KAPPA SIGS WINNERS IN FRAT BASKETBALL

Beat Out A. T. O. in Exciting Game By Score of 38 to 34

KAPPA ALPHAS WIN

The Kappa Sigma team won the inter-fraternity basketball league championship of the University last Saturday afternoon when they defeated the fast A. T. O. bunch in the gym by the score of 38 to 34. The championship carries with it the possession of the silver cup awarded by the Pan-Hellenic Council.

The game thruout was fast and furious, the playing at times being of real varsity caliber. The score at the end of the first half stood at 19-17 in favor of the Kappa Sigs. At the end of the second half the scorekeepers disagreed, one counting the points at 32-32 and the other at 33-32, with A. T. O. trailing. According to the rules the lower score counted and the game was declared a tie. In the five-minute play-off Kappa Sigma caged three baskets to Alpha Tau's one.

The star work of the game was done by Archer, a Cumberland College product, and Thomas, the Lexington High School star who recently matriculated at the University. The goal shooting and floor work of both these men were remarkable. Others who did well were Evans and Berckman, for Kappa Sigma, and Hopkins, Moseley and Scrivener, for A. T. O.

Both teams had a clean record until Saturday. The last games will be played next Saturday. Kappa Sigma's team have finished their schedule.

In the only other game of the afternoon Kappa Alpha defeated Sigma Nu by the score of 12 to 11.

The line-ups were:

Kappa Sigma.	Alpha Tau Omega.
Archer, Evans...	Scrivener, McKenzie
Forward
Brittain	Thomas
Center
Berckman, Randle	Hopkins, Duncan, Moseley
Guard
Kappa Alpha.	Sigma Nu.
Loomis, Gay	Heber, Elish
Forward.
Harbison	Pendleton
Center.
Wright, Parker,	Creech, Knight
Brunson
Guard.

'MODERN CINDERELLA' TO BE GIVEN MARCH 30

The Philosphian play, "A Modern Cinderella," will be given March 30 in the Armory instead of March 24, as was previously announced. The change was made because a play is dated at the Opera House the same night.

In the meantime rehearsals continue daily. The members of the cast are perfecting their parts, and a splendid performance is promised.

TRACK TEAM SHOWING REMARKABLE ABILITY

Indoor Meet Scheduled In Louisville Armory Saturday

FORTY MEN ARE OUT

The track team under the direction of "Dad" Boles, a Zuppke product, will endeavor to stage a comeback on the cinder path and with the weights this season. The team will be built from material selected from the thirty-five or forty men who are out. Determined effort is being made by Coach Boles and Dr. Tigert to instill a spirit of greater interest in track athletics than has been manifested in the last few years.

Nuclei of the team will be Captain Earle Grabfelder, the undisputed sprinting champion of the State since the retirement of Sid Cowles from the cinder path, and Hickerson, a weight man who gave great promise in his Freshman year, who is expected to show even greater ability with the shot, discus and hammer this season.

Gus Gay, a former Lexington High School star, and Heber, a football man, are the men of the high aspirations. Gay has been clearing the bar in practice at 5 feet 4 inches and is still in early season form.

Oldham and Parker are interested in the hurdles. The distance runners, who are for the most part new men, are out in great numbers.

Meets are scheduled with Georgetown and Vanderbilt and negotiations are now under way for a meet with Sewanee.

A team will be selected from Grabfelder, Shinick, Kinne, Corn, Bronston and Knight to represent the University in an indoor meet to be held in the armory at Louisville on Saturday. The above-named athletes have been showing up particularly well in early practice.

SENIOR MECHS ARE OFFERED POSITIONS

W. H. Grady, a member of the '05 graduating class from the University, who is now employed as assistant superintendent of the American Creosoting Company, was in Lexington Friday interviewing Seniors in the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, regarding employment by his company.

When attending college here Bill played quarterback on the football team and took a prominent part in other athletics.

EYL GOES TO OIL FIELDS.

W. C. Eyl, a Senior in the College of Mines and Metallurgy, has gone to Heidelberg, Pa., for about ten days to work in the oil fields. Mr. Eyl has been located for a time in the oil wells of Irvine, Ky., and in Tennessee, and is ably experienced in this work.

DR. PATTERSON IS 84.

President-Emeritus James K. Patterson will be eighty-four years of age next Monday. "The grand old man of the University," who retired in 1910 after a presidential term of forty-one years, is still hale and hearty, and may be seen every day taking his walk along South Limestone Street. His friends join with the Kernel in wishing him many more anniversaries.

COTTINGHAM TO EDIT '18 KENTUCKY KERNEL

Board of Control Selects Managing Editor For Position

WILSON IS MANAGER

Wayne Cottingham, of Paris, was elected editor-in-chief of The Kentucky Kernel for the year 1917-1918 at a meeting of the Kernel Board of Control, held in the Y. M. C. A. building Tuesday at the chapel hour. Eugene Wilson, of Marion, who is at present business manager, was re-elected, and Thornton Connell, of Paris, was made Junior editor.

Mr. Cottingham is a Junior in the Journalism course and has been managing editor of the paper this year. He has had experience as the correspondent from his home town and has written features for local dailies. The board felt that he was the logical man for the place and there was no opposition to his election.

Mr. Wilson, who has been business manager of the Kernel since February 1, has given satisfaction and was also a unanimous choice. Mr. Connell is a Journalism Sophomore and a member of the staff.

The new staff will take charge of the Kernel before the end of the year. The rest of the editorial forces will be appointed by Mr. Cottingham.

NOTICE!

The new tennis courts in front of the Physics Building have been considerably damaged by students walking across them in going to and from classes. As the tennis season will open in the near future the Tennis Club will consider it a favor if this practice is stopped.

"K" IS AWARDED.

The Athletic Committee has awarded the following men their "K" in basketball: Schrader, Rodes, Ireland, Simpson, Longworth, Campbell and Peak, manager. A meeting will probably be called by Captain Ireland within the next few days to elect a captain for the 1918 season.

CO-EDS FORM CLASS IN FIRST AID WORK

Twenty Volunteer For Active Service In Event of War

75 GIRLS ENROLLED

Seventy-five girls were enrolled last week in the classes in nursing and first-aid work, to be held every Thursday afternoon for ten weeks, in the Home Economics department, under the supervision of the American Red Cross.

Twenty of these will have practical laboratory work in first-aid and nursing. At the end of the course they will take an examination, and be registered at the national headquarters of the American Red Cross in Washington. The others will get the benefit of the lectures and demonstrations. They will also be examined and will receive one college credit for the work.

Mrs. Alma Nelson Spalsbury, registered Red Cross nurse, and Superintendent of Nurses at the Good Samaritan Hospital, has charge of the class in nursing. Dr. L. C. Redmond will give the first-aid work. The lessons follow a plan made out by the American Red Cross. This afternoon the making and using of bandages will be given.

In the event of war, the twenty who have volunteered for active service would probably be sent to a base hospital which may be established in Louisville. These twenty are:

Misses Martha Varnon, Hester Covington, Virginia Milner, Marion Sprague, Nell Salisbury, Louise O'Neill, Jane Crawford, Katherine Withers, Nell Crawford, Linda Purnell, Celia Cregor, Eliza Clay Mason, Sarah Harbison, Mary Hamilton, Lelah Gault, Bella Withers, Ruby Buckman, Ruby Stivers, Katherine Christian and Eliza Piggott.

GRADS MAKING GOOD IN SOUTH AMERICA

William C. Johnson, a graduate of the College of Agriculture, in 1916, and E. E. Pitman, of the 1915 class, have been transferred to work in the government experiment stations at Maria de Fe, Brazil, and Pernambuco, respectively. J. D. Turner, secretary of the Alumni Association, has received a letter from Mr. Johnson, in which he said that the Brazilians are taking a great interest in the Yankee experts. Nine graduates of agricultural colleges were in the party employed by the Brazilian government of which Mr. Johnson was one. Two of the nine were from Kentucky.

These two Kentuckians think that there is a great opportunity for advancement in the southern country, and that Brazil is "gradually turning her eyes from the Eastern to the Western hemisphere for guidance and help."

BASEBALL MEN READY FOR THE FIRST GAME

Indiana University To Meet Strong Team Monday Afternoon

INFIELD INVINCIBLE

Since the twirlers have got the kinks out of their arms and have begun to cut loose with a dazzling brand of twisters, since the infielders are gracefully gobbling up every sizzling grass scorchers that looks as if it had the slightest intention of coming their way, since the fly balls are falling into bushel baskets and since the stickers are clubbing the old apple all over Stoll Field, Captain Curt Park and his aggregation of husky Wildcats are eagerly waiting for the appearance of the team from Indiana University on next Monday afternoon.

The position to the rear of the plate is certain to be filled by Curtis Park, a veteran of several seasons who has learned to handle the delivery of almost any pitcher. Park is a captain who always keeps his men in the "up and let's be doing" attitude.

The present intentions are to have McClelland occupy the mound at the start of the game. Mac has plenty of steam and a good assortment of curves. If the Hoosiers by chance solve the delivery of the Springfield wizard, either Grubbs or Cooper will be sent in.

Charley Haydon will hold down the initial sack. Roark is slated for the keystone pillar. Waters is the chief claimant for the shortstop territory and the triple bag, the corner where the hottest drives are sent, will probably be occupied by Cambron, a new man. With this bunch the infield is almost invincible.

Stanley Jones, new timber, stands high in the candidate list for the left garden. Doc Rodes will probably take up his station in center field. In the sun garden will be found either George Park or Boo Ireland. There is a report going around that Squirrely starts on a hunt for a new ball when he hears the crack from the connection of George's willow and the horsehide.

The baseball schedule follows:
March 26—Indiana University—at Lexington.
April 4—University of Tennessee—at Lexington.
April 6—Miami University—at Lexington.
April 9—University of Illinois—at Lexington.
April 21—Centre College—at Danville.
April 24—Georgetown College—at Georgetown.
April 28—Centre College—at Lexington.
May 4—Georgetown College—at Lexington.
May 5—Centre College—at Danville.
May 9—University of South—at Sewanee.

"ALONE AT LAST" TO BE AT OPERA HOUSE

Messrs. Shubert will send to the Lexington Opera House, Saturday matinee and night, March 24, their most pretentious, most tuneful and most interesting musical play, "Alone at Last," which boasts of a score by Franz Lehár, composer of "The Merry Widow," and with a cast including Harry Conor, Forrest Huff, Fritzi von Busing, Mabel Weeks, Jean McArthur, Robinson Newbold, Elizabeth Goodall, H. T. Hanlin, John E. Wheeler and 70 others. The play has just concluded a successful engagement in Chicago and last season ran for six months in New York and also enjoyed prosperous seasons in Boston and Philadelphia.

Originally it was produced abroad under the title of "Endlich Allein" and was brought over by Messrs. Shubert who regard "Alone at Last" as their most triumphant production, which is a bold statement in view of the many most successful musical productions made by this firm.

The play boasts of several spectacular scenes, one of which shows the famous Jungfrau to the peak of which a party of tourists ascends in full view of the audience. A special symphonic orchestra is required to interpret the play, which is carried by the company.—Advertisement.

PATT. SOCIETY TO HOLD ORATORICAL CONTEST MONDAY

The Patterson Literary Society will hold its annual oratorical contest next Monday evening in chapel at 7:30 o'clock. The winner of this contest will be awarded a gold medal by Dr. Patterson and will represent the Patterson Society against the Union Society in contesting for the representation of the University in the intercollegiate oratorical contest. The contest is held each year on Dr. Patterson's birthday. All are invited to attend this contest.

RUSSIAN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA AT THE LEX. OPERA HOUSE

It will be welcome news to local music lovers that a concert by the Russian Symphony Orchestra will be the attraction at the Opera House, matinee and night, Thursday, March 29.

It is expected that the program will be made up entirely of compositions by Russian composers, which is as it should be for no orchestra in America plays the music of the Slav as does the Russian Symphony.

Even the Boston Symphony, which undoubtedly stands at the head of orchestral organizations in this country, has to take a second place when Russian music is concerned. After a recent concert in Troy, N. Y., the critic of The Troy Times wrote: "Tchaikowsky's 'Pathétique' Symphony (the B minor, No. 6) never before received so characteristic a performance in Troy. The Boston Orchestra can play the symphony with greater smoothness, but the Russian Orchestra had intensity, the vehemence which the composition seems to require. Any fear that Russian music might be monotonous was banished by the opera 'Eugen Onegin' which like the other Tchaikowsky work, the symphony, was full of delightfully flowing music, tenderly sentimental in motif and elaborated with imaginative luxuriance."

Two numbers which the Russian Symphony first introduced in America, but which are now now in the repertoire of several of the other large orchestras are the Caucasian sketches by Ippolitoff-Ivanoff, "In the Aul" and "March Sardar." They were features of the opening program of the last festival given in Toronto by the famous Mendelssohn Choir and the Russian Symphony Orchestra, and of the performance of this group. The Toronto World said in part:

"Then came two delightful Caucasian sketches. The first of these was remarkable for the opportunity it gave for the display of viola playing which has never been equaled in this city. The notable performance was by Jacob Altschuler, a brother of the conductor, and he was ably seconded in what is virtually a duet with the English horn by E. Spitzer, who played that instrument exquisitely. Such viola playing is rarely heard, with tone equal to the 'cello in richness, and to the violin in delicacy."

By special request these sketches will be included in the program which the orchestra will give here on next Thursday.—Advertisement.

AT THE ADA MEADE

At last vaudeville has found a real novelty. It is "The Four Husbands," a musical comedy idea capably evolved into an act, which opens a three-day engagement at the Ada Meade Monday, March 26.

The William B. Friedlander, Incorporated, is sponsor for this vaudeville innovation which is the joint work of two popular stage writing favorites, William B. Friedlander and Will M. Hough.

Featured with "The Four Husbands" are Emmet Vogan and Betty Frank, clever vaudevillians who are capably supported by Edith Lawrence, George Burton, Luther Yantis, Al Leonard, and Jack Gates and Alf Bruce. In the persentment of "The Four Husbands" there is elaborate stage equipment, especially designed settings to fit the atmosphere of the comedy, new and novel electrical effects and a large singing and dancing chorus.

A specially selected coterie of choristers work throught the act and make many complete changes of wardrobe which was made according to designs especially created for the Friedlander offering. The act has a merry little plot—not tragic to be sure—yet eventful enough to keep the action going along at trip-hammer speed. All of the music is exclusive and belongs to "The Four Husbands."

"The Four Husbands" is just the tonic needed to enliven the mind and make one forget his trials and tribulations of the day.—Advertisement.

"THE CRISIS" SHOWN AT THE OPERA HOUSE

The tumble of an army officer and his horse down a steep hillside, rolling over and over each other, is the most thrilling individual bit of business in "The Crisis." There is no "faking" in the fall as shown on the screen. The hero is Tom Mix, world famous for his thrilling stunts in the "movies." He was brought all the way from Los Angeles studios of the Selig Company to Vicksburg for this one bit of business, consuming less than half a minute.

With the development of the "movies," Mix found his forte. As a "stunt" man, he is in a class all by himself. He has been hero of many a daring ride and hair-breadth leap that has brought the heart of the spectator into his mouth.

This picture will be at the Opera House for four days, beginning next Sunday, twice daily, 2:15 and 8:15. Admission, 15 and 25 cents.

+ MECHANICAL NOTES +

The Westinghouse Society, of the Mechanical Department, will hold its regular meeting Saturday morning, March 24, at 11 o'clock. Mr. Wurtz, of the Lexington Weather Bureau, will address the body.

Judge Lafferty, of the College of Law, addressed a joint meeting of the Westinghouse and Edison-Joule Societies last Thursday. In this address he gave the engineers some practical pointers on notes, bills, checks and drafts, which will prove very helpful to them in their chosen vocation.

Dean Roberts, of the Agricultural College, addressed the Marconi Society, the Freshman organization of the Mechanical College, last Saturday morning. He presented the underlying principles of soil fertility.

MOCK SOCIETY MEETING IS GIVEN IN CHAPEL

Philosophian Members Are Shown at Regular Habits

GOSSIP IS FEATURE

The dark and mysterious secrets which lurk behind the Philosophian Literary Society door at Patt. Hall were revealed last Friday morning when a mock meeting of the society was held.

The first part of the meeting was given to a business session. The major part of the business consisted in gossip which covered everything from faculty romances to the scenes which might be seen between the blinking of the lights at the hall. The roll call disclosed the fact that at least 50 per cent of their members attend the meetings.

The first number on the program was an essay on "How a Mud Fence Looks on a Rainy Day," by Miss Richmond. She received loud applause from the others who were on the program inasmuch as she had agreed to clap for them in return.

The next feature was a solo by Miss Edith Sachs. The spectators are all everlastingly obliged to her for making it so low. Following next was a debate on "Resolved That Bachelors Should Be Taxed." The affirmative was upheld by Miss Cook; the negative was ably supported by Miss Mary Ricketts. After Miss Lena Clem had succeeded in separating the debaters, the decision was rendered as follows: Bachelors should not be taxed while in college for then they would be under such a heavy expense that they couldn't take the girls to the show, but they should be taxed just as soon as they graduate for that would give more girls a chance to get married.

After formulating plans for boycotting all members of the Union and Patterson Societies because the latter have already expressed dislike for them, the meeting adjourned.

STUDES MAKE MERRY AT "Y" CANDY PULL

More than two hundred students of the University made merry in the Armory Friday night where they gathered at the invitation of the Y. M. C. A. to pull one hundred and twenty-five pounds of candy furnished by the Woman's Club of the University.

The girls gathered at Patterson Hall where they were numbered. There each boy came, found his number, and together they proceeded to the candy-pulling. There were many curious fits and misfits as a result of this lottery.

Before the candy arrived, Professor Frederick Loomis played several cornet solos, accompanied by Miss Nancy Stag. Professor Noe gave some humorous readings, and Harney's quartet sang. At the close of this program three huge circles were formed and a lively game of "Drop the Handkerchief" followed.

The big event of the evening, the candy pulling, came next and occupied the rest of the time. Mrs. M. L. Pence, president of the Woman's Club of the University, acted as chaperone.

JOINT MEETING OF LIT. SOCIETIES HELD

A short program was given, Jack Herndon, of the Henry Clay Society, telling "How St. Patrick Drove the Snakes Out of Ireland," and Clarence Harney, William Shinnick, Vize Chamberlain and Virgil Chapman staging a debate on the consolidation of the Patterson, Union and Philosophian societies. No decision was reached on the debate, but everybody was satisfied that Mr. Herndon did well with his speech.

Following the program those present adjourned to the armory, where games and contests of various kinds were indulged in and delicious refreshments, consisting of ice cream, cake and salted nuts, were served. The decorations maintained thruout the prevailing Irish note. About one hundred were present to enjoy the evening. The boys met at the gym and drew lots for the girls whom they would bring to the party from the hall.

A Democratic Army.

The United States is in the throes of military fever at present. College men in particular have shown that they have the desire to defend their country's rights and the self-sacrificing spirit to spend hours in drill. Transylvania College this week announced that its students had approved the plan to form a company on their campus, following the lead of Harvard and other Eastern schools. The state universities of the West already have their battalions and regiments. In case of actual hostilities the college men of the country will be heard from.

Americans are not militaristic; they hate the thought of universal service, even though they realize it is necessary. The college students who voluntarily put themselves under the discipline of officers are to be commended for doing so. They had to conquer the national repugnance to military service in order to go into the affair as they have.

The writer has always felt that a great part of the American disinclination for army life was due to the false social standard that the higher-ups have elected for officers and privates. An American usually believes that he is just as good as anybody else; an army officer has to impress on him, if he is a private or a non-com, the fact that officers are not of the common herd. We hear of the militia lieutenant on the border who dined with his privates, whom he knew intimately back home, and was court-martialed for his grievous offense. We do not approve. We read in magazines some perhaps overdrawn accounts of the insolence of European officers to civilians, of shoving off the sidewalk, of ordering good people from their restaurant tables, and we immediately begin to have blue fits about the "military caste." Somehow or other we have the idea that a private is not a clod of earth, but a creature of the same clay of which officers are molded. We believe in a democratic army as well as in a democratic government.

The English, at the beginning of the great war, believed that common soldiers would not fight unless they were led by "gentlemen," but when the war had gone on a few months and the "gentlemen" were pretty well killed off, officers had to be recruited from the ranks. Contrary to expectations the fighting spirit and efficiency did not suffer because both parties, the man with the sword and the man with the rifle, could meet on the same social footing. The French army, modeled on a more democratic plan than any of the other European forces, has proved that under the same conditions it is fully the equal of the Germans. The British expeditionary forces, the Canadians and the Australians, were once notorious in England, because some of them called their officers by their first names. On account of their lack of devotion to the ideals of gentlemanism, it is said, the English refused to believe that these could be soldiers. But after nearly three years of the great war, it is admitted that the overseas men are the best fighters in the warring world.

The unpleasant insistence of officers on their exalted standing is seldom with them a matter of choice; most of them respect a private for the kind of man he is. The fault lies with the army system. Perhaps Americans would have a greater love for the army if the army had more respect and love for the American who does not wear gold on his shoulder.

The New Staff.

The present editor of The Kentucky Kernel feels that the faculty and students are to be congratulated on the editor-in-chief recently elected to serve next year. Mr. Cottingham, during his first two years here, was a faithful member of the staff and this year his work as managing editor has received a great deal of praise from careful observers. Nearly all the strictly news matter has passed thru his hands and his ideas as to make-up have been followed generally. An enthusiastic worker, an exact user of English and a trained newspaper man, he will no doubt make The Kentucky Kernel even better.

Mr. Wilson and Mr. Connell, the business manager and assistant editor for 1917-18, have not been connected with the paper as long as Mr. Cottingham, but their work has been all that could be desired.

The Kentucky Colonel Says:

Our military statisticians have evidently overlooked the large number of trained fighters in this country, such as those who have had long experience fighting "booze." We could raise several brigades in Kentucky on short notice, such.

Lykelle Pomes No. 24.

Said Mrs. Blinks to Hiram G.,
"I need a new spring hat."
And as he signaled S. O. S.
And wished a baseball bat,
She said, "Withhold your groans;
It only costs six bones."

Be calm, fellow students. The boys in the Transylvania military company will not be allowed to carry matches except in case of actual warfare.

What's worrying us is the fear that when Pullet 707 quits laying the dispensers will leave great sighs of relief and again shoot the prices of egg sandwiches and egg-chocolates up to ten and fifteen cents.

Getting Her Told.

She: Have you Zangwill's "Melting Pot?"
He: Sorry, madam, we only keep books. Hardware store two doors above.

The newspaper dispatches failed to mention whether the measles which afflicts the imperial Romanoff family is the German brand.

Perhaps when the Transylvania military company gets well drilled a contest can be arranged with one of our companies, provided, of course, the government will furnish ammunition and Red Cross service.

Asking Too Much.

Fond Parent (to son who has just received a university degree in languages): Read your diploma to us, Reginald.
Reginald: Can't do it, mother. It's written in Latin.

Reports state that Kaiser Bill is sick. Since the British and French began business and the Czar got the "can" and the breweries all closed down, it is a wonder that everybody in Germany isn't at least half sick.

Let 'em Try Their Sox.

Arctic Explorer: We can't make a dash for the pole this year.
Assistant: Why not?
Explorer: Nothing to eat. Shoe leather is too high.

PROBE COMMITTEE IS TAKING RECESS

The investigating committee from the Board of Trustees of the University took a recess Friday, March 16, until April 9, when they will resume their work at the University. Several hearings were held last week, but the movements are held in secret.

J. Irvine Lyle, of New York; R. G. Gordon, of Louisville; Dr. J. A. Ammon, of Lancaster, Senator H. M. Froman, of Ghent, and J. W. Turner, of Paintsville, members of the committee, returned to their respective homes after the final session Friday.

Students, alumni and faculty members testified before the committee.

TO GIVE DANCE.

The Morton High School Club will give a dance in the Armory the afternoon of April 14, from 3 to 6. Members must pay their dues of 50 cents before they will be given an extra bid.

GRATHWELL TELLS HOW TO ACHIEVE SUCCESS

Lecturer Says the Old Hoodoo Is Really Lack of Perseverance

EDUCATION OF VALUE

"The ranks of life are filled with ordinary men who might have been captains of finance or leaders of industry, if they had not listened to the cry 'let well enough alone,'" said S. W. Grathwell when he addressed the students of the University Thursday evening, March 15, on the subject, "Getting By Your Hoodoo." The address was one of the numbers of the University Lyceum Course.

"He who would succeed must think not only of the now but of the then," said Mr. Grathwell, "not only of the present but of the future. He who heeds the cry 'let well enough alone' thereby begins to decay. He who would succeed must break from the clutch of the immediate and keep his eye upon the ultimate. He must be one with a vision, one with eyes that see afar.

"Many a man turns to seemingly fairer fields when success lies at his own door, if only he will get by some obstacle, which is his hoodoo. The man who fails to get by his hoodoo goes down in defeat, while the man who does get by achieves success.

"Too many young people wait for opportunity to come to them like a perfumed pink note; an invitation. While they wait others forge ahead," said Mr. Grathwell. "Many a man fails to succeed because he does not believe in himself; he has the thought 'I would like to but I fear I can't.' He who harbors the thought 'I don't think I can,' paralyzes effort and torpedoed the ship of the future."

Mr. Grathwell spoke at length concerning the advantages of a college education to a young man. "There never was before such a field of endeavor as there is today, and never the opportunity for a young man to get a college education," he declared. "Despite the fact that less than two per cent of the people go to college, they hold sixty-six per cent of the positions of leadership in American life.

"The ideal that you make yours, the purpose that you hold in your heart, will become the rule and guide of your conduct; it will mould your life. Genius to the common mind is only that which is obtained by perseverance. Develop that quality," he said, "and you shall climb to the heights sublime."

AG. GOSSIP

The Agricultural Society held its regular weekly session Monday night. L. E. Steinhauer gave an interesting talk on "The Place of the Agricultural Graduate in the Business World." He told of lucrative positions held by agricultural graduates of the University and also of their ability as farmers. R. B. Fenley spoke on "Certified Milk," discussing the importance of this product and also the care necessary in its production. The roll should have been called at the Opera House.

C. B. (Shorty) Elston, class '15, on the border with Company A, Signal Corps, U. S. A., has been heard from by friends here. Shorty wants a bid to the Junior Prom, whenever it is to come off. He says he wants to celebrate his return to civilization by giving the pretty girls a treat.

Fay (Doc) Townes, class '16, is making a success at managing a dairy in Shelby County. Doc was a visitor at the University recently and says that he will sure be back for the Prom.

The beef production class in charge of Professor E. S. Good, visited the White House Meat Market Monday and were shown thru the plant by Manager J. W. Whitney. The expert cutter employed there demonstrated by cutting up a carcass, how to cut and just where the good cuts are located. He also gave the fine points of how to judge a good beef animal.

The class will visit the stockyards and packing plant of Knight & Company, in Louisville, Monday, March 26, on an inspection trip.

K. E. A. HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING NEXT MONTH

University Profs. To Speak At Session In Louisville

STUDENTS TO ATTEND

Several University professors are on the program for the Kentucky Educational Association, which holds its annual meeting in Louisville, April 25 to 28 inclusive. It is expected that a number of students will attend the meeting and arrangements for them will be made later.

One of the interesting features of the annual session is known as "Authors' Evening." This movement, which was inaugurated two years ago, seeks to create among the student and teachers of the State a desire to read good literature and become familiar with Kentucky authors and their works.

Many of the leading colleges and normal schools are making arrangements for special meetings of the alumni, headquarters for whom will be provided. The purpose of these meetings is to afford an opportunity for old classmates from various parts of the State to renew their friendships. University headquarters during the session will be at the Hotel Henry Watterson, where a dinner will be held at 6 o'clock on the evening of April 26.

The following University instructors will make talks at the meetings on the named subjects:

Professor Alfred H. Gilbert, "Some Contributions of Botanical Science, Past and Present"; Professor McHenry Rhoads, "A Survey of the Status and Needs of Science Teaching in Kentucky"; Professor George Baker, "Financial Practices in Cities and Towns Under 25,000"; Professor J. M. Davis, "Some Present Day Attacks Upon the Teaching of Mathematics"; Professor J. T. C. Noe, "Community Singing and Educational Phases of Music"; Lawrence A. Cover, "Formation of Bands and Orchestras".

Dr. Edward Tutthill, head of the history department of the University, will lead the discussion on history and civics at the meeting. Leaders in the discussion of agriculture and horticulture will be: Dr. Fred Mutchler, Professor George Roberts, and Miss Mary E. Sweeney, of the University.

Special rates on nearly all railroads have been secured.

PHI ALPHA DELTA GIVES SMOKER AT PHOENIX TUESDAY

Judge Samuel M. Wilson and George R. Hunt were guests at a smoker given in their honor Tuesday night at the Phoenix Hotel by Phi Alpha Delta fraternity, at which time they were initiated into the organization as honorary members.

Plans were formulated at the smoker to send an invitation to former President Taft, who is a member of the fraternity, to come to Lexington and deliver an address on preparedness and compulsory military service, under the auspices of the local chapter. The address will be open to the public.

A dinner in Colonel Taft's honor has been arranged by the fraternity.

Phi Alpha Delta, national legal fraternity, established at the University in 1914, has thirty-seven chapters in law schools of the United States and about 5,000 members.

PHILOSOPHIAN GIVES PROGRAM AT JUBILEE

The silver jubilee celebration of the Philosopher Literary Society closed last night with an open meeting, to which all University women and old Philosopher members were invited. This was followed by a buffet supper at Patterson Hall.

The program was a reproduction of one given twenty-five years ago. Many of the society's first members were present.

MISS JEWELL ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF ENGLISH CLUB.

Miss Frances Jewell entertained with a buffet supper at her home on Ashland Avenue Monday night, in honor of the English Club. Her home was attractively decorated and after an enjoyable supper the program was turned over to Professors Farquhar and Dantzier, who selected a cast and produced an original play.

The subject of Professor Farquhar's tragedy was "The High Cost of Living" and the cast included the following: Jane Dickey, heroine; John Marsh, lover; Mildred Graham, Mary Stagg, May Barnes Browning, Margaret McClure, Ruth Mathews, and Messrs. Piper and Mayes, and Miss Jewell.

Professor Dantzier as "parson" of the "Hell's Hole Baptist Church," showed his ability as an actor and was aided by an all-star cast, consisting of Misses Spurrier, Ricketts, Tuttle, Stevenson, Crowe, Innes, McGowan and Messrs. Grehan and Hatter.

ALPHA ZETA DANCE TO BE EVENT OF FRIDAY NIGHT.

The local chapter of Alpha Zeta, the national honorary agricultural fraternity, will give their annual dance in the ball room of the Phoenix Hotel Friday night, March 23. The Alpha Zeta is one of the big dances of the year and is given in honor of the pledges.

The old members of the fraternity, Seniors this year, are W. W. Owsley, Frank Street, Jr., Laurence Bradford, F. O. LaMaster, C. W. Bennett, J. A. Hodges, R. B. Hays, J. E. McMurtrey, George Gumbert and C. L. Morgan.

The Junior Aqs who were taken in last fall are T. L. Wilson, B. B. McInter, E. P. Bleidt, Louis Reusch, Jr., J. B. Taber, E. M. Johnson and J. G. Stewart.

The dance will start promptly at eight-thirty o'clock and the grand march will be given at the close of the tenth dance.

The order of the dances is as follows:

MISS GRAHAM SPEAKS AT Y. W. C. A. MEETING

"God Is In His Heaven" Is Subject of Brilliant Address

The regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held Sunday night at Patterson Hall and Miss Mildred Graham spoke on the subject of "God Is In His Heaven."

"I am going to put this subject under three heads," Miss Graham said. "first, the relationship of the world and life to God as seen by some girls, then the relationship as seen by God and finally, what shall we do about it. Girls who see that we spend $13,000,000,000 a year for liquor and only $175,000,000 for education, who see the awful conditions existing in tenements and in factories are apt to be a little discouraged over the whole affair. The church seems so visionary, and seems to do such a little good that the whole world appears in a muddle."

Miss Graham showed, however, that the perfect world was not the object of God's plan, but that He was trying to show us how to handle affairs and that the world was merely the laboratory material.

"The way we are to help," she said, "is to step in as optimists and reduce this chaos to order and not to stand outside as pessimists and be discouraged."

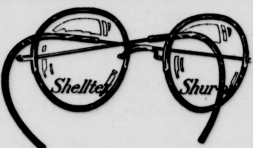

The new choir added to the program by several selections.

HAVE FIXED PURPOSE IS RICKEY'S ADVICE

"A man to succeed must have a fixed purpose in life, some goal to strive for," said Orla B. Rickey last Sunday evening in speaking at the Y. M. C. A. meeting on the subject, "A Man With a Purpose."

"The man who sows his wild oats is thereby wearing deep and indelible channels of vice in his life. It is everything in realizing our purpose and fixing it permanently. All the great leaders of our country were men of purpose, from Washington to Lincoln," the speaker said.

Professor Loomis rendered a cornet solo, accompanied by Miss Nancy Stagg.
