

Gads Hill Place,
Higham by Rochester, Kent.

Saturday Sixteenth January 1864

Dear Sir

In reply to your note, I beg that you will do me the favour to send the enclosed and forward it to its destination. I need not give you the trouble but that you have uncourteously imitated the example of Mr Bennett's daughter, in giving me no address, as there is, which I am hopeful put on the supposition of a post paid letter.

Yours affectionately
Charles Dickens

Mr Thomas Dixon
