FROM THE LIBRARIAN OF CONGRESS

The book is the most conservative and the most liberal, the most traditional and the revolutionary of media, the most atheistical and the most reverential, the most retrospective, and the most futuristic... The book is the reservoir of all the ideas that we have forgotten, and will be the reservoir for ideas still unborn.

A CAT STORY; or, A DISGUISED PRINCESS IN DISTRESS

Staff members gave it the "ole college try" this week in rescuing a white cat twice in one day. It was first noticed crouching on a window ledge of Reference Department. A quick check showed that it was trapped by the grill work over the area-way outside. The window was unlocked and the gentle creature gratefully allowed herself to be carried to the front door and released. Apparently she then took off and up the nearest tree adjacent to King North as she was next observed there by an interested Acquisitions staff. For several hours staff members watched, worried, or tried unsuccessfully to lure the cat down. A member of Collection Development Department even wondered about obtaining the services of Sam Bowie! With reassuring words from the Humane Society (and an unsuccessful attempt in near-freezing weather by a member of Acquisitions to reach the animal by a ladder--too short) the feline was left alone. Sometime later students brought a taller ladder from Fine Arts and the rescue was accomplished. The Green Bean is happy to report that the white cat has finally found a SAFE refuge in the home of Libby Gilbert of Acquisitions.

Oh for a booke and a quiet nooke
Either indoor or out,
With the green leaues whispering overhead
Or the street cries all about,
Where I may reade all at my ease
Both of the New and Olde
For a right good booke wherein to looke
Is better to me than golde.
