Dear Mrs Lewis,

Nothing can be more kind & pleasant than your invitation, and I need some strength of mind to say that I fear I ought not to accept it. You see, Monday & Music make my evenings of repose during the week, - not another evening is disengaged, - and the next, that of Tuesday, has four demands on me - including a daylight one. All the same, I am happy that you & Mr Lewis can be so propitious to anything so agreeable to yours Truly
