Library / Study

Michael Franklin has transformed this Library / Study into a more sleek and modernized environment. Technology has taken us to a new realm in electronics. Wires and large screen televisions are becoming obsolete. We are able to get back to clean design without the worry of where the televisions might go or the computer station might have to be set up.

Michael has used a PVC fabric on the walls for sound retention and a finish you could not receive with ordinary paint. A 150-year-old rug was chosen to balance the traditional elements to the more clean lined upholstery and furnishings.
