

De Paup Choristers To Sing Wednesday

Negro Ex-Servicemen Perform In Series

The De Paup Infantry Chorus, nationally known group of male singers, will be featured in the second musical event of the 1953-54 Community Concert Series at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday in Memorial Coliseum.

The De Paup Chorus, made up entirely of Negro ex-servicemen under the leadership of Capt. Leonard de Paup, has performed more than 3,500 times since its civilian debut five seasons ago, more than any other attraction sponsored by the Columbia Artists' Management which brings it here.

The group was organized in 1942 by one of the 372nd Infantry Regiment, stationed at Fort Dix, N. J. Soon after its organization, leader-ship of the group was assigned to Capt. de Paup.

When the 372nd Regiment was shipped to the Pacific Theater, the chorus went with it. In Hawaii the chorus sang a concert for the Pacific High Command, which was witnessed by Capt. Maurice Evans, Shakespeare actor, then in charge of Special Service for the Mid-Pacific area.

Toured Pacific During War Evans was so impressed with the group's ability he persuaded the high command to send the chorus up as a special unit and set it to various posts in the Pacific area as an entertainment unit.

He entered the Army as a private in 1942 and later entered Infantry Officers Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga. In his fifth week of O.C.S., his services as choral director for the Army Air Forces show and motion picture, "Winged Victory," were requested by Gen. H. H. Arnold.

Requested Overseas Assignment He was given permission to finish training and was called to New York after graduation to direct the 60-voice chorus of the show.

He remained with the "Winged Victory" production for a year before asking for a transfer back to the Infantry and was assigned to Dix where he took charge of the newly-formed "Winged Victory" choir to evolve into the De Paup Infantry Chorus.

The chorus' Wednesday program will include music of the many lands they visited on their Army tours, songs of World War II, and music of different faiths and spirituals. One of their current popular numbers, recorded by Columbia Masterworks, is the Army audience song "Sound Off."

SGA Delays Request For Law Day Funds

Budget, Traffic Also Discussed

Tickets will be issued after 2 p.m. for parking violations on the campus from now on, Mrs. Doris M. Foster, SGA secretary, announced this week.

Formerly, tickets were not given out after 2 p.m. However, campus police have found it necessary to issue tickets until at least 4 p.m. in order to eliminate confusion.

'Free Press' To Be Topic Of Address

A "Free Press in a Free Society" will be the topic of an address to be given here at 8 p.m. tonight by Turner Catledge, managing editor of the New York Times, as the first lecture in UK's 1953-54 Blazer Lecture Series.

The lecture, open to the public without charge, will be delivered in the University's Memorial Hall. Catledge's talk is one of six slated this year in the Blazer series.

Another question the roving reporter asked student and faculty members chosen at random was "What do you think can be done to make the United Nations more successful?"

One faculty member said that there should be "less deliberation and more action." A junior student pleaded for "compromise" and declared that the United Nations must learn to cooperate with one another and thus work toward a universal peace.

Miss Watlington declared that although these surveys could not be a "representative sample" of the entire student body, they did prove that students were interested in the UN and its future.

UK Selects Delegates For Rhodes Competition

Floyd M. Cammack Jr., William W. Douglas, and Edward R. Keenan will represent the University in the state Rhodes Scholarship Competition the first week of December.

The three men chosen were considered for their high scholastic standing, participation in extra-curricular activities, and qualities of character such as courage and leadership.

Dr. Rhodes Scholarships at Oxford University, England, carry an award of 500 pounds a year to the winners for two years and possibly three.

Educators Gather For Conference On Campus Today

Approximately 700 educators will attend the joint meeting of UK's 30th Annual Educational Conference and the 19th annual meeting of the Kentucky Association of Colleges, Secondary and Elementary Schools to be held here today and tomorrow.

Dr. L. D. Haskew, dean of the University of Texas College of Education, and Dr. John Dale Russell, chief executive officer of the New Mexico Board of Educational Finance, will speak at the opening session of the conference at 10 a.m. today.

"Developing a Better Educational Program for Elementary and Secondary Schools" will be Dr. Haskew's topic at this meeting; Dr. Russell will address the Kentucky educators on "Financing a Better Program of Higher Education in Kentucky."

Among special meetings to be held during the two days will be a business session of the Kentucky Association of Colleges, Secondary and Elementary Schools at 4 p.m. today in Memorial Hall; Dr. Charles R. Stein, president of Morehead State College, will present at this affair.

Saturday morning will be devoted to sections of exhibitors of specialized groups. Among these will be sessions for school administrators, art teachers, business education instructors, foreign language teachers, physical education teachers, school librarians and English teachers.

Budget, Traffic Also Discussed

The prosecuting attorney of Henderson, Ky., will probably not fly to Lexington with a $50 plane ticket in the near future, according to a statement made by Carter Glass, Student Government Association president.

Glass told Law College representative Jim Lyon Monday night that SGA would not appropriate funds for the Law College's annual Law Day unless a well known speaker was procured.

"If you go to Henderson," Glass said, "and get the prosecuting attorney there for a speaker—and if he wants to fly to Lexington on a $50 plane ticket, we can't give you the money."

Request Postponed Lyon's request, which has been made at previous Assembly meetings, was postponed because of fear of establishing a precedent by which other colleges and organizations might ask for funds, and because of arguments that SGA's purpose was not to "dole out funds." Glass said SGA's official budget was presented by budget chairman Jim Faulkner who gave an unofficial list last week. The budget for the fiscal year 1953-54 based on total funds available, includes $4,500, estimated revenues; $228, unappropriated surplus; $50, House Presidents' Council; $75, Kentucky; $488, K-Book; $850, Student Directory; $1,870, $500, "Stylus"; $200, "The Morning Post"; $200, international relations.

After it was announced that the Student Directory would be ready early next week, Jim Lyon asked the Assembly if it would be possible to see about having traffic lights installed at two intersections.

Lyon, referring to the exit on Lexington near the College of the Bible, and to the exit to Rose St. near the men's dorms, said "traffic is very heavy there, a pedestrian doesn't get much consideration. Sometimes they have to wait forever to cross."

Charles Palmer, Judiciary Committee, said that an investigation of the situation was already being made, and Dean of Men A. D. Kirwan, who attended the meeting, said that the city manager of Lexington had been asked to place stop lights at the intersections five years ago.

Glass clarified the rule by saying that the city manager of Lexington had been asked to place stop lights at the intersections five years ago.

Student Service Fund To Open Drive Sunday

World University Service, formerly Ass Barnes Jr., co-chairmen; Glenn World Student Service Fund, will begin its drive on the UK campus Sunday.

Solicitors will contact all students through organizations and personal solicitations. The international goal for WUS, a voluntary agency that gives financial aid to students in war-stricken countries, is $181,750 which is approximately a dollar per student from every student in the American universities.

The UK committee for the drive includes Emma Belle Barnhill and Edna Balle Barnhill, co-chairmen; Curtis Songster, Ed Watlington, Glen Sandfor, Sibbey Ethel, Jim Baker, Carol Sue Cater, and Ed Faulkner. Beth Gallivan, Martha Kay Mason, and Doris Oldham were not present when the picture was taken.

An international dinner will be held at 5:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 9 in the ballroom. Dishes from six different countries will be served, and there will be folk dances, songs, and decorations suitable to the international theme. Tickets are $2 and can be purchased at the Y office.

WUS in maintained interest by contributions from university students and professors. It operates without discrimination toward race, politics, or religion and in the past 15 years has collected approximately five million dollars.

The service provides for five types of projects directed toward the needs of eleven universities. They include lodging and living, student health, educational equipment, scholarships, and education projects and centers.

Until 1947 the program was co-ordinated by WUS, but in Europe, but in area of operations has been expanded to include Africa, India, and Japan and Korea. They include a total of 32 countries with WUS national committees. It is sponsored internationally by the World's Student Christian Federation, the World Union of Jewish Students, and Pax-Bonafide.

"Not only do students that WUS helps need material assistance," said Emma Belle Barnhill, co-chairman, "but they need the security that comes from friendship and knowledge that others care. University education is precious to WUS; it is to help them help themselves."

No Space? Oh Fine! Parking Problem Here Is Hard Nut To Crack

By KEN LEITCHFIELD

Too many cars, not enough parking spaces, available streets unable to cope with heavy traffic — these problems face UK, Lexington, and most universities and municipalities today.

To see the problem is quite simple: to find the suitable answer is more difficult. What measures can be taken to ease the parking and traffic situation at UK?

This question confronts a special student-faculty committee headed by Dr. Joseph R. Schwendeman, head of the Geography Department, organized last spring to study and make recommendations on the current traffic problem.

As in individual cases, the committee has many single suggestions but cannot reach unanimous agreement on any one. The basic parking problem stems from the fact that only 667 parking spaces are available for an estimated 2,000 automobiles on the UK campus.

This year 612 permits were issued to faculty and staff members and 164 to students by the five-member Judiciary Committee of SGA.

Free Extra Spaces Mr. Clifton said that 5,138 of this total are taking classes on the Lexington campus. Complete breakdown shows 394 students to be registered at the University's Northern Extension Center at Covington and 128 at the UK College of Pharmacy in Louisville.

Not included in this total are 433 students registered in 13 off-campus classes in Kentucky cities other than Covington, as reported by Louis Clifton, director of the Extension Department.

Prof. Clifton said this number includes 206 graduate students, 219 undergraduate students and eight auditors. In addition to these, approximately 1,267 persons are actively enrolled in courses given by correspondence through the Extension Department.

Of the six undergraduate colleges on the Lexington campus, the College of Arts and Sciences has the largest enrollment with 1,701 students. The Engineering College is second with 916.

College of Commerce has 697, Agriculture and Home Economics, 652; Education, 493; and Law, 199. The Graduate School has 329 students this semester.

Library Receives Letter Collection

One of the most important collections of presidential papers, a collection of letters written by Zachary Taylor, was presented last week to the University library.

This opinion was passed by Holman Hamilton, author of the biography on Taylor, after an inspection of the letters.

Hamilton also compared the careers of Taylor and President Eisenhower, neither of whom had political careers before they became presidents.

"When Taylor was first considered for the Whig nomination in 1846 and 1847, many Democrats favored him as their party's choice. Compare this with Eisenhower's position when both Democrats and Republicans considered him as their nominee," Hamilton said.

What other universities doing about their traffic problems? "Prohibit student automobiles," Hamilton noted that several Big Ten universities prohibit students from bringing cars to school.

Audio-Visual Clinic Expected To Attract 100 Instructors

An Audio-Visual Clinic being held today and Saturday at UK is expected to attract approximately 100 student projectors and teachers from this area. The clinic is being sponsored by the University's Department of Extension.

The clinic opens with a general session at 10 a.m. today in the Music Room of the Student Union. Lewis Clifton, director of University Extension, will welcome visitors to the campus at this meeting.

Also appearing on the initial program was Dr. H. D. Johnson, assistant director of University Extension. "Audio-Visual Aids—A Springboard to Better Instruction" was the topic of Dr. Johnson's address.

This afternoon's program has been divided into individual sections for projectors, audio-visual directors and music directors. Dr. Thomas P. Field of the UK Department of Geography will address the projectors on "An Instructor's Idea of a Successful Showing."

The section for audio-visual directors will be devoted to a panel discussion. The following persons will take part in the panel: Mrs. Oma Soper, Russell Cave school at Fort Thomas; Cornelius H. Hager, Jessamine county schools; Fithian S. Faries, Lexington city schools; Sister Mary Teresa, Villa Madonna at Covington; and Monroe Wicker, Morehead State College.

"Developing a Tape Recorder" will be the theme of the session for music directors. The sound of six recorders which have previously recorded the same music under equal conditions will be compared by these teachers.

Presented in tonight's plans is a party to be given by the Y-Teen girls of University High school for the students and projectors. The affair will be staged in the recreation room of the Taylor Education Building.

Parking Solution Is Hard To Find

and charged students $6 a month for parking rent.
One limitation placed upon UK officials in efforts to change the existing traffic situation is that Lexington city officials control all streets of the campus.

Dean Kirwan explained that past efforts to install traffic lights at the Graham and Rose and Graham and Lane intersections were nullified by the city.

Three-lane traffic has proved effective at busy intersections, thus allowing left hand turns without delaying traffic. But these provisions are not available at many street crossings and only partially at others.

For example, at the Rose-Fueled intersection three-lane traffic is imposed on every street except the north side of Rose. But the modern age problem remains . . . too many cars, not enough parking spaces, available streets unable to cope with heavy traffic.

YW-YMCA Holds Annual Retreat

YW-YMCA will hold its annual retreat tomorrow at Camp Daniel Boone on the Kentucky River. Three blankets and plenty of warm clothes will be necessary, according to Barbara Hall, YWCA secretary. The fee will be $2.50. Anyone interested should sign up in the Y office today.

Cars will leave the Student Union at 12:30 p.m. Saturday and will return after lunch Sunday.

137 Cited For Scores On Placement Tests

A total of 137 students who entered UK for the first time this semester have been recognized for attaining outstanding scores on placement tests given all students who enroll at the school.

In commending the students who made the high scores, Dr. Leyle W. Croft, director of placement, declared that "such high achievement reflects credit not only upon their parents, but also upon the high school from which they were graduated."

The 137 students honored were placed in the "A" section of general ability, English and mathematics. Under the UK testing system the "A" section consists of the highest 25 per cent of the scores on each test. Central and Eastern Kentucky students recognized follow:

WBKY Increases Air Time; Tries To Get FM Radios

In an effort to improve student interest in WBKY, the station is changing its policy.

New programs are being added to the schedule, and a plan to set up listening centers where students can get to FM radios to hear the station is now being worked out.

In addition, WBKY has increased its number of broadcast hours. Last year the station was on the air from 7 to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday. Tomorrow it will begin broadcasting from 6 to 10 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Each Saturday night the University football games will be carried.

Library Director Helps With Survey

Dr. Lawrence S. Thompson, director of University Libraries, has left for Port of Spain, Trinidad, where he will help in a special survey of the East Caribbean Regional Library.

He was requested by the Caribbean Commission to make the study which is expected to be completed next month.

Prudence Tells Of Pinning Fad In Correspondence To Hortense

By YVONNE EATON

Dear Hortense:

Guess what! I'm pinned again. Oh, I forgot... I haven't written since I got unpinned the last time. Well, anyway, I am pinned again but, thank heavens, not to the same guy.

I gave Ebenezer his old pin back because I couldn't stand the thought of having that horrible name tacked on to mine. Besides, I found out he wasn't the kind of boy I thought he was. Why, he bought the cheapest fraternity pin he could - not even the middle-priced pin like the other boys have. Heck, he could have worked just an extra 100 hours second semester to buy the one with pearls and diamonds in it, if he had cared anything at all for me. But no, he uses that extra time to study.

Why, his old, plain pin just rusted the front of my new $30 dress. Since most of the pin was black - and so much of my wardrobe is brown - I just couldn't see that awful, chattering combination for three more years of college. That black made me feel like I was in mourning all the time, too.

Prudence

Dear Hortense:

I'm really sorry that I forgot to explain this matter of pinning to you. You see, to get pinned, you have to make sure that everyone on the campus has heard that you're not going to get pinned until you bring the man you're going to marry, which is going to be a long time off. When the boys hear that, they start rushing you to see if they can be the first to change your mind.

Sebastian was so nervous. He was in such a hurry to get his pin off after I changed my mind that he tore a hole in his sweater and pricked four of his fingers. In fact, when Sebastian pinned me it was a very ticklish situation.

Pinning here at school really means a lot to a girl. The first time I got pinned, I thought it meant that I was supposed to be serious about the guy, and eventually take his name as well as his pin. Now I know better. Pinning, at best, means that a girl is always sure of having a date.

It also means that she has a good chance of being sponsored by a fraternity for their queen candidate. That means that she gets invited to the first house for a lot of money. They certainly don't want to be called stingy. But, really, the best thing about being pinned is that you get to know a lot of boys.

It's easy to flirt up a storm with the fraternity brothers of the guy you're pinned to, and he can't say a word about it. After all, they're his fraternity brothers. They sort of flirt back by putting their arms around me or holding my hand to show the guy I'm pinned to that they approve of his choice.

UK Juggling Team Cops First Place

UK's meek-juggling team received first place in beef grading and third place in over all grading at the American Royal Livestock Show which concluded at Kansas City, Mo. last week.

Herbert Ockerman of Burlington took first place honors in individual grading. James Brogli, team member from Bendville, and Ockerman were ranked among the top 10 individuals in the contest.

Fourteen other teams from over the nation competed in the contest. Other members of the team were Colias L. Simpson, Science Hill; James D. Padgett, Wayneburg; and Randall Stull, Glasgow. The team is coached by Dr. James D. Kemp of the Animal Husbandry Department.

Women's Dorms Have New Shrub

The old plantings around the girls' dorms are being removed and will be replaced with new shrubbery.

Many of the plants are over 20 years old and have served their purpose, according to N. R. Elliott, who is in charge of campus planting. These will be replaced with flowering shrubs and evergreens that grow well in shaded areas.

New plantings will also be made on the east side of Boyd Hall near the entrance used by the girls going to and from classes.

Excavated from the new boys' dormitory site is being added to the area at the north and east end of Boyd Hall and the area between Boyd and Patterson. The added dirt will change the grade of the lawn and will provide better ground for the planting, Mr. Elliott said.

UK Writing Honorary Pledges Four Girls

Chi Delta Phi, international women's honorary for writing, pledged four girls last week.

The girls, who were chosen on the basis of the manuscripts they submitted and over-all standings, were Jackie Averill, Beth Gallivan, Barbara Lake, and Pat Washington.

The pledging was held in Room 204 of the Student Union. Initiation will be held in the near future.

He says that he sees little difference between bull-fights and horse races because Mexicans never think of the cruel side of the sport.

Mexican Student Tells About Art Of Bull-Fighting

By JUDY LESTER

Bull-fighting is an art. At least that's what they call it in Mexico. Frank Xavier Madrano, a Mexican student at UK, can tell in his colorful accent all about the pomp and pageantry of the bull-fight. He has been more than just a spectator; he has actually done some bull-fighting himself.

"The life of a bull-fighter (torador), they call them in Mexico is a beautiful life," says Frank, "but," he adds, "it is a very hard life to take."

However, the average bull-fighter does not get killed in the ring as most people seem to think. Instead he may retire on the money he made thrilling spectators in daring escapades with furious bulls.

Frank, who has attended three years of high school in New Orleans, lives on a 75 hectaria farm between 25 and 30 thousand acres in central Mexico. On this "rancho" they raise fighting bulls. The bulls, a breed called Lidia, are naturally high strung and evil tempered. The breeders keep the bulls until they are three or four years old when they are sold to bull-rings.

A bull fights only one night, and a good bull lasts only about 20 minutes in the ring. At the traditional bull-fight, which takes place in Mexico between the middle of October and May, there are six bulls and three toradores. Each torador kills two bulls if he is lucky, and if he isn't lucky...

In spite of his passion for bull-fighting, Frank was drawn to Kentucky, like so many other people, by his love for horses. He hopes to return to his home in Jalisco, Mexico, in a few years and raise race horses in addition to fighting bulls.

Traffic Engineering School Slated To Begin Nov. 17

UK, in cooperation with the Kentucky Department of Highways, will hold its second annual Traffic Engineering School Nov. 17-20 at the University.

The training is being offered to state, county, and city traffic engineers and persons in related fields. Its chief purpose is to make a constructive approach to the main traffic problems in Kentucky.

Approximately 30 officers and engineers from all sections of the state took part in last year's school, and a larger number is expected to attend this year. The University is offering the training through its Department of Engineering Extension and the College of Engineering.

Prof. D. V. Terrell, dean of the College of Engineering, will give the welcome address. Special instruction will be given to signals, channelization, treatment of road areas and small city problems.

The three "E's" of traffic engineering—education, engineering, and enforcement—will be given special attention. Among the principal speakers will be Joe P. Rice of the Kentucky Department of Highways; John Boerwald, research engineer, Purdue University; W. F. Watkins, director of the Department of Traffic Engineering, City of Louisville; and Charles C. Odham, commissioner of the Kentucky State Police.

If you think dear ole UK is famous for its faith, then read below of other schools. And things that they have had.

This column is for the sole purpose of bringing to UK students a glimpse of college life on other campuses. Here's hoping that someone will get an inspiration or an idea from one of these tidbits, "lifted" from campus newspapers throughout the country.

Southern hospitality and friendliness still thrive in the South, or at least at Auburn College in Alabama. One day each semester is designated as "Hey Day." All the students wear name tags and make a special effort to promote the friendly spirit for which Auburn is famous. Reports from the student dating bureau there vouch for the day's success.

Attention Suki! North Carolina State has had a pep rally to equal all pep rallies. It began when 800 male students decided to surprise the coeds with a party rally. The student president, fearing for the feminine belongings, persuaded a Negro band's trumpet player to strike up a number and lead the group away from the girls' dorms. They ended up at Emerson Stadium for a spirited pep rally. Please, no repeats on this campus, boys.

UK has its sweater swings, but the Richmond Professional Institute, Richmond, Va., has a unique type of student mixer called the "barfoot ball." Admission: One pair of shoes, checked at the door.

Migration Day is not a part of the history department at Ohio University. It is the day set aside each year for the student fans to follow their Bobcats to an "away" football game. Their destination this year will be Oxford, Ohio, and the homecoming festivities at Miami University.

Upperclassmen at the University of Colorado are that the freshmen are properly oriented during their first month at school. Wearing green beanies and tipping them to all their classmates is not enough. These "frosh" are further initiated into the ways of college life by being required to attend all football games in a body, and to memorize not only the number of pillars in front of the library and the inscriptions on each entrance, but also the number of stones on the bottom of Varsity Lake, and the quantity of Colorado Blue Spruce on the campus.

Some freshmen don't realize how lucky they are.

The Daily Reville, Louisiana State newspaper, has a poet's corner. This little city was one of the recently published student contributions, a subtle hint that the school is badly in need of a new stadium. If Madam Curie had attended LSU she would never have discovered radium. They'd put her down at a drawing board. And made her part a stadium. After undergoing Kentucky invaded that field the other weekend and tied the team that was rated a two touchdown favorite, this verse might better describe the mood of the entire LSU student body.

Why ask for a new stadium, since Kentucky tied the score? We'd rather have some earplugs. To drown that WILDCAT "roar."

Literary Society Schedules Meeting

The Patterson Literary Society will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in Room 204 of the Student Union. Bill Douglas, president, announced. A guest speaker will discuss the WUS campaign on this campus. Douglas said.

UK Moot Court Winners To Vie For State Title

Representatives of the Vinson Club and Reed Club semi-finalists in the annual Moot Court Competition, will argue Wednesday before the Kentucky Court of Appeals in Frankfort to decide the winning team.

Donald Combs and Theodore D. Dunn, of the Vinson Club, and Henry V. Pennington II and Mrs. Dianne McKaig Walden, Reed representatives, will vie for the state title.

Combs and Dunn, who took the side of the petitioner in the mock case, were declared winners over the Rutledge Club representatives, Roy J. Moreland and John W. Murphy, in a Moot Court competition held at Lafayette Hall Monday.

Mrs. Walden and Pennington, who also argued for the petitioner, won over the Brandeis Club representatives.

PE Majors Direct Play Club Activity Saturday Morning

A total of 76 children, ranging from 3 to 12 years of age, have enrolled in the UK Play Club. Dr. Earl Kaufman Jr., associate professor of physical education, has announced.

The children, representing 45 families affiliated with the University, meet from 10 to 12 a.m. Saturday for a program of swimming, dramatic skits, outdoors, crafts, and ice play.

The Play Club is designed to provide opportunity for recreation leaders and other PE students to relate theory to practice. The class instructors meet on Tuesday afternoons to study leadership techniques, and to make plans for the children's activities on Saturday.

They include Diane Rodlick, Shirley Smith, Janet Fisher, Ann Gordon, Gwendell Henderson, Cliff Hagan, Bill Evans, Joe Platt, Ralph Beard, Albert Cox, Ches Riddle, Dwight Price, and Don Weaver who are physical education majors in the recreation leadership class.

From time to time the leaders secure faculty aid. Last year Dr. W. S. Webb, retired physics professor, gave an electrical show for the youngsters.

Church News

Dr. Edwin Marx To Give Series Of Religious Talks

Dr. Edwin Marx, professor of religion at Transylvania College, will begin a series of three talks at the Disciples Student Fellowship meeting at 4 p.m. Sunday at the Central Christian Church.

He will discuss "The Life and Teachings of Jesus." A light supper will be served before the meeting. The DSPF board will hold committee meetings at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the church library.

Westminster Fellowship will hold open house tonight, but no Hallows party is planned.

The Newman Club will sponsor a Hallows party at 8:30 p.m. today at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

"The Miracle of Guadalupe" will be the subject of a talk by Father Ralph Heiting at Newman Club meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Student Union Building.

UK Drum Major Conducts Course

Don Wilson, drum major for the UK band, will conduct a course in baton twirling at the Paris City School beginning the first week in November, according to an announcement by Thomas Sivick, head of the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Most men go into salary jobs after graduation. The two main fields here are accounting and sale work in which the salaries run from $250 to $380 a month. Dr. Carter says that there are more openings in these two fields than in any of the others. Other salary jobs offered are personnel, general office, and office assistants.

Most of the women graduates go into stenographic, secretarial, or clerical work. Salaries on these jobs run from $200 to $250 a month. One of these graduates, as file co-ordinator with General Electric, started at $290 per month.

Dr. Carter says that the academic standing of graduates are of utmost importance, but other factors entering into such positions are experience and personality.

Engineering Class Elects President

James G. Blainzowich was chosen as president of the UK freshman engineering class recently. Sidney P. Stone is the new vice president, and Donald L. Williams is secretary-treasurer of the group.

Blainzowich and Harry A. Allen have been selected as student representatives to the Engineering Student Council. Prof. J. S. Horton is faculty advisor to the freshman engineers.

Education College Will Be Evaluated

An evaluation committee appointed by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education will visit UK campus Nov. 7-11.

The AACTE committee, composed of seven members, will evaluate the College of Education.

Chemistry Head Reports Increase

Preliminary data compiled by Chemistry Department representatives indicate a marked increase in total class enrollment as compared to last year.

Dr. Lyle R. Dawson, head of the Chemistry Department, reports the total chemistry enrollment to be 11.2 per cent greater than the first semester of 1952-53.

With more than 700 freshmen students enrolled in chemistry courses, a 7.5 per cent increase over last year has been gained among the freshman class, Dr. Dawson stated.

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER DEATH?

Christ gave us (Matt. XXV) a description of God's judgment which leaves no room for doubt that our worthiness of everlasting reward will be judged solely according to the way we have lived our lives on this earth.

Every day, almost a hundred thousand human beings finish their earthly span and pass off into the vast beyond. That our turn will come we all know, but when and where and how we cannot be sure.

No merely human being ever has been able to look into eternity and tell us what it is like. No scientific knowledge or scientific instruments can pierce the curtain that divides this world from that into which all of us must eventually journey.

All we know about God's eternal plans for us... all we know about what lies beyond the grave... comes from the God Who made us and to the extent He has seen fit to reveal to us.

But we can face eternity without fear. For we do have a definite answer to the mystery of death. With the facts God has put at our disposal through the inspired books of the Old and the New Testaments, the Catholic Church always has given, and gives today, a definite answer to the tremendously important questions raised by the fact of death.

Man's life in this world, the Church tells us, is a preparation for the world to come... a testing-time which ends with our death. What happens after that depends on whether death finds us loyal to God, or opposed to Him and the way He expects us to live... it is appointed unto men once to die and after this the judgment" (Heb. IX:27).

WILDCAT OF THE WEEK Ray CORRELL

BY DICK FURKINS A stubborn pack of Villanova Wildcats refused to give up 55 minutes to cooperate with their brother Wildcats from Kentucky Saturday night, before giving way under the determined line play of Ray Correll and his mates... Player-of-the-Week Correll, a 6-1, 200-pound senior from Somerset, was terrific on the defense, stopping Villanova ball carriers in their tracks repeatedly.

SEC Roundup Upsets Dominate SEC; Cats Tied For Third

After six weeks of grunting and groaning in the SEC grid race and on the national scene, many pre-season prognosticators are having their predictions thrown back in their faces to use whatever flavoring salt or pepper they wish on their articles... This has proved especially true in the SEC where the top dogs have been set back on their heels more than once and as a natural result, the dark horses have been coming through in a surprising way.

Mississippi, except for a 13-0 loss to the up-and-coming Auburn Plainsmen, are hotly contesting Tech's claim to the title this early in the season... Three tied LSU finds themselves in a four way tie for third place with Kentucky, Auburn and Alabama... Alabama's Common Tide, no relation to the popular theater, has been practically a buried bubble that far... The Tide will have to finish high in the nation and stand a good chance to be SEC Champion if they win... Bama got a poor start when the Tide and the grid world were used by a 25-19 loss to little Mississippi in the first week.

Wildcats Top Stubborn Villanova Eleven, 19-0

The vaulting Wildcats, after scoring a touchdown late in the initial period of play, found themselves unable to move a stubborn Villanova eleven until the final five minutes of the encounter in which they pushed across two touchdowns to grab a hardfought battle from the Main Liners, 19-0... The Main Liners, winners of only one game this season, held the Wildcats back for the first 14 minutes of the game... The Wildcats' offensive attack, which had dropped Mississippi State from the undefeated list only a week ago, never seemed to get underway until Big Steve Mellinger provided several key plays which set up the 'cat's clinching score.

I-M Grid Play Continues; Legion Park Chosen Site

After a week's lapse, the I-M football season will swing back into action Monday night but with a slight change of scenery. All remaining games are to be played at Legion Field, located on South Broadway opposite the Picadome Golf Course.

The week's layout was made necessary because of work currently being done on the I-M field and the lack of another field suitable for play. It was at first feared that play would either have to be postponed until the second semester or dropped altogether.

KA narrowed the ranks of un-burdened teams to four with a 7-0 victory over PKT in the outstanding game of last week's play. Only KA, SAE, SN, and PKA remain under the same banner.

KE gained their first victory at the expense of DTD, 12-0.

Renny Bonnell threw two touchdowns passes to Eckerle, one in each half, to give KS its winning total. Frank Werner added the extra point after the first TD.

Triangle 7-AGR 6
Triangle moved into a tie for third place in Division I with a 7-0 decision over AGR. Triangle is tied with PSK for the remaining play-off spot in Division I. SX and SAE have already clinched a spot in the tournament. The showdown will come Tuesday night when the two main teams meet in their last game of the regular season.

Triangle gained its win over AGR when Joe Simons passed to Omer Carter for a touchdown in the first half. Simons added the extra point.

Convicts 7-Civil Engineers 6
Convicts came from behind to win the second half to edge C.E. 7-6.

Verne Engstrom passed to Jack Sellers for a C.E. touchdown in the halftime lead. The Convicts came back in the second half to score on a pass from Ed Lambert to Ben Rainsley. Another Lambert-to-Rainsley pass added the extra point and the victory.

KA 7-PKT 0

If you or the coaches of Rice, whom the Cats play this week, read the article by Larry Boeck of the Louisville Courier-Journal in last Monday's edition, you saw a very plausible bit of reasoning—from strictly an observer's viewpoint—on why the Wildcats didn't play a better game.

Mr. Boeck is under the impression that Coach Bryant was pointing for the Rice and Vandy games coming up and poor one-win Villanova be damned. He stated that Coach Bryant wanted to let their pride and "desire to win" do the job.

If Mr. Boeck, in our estimation, had watched the boys on the squad work out all week and work hard on Villanova defense and offense, he would have sung a different tune. Second string backs were called Adiego, Flipski and Helm and they were keyed "up" to a real pitch, or as high as it is possible for a team which had lost four games while winning only one.

In our humble opinion, this wasn't the reason for the poor showing, and we imagine it could be called that. In working most of the week to just the running of Adiego, Flipski and Helm the Cats did just that, when the Manliners unleashed a surprise quarterback, Charlie McGuckin who had played only one game of college ball and started his first against the Wildcats last week as a senior, the surprise apparently took the edge off the pass defense.

It is like going bear hunting, hearing a noise in the bush and getting prepared for a big Black bear which turns out to be a rabbit.

Of course the Cat offense wasn't clicking the other night, on the whole, but any squad is in for a letdown after the past few weeks. UK is no exception. We don't believe any coach in the country could have gotten the Cats up any more than Coach Bryant did. . . . Well, with anything short of threats of murder, anyway.

Our Orchid of the Week goes this week to little Ivan Curmote, one of, if not the, smallest man on the squad. The five-foot, six-inch freshman brother of regular guard Duke, played in his first game last week and came through in a Frank Merriwell finish as he took a pitchout and ran for a six yard TD in the waning seconds of the game.

Little Ivan is one of the fastest men on the squad and probably would have seen more action previously, had he not been injured early in the season.

Just a little explanation as to why the site of the Intramural football playoffs and the rest of the regular season were changed to Legion Field. It seems that the roar set up by several of the organizations made it necessary.

The contractors building the new dorms and fraternity housing projects on Rose Street wanted to start dumping dirt on the Alumni field. Plans were made to cancel the rest of league play this year and the playoffs but the Greeks spoke.

From reports, we hear that this process starting now will save the University some $2000 since the area will be filled and landscaped free of charge by the contractors. The reason is that it is cheaper to dump the dirt there and landscape it than to have the excess earth hauled out into the country.

An odd coincidence came out after a survey of the brochure put out by Villanova. The nicknames of the two teams, Wildcats, are not only the same but the school colors, Blue and White, are coinciding. No wonder it was such a hard fought game down to the wire, neither team knew which was which. Like the Tiger or proverbial stories, chasing its tail around the tree, so went it Saturday.

When Bill McCubbin left UK for Peabody of Nashville this Fall to work on his doctorate, he left an epitaph very indicative of the fine job he did while heading the I-M program.

A handbook listing everything from soup to previous winners plus rules and By-laws has recently been released and distributed to every Greek on campus.

Oh yes, we nearly forgot a prediction on this week's game with Rice down at Houston. We figure the Cats will come back with a hard fought win over the Owls but anything can and does happen in the first year of one-platoon football. The biggest powers can fall and do.

We will see you when we return from the State which is nationally known for its friendliness. Let's hope that that hospitality carries over to the football field tomorrow.

The Wildcats moved from the ranks of obscurity in the weekly Associated Press national rankings this week into the No. 19 spot with their 9-0 win over Villanova. The United Press, competitors of AP, didn't have the Wildcats anywhere in the top 30.

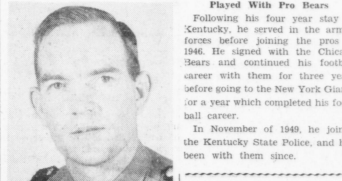

The AP poll is made up of votes of the sports writers over the country while the UP votes and survey are taken from coaches around the country who serve on a board for that particular purpose.

A win over Rice tomorrow, a team ranked No. 12 in the AP poll and 11th in UP ratings, would increase our prestige no end, possible making the coaches in the country sit up and take notice.

Past Sportlites Gridder Mullins Back At UK As Instructor

By BILL KNIGHT
Noah Mullins, former UK gridiron star, returned to schooling this year, but will not be seen wearing the Blue and White on the football field as he formerly was from 1933 to 1952.

He is presently wearing the gray and black uniform of the Kentucky State Police and teaching traffic regulations. Some Wildcats fans remember him as a flashy halfback who scored 18 touchdowns in three years of varsity action. Others recall him as a first-footed cinderman who ran the 100 yard dash in 9.6 seconds to tie the Southeastern Conference record.

NOAH "MOON" MULLINS

Noah came to Kentucky in 1939 from Versailles and played freshman ball his first year. He joined the varsity in his sophomore year and gained considerable recognition as a flashy runner by scoring four touchdowns. The Wildcats had a good season of six wins, two losses, and one tie under the coaching of A. E. Kirwan, who is present dean of men here.

In his junior year, Mullins ran wild against Washington & Lee by scoring three touchdowns and pacing the Wildcats to a 47-12 victory. One of his six-pointers came as a result of a 90 yard gallop to paydirt on a kickoff return. Mullins romped 90 yards on another kickoff return and aided in walloping Georgia Tech in a 24-0 triumph.

Probably his most valuable counter was against Georgia which resulted in a 7-7 tie with Georgia.

Cagers Continue Practice For Approaching Season

As the second full week of basketball practice ended yesterday, the UK cagers were already beginning to show the power that is expected to carry them to another NCAA Championship. The Wildcats spent most of their time this week just shooting and re-working some of their plays. Most of the players reported in good shape and the shooting accuracy for the whole team was remarkable, considering the limited amount of practice so far.

Five lettersmen from the 1951-52 season were among the sixteen players listed by Coach Adolph Rupp on this year's varsity roster. The lettersmen include: All-Americans Cliff Hagan and Frank Ramsey, Lou Tsoropoulos, Gagle Rose, and Bill Evans. The rest of the squad includes Willie House, a junior along with Rose and Evans, and Sophomores: Pete Crisgray, Clay Evans, Linville Puckett, Jerry Bird, Hugh Coy, Phil Gravemeyer, Harold Hunt, Bill Bibb, Jess Curry, and Dan Chandler. Hagan, Ramsey, and Tsoropoulos are the seniors on the squad.

Freshman Coach Harry Lancaster picked up several freshman prospects from the freshman try-outs that he conducted this week to complete his roster for a freshman team, which will also play a schedule of their own this season. Already listed on this year's roster were the following:

Date	Opponent	Site
Dec. 5	Temple	Home
Dec. 12	Xavier	Away
Dec. 14	Wake Forest	Home
Dec. 18	Louis	Away
Dec. 21	22-UK Inv. Tourney	Home
(Date, U.C.L.A., LaSalle, and Kentucky)
Dec.	Minnesota	Home

A rather well-oiled gentleman came waving up the street and approached a policeman on the corner. "Shay, officer," he shayed. "Can you direct me to the nearest Alcoholic Anonymous?"

"Sure, Mr. you gonna join up?"

"Join? Noo, I wanna resign."

A young Journalism student was visiting in Cincinnati recently and was on a tour of the Queen City. "We are now passing the most famous brewery in the city," explained the guide.

"Not me," exclaimed the student, leaping from the bus.

UK Swimming Team Schedules Practice

The varsity swimming team began practice Monday, October 26, at the pool in Memorial Coliseum. The team, which practices at 4 p.m. every day during the week, is still open to freshmen tryouts, said A. M. Reese, swimming coach.

Only $4.50? Fantastic!

Walking away from the ruins of his living sinner, the tiny creature opened his emergency kit. Peering into it with his middle eye, he beheld a stack of greenbacks, packs of chewing gum, and a sheet of instructions which read: "In this kit you will find everything you need to live as a college student. All college men wear clothes and chew gum. Buy clothes, chew gum constantly...and good luck!"

Scratching his left antenna with his lower left hand, he tore off half of a five dollar bill, popped it into his mouth, and scuttled into a nearby college shop. "Let's see your finest shirt," he squeaked.

The trembling clerk handed him a Van Heusen Oxfordian. "Cheep, that's really a mimsy!" screamed the little fellow, feeling the lustrous Oxford fabric. "How much is it?"

"Only $4.50," quavered the clerk. "I have them in the smartest new colors...and white to boot. Plus roll collars, button-downs and new short collars."

"Only $4.50? Fantastic!" piped the creature. "I'll take one of each!"

Carefully he counted out twenty sticks of gum and laid them on the counter. "Keep the change," he chortled, putting the shirts under his middle arm. And munching merrily on a crisp ten dollar bill, he waddled out.

UK Dean Is Witness To Iranian Uprisings

By JUDY LESTER

Drawn bayonets and shouts of "Go home Yankee" have been greeting Dean L. J. Horlacher, who is in Tehran, Iran, on a year's leave of absence from the University.

The associate dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics gives an eye-witness account of the Mosaddeq uprising in Tehran in a series of letters written to friends here.

Dean Horlacher's office, which was located in Mosaddeq's old home where he sought shelter during the uprising, was ransacked and left in shambles in a demonstration Aug. 19. Everything in the office was destroyed.

In a letter written on July 19 Dean Horlacher said, "A door has been cut in the wall surrounding the office building and is guarded continuously by a soldier. As a matter of fact, the entire area is guarded and to get through the gate in the wall which leads to my office from the street I must pass by a soldier on guard with a drawn bayonet. . . . Incidents could easily occur."

Remained In Hotel
"This morning groups of students from the university, which has a heavy infiltration of communists, were on the streets calling 'Go home Yankee' . . . We must remain in the hotel or at least venture out only if necessary."

On Aug. 11 he reported that the government situation remained tense.

"When the majlis convened recently," he said, "most of the deputies resigned, so Mosaddeq had the people vote as to whether or not the majlis should be dissolved. It was a democratic vote. Those who were for dissolution and Mosaddeq voted at one place. Those against voted at another. The vote was about 1,700,000 for and 600 against. Four people were killed."

Demonstrators March
Demonstrations were held on July 21, constitution day, for and against the government, with the against groups being much larger, according to Dean Horlacher. The Horlachers were practically confined to quarters that day. When the demonstrators marched past the hotel the gates of the compound were shut and barred.

Ever since President Eisenhower denied Mosaddeq's appeal for huge economic aid, sentiment against America has been growing," wrote the dean. "Mosaddeq is now in the position of a dictator, as there are no majlis."

A month later, after the violence had passed, Dean Horlacher wrote about the actual capture of Mosaddeq.

Communists Underground
"Things are very quiet, and we meet no hostility on the streets, though I cannot say that there is any great display of friendliness. The communists are underground for the time being. . . . Most of the 'Yankee go home' signs have been removed. . . . In addition to our papers (lost when his office was ransacked) we lost 12 automobiles, five of which were recovered. We decided to come to the hotel and ran into a big demonstration. We didn't know the character of the group and that the communists had taken over. The battle to seize Mosaddeq began about 5 p.m."

"When the mob began to pull down statues of the Shah and to desecrate the grave of Reza Shah, the people began to feel that their religion was being attacked. They protested to Mosaddeq who ordered out the army."

The next day the army turned against Mosaddeq and the communists went underground. "But for this," said Dean Horlacher, "Iran might well be communist today."

Tennessee Alums Planning Welcome

The Middle Tennessee Alumni Club of the University, with headquarters in Nashville, will hold an informal dinner meeting at 7 o'clock Friday, Nov. 6 in the Iris Room of the Hotel Hermitage, with President H. L. Donovan as the speaker.

All alumni of the University who plan to be in Nashville that weekend for the Vanderbilt game are invited to attend. Reservations may be made through the Alumni Association Offices in Room 124 of the Student Union, or by writing to Ava F. Sellers, Placement Service, Vanderbilt University, Nashville 5, Tenn., the secretary of the Middle Tennessee Club.

YOUNG STUFF

By DON YOUNG JR.

If she had worn mascara, it would have sun.

In a voice that was as soft as dew falling on a feather, she said, "I don't know where I'm supposed to be, but would it count against me if I went and found out?"

She brushed away a tear and waited for an answer.

Unusual? No, not very. Kitty King, personable secretary of Dr. Hamilton Tapp and head of the Information Office, is faced with this kind of story frequently.

Most of her questioners, says Kitty, are confused and shy.

"They are either scared and want to know where the 'TA,' 'SS,' or 'EJCJ' building is located, or they've lost and searching for the dormitories. We gladly help everyone, but what amazes me is how anyone can find this tiny office and yet misplace a whole building."

Not all those seeking help are freshmen girls.

Some class' upperclassmen and women storm the office with such questions as "Say, where is the nearest coe machine?" The prompt reply to such a query is "downstairs turn left, straight ahead."

It would be impossible to classify the sort of person who looks for information, but the other day the Old South walked into the information office.

He was tall, wore a blue worsted suit, and carried a malacca walking stick. His hair was the flowing white that the makers of Toni dream about. His gait was as neat, groomed, and respectable as a gold green in Washington this year.

After Kitty muttered the audacity to say, "May I help you?" he asked, "Young lady, could you tell me where the 'School for a Day' program is being held and how I might get there?"

After she directed him to the Pine Arts he turned and marched regally out the door.

As if designed to break the spell, another crying freshman sidled into the office and asked in a sob-wracked voice, "What will the professor do to me if I come in late to class?"

Trygve Lie Seen As Top UN Salesman

By JOE COYLE

A super-salesman spoke to an audience estimated to exceed 3,000 in Memorial Coliseum Tuesday night. The salesman was Trygve Lie, the United Nations' most effective pitchman, if the response of the audience at the Community Concert was any indication.

In the question-and-answer period at the close of his speech, the former Secretary-General of the United Nations also proved to have the grace of a ballet dancer in sidestepping the hot issues.

Example: Question from the audience—"Mr. Lie, what about the admission of Red China to the United Nations?" The speaker—"From the time of the intervention of the so-called 'People's' Volunteers from across the Yalu River, I lost interest in the cause of the Chinese Communists in the United Nations. Until they have agreed to a real peace treaty in Korea, I would not discuss the subject."

From the audience: "Who ordered the drive to the Yalu? Was it approved by the United Nations?" Yalu Drive Explained
Mr. Lie—(after a humorous aside about Truman and MacArthur) "I left the conduct of the war up to the United States generals, and the United States acted in the name of the United Nations. I thought at the time that it was the only possible solution."

If Lie danced away from some issues, he was perfectly willing to meet others head on.

A question from the audience was, "What do you think of the situation in Palestine? Will there be another war there?"

Tri-D: That boy friend of mine is trying at times.
Theta: That's nothing, mine is trying all the time.

Time Does UK Debate Teams To Enter Regional March On

By BILL BUELSO

1953—The women resort to slim shapes and long hips. They are a new race just feeling the convenience of women's suffrage.

1946—The women go to long hair and short skirts. Census takers can find out what percentage of the women are knock-kneed and bow-legged.

1929—Women let their skirts go closer to the floor and start chomping off their hair. The men wear crew-cuts so you can tell one from another.

1920—Women keep cutting their hair shorter. Men now start wearing their hair longer for differentiation. The skirt and dress is now becoming obsolete and slicks are taking their place.

1910—Bugs become popular with the men. There are more bald women in the United States than ever before. It is considered fashionable. Some men are wearing dresses so they will be different.

1900—First president elected that is not a male. All female cabinet and Congress. Men almost entirely wear dresses. Women all wear suits and ties. Population of world starting to decrease.

1890—Men are not allowed to vote or work. The president is a nationwide telecast said, "This place is in the home." Women dress as men did in the fifties although in more flamboyant colors.

2000—Men are imprisoned if found smoking or drinking in public. Women are now 70 per cent bald. Birth of a child is a rarity. Science is baffled.

2000—Population of the world is now three women. Science could not find a way for men to have babies and women refused to take the time to do so.

3025—Last person dies. World goes back to the apes.

UK Debate Teams To Enter Regional

University debaters and a discussant will compete at the Tau Kappa Alpha Regional Conference Saturday, Nov. 7, at the University of Cincinnati, according to Dr. Clifford Blyden, associate professor of speech.

Members of the two affirmative teams are James Dunson, Charles English, John Y. Brown, and Wayne Carroll. William Douglas, George Shadown, Dale Nathan, and Jacob Mover will uphold the negative.

Joyce Williams will enter the discussion competition.

The subject of the debate will be Resolved: That the U. S. Should Adopt a Policy of Free Trade. The discussion topic will be How Can Present Procedures and Practices of Congressional Investigations be Improved?

Three rounds of both debate and discussion are planned in addition to a conference luncheon and business meeting.

Vets Asked To Sign Monthly Statement

Korean veterans going to school under PL 550 must sign their monthly statements in Room 304 of the Administration Building no later than Thursday, Curtis Phillips, assistant for veteran affairs, said this week.

It will be necessary to do this between Monday and Thursday, Nov. 2 to 5, in order to receive the next allowance check, Phillips said.

The country's six leading brands were analyzed—chemically—and Chesterfield was found low in nicotine—highest in quality.
