Cowboy Turned Historian To Speak At Guignol Tonight

An old cowboy and ranchman turned historian will tell some absorbing tales of the old West to a group of 8 p.m. in Guignol Theatre. Dr. Thomas D. Clark, head of the History Department, has announced that Edward Everett Ruess, research professor of history at Oklahoma University, who will give an enthusiastic interpretation of the West in his discussion of "The Spirit of the Frontier," is appearing as a Blazer lecturer under the sponsorship of the History Department. There will be no admission charge.

Lectures of a public nature are sponsored regularly by the History Department through a fund given annually by Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Blazer of Ashland. Mrs. Blazer is a member of the University Board of Trustees.

"DR. DALE IS KNOWN NATIONALLY" as a charming storyteller and has a great reputation as a humorist. Dr. Clark stated, "Many will probably recall his popular lectures given here at the University two years ago."

Sociology Department Sponsors Study In Inter-Group Relations

The Sociology Department in cooperation with the Commission on the National Conference of Christians and Jews is presently conducting a seminar in inter-group relations.

According to Dr. Gordon W. Lovoy, consultant for the seminar, this is the first inter-racial seminar in this field to be conducted in the South.

The purpose of the course is to sensitize people to an awareness of inter-group situations and to study some of the approaches that can be used in an effort to lessen any tension in a situation that may exist.

Welch Ninth New Dean At UK In Five Years

The appointment of Dr. Frank J. Welch, Dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, makes the ninth new academic division head since a period of less than five years.

Since September, 1942, each of the University's seven colleges have acquired a new dean, the graduates school having two changes.

Five appointments were made to the vacancies created by the deaths as a result of deaths, and one following a resignation. The ninth position was that of Dean of the College of Pharmacy created in 1947, when University of Louisville College of Pharmacy merged with UK and Dr. Earl P. Stone was appointed head after the consolidation.

In a statement to the Board of Trustees President H. L. Donovan said, in part, "Cognizant of the fact that Dr. Cooper was approaching his seventieth birthday I began to observe agricultural leaders in action more than 2 years ago with the view of having in mind a man of great leadership to recommend to the Board of Trustees for this position."

Tuthill To Give First Talk In UK Institute Of Politics Opening At Guignol Monday

To further the interest in the nature of democratic politics which has been stirred by contemporary events, domestic and foreign, and to aid in the clarification and understanding of government under our two party system, the Department of Political Science is sponsoring this institute. It will open July 9 and close July 27.

Be Consistent With Child, Sociologist Tells Institute

Parents who spank a child one day, only to coddle him the next for the same offense, make it impossible for their offspring to understand or trust his universe. Dr. Mildred J. Morgan, Florida State University sociologist, told delegates to the UK's fifth annual Family Life Institute recently.

Dr. Morgan told the UK audience that consistency in the emotional climate of the home is of major importance in giving children a feeling of stability.

"These youngsters should be treated as advanced degrees, candidates for the doctorate, will be charged a fee of $20 which will cover the above with the exception of The Kentucky and in addition, the Graduate fees are payable not later than Monday, Aug. 6."

I Know Better Than You

Freedom of the press, guaranteed by our Constitution, is encountering a growing obstacle in the flat refusal of many public officials to divulge what is going on in their conduct of office.

This I know better than the people policy, so common today among a multitude of officeholders, is rapped by James S. Pope, managing editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, in an article in the July Atlantic Monthly.

Washington is the fountainhead of a cult "which holds that it is dangerous for news of government to leak out in any natural, unprocessed form," according to Mr. Pope.

Obviously, few public officials would dare challenge Freedom of the Press, yet they can weaken and perhaps eventually destroy it if they are allowed to strangle freedom of information through bureaucratic processing.

"The truth is that we can have a completely legalistic Freedom of the Press and at the same time lose a vital part of the information which gives this freedom any meaning," says Editor Pope.

"We can lose it through a combination of guileful concealment and coloration by public servants, and just plain apathy among the workers of the press."

There is hope in the report that many leading newspapers are conducting on-the-spot open-forum and court battles against the mounting trend toward official suppression.

"A robust scepticism is needed in the approach to the whole problem of freely flowing public information," Pope writes.

"Such scepticism has been strangely dormant for some time, but there are signs of regeneration."

Committees Then And Now

One hundred and seventy-five years ago the committee system in our national government apparently functioned better than it does today.

At present it appears that Washington committees are formed for no nobler purpose than to dig up political dirt about opposition bigwigs.

One wonders whether there is any comparison between the framers of the Declaration of Independence and the party-minded politicians serving on a number of current government committees.

The Fight Will Go On

Apparently there is now some basis for believing that the fighting in Korea will soon end.

But a truce in Korea will not mean that the line has been held against totalitarianism. Above all, we must not be lured into the foolish dream that the world is on the verge of peace.

The American people must have foresight enough and courage enough to continue the present build-up of our defenses, even without the impetus of bloody war.

Reader Is Incensed By Anti-Greek Show

Dear Editor: Once upon a time there was a beautiful girl, who when she was graduated from college, went to Hollywood to get into the movies.

She was bounced from one studio receptionist to another. She did everything in her power, but never got a break.

"This girl was beautiful. She was talented. She had made good grades in college. She carried letters of recommendation from four of her drama professors."

She worked so hard in Hollywood trying to make a good impression that she soon died. I remember reading her obituary that she was a member of the Tri-Upsilon Society.

Why wasn't this nice, good, sweet, smart, talented, beautiful, poised kid given a chance. This makes me believe that the movie industry is more snobbish than Greek sororities.

However, after seeing the slanted Ag Bulletin Has Interest For Parents

A new bulletin, "Family Farm-Transfer Arrangements," should be of particular interest to parents who wish to transfer their farm to a son or son-in-law or other member of their family.

The University's Department of Farm Economics has said that the purpose of the bulletin is to suggest procedures for a successful within-the-family farm transfer.

While such transfers are highly desirable, faulty ones often cause heartaches as well as a loss to the parents, the operating heirs, other children and to the farm itself.

It is generally desirable to make plans for the transfer, if not the transfer itself, during the life of the owner, the bulletin states.

A good procedure in planning and making a family farm-transfer, the bulletin says is to: 1. Give early consideration as to how and when to make the transfer.

2. Consult with the entire family, including all children, regarding transfer plans. 3. Transfer the farm at a negotiated price in line with the interests of all concerned.

4. Consult a lawyer and have him put the transfer in legal form.

Kentucky Political Facts Analyzed In Book Authored By UK Professors

Professors Jasper B. Shannon and Ruth McQueen, of the Political Science Department, have arranged a compilation of election statistics, and an analysis of political behavior in a book called "Presidential Politics in Kentucky, 1824-1948."

The authors have gone into dust-drawn Courthouse records, and State files and newspaper clippings to find out how voters in each election, the number who actually voted, and the number who voted in each county for each party.

ANALYZING EACH ELECTION, they show what political and economic forces were at work at the time, and how personal interest, sectional prejudices and the personalities of the candidates affected the vote in each instance.

These two teachers have brought to light thousands of fascinating facts about Kentucky politics.

They point out that Kentuckians are strange when they go to the polls. When we go to the polls we are known to be hot-tempered, stubborn, tough, proud—and unpredictable.

Design Committee Holds Sessions At Research Laboratory

An inspection trip of Kentucky roads yesterday completed the sessions of the Flexible Pavement (black-top) design committee held during last week at the Highway Department's research laboratory on the campus of the University.

A. O. Neiser, director, division of design, Kentucky Department of Highways, conducted the inspection of the design committee.

Members of the committee were impressed with the research work at the University, Mr. Neiser said.

"Many of our design standards have been brought to the attention of other states and are based upon practical research. Heavy modern traffic has brought new problems in road building and maintenance."

The road we built today must be prepared to carry many thousands more vehicles than the road we built a few years ago.

Gilbert To Speak At BSU Program

Chaplain L. B. Gilbert of the Veteran's Administration Hospital will be the speaker in the second program of the King's Hour series tonight at 8 p.m. at the Baptist Student Center.

The theme of the Baptist Student Center's noon day devotion July 9-13 will be "Serving Christ in My Vocation."

Students Produce Greek Myth Series

The UK Radio Series, in cooperation with the Department of Ancient Languages, is presenting a dramatic series, entitled "Gems from Greek Mythology."

The original productions will emanate from WREX and will be broadcast over station WLEX at 8:45 each Monday night.

We seem to be stirred more by strong personalities and hot issues than do the people of most states.

For example, William Jennings Bryan brought out a record vote three times in this state with his silver issue and fiery oratory.

There is no consistency in Kentucky voting. And there is no relation between voting for national and state offices.

KENTUCKIANS LIKE NATIVE SONS, but the state voted overwhelmingly against Lincoln in 1864.

Another contradiction is that Kentucky has always liked military men as candidates, but in 1912 Teddy Roosevelt got only 23.3 per cent of the vote.

The reports point out that, contrary to the original theory, Old-Age and Survivors Insurance and Unemployment Compensation have not reduced the need for assistance measures.

"KENTUCKY IS PRESENTLY appropriating $18,000,000 a year for welfare and health, including public assistance and institutions."

State expenditures for public assistance have increased from $223,000 in 1928 to $2,500,000 in 1950.

State expenditures for public assistance include aid to the needy aged, visually blind and dependent children.

THE INSTITUTE WILL CLOSE on July 27 with a luncheon, at which the Hon. John Sherman Cooper will deliver the principal address.

Cooper, one of the most widely known and respected political figures in Kentucky, began his political career as a county and circuit judge in Kentucky.

Cooper has more recently been associated with the United Nations, where he served as alternate United States representative to the General Assembly.

College Of Law Is Credited With Long List Of Firsts

The first law school in the state of Kentucky to be admitted to membership in the Association of American Law Schools was the UK College of Law. Organized in 1908, the college started operation under the leadership of Judge W. T. Lafferty, for whom the present law building is named.

In 1912 the college began publication of its own law review, being one of the first schools in the nation to do so. A number of years later it established what is believed to have been the first practice court in the country to be made an integral part of the regular curriculum.

Judge Lerman Chalkley was named acting dean of the College of Law when Judge Lafferty died in 1922, and Charles J. Turk, now president of Manchester College, succeeded him in 1924.

In 1925 THE COLLEGE became the first law school in Kentucky to be placed on the approved list of the American Bar Association, and when Dean Turk resigned in 1927 to become president of Centre College, he was succeeded by Alvin E. Evans, who served for 21 years and acquired a national reputation as a legal scholar.

In 1931 the UK College of Law was granted a charter by the Order of the Coif. In 1939 the school moved into the present building, one of the newest ones on the campus.

During World War II the college operated without interruption, though with reduced enrollment, just as it did during World War I. In September 1947 the enrollment was permitted to reach an all-time high of 286.

The international situation and the graduation of the majority of the student veterans had resulted in a lower enrollment by the fall of 1950, but the College contemplates no reduction in course offerings. At the same time smaller classes are expected to result in greater attention to the individual student.

THROUGH THE YEARS, as an integral part of the University, the College of Law has served the Commonwealth by sending out many graduates who have become leaders in the profession. It is a tradition of the school, however, that its opportunity for service is not limited in scope. Rather it attempts to offer its training in such a way that its graduates can practice their profession on a local, regional, or national level. Much of the school's success in the past seems to lie in the fact that it has studiously avoided limiting its outlook.

The UK College of Law has long been fully accredited by all agencies which establish standards for law schools, including the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, the Association of American Law Schools, the American Bar Association, the Regents of the University of the State of New York, and the Courts and Bar Examiners of all 48 states.

IT HAS A CHAPTER of the Order of the Coif, an honor society for the recognition of excellence in law study, and is the only college law school in this select group which comprises fewer than one-fourth of the law schools in the nation.

Its law review, the Kentucky Law Journal, is listed on all recognized lists of leading legal periodicals. The College of Law library, containing more than 20,000 volumes, is among the six largest in the South, and it is regionally recognized for the completeness of its reports collection.

All members of the College of Law faculty have had experience in practice and have done graduate work in law.

AINO KOLK, Ellen Kerckhoff, and Marietta Georgiadou, three residents of the "Cosmopolitan House", crowd around the telephone to see who's calling. Aino is from Stockholm, Sweden; Ellen is from Heidelberg, Germany; and Marietta is from Athens, Greece.

Foreign Girls Form 'Cosmopolitan House'

Six popular co-eds are living these days at the Cosmopolitan House on Linden Walk. Ellen Kerckhoff, Heidelberg, Germany; Marietta Georgiadou, Athens, Greece; Aino Kolk, Stockholm, Sweden; and three American girls provide the international atmosphere.

The foreign girls only regret if they must return to their home countries in September. "These have been the two happiest years of my life," Marietta says, while the other two are in agreement.

Ellen, a graduate student, has been here only nine months, but hopes to pass a stiff examination in English at home to enable her to teach. She attends UK on a foreign exchange scholarship, while two UK men students took her here at the University of Heidelberg.

MARIETTA, A BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION GRADUATE, received her UK scholarship as a member of both Phi Beta Kappa and Mortar Board. Next year she will teach at Pierce American College for Girls in Athens, where she was formerly a student. She also came to UK on a Women's Club scholarship.

The Cosmopolitan Club will always be a treasured memory to the girls. Aino is club president now, while Marietta formerly held the office. Composed of 45 American and 55 foreign students, it has been a great help to them.

The easy formality between professors and students has impressed these girls very much, and they hope new foreign students will enjoy their stay at UK as much as they have.

Filson Club To Hear Dale

Members of the Filson Club, state historical society, will hold a special summer meeting today on the campus to hear Dr. Edwin Dwight Dale speak on "The Spirit of the Frontier."

Dr. Dale is being sponsored by the History Department as a Blazer Lecture and will talk to-night at 8 p.m. in the Guggenheim theater.

Dinner for members and their guests at the Student Union Building will precede the lecture. Reservations may be made by calling Dr. Jacqueline Hill at the Margaret I. King Library.

This is the second summer meeting of the Filson Club since its re-organization in 1944 until last year the club met only at its Louisville headquarters. Officers last year accepted an invitation from Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the University, to hold a summer meeting on the campus, and the same plan is again being followed this year.

The Filson Club has a current membership of 190.

Coffee Hour Legalized

At long last the University has legalized the 9 o'clock cup of coffee. "Perspectives on Contemporary Life," a special program offered for the first time this summer, regularly meets in the Cafeteria where students sip coffee and discuss lectures heard at 8 o'clock.

The discussion groups are composed of five or six people who are taking different courses. The purpose, aside from giving everyone a chance to analyze yesterday's ball games, is to exchange ideas heard from the lectures, particularly on those ideas which pertain to the different courses.

Most people connected with "Perspectives" think that the "coffee hour" is indeed valuable. It has brought a closer relationship between professors and students, and it has been a stimulus for intelligent thinking about current problems.

One characteristic of the lectures is that a definite conclusion is seldom—if ever—decided upon. However, it is difficult to reach agreement on subjects as the ultimate end of mankind, the place of the philosopher in modern society, and the other academic topics which have been kicked around the cafeteria since the summer session started.

To date, eight lectures have been presented on Anthropology, philosophy, the scientific method. Next week, the lectures will be given in conjunction with the Institute of Politics. Other lectures will deal with history, world politics, and religion.

Snake Pit To Be Shown Here Tuesday

The third in the series of summer motion picture programs, sponsored by the UK Extension Department, will be shown at 8:45 p.m. Tuesday in the Memorial Hall Amphitheater. The entire program will be consumed with the showing of "Snake Pit," a two-hour production which gives some insight to the workings of contemporary psychology.

"Snake Pit," starring Olivia De Havilland, Mark Stevens, and Celeste Holm, answers a cry born of hate, fear, despair—with the substance of love, courage and faith.

"Snake Pit" is taken from Mary Jane Ward's best seller on life in a mental institution. Miss De Havilland plays the title role of the confused mental patient who triumphs against great odds and emerges triumphant.

In case of rain, the movie will be held in Memorial Hall.

UK Dames to Meet At Maxwell Place

Mrs. John Chennault, executive secretary of the UK Dames, announced that the organization will hold its regularly monthly meeting at 8 p.m. July 11 at the home of Mrs. Herman L. Donovan at Maxwell Place.

The program will include a style show sponsored by the Dames. Mrs. Chennault said she hopes the wives of students will attend the meeting and join the organization.

Bill-Bored

While sitting next to the little fish pool in the center of the cafeteria and watching the little fish swim around in the blue water, I suddenly realized that this isn't such a bad world to live in after all. It's not so bad after all.

Ann Perrine Gets Lead In 'Claudia'

Ann Perrine will have the title role in "Claudia," which will play at the Transylvania College Arena Theater at 8:15 on July 10 through July 14, it has been announced.

"Claudia," Rose Frankan's delightful comedy of married life, is one of four plays being produced this summer by the Transylvania Arena Theater Group.

Miss Perrine is attending both the University and Transylvania College this summer. She will be graduated in August from the University with a major in English and in the fall will attend the University of Connecticut on a fellowship in drama literature.

In the last week of August the theater group will present "Out of the Storm," in which Miss Perrine will have one of the leads.

Griffin Wins Law Award

Oswald R. Griffin, a June graduate in the College of Law, has been named winner of the annual Nathan Burkan Memorial Competition Award for the school year.

The cash award of $150 is given by American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers.

The paper submitted by Griffin was entitled "Copyright Law—Formalities. Deposit of Copies." It will be entered in national competition with papers from other law schools throughout the country.

Griffin served on the Kentucky Law Journal and expects to go on active duty with the Air Force next month. He was married recently to Miss Betty Lee Spragens, who is also a June graduate of the University.

End Of An Era Being Seen By Watchful Railroad Fans

By Rail Fan

Although, passing unnoticed by most Ukians, a great transition in transit is which means a stronger America—is being evidenced right here in the vicinity of UK. The diesel-electric locomotive is slowly but surely pushing the steam engine into the scrap tracks on the Southern Railway's famed Rite Hotel Division, which passes within a few blocks of the UK campus.

Nowadays, the atmosphere surrounding Frazer Hall and the Extension Station are less frequently penetrated by the screaming, friendly whistle and the sharp exhaust of the hissing steam engine. Instead we are now barraged almost hourly with monotone air horns and the dull thrum of roving diesel motors.

PERHAPS THE AVERAGE NORMAL INDIVIDUAL attaches no romance to this change, but for the true rail fan—and they do exist—it is easy to become a bit nostalgic as the thunder of the crack Royal Palm reverberates through the Scott Street Barracks around 8 p.m. as she heads toward Cincinnati with her consist of 16 coaches. It is easy for him to travel back 10 years or so to the days when the Palm was hauled by the great green and gold Schenectady-built Pa-4 Pacific, some of the finest steam motive power in the world.

This change received its start on April 18, 1934 when the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad placed into service a train called the Pioneer Zephyr, a train powered by a series of electric motors, the electricity for which was generated by diesel motors within the locomotive. Diesel-electrics weren't entirely new—a few diesel switchers had been in service for many years—but this was the first designed for road service.

When in 1935, however, the Baltimore and Ohio announced the purchase of the first independent diesel-electric road unit, the Pioneer Zephyr diesel was not an independent locomotive, but rather a part of an articulated train, and assigned it to the crack Royal Blue, the world began to take notice.

Although few realized it at the time, the beloved steam engine was doomed. Soon the diesel was taken up by such roads as the Santa Fe and the North Western. The Pennsylvania long roared as the head-

Six Teams Entered In Softball League

Intramural softball teams played their first games of the 1951 season on the Intramural Athletic Field behind Alumni Gym Monday afternoon. Six teams answered the opening day call of "play ball".

The opening day games featured a 2-0 shut-out by Gayle Caswell as the Barnstormers defeated the Cooperstown team in the second game of the day.

Results of the other games included a 3-1 victory for the Brewery Boys over the Campus Hawks, and a 12-9 win for the Men's Dorn over the Black Sox. The Brewery Boys will over the Campus Hawks was ruled a practice game because of the failure of several players to appear for the contest.

BILL MCCURBIN, INTRAMURAL DIRECTOR, said he expected one of the best years since the games were introduced back around 1927. The rules for teams and players will be the same as those used last year. All players must be students at the University for the summer semester. Players are allowed to play with one team only during the current season.

Rosters, with a maximum number of 18 men each, must be complete and turned in before the second game for each team. In the matter of forfeited games the teams will be allowed five minutes before the game will be called a forfeit. Each team is allowed two forfeits before it is automatically eliminated from the tournament. All games will be five inning contests.

MCCURBIN SAID HE HOPED to make arrangements to offer trophies for the winning team in the tournament. He also stated that all postponed games must be played when rescheduled with an added contest that games would be rescheduled at

Just Two Months Left Until Kickoff Time

Speaking of this summer weather, you must remember it can go on like this for days and days—and then get away. So let's talk football and maybe the thoughts of the fall weather may relieve sweating brows.

Athletic Director HERBERT SHIPLEY has reported that advance sale of season tickets has been good. He has made no comparison with the price of a season book for all home games is $25. Tickets may be obtained at the box offices in Memorial Coliseum.

The season opens Sept. 15 with a home game with Tennessee Tech. Tennessee Tech is a member of the Ohio Valley Conference and will be in town to acclimate the Wildcats to game conditions in preparation for one of the schedule's toughest Sept. 29 games at the University of Mississippi at Oxford, Miss., Oct. 6.

Georgia Tech at Lexington, Oct. 13; Mississippi at Lexington, Oct. 20; Villanova at Lexington, Oct. 27; University of Florida at Gainesville, Fla., Nov. 3; Miami at Miami, Florida, at Lexington, Nov. 10; Tulane at New Orleans, Nov. 17; Georgia at Lexington, Nov. 24; University of Tennessee at Lexington.

Two of the home games will be played at night—They are the Mississippi State and Villanova games. All other home games begin at 2 p.m.

The homecoming game will be Nov. 3 with the University of Miami. This year's schedule appears to be somewhat stronger than the 1950 schedule. The addition of Villanova and Tulane present two hurdles on the way back to New Orleans to defend the Sugar Bowl Championship.

Of course there's Tennessee, whom experts say will really be loaded this year. Last year's team is returning

Gain To Play With All Stars

Bob Gain, Kentucky's all-American all-conference footballer, has agreed to play in the College All-Stars—Cleveland Browns football game at Soldier's Field in Chicago in August.

This game pits the best of last year seniors against the professional champion Browns. The Browns earned the right to meet the all-stars by defeating the Los Angeles Rams in the pro championship game last year.

After the game, Gain will report to the Green Bay Packers with whom he has signed a professional contract.

In the all-star game, Gain will be playing against one of his former team mates at UK, Don "Dopey" Phelps, a Wildcat ballback through the 1949 season, is now a member of the Browns.

Research Workers Get Regional Awards

Two UK Experiment Station research workers recently received regional awards from the Texas Research Foundation. They are Dr. W. D. Valleau, honored for his work in tobacco breeding, especially tobacco with a low nicotine content, and Dr. E. M. Emmert of the Horticulture Department, named for his experiments in plant nutrition.

NCAA Refuses To Claim Kin With Titleholding Wildcats

This means that the Southeastern Conference champion will meet an all-large team and the Southern Conference winner an at-large team at Raleigh, N. C. At Chicago, the Big 10 champion will play an at-large team and the winner will engage the winner of the Eastern (Ivy) League-at-large team game.

THE BIG SEVEN CHAMP WILL MEET the Southwest Conference and the Missouri Valley Conference will tangle with the Border Conference champion at Kansas City. Opposing teams may figure that if they can't beat the Cats at Raleigh, New York, or Minneapolis, what could they do with a better team on its home court.

THEY HAVE BEEN YELLING to "Break up the Yankees" in the American League and silently they have been muttering the same thing about Kentucky basketball. There is little reason to believe, however, that the team with more national championships than any other team in history will be relieved of their reputation soon.

Captain Walt Hirsch is the only member of the starting line-up who will be missing next year. Observers believe with the experience gained by the team as a whole and the expectations that Cliff Hahn will be coming into his own, the team will be better stocked.

Madison Square Garden was not chosen as a tournament location for the first time since 1942. No reason was given for overlooking the Big City but it may have been the "fix" scandal uncovered there last year.

Should UK gain a semi-final berth next year, it will not be the first time a Wildcat team has appeared in Seattle. In 1949, the team built around the "Fabulous Four" defeated Oklahoma A. & M. in the final round of the NCAA tournament there.

1. The first modern World Series was played in 1903. Boston, of the American League, defeated Pittsburgh of the National League, five games to three. The series attracted little attention, drawing only a record of 24 thousands in one season to shoot at.
2. Odds are 35 to 1 against either; or 11 to 1 to 1 against either 4 or 10; 5 to 1 against either 8 or 9; 3 to 1 against 6 or 8; 5 to 1 against 7. Various students of the game claim that the dice used in gambling houses are weighted in about 80 to 90% of the cases. An honest man ain't got a chance.
3. Dempsey won the title from Jess Willard, July 4, 1915, in Toledo, Ohio. Dempsey floored his opponent seven times in the first round, battered him unmercifully in the second and third, and Willard's handlers threw in the towel before the fourth round began.
4. If you missed this one, you may send your application for admission to the University of Tennessee on the next mail. The answer is "Bear" Bryant, UK football coach.
5. The Four Horsemen were Harry Stuhldreher, Don Miller, James Crowley, and Elmer Layden. They played together for the first time in 1922 and for the last time in the Rose Bowl, Jan. 1, 1929. While at Notre Dame, the Kentucky won 27 games, lost 2, and tied 1.
6. The Helms Athletic Foundation and a group of associated basketball authorities selected the University of Kentucky as national champions in 1933. That same year, Forrest Siah, Wildcat great, was selected by the same organization as player of the year. The season record of UK that year was 20 won and 2 lost.
