

TELEPHONE NO
1163 BATTERSEA

48, OVERSTRAND MANSIONS,
BATTERSEA PARK,
S.W.

Sept. 24. 1907

Dear Sir

All, or nearly all, my Clarion articles
have been republished
with other Clarion
articles in a 6th
book, which you
can still get, I think,
"The Religious Doubts

TELEPHONE NO
1163 BATTERSEA

48, OVERSTRAND MANSIONS,
BATTERSEA PARK,
S.W.

Most modern apologetists
are, I am afraid, futile.
They know no theology.
After the Latin Schoolmen
I know nothing better than Butler's Analogy
which can be bought
for 1/-, (I think) - ~~at Deak's~~ ~~the~~
in Dent's "Everyman's Library" - yours faithfully,
G. K. Chesterton

G. K. Chesterton.

G. K. Chesterton. (author; poet; critic; etc.)

Much even of the credulities of historic Christianity was due not so much to the ignorance of brigs as to the criminal impatience
of practical men.

People talk of the repulsion of the Jews, they forget that the same impetuosity created the Parliaments. They talk of the Spaniards as running the suspicion, they forget that they were also discovering America.
Unfortunates also the great mass of highly logical literature which Christianity did find time to write is no longer taught

G. K. Chesterton. (author; poet; critic; etc.)

TELEPHONE NO
1183 BATTERSEA

48, OVERSTRAND MANSIONS,
BATTERSEA PARK,
S.W.

G. K. Chesterton.

Most modern Apologists
are, I am afraid, futile.
They know no theology.
After the Latin School men
I know nothing better
than Butler's Analogy
which can be bought
for 1/- (I think) -
~~at Deak's~~
in Deak's "Everyman's Library" - yours faithfully
G. K. Chesterton

and. Kable Howard, photographs, see reverse of (this leaf).