STATE DIVIDES HONORS WITH OHIO WESLEYAN

McClellan's Broken Leg Turns Tables For the Blues

TAKE FIRST GAME

When McClellan broke his leg in sliding home in the eighth frame he marred what otherwise would have been a perfect victory for the Wildcat baseball machine Thursday, as they were out in front then and remained so until the end of the game, which resulted in a 6-to-2 victory for the Blues. Before the break came the sturdy pitcher had held the opposing team to three hits and struck out nine men. His absence from the game the remainder of the season will be sorely felt by the Kentucky team. Ohio Wesleyan came back strong in the second and final game of the series on Friday and administered a 4-to-3 defeat to State.

In the opener Kentucky retired the opposition one, two, three, and then Schrader stepped to the plate and made the first official hit of the season.

It was in the second frame, however, that the first counter was chalked. Captain Park led off with a two-bagger to left center. Crum hit down the third base line and was safe at first, Park taking up position at second. A few minutes later he scored on McElvain's smashing drive to right center and Crum was caught at the plate.

Wesleyan came along in the next inning evening up matters, as far as tallies go, when after Cardwell had grounded to Park, Brewer singled, stole second, took third on Crum's wild throw to Roark, Hill hit a grounder to Schrader, who threw to Crum in an effort to catch Brewer at the plate. Crum dropped the ball, however. Ohio made her other tally in the ninth. Malone tripled to the center field wall and came home on Knapp's roller to Server.

State made her other runs in the fifth, sixth and eighth frames. In the fifth Park's single scored Waters, after the latter had gotten on, stolen second and taken third on Spaulding's out. In the sixth, two hits, an error and a free pass to first enabled the Cats to count twice.

It was in the disastrous eighth after Roark had whiffed that McClellan, thinking he would cinch his own game, lined out a single and was sliding on Schrader's long hit in an effort to make a marker for his team that he broke his leg. He was rushed to the Good Samaritan. Server was sent in to finish the game. Paul Gossage handled the indicator to the satisfaction of both teams.

On the next day Cooper and Malone two porters, opposed each other and the latter emerged with the best of the argument in his possession.

ANNUAL INSPECTION IS THIS AFTERNOON

Competitive Drill of Companies Scheduled For Friday

SHAM BATTLE TODAY

The annual inspection of the University battalion will be held this morning beginning at 10 o'clock and continuing until noon. Captain John J. Kingman, of the General Staff of the United States army, will be the inspecting officer. A sham battle among the companies will be staged this afternoon between the University campus and the Q. & C. railroad tracks, beginning at 2 p. m. Each man will be furnished with ten rounds of ammunition and a lively and extremely "bloody" struggle is expected.

Major Albert has been putting the cadets through very strenuous work for the past two months in preparation for the final inspection and the men are in the best of condition. Major Albert and his entire staff of officers have been working unusually hard and all anticipate the best inspection day ever held on the campus.

The training this year has included two hikes of twelve miles each, the last of which was taken last Friday afternoon. Companies "A" and "D", under the command of Adjutant Heyman, went out the Georgetown pike and entrenched themselves behind a stone wall. Companies "B" and "C", under the leadership of Major Albert, went out the Leestown pike and took up their position about a mile and a half from the trenches of the enemy. An order to advance was heroically obeyed by every man and Adjutant Heyman's "soldiers" were in dire peril of annihilation when the battle was called off.

Competitive drill among the various companies and among the individual men will be held tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 1:45, at which time the list of promotions for next year will be read. This will mark the end of the military drill for this year.

The cadets will be required, however, to participate in the Arbor Day celebration, May 5, after which time they will be free from wearing their uniforms and from drill for the remainder of the year.

PROFESSOR J. T. C. NOE ADDRESSES K. E. A.

Professor J. T. C. Noe, head of the Education Department, spoke at the opening session of the K. E. A. in Louisville Wednesday night on "Nature and Human Nature of Cal Young Rice's Poetry." He was one of the guests at a dinner given by Mr. Rice. Others present were Miss Ida M. Tarbell, of New York; Mrs. Annie Fellows Johnston and Professor Finis King Farr, of Cincinnati.

DR. PRYOR FEATURED IN SUNDAY HERALD

In a feature article which appeared in the last issue of the Sunday Herald there is given an accurate description of the wonderful results achieved by Dr. J. W. Pryor, head of the Department of Anatomy and Physiology, in his study of the ossification of the bones of the hand.

These facts which are to be published in the fourth bulletin of a series issued by Doctor Pryor mark the results of fourteen years of study and investigation.

The study of bone formation shows that it is characterized by a deposit of lime salts. In the use of the X-ray lime salts appear opaque, thereby rendering on the photographic plates only shadows.

The success of Dr. Pryor in this field places him well up in rank with the leading modern scientists of this and other countries.

PROFESSOR TASHOFF TALKS IN CYNTHIANA

Professor Ivan P. Tashoff, of the College of Mines and Metallurgy, addressed the students of the Cynthiana High School last Friday morning on the subject, "A New Industrial Era for Kentucky."

FOUR TENNIS COURTS WILL BE ON CAMPUS

Dr. Tigert Plans to Arrange Meets With Tennessee, Georgetown and Others

WORK TO BEGIN SOON

The Athletic Committee, in its last session, authorized four tennis courts to be built on the campus in front of the Civil Engineering building. The contract has been awarded to Superintendent Tacke, the veteran court keeper of the Woodland courts, and work will be started in the near future.

Already Coach Tigert has received communications from Wabash College, the University of Tennessee and from Georgetown asking for meets. The first two named want to come here and Georgetown wants to arrange for two series, one here and one at home.

Nothing definite has been done about the matter yet as Doctor Tigert wants to be sure that the Kentucky courts will be constructed soon enough for his men to be given an opportunity to practice. It is sincerely hoped by the followers of the racket game that the meets will be arranged, and the action of the Athletic Committee is the source of much satisfaction.

Miami actors have recently presented a Chinese play written by a Chinese student there and a Latin play adopted from Virgil.

TRACK ATHLETES TO MEET VANDY SATURDAY

Eleven Men To Represent State In Dual Meet

PROSPECTS BRIGHT

State's track athletes, accompanied by Coaches Tigert, Stack and Assistant Coach Ben Roth, will board a southbound train Friday night and wake up in the Tennessee capital ready to meet the similar organization which represents Vandy.

Little is known of this year's Commodore team, but the last impression obtained here of them was, to say the least, not favorable to our spiked runners and jumpers, but the Wildcats are going down determined to deal out a bit of revenge.

These men will probably make the trip: Grabfelder, Hickerson, Captain; Muller, Logan, Haydon, Marshall, Otten, Clarke, Zerfoss, Woods and Brittain.

Captain Hickerson will be depended on to cop the weight events, the discus and the hammer. "Grabby" is down for the sprints and relay as is Logan, an untried man. Muller seems to be quite a find for the coaches at the quarter-mile distance, and will be used in this and the relay. Haydon will be called on for the 220, and broad jump. Marshall is another new one who is running the low and high hurdles like a veteran. His name will more than likely appear as one of the point winners. Otten is taking the vaulting bar in nice style. Clarke and Woods will negotiate the distance routes. Woods, it will be remembered, lowered State's record in the mile event against Vandy last year, although he did not win his race. Zerfoss will be used in the high and broad jumps.

McHENRY RHOADS IN NEW ORLEANS

Professor McHenry Rhoads, State School Supervisor, left last week for New Orleans, where he will attend educational conferences.

The first was a sociological conference and lasted until Sunday; the second was held Monday for the consideration of "Secondary Agricultural Education in the Southern States;" the third began Tuesday and considers "Education in Industry in the South."

Professor Rhoads addressed the conference Monday on the subject, "Content of Courses in Special Methods and Practice of Teaching for Agricultural High Schools," and has been asked by the president of the sociological conference to take part in a round table discussion on "General Rural Welfare." He will leave New Orleans in time to attend the last two days of the State Teachers' Association in Louisville.

WILDCATS HAND HOT ONE TO GEORGETOWN

Seeming Defeat Turns To 7-to-6 Win in the Ninth Inning

CRUM TURNS TIDE

With the score standing 6 to 4 against State at the beginning of the ninth frame in the baseball game with Georgetown College on Stoll Field Tuesday afternoon, and with the ardent fans beginning to leave thinking that the affair was over as far as scoring was concerned, "Senator" Crum stepped to the plate and in characteristic style lined out a two-bagger which was the beginning of a spirited rally. Three scores were pushed across the pan by the succeeding batters and turned a seeming defeat into a 7-to-6 victory.

After Crum pulled up on the key-stone sack, McElvain lined a hot one, through short which sent Crum across. Frazier, next up, Texas-eagued for his first safe hit of the game, McElvain taking second on the hit. At this juncture the coaches deemed it wise to send in Cisco to bat for Roark, who had hitherto been unable to connect with the Tiger slants. He hit a fast one down the third-base line, which Waller threw wild over second, and the other men on base moved up. The batter had not been announced by his Umps, however, and Cisco was called out and McElvain and Frazier were sent back to second and first, respectively. Kelley then took his place at the bat and hit to short, forcing McElvain out at third on the play. One run was needed to tie the score and two men were out. Dutch Schrader received quite an ovation when he walked to the plate and lined one to short which was too hot to handle, Frazier romped home on the play, tying things up, and Waters broke up the game by hitting another clean one through short, which would have scored all the men left on the bases had the scores been needed.

Otherwise the game was more or less loosely played and void of thrills. An amusing incident occurred in the fifth, however. George Park who was pitching ball, which brought forth comments of "another Jim" and similar expressions, not having allowed a single hit to this point, in attempting to prevent a hot one from the bat of Cowles from going down his throat, caught it in his sleeve instead and for some moments was unable to locate the spheroid. Umpire Guyn allowed the batter to remain on first on the technicality. Parks was roundly applauded for the feat.

In the seventh inning Parks handed Cowles a free ticket, probably remembering the wicked one he knocked at him in the fifth. Harris hit to right for a two-bagger, scoring Cowles. This

ROUSING AUDIENCE AT STROLLER PRODUCTION

"Father and the Boys" Make Great Hit at the Opera House

ALL-STAR CAST

An enthusiastic audience greeted the Strollers' production of "Father and the Boys" at the Lexington Opera House Thursday night, April 13, and to the brilliant presentations for which the University's Dramatic Club has always been noted was added the most ably done amateur play seen in Lexington for a number of years.

Emery Frazier, by his finished playing, has almost barred himself from future college productions, as ordinary amateurs may object to being "shown up" by men of professional ability.

Waverley Briggs, as the spoiled darling society butterfly, gracefully allowed himself to be "redeemed" into a handsome semblance of a real man, and Leonard Taylor's pugilistic tendencies were adequately portrayed in the calming down process to a capable business man and model husband.

Probably the part most foreign to the real character of the actress was that played by Rebecca Smith, who as the slightly hardened, breezy girl who came from the "jumping-off place way out West," did decidedly the best work in her brief but crowded career in amateur theatricals.

Mary Turner, Alice Gregory and Eliza Spurrier did their roles in such a manner as to more than adequately uphold the haughty Louisville tradition that from that city come the best, while Virginia Stout put Owensboro on the "map" by her clever handling of a delightfully supercilious matron.

Ector Lawson, Johnnie Cramer, Tate Bird, J. N. Farmer, Herbert Graham, W. L. Smith, J. F. Corn and Preston Cherry, by their superior acting, deserve more than mere mention, but those who saw "Father and the Boys" will not forget their work.

Special mention should be made of Eugene Gribbins' work as scenic artist for the production. Mr. Gribbins' talents are such that the Strollers' rival the Transylvania Dramatic Club, has asked his aid in staging their forthcoming production, "The Fortune Hunter," which will appear at the Opera House April 25.

WILDCATS' HOT ONE

was the first clean one garnered off Brother George, yet the coaches deemed it advisable to yank him and sent in Tom Grubbs, who managed to pull out the hole in this frame, but was touched up considerably in the next and allowed two runs. Cooper went in and finished the game.

Although the contest was marred by several misplays, several scintillating plays were modes of quick work. Waters pulled down a liner in the seventh which appeared to be way over his head and good for several bases. A double play had just been enacted. Harris, of the visitors, was on second. Patterson hit to Schrader who threw to first. Parks returned the ball to Grubbs, who was covering third just in time to tag Harris who was attempting to reach that station.

Cross and Moss played excellent ball for the Tigers. Harris, too, with the exception of the fatal ninth, when his two errors paved the way for defeat for his teammates, did well. Waters led in batting for State, being the only man to connect twice. George Park batted five hundred in his two trips to the plate.

INSPECTION TRIP FOR AGRICULTURAL MEN

One Week Will Be Devoted To the Expedition

FIRST IN HISTORY

Following the example of several of the larger institutions of the country, the Agriculture College of the University has determined to inaugurate this year an inspection trip for the members of the class in farm management. The arrangements have been made and the class, together with some agriculturists of neighboring vicinities, will leave Lexington Monday, May 8 for a trip lasting one week and taking in the district of the most highly developed farm section of the country.

Professor W. D. Nichols, of the Department of Dairying, who has charge of the farm management class this year, will be in charge of the expedition. He was in the district to be visited last year and has heard from several of the farmers in regard to the proposed visit and all have assured him of their readiness to do all in their power to aid the travelers in their quest for knowledge. A personal invitation from the President of Pennsylvania State College to visit that institution has also been received and accepted.

If there is no alteration in the present plans, the party of about 40 men will leave here May 8, go to Washington, D. C., remain there a day, go on to Philadelphia for a day, then stop at Lancaster County, Pa., for three days' inspection of the farms in that locality, and ending with a day's visit at the State College at State College, Pa., in Center County.

Lancaster County, which is to receive the greatest amount of attention on the part of the excursion, has the best and most highly developed systems of farming in the United States. It will be thoroughly covered in automobiles the first day and the remaining two days of the time allotted will be spent in visits to typical and most successful farms of different types of farming, including beef cattle feeding, dairying, truck farming, tobacco and general crops, fruits and poultry.

The county agent of Lancaster County has been heard from by Professor Nichols to the effect that the board of trade of Lancaster, a city of the same size as Lexington, will act as a committee of reception and will entertain and supervise the first day's trip about the county in auto cars.

A trip of this nature has been part of the course in the Mechanical Department of this institution for several years and the advantages have been readily seen. The Agriculture College hopes to perpetuate this as an annual event and since the advantages are great and the expenses light, it is hoped that the number to go will be increased before the date of departure.

SHAKESPEARE RALLY IN CHAPEL MONDAY

SPECIAL MUSIC

Professor Farquhar and Dantzler and Mr. McComas To Speak

A Shakespearian program will be given Monday morning in the chapel as a part of the ter-centenary celebration which will be given under the auspices of the English Club. Judge Barker has offered the regular chapel period in which to hold the exercises. Professor Dantzler will tell about the various ways in which the American people are honoring the literary genius of Shakespeare with pageants, plays and music. Professor Farquhar will talk on "The Personality of Shakespeare." Mr. William McComas, who played with Southern & Marlowe in Shakespearian productions, will give readings from "Hamlet." Songs from the Shakespearian poems will be sung.

ROY PORTER, FORMER PROMINENT STROLLER, BACK FOR THE PLAY

Roy Porter, a student at the University several years ago, and a prominent Stroller, who since leaving Kentucky State has been a member of Margaret Anglin's Company, spent a few days in Lexington last week and attended the production of "Father and the Boys." Mr. Porter left New York on Tuesday, his company having closed its season on Monday night, and came direct to Lexington in order to arrive in time for the Stroller play Thursday night. He was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Battaille and left on Sunday to spend the remainder of his vacation at the home of his parents in Maysville.

Mr. Porter joined Miss Anglin's company immediately on leaving the University and has played with her since that time. For the last two years he has been her stage manager and is attracting attention in the theatrical world by his capable work. He was one of the original members of the Strollers and had parts in the first two productions, "Richelleu" and "Brown of Harvard." He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

MUSICAL NUMBER ENDS LYCEUM COURSE

The fifth number of the Lyceum Course Friday evening closed the series in a most pleasing manner with a musical program rendered by the Misses Stegemiller, Gill and Bennett, of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

The performance was artistic and finished in every phase, and was enjoyed by a large audience of University and Lexington people.

"I tell you it's an outrage," exclaimed the married suffragette, "the saloonkeeper across the way can vote and I can't."

"That's so," said her husband, "but he shuts up at 11:30 p. m., and you never do."—University of Cincinnati News.

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE TO BEGIN

Large Squad Is Expected Out Next Monday Afternoon

Dr. J. J. Tigert has issued a call for spring football practice and expects the last-year Varsity men as well as other members of last year's squad and any other men who expect to go out for the 1916 team to meet him on Stoll Field next Monday afternoon.

Nearly the entire team remains intact and should prove to be about the best that old State has turned out in years. The schedule for this fall is an extremely hard one and a little spring practice is a good move by the coaches. A large squad is expected to report.

STATE DIVIDES HONORS

State was only able to gather four hits from his delivery. Malone was somewhat wild at times and handed the Cats six passes.

Wesleyan scored first in the fifth. Cardwell was safe when McElvain misjudged his liner. Brewer sacrificed. Then Hill singled over second, Cardwell counting. Battenfield was thrown out at first by Cooper. Pride doubled to left, Hill counting, and scored himself on Revere's single. Malone struck out.

It was in this frame also that Kentucky was able to cross the plate for their first run of the game. Crum walked, stole second and went to third on Brewer's error. McElvain fouled to Brewer, Crum scored when Knapp muffed Frazier's roller. McElvain was out stealing and Roark fanned.

Each team gathered another tally in the seventh inning. This was enough to give Ohio the game, although State made a strong bid for it in the ninth. Water led off and was thrown out by Knapp. Spaulding was given transportation by the pitcher. Park tried hard but was unable to connect and whiffed Mother Ozone three times. Crum, next up, sent a three-bagger to center, sending the long boy with the red head across the pan. While perched on third waiting for a single which would tie the score, McElvain could do no better than tip a foul into the hands of the catcher and the game was ended, honors of the two-game series being divided.

The Girls' Issue.

The Girls' Issue of The Kentucky Kernel was a great success. News, editorials, "squirrel food," make-up and everything that goes into the composition of a paper were excellent. Now that we mere men are in the saddle again we can not refrain from admitting that the co-eds were there with the "goods."

With maidenly modesty the girls assumed credit for only one thirty-sixth of the Kernel during 1915-16. Their modesty is commendable but their statement does them grave injustice. Women have always stood out prominently among the best "men" on the staff of the University publication. Especially is this true of the staff of 1915-16.

The managing editor of the Kernel is a woman. Through her hands passes all news matter that goes into the paper, to be copy-read and prepared for the printer. The managing editor also writes the heads, reads the proof and gives assignments to the reporters. Her position is the most important and responsible on the staff.

Many other positions of importance are held by the co-eds. The "co-editor" has charge of the news of University social functions and is responsible for a great body of the news that each week goes into the Kernel. Much of the departmental news is written by the women on the staff and is written well.

The Kernel is taking this opportunity to attempt to express its appreciation of the work of the co-eds during 1915-16. Without the expectation of much credit or honor the women on the staff have worked diligently and well. Best of all, they have been faithful and dependable. Never has it been necessary to remind any of them of a duty or promise. Their work has always been of the highest order.

In conclusion, we wish to make it known that we were planning to have a men's issue in the near future, but gave it up when the girls' issue appeared. We are afraid to try it.

Spring and Love, Tra-La.

When the poet wrote that immortal line, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," he expressed about one-fourth of the world's wisdom on the subject of the immortal passion. If he had included luscious summer, hazy golden autumn and old winter, clad in snow and cheery crispness, he would have said all there was to be said concerning the young man's fancy. This observation is based on a thorough study of some eight hundred students and three hundred co-eds on the campus in the past four years and the writer is ready to maintain now and hereafter that almost every day in the year, except just before Christmas, the young man's lissome fancy runs a foolish little race in the same old direction after the same sweet will-o-the-wisp that imagination always paints as the fairest and the most delectable of the things man may possess.

But the Kernel has no desire to take up the shillalah and apply it to the figurative head of the philosophy of our good friend Tennyson—far be it. What boots it if the student's vagrant thoughts do journey to the same glorious realms every day in the year? The fact remains that spring is the season for love and love is the gentle emotion for the springtime season. Ah, lovely spring; 'tis then the blushing dandelion takes on itself a hue as of creamery butter, the too-modest violet and the four-leaf clover, and the succulent mustard green all come forth timidly to delight the eye too long forced to dwell on the preserved fern in the picture album and the dried butter bean in the boarding house—the latter flanked by that "prepared" cousin of his, the navy bean. What can be more pleasing to the sight than a field of emerald grass and sproutlets of weeds dotted o'er with quaint blossoms as yet untenanted by the myriads of pestiferous little red bugs, who will be the uninvited guests at every summer picnic? What is half so delicious as the boiled jowl and greens with the appetizing "pot-licker" whose medicinal virtues are so highly praised? Besides, the ruby radish and the lacy-edged lettuce and the unstrung bean and the rest of the tribe from the early garden are ready to charge on the lassitude winter left behind—misnamed "spring fever"—and to put the "pep" into the partakers of these celestial delicacies whose merits have been so long and so shamefully unsung. We doubt if Lamb's story of the invention of roast pork would be half so interesting as the relating of the manner in which jowl and greens first got together back in the misty pre-historic days and delighted the dwellers in the Garden of Eden, which, we firmly believe, was located somewhere in Old Kaintuck. Where else could have been found the wonderful cornbread that goes to round out a "greens dinner?"

But that is immaterial. Spring and love, and why? are the questions at issue. Perhaps it's the jowl and greens; perhaps it's the flowers and the dew-freckled lawns in the soft white moonlight; perhaps it's the balmy air and the industrious bird assiduously seeking the early worm, and mayhap it's only insomnia, but certain it is that young men's fancies take on renewed activity in April. If you don't believe it, take a look at the campus any morning. Spring and love, tra-la, tra-la, come tripping lightly and only the jilted brethren and the confirmed man-haters refuse to hear that call of Orphean sweetness.

—J. R. M.

The Kentucky Colonel Says:

Well, suh, the girls' issue of the Kernel has come and gone, and about all I can say is that I am glad they left me out of the paragraph column, suh. Them fair co-eds certainly do shoot a mean pencil and what they did to the rest of the Squirrel Food artists was a caution, suh.

The girls' issue of last week warned the basketball and track men to look out for a change in the length of their clothes if woman ever got a chance to legislate about such things. Pie, girls, fie, they are really too short now.

The Domestic Science freshman is doing research work. She is delving into the mystery of where the feathers of the gooseberry are located.

The co-eds told us last week that women are now making remarkable strides. What of it? Don't the men design the women's fashions?

It is hoped that the bull-dog which was taken from the Jilted Brethren will be returned at an early date. What is Clay Hall without its bull?

F. O. MAYES WINS HUSTLERS' CONTEST

Staff Is Pleased With Number Of Kentuckians Sold

MISS ALEXANDER NO. 2

F. O. Mayes, a sophomore in the College of Arts and Science, won the "Hustlers' Contest" and the $20 in gold which was offered by the business staff of the Kentuckian.

Miss Elizabeth Alexander was second with a total of 150 subscriptions. Mr. Mayes had 206 subscriptions.

The staff announced that it is well pleased with the contest, since much additional interest in the annual has been stimulated thereby. Both the leaders in the contest were very energetic and deserve much praise for their work. The contest was close at all times, and the winner was not known until contest closed, Mr. Mayes getting a safe margin only on the last day.

The entire business staff will take subscriptions for the Kentuckian now and until May 1, after which date it will be too late to order your book.

If you have not ordered one copy or as many as you want, see R. E. Cullen, H. Fried, F. A. Harrison, C. R. Smith or Miss Ina Darnall.

NOTICE, JUNIORS!

No juniors who have not paid dues by the end of this week will receive programs for the Junior Prom. Programs will be here Monday. Pay dues now and save it next year. All dues must be paid before graduation.

Arts and Science students will pay dues to Roy Scott; law students to V. Chamberlain; Ags to E. McMurtry; Civils and Mechanicals to J. N. Waters.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS GIVE BANQUET

The New York association of the alumni of the University of Kentucky held their annual banquet on the evening of April first. At the same time the Chicago association was giving its annual banquet to the visiting senior class at the Morrison Hotel. The New York banquet was held at The Royalton, 44 West Forty-fourth Street. A telegram was sent to the assembled alumni and students, and in return the Chicago association wired felicitations to the New York men.

The University of Kentucky Club of New York City has recently issued a directory of its members. The club now ranks as one of the largest and most influential in the country and its roster contains the names of many successful men in all branches of business. The officers are: President, Perry West; Vice President, L. L. Lewis; Executive Committee, H. L. Amoss, R. C. Hopgood, A. A. Gordon; Secretary, Charles White.

A. S. M. E.

The seniors at Mechanical Hall may have been mistaken for real business engineers at their meeting of A. S. M. E. held Wednesday. There were ten different firms represented by both partners of each firm and each told of the perplexing but solvable problems that had confronted them since they started to design this factory and power plant, in connection with these.

A. B. BLACKBURN TELLS OF SUCCESS

A. B. Blackburn, class 1915, writes that he is very successful in his work with the Franklin Automobile Company at Syracuse, New York. In a letter recently received, he says:

"You are no doubt always interested to learn of the success of your graduates, so I take this opportunity of telling you of my advancements in the Franklin Company.

"About the first of the year I was placed at the head of the Training Division. There were about thirty men in the course, and the experience gained in handling them and in mapping out courses and lectures has proven invaluable. Part of my work consisted of designing and installing standard instruction sheets, for handling "repeat" jobs in the repair shop. Have done quite a bit of time study work in connection with the above, and when I saw in The Kentucky Kernel that you had instituted a course in that this year, I was reminded of your prediction that in all probability we would get work which we neglected or didn't get in college. Glad to see this year's class is getting some of that work.

"Received another promotion last week and Monday I start working as assistant to the manager of the Advertising Department."

WESTINGHOUSE.

The last meeting of the Westinghouse Society was featured with a talk by J. R. Duncan on "The Trail of a Kilowatt." Mr. Cassidy also met with the society and made a short talk.

Don't forget JOHN A. KELLER'S flowers are best.

UNION.

The Union Literary Society held its annual oratorical contest last Wednesday evening in the chapel. There were five contestants. J. H. Coleman, of the Law Department, won the medal, but owing to the fact that he is an alumnus of the University, he is ineligible to represent the society in the contest to be held tomorrow morning with Mr. Shinnick, who represents the Patterson Literary Society. Clarence Clark, a junior in the Arts and Science College, who won second place, will represent the society.

The society will hold its annual declamatory contest Friday evening, April 21, at 8 p. m. in the society hall. There will be several contestants and a good program will be given. The winner of this contest will receive a gold medal. All members and visitors are urged to be present.

O. L. REID TALKS ON "THE DAY'S WORK"

Tuesday morning in chapel under the auspices of the freshman class, Professor O. L. Reid addressed the student body on "The Day's Work."

Professor Reid is superintendent of the Louisville public school system and is a man of unusual ability. His talk was one of the finest ever given at the University and the entire freshman class is to be congratulated on obtaining such a man to address the students.

Following the talk, Mr. Reid was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the Louisville girls at Patterson Hall.

FOSTER SPEAKS.

R. A. Foster spoke on "The Language of Gammer Gurton's Needle" at the weekly meeting of the English Club yesterday afternoon.

IMPORTANT SENIOR MEETING YESTERDAY

It was voted at a senior class meeting yesterday to request Dr. Ganfield, of Centre College, to deliver the 1916 baccalaureate address.

J. D. Turner, secretary of the Alumni Association, urged the class to leave a suitable memorial and stated that the Alumni Association would carry on the work in the future.

A committee on plans was appointed.

IMPORTANT!

Sunday night at 6:30 there will be a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms at which a matter of great importance will be discussed. Every man in school is asked to be present.

SENIORS' NOTICE.

All seniors are invited to the sophomore dance Saturday evening.

KAPPA SIGMA.

The Kappa Sigma fraternity held its Mid-West Conclave at Indianapolis last week. W. L. McKee represented the local Beta Nu Chapter.

REMEMBER!

Arbor Day will be celebrated on May 5. Tap exercises of the senior honorary societies for men and women will be held on this day.

For all occasions let JOHN A. KELLER CO. serve you. Our flowers are best.

MOTION PICTURES SHOWN TO SENIORS

Motion pictures of the General Electric Plant at Schenectady, N. Y., were shown Wednesday to the juniors and seniors of the Mechanical and Electrical Engineering College. The two reels covered a varied number of departments in this vast plant.

This was one of a series of such illustrated lectures prepared for the senior mechanicals for this term.

WOMEN ENTERTAINED EXPERIMENT STATION

The Woman's Club of the University of Kentucky was entertained Friday afternoon at the Experiment Station by Dr. J. H. Kastle, director of the station.

The staff of the station assisted in receiving, and the club members were shown over the institution. Doctor Kastle spoke on "The Scope and Mission of the Kentucky Experiment Station." Refreshments were served.

European Success With Nitrate

European farmers use 600 pounds to the acre of a fertilizer containing 4 1/2 per cent of available Nitrogen.

American farmers, on the average, use 200 pounds to the acre of a fertilizer containing 2 per cent of mostly unavailable Nitrogen.

The average European yield of Wheat, Oats, Potatoes, and Cotton in Egypt, is double the American yield.

The difference is due to amount of available Nitrogen applied per acre.

MRS. R. L. STOUT HOLDS PICTURESQUE OFFICE

The following story appeared recently in a local paper:
 "The American Clan MacGregor, a Scotch society now numbering five hundred persons of MacGregor blood, has been officially recognized by its chief, Sir Malcolm MacGregor, Baronet, of Scotland, and affiliated with the clan of the same name in the old country. Mrs. Stout holds the picturesque office of Deputy-Chieftain, representing Kentucky at the annual gathering.

 "The meetings at Washington are given over to the singing of clan songs and spoken addresses relating to the Scotch history of Rob Roy MacGregor, and his many descendants. These gatherings attract universal attention at the National Capital because of their unique features. The badge worn at the gatherings is a sprig of pine sent from the old MacGregor country in Scotland and fastened to a bit of ribbon of the MacGregor tartan. The MacGregor coat-of-arms bearing the proud motto, "Roy-ous place above the head of the American Chieftain."
