SENIOR COURT ISSUES DRASTIC REGULATIONS

Rules for the Behavior of
All Underclassmen Laid
Down by Seniors

FRESHMEN WARNED

Rules to direct the behavior of every underclassman and intended for the welfare of the University at large have been issued by the Senior Court with the promise of dire results if they are disobeyed. Especially are the Freshmen given instructions as to the proper way to conduct themselves. Offenders against the rules will be called before the Senior Court to explain their departure from the path of the righteous.

The following is the edict as laid down by the Seniors.

1. No member of the student body shall intrude on the special privileges heretofore enjoyed only by Seniors.
2. Freshmen shall at all times assume a respectful and deferential attitude toward upperclassmen.
3. Freshmen must be properly and neatly clad at all times.
4. No Freshman shall be permitted to sit at the head of a table in any dining room.
5. All underclassmen must attend every athletic rally.
6. No member of the University shall use the paths for short cuts across the grass.
7. No automobiles shall be parked or driven on the grass.
8. No person shall paint numerals on or otherwise deface the walls or buildings of the University.
9. No student shall be permitted to wear a sweater bearing the insignia of any institution other than that of the University of Kentucky.
10. No Freshman shall break a Senior at any dance.

The following interpretations are hereby presented with a view of clearing any doubts that may arise as to the correct meaning of the rules:

The term "upperclassmen" defines all Juniors and Seniors of the University while "underclassmen" refers to Freshmen and Sophomores.

The term "Special Privileges" is understood to include:

1. Wearing corduroys.
2. Carrying canes or swagger sticks.
3. Wearing mustaches.
4. Appearing on campus uncovered or without coat.

Persons affected by Rule No. 2 are advised to use particular caution at boarding houses, cafeteria, book store and at all public events of whatsoever nature.

The provisions of Rule No. 3 shall not apply to the wearing of coats or blouses by members of the University Battalion while at drill.

Any infringement of the above rules shall receive immediate and individual attention.

By Order of the Senior Court.

LAW SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Mr. R. W. Owens is Elected an Honorary Member.

The first meeting of the Henry Clay Law Society was held last Thursday in the club room in the Law Library at 8:00 o'clock. The meeting was called to order by Carl Denker, temporary chairman. The following officers were elected for the ensuing term: H. G. Bryan, president; Neville Moore, vice-president; Bailey B. Baxter, secretary; O. C. Walker, treasurer; Herbert Hale, attorney general; Ed Dabney, chaplain; Sylvester Woods, sergeant-at-arms; Dean Slagle, critic. By a unanimous vote of the society Mr. R. W. Owens was elected an honorary member.

A committee, composed of Carl Denker, Ed Dabney and Dean Slagle, was appointed to confer with Dean Lafferty as to the course to be pursued by the society this year.

Now that the Henry Clay Law Society is again running it is earnestly desired that every member of the College of Law be present at every meeting. Law students, this is your society and it is up to you to make it the best society on the campus. Come out and help us!

Clifton Pond to Be Scene of Annual Tug of War

The annual tug-of-war between the Freshmen and Sophomore Classes of the University will be held Friday afternoon across Clifton Pond. This is one of the old institutions of the University and it is designed to be furnished with "pep" and enthusiasm which every school must have in order to make a name for itself off of its own campus.

Due to war conditions the contest was not held last year but both classes are preparing with additional enthusiasm to have this affair more than make up for the one omitted last year.

The school has always been given a half holiday for this event in years gone by but up to the time of the Kernel going to press the Administrative officers had not announced the holiday.

The first tug-of-war was held in 1915, when the Sophomores, though smaller in numbers, were able by superior strength to drag the "Frosh" through the icy depths. Every year since, the tabooed tar, dust, foot holds, etc., have been in evidence on both sides but the Freshmen have been able to conquer each year since the first.

The presidents of the two classes usually flip a coin for a choice of sides of the pond though the bald-headed class is usually placed opposite the

EVANS ELECTED STAGE MANAGER OF STROLLERS

Plans Completed by Dramatic Organization for Amateur Night

COMMITTEES NAMED

Plans for Amateur Night were made and the officers of the year elected at the first '19 meeting of the Strollers, held in their studio Monday afternoon. Herndon Evans, Junior, in the College of Arts and Science, was elected stage manager.

Mr. Evans, who is an old Stroller of fame, appeared in "The Lion and the Mouse," "Father and the Boys" and "How the Ham Saved the Homestead." The future of the biggest play in University dramatics is confidently left in his hands. For his assistance Preston Cherry, Senior Law student, was elected Advertising Manager, and Robert Rabble, Junior A. B., Business Manager.

Friday, October 31, the fateful Halloween, was decided upon as Amateur Night. Prizes of five dollars each will be awarded for the best individual act and for the best team act. Students must submit the names of their selections to the committee, Emery Frazier, Herndon Evans, Donald Dining and Martha Buckman, and compete in the try-outs for "place" on the program. The Halloween program will be judged by the following committee: Prof. Enoch Grehan, Wayne Haffler, Fred Augsburg, Milton Revill, Mary E. James and Allene Fratmann.

Prof. E. F. Farquhar and Prof. Mable have been appointed on the committee to judge and select the play for the year. It is reported that this committee is already at work.

FOLLOWS NEW RITUAL

Lighted only by tiny blazes from many flickering candles and decorated with vases of roses and carnations, the Recreation Hall of Patterson Hall furnished a pretty setting for the initiation of new members into the Young Women's Christian Association Sunday evening.

During the initiation service, Professor Lampert and Misses Jeanette and Maria Lampert accompanied by Mrs. Lampert, played several selections and the Misses Lampert rendered a special selection "Intermezzo Sinfonica" from the Cavalleria Rusticana by Mascagni.

FOOTBALL RALLY SHOWS SIGNS OF OLD-TIME PEP

Enthusiasm Aroused by U. K. Graduate and Community Singer.

"Did prohibition put a ban on college spirit?" We'll say it did NOT, Julius Wolf, a graduate of old "State," and W. R. Reves, of Cincinnati, succeeded in stirring up so much red hot pep in Chapel Friday that even the score of empty seats which insist on attending football rallies these days seemed to rise and yell.

"Our rooters at the Georgetown game were just about as useful as a trapdoor in a row boat," said Wolf. "Stoll Field isn't a cemetery but there was no sign of life in that crowd. That bunch was about as warm and inspiring in its enthusiasm as twenty-five cents worth of ice."

Mr. Reeves, denying the title of "Professor" and removing his coat simultaneously, proceeded to demonstrate the fact that Kentucky rooters have an enormous and hitherto unsuspected lung power. He stamped and they yelled. Before the hour was up they were inspired with so much pep that it lasted until Saturday afternoon and held the crowd in the bleachers during a steady, drenching downpour of rain, continuously cheering a fighting, if losing team.

U. K. MEN URGED TO BE CENSUS ENUMERATORS

Supervisor and Assistants Speak to Students in "Y" Rooms.

Students of the University of Kentucky were urged to act as census enumerators the first week in January at a meeting held in the University Y. M. C. A. room Tuesday afternoon. Joe Morris, census supervisor for the Seventh Congressional District; Major E. B. Ellis and Samuel H. Dalley, volunteer assistants, were speakers.

Mr. Morris explained that since the second semester at the University does not begin until January 6, students can work the second, third, fourth and fifth days of the month and make good money. Applications must be in by October 29 and may be had from R. W. Owens, Y. M. C. A. Secretary at the University.

Local Applicants.

The civic organizations and business men of Lexington who have taken an interest in Mr. Morris' problem of obtaining enumerators, have caused many applications to be sent in from the city and county. In adjoining counties little interest has been shown, and the number of applications received is far short of the number of enumerators needed.

The district under the supervision of Mr. Morris comprises the counties of Fayette, Woodford, Franklin, Scott, Bourbon, Clark, Powell, Estill, Lee, Owen, Henry and Oldham. Applications for positions may be had from Mr. Morris in room 208 of the Government Building in Lexington.

PHILOSOPHIANS TO HAVE MEMBERSHIP CONTEST

Papers for Admission to
Be In by October 20

Only a few days are left in which the young women of the University may become members of the Philosopherian Literary Society. Those desiring admission into the society are requested to write a paper which is to be handled in not later than October 20.

Following is a list of topics from which that for the paper may be chosen:

- The Race Riot Question.
- The Church Union.
- Omar Khayyam's Theory of Life.
- The Internal Struggle in Germany.
- The Theory of Spiritualism.
- The Actor's Strike.
- Life of Andrew Carnegie.
- The Economic Side of National Prohibition.
- Life and Work of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw.
- The Value of a Vacation.
- The Value of Swimming.
- The Danger of Hasty Demobilization.

Personal Experiences in Social Service Work.

Original Short Story (1000 or more words).

These papers are to be signed with a non-de-plume and together with an envelope containing the writer's real name and the pen name used are to be put under the door of Room 44 of Patterson Hall. Every Freshman girl as well as older girls who do not belong to the Philosopherian Literary Society are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to become members.

The society, which was established in 1882 for the purpose of furthering literary interests, is the only one in the University restricting its membership to women. Each year the Philosopherians present a play and at this time all members are given an opportunity to prove their ability along dramatic lines by trying out for parts in the play.

It is hoped that every girl not belonging to the society will write a paper and thus help to make this the most notable year in the history of the organization.

ADVERTISERS AND SUBSCRIBERS.

The management of the Kernel is putting forth every effort to see that each issue of the paper gets into the hands of every advertiser and subscriber on the mailing list.

If you fail to receive any issue during the session please notify the business manager of such failure and the matter will be given immediate attention.

EXCHANGES

ACTIVITY BUTTONS TO BE WORN
 BY COLUMBIA FRESHMEN.

Freshman Activity Buttons are soon to appear on the lapels of all active '23 men. The Student Board has definitely decided that this method will hereafter be used to distinguish the Freshmen with college spirit from their inactive classmates. The buttons are to be awarded for both athletic and non-athletic activities. A Freshman may permanently retain his button only if at the end of the season he is retained by the sport, publication, or society he went out for.

Hazing has hitherto been practiced on all Freshman alike. The new system of lapel buttons will give Sophomores an opportunity to single out the inactive yearlings and to concentrate their efforts in attempts to instill in them some smatterings of college spirit.

AN EXAMPLE OF "PEP."

According to the Georgetownian two special cars were required to transport the "Tiger" rooters to the Georgetown-Kentucky game the Saturday before last. Practically all the co-eds from Rucker Hall were in attendance.

S. A. E. INSTALLATION AT MIAMI.

One hundred and five men were initiated last Saturday, October 4, when Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity installed its Ohio Tau chapter here at Miami. Of this number, a large majority were alumni who had returned to be initiated as charter members of the new chapter.

Out of town visitors included delegations from: Ohio State, Cincinnati, Ohio Wesleyan, Michigan State, North Western, Indiana, Purdue, Case, Kentucky State, Denison and Illinois.

OGLETHORPE BECOMES CO-ED.

(Petrel.)

Last year Oglethorpe was made a co-educational institution. They have now three women students registered and several more waiting to arrange their courses.

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN HAS SUCCESSFUL CLOSE

Y. W. C. A. Enrolls Seventy-Five Members in Five-Day Canvass

The Membership Campaign of the Young Women's Christian Association, whose object was to secure an 100% enrollment among the new girls of the University, closed Saturday night with an enrollment of seventy-five new girls.

The campaign was launched on Tuesday morning by Miss Lucy Dean, Chairman of the Membership Committee. She was assisted by Miss Bernice Young in canvassing Patterson and Maxwell Halls, by Miss Virginia Griffith in canvassing Smith Hall and by Miss Mary Van Meter securing memberships from the town girls.

The Y. W. C. A. has bright prospects for the coming year. With almost an 100% enrollment and with a secretary coming the next semester, this promises to be the biggest and best year ever realized in the history of the Association.

NOTICE.

The women of the Freshmen and Sophomore Classes are reminded that Chapel attendance on Tuesday is required of these classes. Beginning with next Tuesday each student will be expected to register and a strict account of the attendance will be kept.

JOSEPHINE P. SIMRALL,
 Dean of Women.

SOUTHLAND LAUDED IN DR. BUSH'S DISCUSSION

Students' Favorite Gives Crisp Ten-Minute Talk in Chapel

"Of the seven men who, to my mind, stand out as the great leaders of America, five are sons of the Southland," said Dr. Benjamin J. Bush in a ten-minute talk in Chapel Tuesday. "In the first period of our Nation's history Washington, Hamilton and Jefferson were the outstanding characters. In the middle period Lincoln and Lee made history. Today Roosevelt and Wilson tower above all others.

"The South has a wonderful heritage," he continued. "Her natural resources are untold. If these assets supplied by nature mean only a literal translation into so many automobiles and so many bodily comforts and luxuries then they will rise up in judgment against us."

Dr. Bush's talk was short and to the point. His words will sink deep and take root. He possesses that wonderful faculty for making his hearers think.

ENGLISH CLUB PICNICS NEAR MECHANICAL HALL.

On the wilds of the University campus, near Mechanical Hall in fact, the English Club held a picnic late Monday evening, after hiking briskly cross-country all the way from the Main Building. Over the glowing camp-fire bacon sizzled and wieners roasted and with a huge basket of buns, pickles, sandwiches and other delicious et cetera, supper was complete. Judge the abundance when even hungry engineers, peeping through the wood-shop windows and foot-ball heroes, leaving school after practice, were invited to stop and have supper.

After supper had been disposed of down to the last green pickle the real business of the evening was discussed, the new president, James Dixon, presiding. Committees were appointed for conferring with the faculty on a program for the year, for the celebration of the centenary of Lowell, Whitman and Ruskin, and to plan other work for the club to take up this year.

MOB LAW AND THE UNIVERSITY.

The recent and disgraceful race riots in Omaha, following close on the heels of similar labor and race troubles in virtually every large city, have stirred the country to its depths, bringing a storm of condemnation from the press and all right minded people everywhere. And well it might, placing upon us as it does the stigma of anarchy and Bolshevism.

In view of such conditions, it may be well to inquire as to the stand of the University and the University man upon such questions. It is generally accepted that the University man of today will be the leader in the thought and action of the future. If this is so, toward what end will that influence lead? With the dark cloud of anarchy high on the horizon of our country, it appears that the solution of the problem lies in the colleges and universities of the land, where the policy should be steadfastly to oppose and counteract the teachings, and propaganda spirit of the anarchist element in the United States.

It is only through higher education that progress can be made; and only through a knowledge of things that make for good government and against rowdism can present conditions be remedied. The principles of right thinking and order should be so instilled into the college man as to make him abhor all forms of violence, and to make him a firm adherent of the ideal of the law abiding community. A man's course in life is largely shaped during his college career, and if discipline and obedience to the existing rules of the college are made a part of his curriculum, he will follow to a large extent in after life the teachings of his college days.

Both the University and students should feel the responsibility that is placed upon them, and that it is their duty to themselves and their country to teach and be taught that respect for law, order and authority that is so essential to progress and a stabilized government. When the University man learns to control himself, he has taken a long step toward controlling others. If his association in college teaches him this important lesson, he is fairly well equipped to take his place in the world as a leader of men and affairs.

If the educated man of the country does not take a decisive stand against the wave of unrest and anarchy that is sweeping over the world, he will reap the results of his folly in after years, in a country perhaps torn with revolution and dissension, as is unhappy Russia today. And it is in the University that this lesson must be learned, where ideals are being formed, where the mind is plastic and susceptible.

Now is the time for the Universities and students to put forth all their efforts in an endeavor to preserve their reputation for saneness and stability that has always characterized our nation, and to combat the radical tendencies toward which we are fast and fatefully drifting.

THE REAL TEST.

The Wildcats and their supporters are undergoing at the present time the acid test of their gameness and loyalty. It is an easy matter to play on and back up a winning team, but the real test of spirit comes in the hour of defeat. And it may be said to the credit of the Wildcats that they accepted defeat Saturday in the typical spirit of the real Kentuckian. They went on the field fighting, and when the final whistle blew, it found them fighting just as hard as at the beginning. Kentucky may well be proud of the conduct of her representatives last Saturday.

But now comes the crucial period. Will the Wildcats "come back" in their next game as did Indiana after defeat at the hands of Centre? The loss of one game does not spell disaster for the remainder of the season. A defeat is often necessary to bring out the best or the worst that is in a man. A true Kentuckian will grit his teeth and fight the harder, but the craven in spirit will sulk and say, "What's the use?"

The major part of our schedule is still before us—Ohio State, Vanderbilt, Centre and others. There will be ample time for the Wildcats to place Kentucky's name high on the list of football heroes of 1919. Let every member of the team, every student in the University, henceforth work the harder and shout the louder. Kentucky has made a good record considering the disadvantages of a late start and disabled men. The Wildcats have not been beaten, they have only been checked.

On to Ohio!

The Kentucky Kernel says: It's decidedly unfortunate, suh, that classes should interfere with such excellent sleeping weather as we've had the past few days, suh.

LYKELLE POEMS.

There are bells and bells galore,
Decidedly, we couldn't want more;
Yet we don't like the bell,
So therefore we tell,
You to toot the old whistle of yore.

The Knight of the Lexington Drug threw away his straw and said as follows: "Now is the day come when the Freshman, bald-pated as in the good old days, sends home his picture showing his manly topography in O. D. Yes, Barnum was right. Yea, absolutely right."

Our idea of innocence personified is the Freshman who said last week that there was no use hurrying to the football game 'cause he had ticket book No. 534 and that seat No. 534 would be reserved for him.

KIDDING ANANIAS.

The plan which will be adopted in all the leading universities of the country this year of sending out scouts to locate unusually bright young men with a view of securing their attendance has met with approval everywhere. This movement has been looked upon with favor for many years and the step which the University of Kentucky has taken with the rest is commendable.

Of course it will not be generally known but it is rumored that these students will be given remuneration commensurate with their ability in the various fields of art. For example, a high school student, or for that matter an old student who still has a year more to study, may be given such employment as will not interfere with his studies yet pay him amply for his work.

A scout for the University of Kentucky will be selected in the Spring. He will then go out and look for the blossoming young genius, the peer in matters academic, and by various offers induce him to attend school here. We again congratulate the old school on the step and wish the scout, or whatever he may be called, unbounded success.

"Oh, I had a gorgeous time! I danced until I had a blister on my tongue and one on the roof of my mouth!"

"Sounds to me like the hoof and mouth disease."

Bebe—"I feel like cussing!"
M. E.—"Go right ahead and I'll put it in Squirrel Food."

"The King's supporters broke and fled."

"Who fled?"—the Prof. asked me.
"The King, of course," I quickly said.

"It happened once to me."

"You'll have to hand it to 'em, the Seniors are beginning to shine in one respect—the place where they sit on their corduroys."

Angie—"Who were you talking to on the phone,—Fan?"

Miss Stevens—"No George—, about the nearest thing to Fan."

"Oul, oul," murmured Mam'selle On Dit, as she borrowed a pencil and retouched her left eye brow. "Elsie's new picture must be an awfully good likeness. She's had it two days and hasn't shown it to anyone."

Electric irons have been prohibited at Pat Hall. What a blow to the press!

"Whistle to her and see if she'll answer."

"Nothin' doin', she can't hear me for all that wad of hair and besides she can't whistle."

Prof. Zembrod—"Let's have the future, Miss Murphy."

Profound pause.

Miss Murphy—"Yes sir."

Prof. Z.—"Well, Miss Murphy, are you looking into the future?"

The Knight of the Lexington Drug smoothed his coming mustache furtively, glanced fondly down the length of his corduroys, and remarked, "If it wasn't hypocritical, I would say that I consider cutting Freshmen hair as barber (ous)."

Editor—"This isn't poetry my dear boy; it is merely an escape of gas."
Dixon—"Oh, I see. Something wrong with the meter."

"The Phoenix Hotel is out of the liquor business for good."

All W. C. T. U.'s agree that the foregoing is a neatly turned sentence.

"Preparations are already under way to convert the old bar into a new cafe which will be known as the Red Room."

In the old days when one "looked upon the wine when it was red" the name was most appropriate, but when the drinks change color why not change the name.

"The workmen will immediately begin the removal of the telephone booths to enlarge the space available for the cafe."

All that worries us is why telephones were needed when the frequenters of the bar were unable to raise the receivers to their ears.

"So Billy Wallace has got a job as artist on a newspaper?"

"Yes; he draws the crosses on the pictures to show where the crime was committed."

CORDUROYS, HUH?

Everybody's wearing 'em, those cute little facial adornments known to the uninitiated as "misplaced eyebrows" and to the wearers who have a vivid and broad imagination as "mustaches." That is, everybody in the Senior Class at the University of Kentucky who has the ability to make any showing whatever, has one.

It has long been a tradition at the University that when a man reaches his Senior year he has three privileges—growing a mustache, if at all possible, carrying a cane and wearing corduroy trousers.

This tradition is based on three fun-

THE SENIOR OBSERVES.

Editor Kentucky Kernel: The announcement in this issue of the forthcoming tug-o-war between the first year men and the all-wise, fills the heart of the old student with feelings that only could come with the announcement that school would be dismissed three days for Thanksgiving this year. To the old timer the tug-o-war was the most picturesque sight one could behold during the entire year.

There are many things that favor the revival of the tug-o-war class spirit, so necessary to class union and organization begins at this annual event. Behold the Sophomore coming home in the gloaming with his clothes draped about his manly form, mud caked to his knees and his dreams of world domination shattered. See the brave Freshman, conqueror of worlds, parade the town.

Plans for winning will be made by each class. Some prefer the system of playin gthe opponent as though he were a huge fish (and the comparison is not so far-fetched at that), letting him tire himself out, and then dragging him into the pond. Others favor the sudden jerk or lunge method which carries all before, or, behind it. Personally, the writer prefers to stand on the bank and watch.

Seniors urge the Sophomores and Juniors encourage the Freshmen. In days past moral suasion sometimes was interspersed with paddles and switches.

On with the tug-o-war and may the better team win.

A WARRIOR.

SAVE O SAVE.

"Gentlemen" Give me your attention, for just a moment or so.

While I relate to you a story, of some evils you should know. Now intoxicating liquor, Men. Has ceased to tempt our thirst.

But Gentlemen I assure you there are other evils worse.

Take the intoxicating beauty, of the female sex today.

It has wrecked more homes than liquor and has led more men astray. Take the youth that is full of promise, and let the vampire catch his eye. Then he will say his one ambition,

"Is to go away and die."

The coming generation "Men." Is doomed as sure as fate.

If we allow these said "Sweet Cookies." To dress a la vreviate.

Many a husband homeward bound, has stopped, and turned to stare.

At a "sweet perfumed young rose bud." With wonderful sage tea hair.

They camouflage their faces, in a most mysterious way.

And with fascinating clothing "Men." They rule the world today.

We fought to save our country, from the evil of the Hun.

We routed out John Barleycorn, and have him on the run.

But if we would save the universe, and preserve our eyes, and necks.

Abolish the intoxicating of our Queens. The female sex.

amentals. First, it is presumed that when a man is in his fourth year in college so much of his time is taken up by studying that he does not have time to shave regularly. Hence the hirsute effect. Second, after four years in college, with all his money going out in an effort to beat H. C. L. he must necessarily be low financially. Therefore, the corduroys. And lastly, it is estimated that a continuous battle with professors for four years is enough to break down anyone's health. And for that reason, the cane is authorized.

HAVE GOOD PROGRAMS

Dean Slagle Is Elected President of Union.

Horace Mann Literary Society met last Thursday evening at 7:15 o'clock in Professor Noe's room in the Education Building, at which time a very interesting program was rendered. Miss Edna Snapp gave a talk on "First Attempts in English Fiction," which was the first of a series of discussions on the development of English fiction. "Higher Education" was the title of a reading by Miss Catherine Reed. Miss Elizabeth Bertram read a paper on "Trying to Avoid Strikes" in the nature of a current event. Some current event of this kind will be discussed each week. Professor Noe concluded the program with a few selections from his own poems.

Professor Edward C. Mable addressed the Union and Patterson Literary Societies at a joint meeting last Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Armory. Mr. Mable pointed out the possibilities and advantages of literary societies in regard to inter-collegiate debates and oratorical contests.

When Professor Mable had completed his talk the two societies separated and held individual meetings. The Union Literary Society outlined the work and elected officers for the coming semester. The officers are Dean Slagle, president; Leon Wise, vice-president; Robert Mitchell, treasurer; Edward Dabney, janitor; J. P. Barnes, sergeant-at-arms; O. C. Gartin, attorney general; and M. K. Eblen, secretary. The next meeting will be held Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

At the Patterson Literary Society meeting Emery Frasier told the story of a fisherman; Harold McGregor spoke on "Carlyle as a Modern Man;" and V. C. Ewaringen read a humorous poem called "The Bush Hawker." Burton Prewitt was elected secretary and V. C. Swaringen treasurer to succeed W. H. Peal and B. L. Hargrove.

LEXINGTON TO HAVE ARTIST CONCERT SERIES.

University students are interested in the announcement that an Artist Concert Series will be brought to the Lexington Opera House this season under the auspices of the Lexington College of Music, Miss Anna Chandler Goff, director. Season tickets for the four night performances may be procured from Miss Goff or her secretary at the Lexington College of Music.

The Isadore Duncan Dancers with George Copeland, pianist, will come for the first concert matinee and night, Monday, October 27, and the second concert will be given December 1 by Madame Helen Stanley, prima donna soprano, and Elmer Zoller, pianist. The third concert will be given by Harold Bauer, master pianist, and Maurice Dambols, the famous Belgium Cellist. The series will close April 13 when the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, Eugene Ysaye conducting, will come for matinee and night performances.

Season tickets have been greatly demanded since the announcement of the series and the engagements promise to be outstanding social and musical events of the season.

WET FIELD ATTRIBUTES TO WILDCATS' DEFEAT

Indiana Team Playing Best of Season, Overcomes Kentucky

Lay it on the Weather Man! Old Jupiter Pluvius evidently had it in for the Kentucky Wildcats when he sent the torrents down on Stoll Field all the morning and in the early afternoon Saturday, for it prepared the way to victory for the husky Indiana University Crimson. The results of the second game of the Kentucky eleven was a decisive, but by no means a disgraceful defeat for the Wildcats, the score being only 24 to 0.

Indiana in Prime Condition. Dame Fortune also smiled on the visiting team by giving the Crimson other advantages, beside the heavy field. The Indiana coach said that his squad was better than it had been for years, and that its members were in much better condition for the Kentucky game than they were for their opening contest, which was with Centre College. Kentucky fans admit that the Crimson outclassed the Wildcats in the recent struggle, but it is encouraging to know that the Indiana coach said after the game: "If my team had put up anything like the game of football against Centre College last week that it played today we would have swamped her." Indiana's star player, "Red" Williams, was allowed only a few minutes in the Centre game because of his weakness following an operation.

In the Kentucky-Indiana game Williams was a terror to the Wildcats. He was one of the heaviest men on the field, and had plenty of energy, so he smashed through the line for many gains. Indiana had other heavy men upon whom they could rely for gains on the heavy field. Minton, Pope, Bowser and Faust were others who were in a great measure responsible for the Crimson victory. Mathys was right there when it came to dropkicking, as was demonstrated in the second quarter when he placed a neat one between the goal posts from the thirty-five yard line. After each of the three touchdowns his toe never failed to add the extra point to the tally.

The Kentucky team was in fairly good condition, but its light backfield put it at considerable disadvantage against Indiana on a wet field. If there had been a dry field Saturday there might have been a different tale to tell. Shanklin, McIlvain, Hite, Riddle and Culp would have been able to show the Hoosiers a little Kentucky offense. The Kentucky line was not up to the standard, while the backfield did considerably better under the adverse conditions. Culp, McIlvain, Heber and Server were the outstanding stars in Kentucky's defense. Downing, although causing his team to be penalized because of his eagerness to get off and at 'em, was a tower of strength in the line. Colpitts came nearer scoring for Kentucky than any other player when he broke through the line, received a forward pass from Hite, but he was tackled before he could gain an open field.

The Kentucky-Indiana game was witnessed by a record crowd which filled the stands to overflowing. Many

INTER CLASS CONTESTS CENTER OF ATTRACTION

Class Football to Succeed Varsity Games for Two Weeks

While the Wildcats are away for a couple of weeks the Wildkittens will be given an opportunity to furnish the football fans of the University and Lexington with several high-class games.

Monday afternoon, October 20, at 4 o'clock, the Freshman squad, wearing the green, will trot out onto Stoll Field and stack up against the sober and serious Juniors, bedecked in their new crimson jerseys. The stands will be filled to their capacity with a cheering mob of sympathizers, some for the Freshies and some for the Juniors. Class cheer leaders, wearing their respective class colors, will each endeavor to make his representation keep up the most fuss and yell the loudest. Members of other classes will take sides and assist in the yelling and rooting. Banners with numerals and class colors will be in evidence everywhere.

The spirit of class rivalry has permeated the whole student body. Everybody's wild over the subject of class supremacy, tug o' wars, and football

NOTES FROM GRIDIRON

In connection with our prospects for track this season we firmly believe that if Coach Buchheit would pick out a few of the returned soldiers to run the various events and have some one make a noise like a six-inch shell for a starter that there wouldn't be a chance in the world to lose,—we speak from experience.

In regard to the item last week concerning his lunch in the cafeteria, Mr. Thompson wishes to make the correction that it was seven pies he ate instead of four.

For the benefit of the ladies who have not yet had the pleasure of meeting him, Mr. McIlvain wishes to say that his business manager, Mr. Heick, will make the necessary arrangements. Mr. Heick can be found on or about the campus any time from eight o'clock in the morning until supper.

A gentleman, speaking in Chapel the other day, said that he did not think the student body as a whole showed the proper spirit of loyalty to the football men. Now it might be true about the student body as a whole, but if he could see "Dude" Downing strolling about the campus with his flock of female admirers he would change his mind.

The only thing our friend Mr. Hite has against football is that it takes him away from the Lexington Drug at the most interesting time in the afternoon.

Concerning the wonderful influence that football has over the sleeping powers, it is known that the lady where Mr. Combs rooms has to hire a small boy with a klaxon horn to come at two o'clock in the morning in order to get that gentleman up in time for his breakfast at seven.

WILDCATS IN FIGHTING TRIM FOR OHIO STATE

Hardest Game of Season Saturday When Kentucky Tackles Ohio

The University of Kentucky Wildcats and Coach Gill will leave Lexington Friday afternoon, headed for Columbus, Ohio, where they will meet Ohio State University eleven Saturday afternoon in the third football game of the season.

Ohio State is a new rival. The preceding Wildcat teams have not seen fit to tackle such an outfit as the big eleven from Ohio State. But those who prepared the 1919 football schedule believed that nothing great could be accomplished without undertaking great things. So the Wildcats are journeying to Columbus to show the old heads how the game is played.

There is much speculation among the squad members as to whom the Coach will take on the trip into Ohio. He says he will take as many men as possible, but that every man who goes will be in condition to play a full game, and that every man will be used sometime during the game. Several of the first stringers will not be able to accompany the team because of disabilities incurred during recent practices. Both Shanklin and Culp, star backfield men for the Wildcats, may not be in the Ohio State game for these reasons.

Ohio State appears to have a winning track this season. Last Saturday it defeated the University of Cincinnati eleven by a score of 46 to 0. In this game the backfield men, William, Stinchcombe, Harley (Capt.), and Bliss, starred. The Indiana squad appeared pretty large last Saturday, but the Ohio State bunch is reported to be larger.

The Kentucky eleven is stronger than ever before. Recent practices have shown decided improvements in teamwork and in the important methods light, fast teams must use to win victories from heavier teams. If the field is dry Kentucky will have a good fighting chance. Riddle should be in much better condition than in the last game. If Culp is in condition for the game his pep should go a long way toward winning the game. McIlvain, Heber, Server and Downing are always dependable on any kind of a field. The team is going to Columbus with the determination to avenge the defeat by Indiana, and it is freely predicted that Ohio State is to receive a good wallop at the hands of the fighting Wildcats from Old Kaintuck.

The following is a comparison of weights of the Ohio State and Kentucky teams. The figures of the Ohio State team were clipped from a newspaper and are unauthentic, but serve as a basis of comparison with Coach Gill's figures.

	Ohio State
Total Weight	1950 lbs.
Average Weight	173 lbs.
Average Weight of Line	180 lbs.
Average Weight of Backfield	168 lbs.
	Kentucky
Total Weight	1870 lbs.
Average Weight	170 lbs.
Average Weight of Line	180 lbs.
Average Weight of Backfield	152 lbs.

In Selecting a University

For a college education, there are five things to be taken into consideration:

1. The men at the head of the Institution.
2. The scholastic standing and ability of the Teaching Staff.
3. The location and advantages of environment.
4. Equipment, buildings, laboratories and libraries.
5. Cost.

In all these respects the University of Kentucky commends itself to those seeking a higher institution in which to carry on their education.

All Departments, including Liberal Arts, Sciences, Agriculture, Law, Education, Mining, Civil, Electrical and Mechanical Engineering.

visitors from nearby towns were out for the game, especially did Danville's gate fee put smiles on the football manager's face. The rain abated about an hour before the start of the contest and help up during the first half, but as the whistle announcing the end of the first half blew the clouds emptied themselves upon the deserted gridiron and huddling mass of rain-coats and umbrellas.

The results of the first quarter were a touchdown for Indiana. Before the quarter was up it was obvious that the Wildcats would be unable to win the game from the Indiana huskies, and all efforts were concentrated on the defense. Culp, playing right half for Kentucky, gained the reputation of being the outstanding star of the local team, his exhibitions in the defense being classy. All the attempts of Kentucky to score were futile.

In the second quarter the ball was kept in Kentucky's territory most of the time, but the line held, and no touchdown was allowed. Mathys' dropkick, coming as a surprise to the Wildcats, was the only scoring move made during the quarter. Heber, having been substituted for Dishman, played a prominent part in the defense, taking a position second only to Culp.

In the third quarter the Wildcats resorted to a hunting game. Forward passes were out of the question with the ball wet and with the enemy always upon Kentucky's goal. On one of Server's attempted punts the line did not hold, the ball rebounded from the upright mass of blue and crimson sweaters back across the line behind Kentucky's goal posts, and a crimson sweater fell upon it. Six points for Indiana. Soon another point was added by a sure kick by Mathys.

In the fourth quarter Riddle was tackled while behind the line, the force of the tackle being enough to knock him unconscious and to send the ball spinning into the air, only to be seized by the eager hands of a Crimson player and carried a few feet across the line for another six markers,—then, as usual, came the seventh.

The game ended with the score 24 to 0 in favor of the Hoosiers. The playing was ragged throughout, but was interesting, nevertheless.

Line-up and summary follows:

Kentucky	Positions	Indiana
Dishman	L. E.	Pope
Server	L. T.	Pierce
Clements	L. G.	Wiley
Kelly	C.	Lohrel

games. Three football games are going to be played within ten days,—the first between the Freshmen and Juniors, the second between the Sophomores and the Seniors, and the third between the winners of the first two games. Some class is going to carry away the cake,—will it be yours? If so, be out and see the job well done. Tell your friends out in town,—there's no admission fee.

Now let's see whether it's even money or odds on this first game. The Freshies haven't forgotten how the game was played down in high school and probably they'll make somebody sit up and take notice. The squad will be selected from the following list of candidates: Bayless, Baker, Burks, Baugh, Curry, Carr, Campbell, Duncan, Davidson, Gerhardt, Farmer, Gregg, Jaskule, Like, Langley, Ramsey, Riffle, Smith, T. G., and Wolfe. Mr. "Y. M. C. A." Owens has been coaching the team, and he says the team is as good as Champions now. But Dr. Funkhauser disagrees with him. He says the Junior team that he has been coaching has the material for a winner. He says the Juniors have a real organization which is a pride to every member of the class. Junior candidates that will make up the squad Monday are: Baulch, Byrd, Cross, Cameron, DeBroyer, Byrd, Hayden, McGregor, Propps, Diedel, Richardson, Sturns, Samuels, Thompson, Weatherholt, Wallace, Wilson, B. O., Winters and White.

Well, the game will decide the argument. Dr. Tigert has promised not to be partial, so they are going to let him referee. Doc Rodes, of Wildcat fame, will be on hand in the official role of umpire, and Carl Zerfoss will be head linesman.

The second game of the series will be played Wednesday afternoon, at the same place, the same time of day, and probably with the same officials. Mr. Dick Webb, an alumnus of Kentucky, and acknowledged to be the best center the South ever developed, is working the rough places out of the Sophomore team. He says he is getting his Sophs ready to ride through the Senior line rough shod. How about it, Seniors? Coach Webb has the following men from which to pick his team: Akin, Benson, Baumgarten, Brown, Carson, Dodge, Gibson, Hanks, Helbrun, Kelley, Gould, Mays, Morris, Murphy, Porter, Sauer, Truett, Tinsley, Wheat, Wilkerson and S. T. Wilson. A complete list of the Senior candidates is not available, nor is as much known about their organization as the other three teams, but Seniors are always equal to the occasion, and probably have a big surprise in store for the other teams. Some of the Seniors who have reported at recent practices are: Warth, H. K. and R. D., Dabney, Dixon, Tapp and Lisanby.

Don't forget to be out both Monday afternoon and Wednesday afternoon and root for the team of your choice. Snap into it, men, let's have a little oldtime pep! Unless you have a mighty good reason, you're a slacker if you don't come to these games and kick up a lot of racket.
