tell that I preventions of some will I must be Governor on I believe, was transferred to this Country) brought substantial people to their authors, I think, as much as any one, and your liberalizing I am sure to do your utmost for the best terms the Community - but what avails it? - competition, the Idol of the Political economists, in fact runs every thing. - Adieu, preserve my love to Mrs. Hale, I believe in sincerely yours Wm Wordsworth
