AG. COLLEGE OFFICIALS ALSO ATTEND MEETING Harris, Levy, Florence, Jett, Cochran, and Shelby Participate

The judging team which is representing the university at the 31st International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, placed third in competitive judging with college teams from schools of agriculture throughout the United States.

The six members of the team are George Harris, Carrollton; Hyman Levy, Lexington; William Florence, Paris; Ivan Jett, Richmond; J. Shelby Cochran, Marion; and Theodore Melby, Buffalo, N. Y.

Individual honors were awarded to George Harris and Hyman Levy. They ranked the first and second, and Harris was 8th in the individual competition.

A team from the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College won the livestock judging championship while a Kansas team finished second.

The Experiment Station entered the contest with an exhibition of Kentucky cattle. Three Aberdeen Angus yearlings were entered under the charge of Mr. John Fraser, and a herd of 24 sheep, consisting of eight Cheviots, five Hampshires, five Southdowns, and six crossbreds, one of the Cheviots won the championship.

Professors L. J. Horschner, W. W. Dimock, J. H. Martin, R. C. Miller, W. J. Harris, E. S. Good, and W. H. Rhodes, members of the College of Agriculture, who accompanied the exhibition, and Prof. W. H. Rhodes, Good, and Miller read papers before the American Society of Animal Production.

The judging team left Sunday, November 21, for Purdue University, at Lafayette, Indiana, where they inspected the Purdue livestock and did practice work in various classes until they left for the University of Illinois, and conducted practice work there.

The university team is expected to return to Lexington, Wednesday, December 3.

HORTICULTURAL GROUP TO MEET

Extensive Program is Planned for Winter Meeting to be Held at Agriculture College December 4 and 5

Five speakers from other states from Kentucky, and a banquet at the Lafayette Hotel will be featured on the program of the 75th annual meeting of the Kentucky Horticultural Society to which the College of Agriculture will be invited.

Probably the most interesting of the speeches will be that of E. C. Wood, chief of the department of horticulture at the University of Illinois, on "Increasing the Consumption of the Apple." Mr. Wolcott is a representative of the organization known as "Apples for Health, Incorporated" which serves as a publicity agency for fruit growers throughout the United States.

Of interest to landscape workers is "The Fruit Grower's Responsibility to the Community," which will be given by Prof. H. E. B. Johnson, at 9:30 Thursday morning with an address by the president, W. H. Billmeyer, of Hillenmeyer Nurseries, Lexington.

Richard M. Weaver and Hugh E. Jackson will present the affirmative arguments for the University of Kentucky.

Professor Sutherland also announced that plans are being made to have the Kentucky debaters meet the Indiana University team at an early date, a series is to be held in Evansville, Ind., and Henderson, Ky.

INTERMEN WILL EFFECT '31 HEAD AT GRID BANQUET

Judge Richard Stoll Will Be Toastmaster at Annual Affair Thursday

AWARD OF NUMERALS, LETTERS TO BE MADE In Accordance With U. K. Custom

The captain of the 1931 football team will be elected at a banquet to be given to the members of the varsity and freshmen football men Thursday evening at 8 p. m. at the Lafayette hotel, according to an announcement issued from the office of the athletic director.

The athletic council will meet Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock and will make an initial decision as to who shall receive the letters and numerals. The council received recommendations from the coaching staff early this week.

Coach Gamage and his staff, as well as Coach Pindle who has had charge of the freshmen since the present. About 75 members of the two squads are expected to attend this affair which will end the football season at Kentucky.

Daddy Botes, athletic director of the university, announced Monday that Judge Richard Stoll, former Wildcat, will be the toastmaster of the evening. The remainder of the program has not yet been arranged.

This banquet, which terminates the football season at the university, is an annual event at which all Kentucky gridlers receive their final awards for ability shown during the football season. The affair is for the members of the football team alone. This is in accordance with the custom set when the banquet was first given by the athletic department.

The department of art of the university will exhibit a series of graphic processes, which will continue at the Lafayette Hotel, Wednesday, December 3, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Students and public have been invited to visit the exhibit.

Graphic processes are especially interesting because prints are easier to make than paintings. In what is more, they are more within the range of the average student. The exhibition has been planned to assist one in distinguishing between etchings and dry points, and to show that wood block prints and lithographs are alike.

This display comes through the courtesy of Charles E. Goodspeed and Co., Boston. It is a collection of all kinds together with notes explaining the different processes used.

Methodist Choir To Give Oratorio "Down in the Desert" to be Given Under Direction of Mrs. John Burgin

The first Methodist choir, under the direction of Mrs. John Burgin, will present on December 14, the oratorio "Down in the Desert," by R. Deane Shure. Dr. Shure wrote the oratorio for the choir of Mrs. M. E. Church, Washington, D. C., and consented to its presentation in Lexington, the second presentation of this modernistic oratorio.

In preparation for this difficult work the choir has been divided into two choruses. The women's chorus meets Monday nights and the men's chorus, Wednesday nights at the home of the organist, Dr. Abner W. Kelley, where a new two manual twenty-four stop pipe organ has been installed. The combined choruses will rehearse on Thursday nights as usual.

In addition to the choruses a number of solos, duets, and quartets will be given by Miss Dorothy Day, Mrs. Ralph MacCracken, Mrs. H. B. Carr, Mrs. Charles Bayle, Mrs. Prof. W. H. Sutherland, Mrs. W. Mrs. John Burgin, Mrs. E. E. Jackson, Mrs. M. E. Church, and Mrs. W. H. Sutherland accompanied by Mrs. Roy E. Jarmann at the piano sang a recent composition of Prof. Lampert entitled "Out of the Deep." Other soloists on the program were Miss Ann Oberlin, Mrs. E. E. Jackson, and Mrs. W. H. Sutherland. The program closed with a march, written recently by Prof. Lampert, "The Spirit of Kentucky."

"Shipwreck" Is Selected

John Sims "Shipwreck" Kelly, above, has been mentioned by several sports writers for the mythical All-Southern football team. Kelly probably has done more for Lexington in football prominence than any other Big Blue grider and has achieved a reputation throughout the South as a fast, elusive ball carrier. "Shipwreck" is also a member of the track squad.

K' CLUB BEGINS FOR EFTERMEAN

Completion of Organization Awaits Action of Senate for Formulation of Constitution and By-Laws

Further plans for the formation of a "K" Club at the university were discussed at a meeting of the major letter men held Tuesday in the recreation room of the Men's dormitory.

Coaches Bernie Shively and M. E. Potter, who have been asked to act as the faculty advisors of the club, announced that they will do their best to obtain permission from the University Senate, definite organization could be consummated.

The underlying principle of the "K" Club is to sponsor and promote a closer relationship between those men who have won a letter at the University. The organization will not be confined to the college class throughout the country.

A committee, awaiting further action of the senate, has been appointed, and after permission has been granted by the senate they will write the constitution and by-laws which are to govern the organization.

The next meeting of the club will be held Monday, December 1, at 8 o'clock, at the Sigma Chi fraternity house.

Bama Has Chance For National Honor In Game January 1

Among the major football teams of the country there are three that remain undefeated. Beginning with Alabama in the south, who have won eight games and lost none, and who has piled up a total number of points of 247 for their opponents.

The number of undefeated teams must come down to one if Washington beats Alabama in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day, and if Southern California whips Notre Dame.

After two years study, graduates of an anti-religious university will receive the degree of Doctor of Arts in January for the 400 students who are girls.

HOLIDAY EXTENDED

Last Wednesday the University of Kentucky decided to extend the Thanksgiving holiday from Saturday until Monday, thereby giving students a vacation period of four days instead of the two originally planned. This extension made it possible for many students to go home for a short time, and it showed that the university is willing to cooperate whenever it is possible to do so. The Kernel and the student body, we believe, are grateful for the favor of the past week-end. The result was that Thanksgiving brought additional thanks for the extension of the holiday period.

AN HONOR MERITED

Formal acceptance of an invitation to play Washington State in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., on January 1, has been issued by the University of Alabama. It is the third time that a Crimson Tide eleven has received this signal honor for the Southern Conference.

There is no question that the invitation this year was merited. Alabama has one of the best teams in the country, if not the best, as some sports authorities declare. Winning eight conference games in a season against the strongest teams of the South is a feat seldom accomplished. The Tide has done that, decisively.

Kentuckians should be pleased that one of the Wildcats' foes in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, N. Y.'s game. It indicates that the schedule makers were not lax in game arrangements, as some persons have said. Further than that, it should be a matter of some pride that a team only three touchdowns better than Kentucky has been selected.

Let all of us hope that Alabama wins the game. It will show that we have sportsmanship, it will assuage the wounded feelings that we received when the Tide conquered the 'Cats, and it will enable us to be more than ever proud of membership in the Southern Conference.

ART IN KENTUCKY

Art is generally underrated by the average college student. It is not quite as collegiate a subject as some courses and as a result is sometimes termed "sissy" by individuals not well enough educated to appreciate it. In Kentucky this attitude is rapidly changing to a more appreciative one.

Apparent lack of appreciation of art is greatly lamented in the United States. Europeans are educated to appreciate the fine arts for they are given a cultivated understanding of them.

THE WOMAN QUESTION

American schools are of such a vocational nature that the student seldom has an opportunity to come into contact with the finer arts in an understanding and educational atmosphere. That explains the fact that the average American student is lacking in appreciation of art. Books cannot be appreciated until they can be read, music cannot be truly heard until the underlying theme can be read into the sound artistic things cannot be truly seen until the pattern of thought can be traced through the strokes of the artists brush.

Kentucky has an art department the rapid climb of which to prominence on the campus has made it so well known that the most unappreciative of students cannot ignore it. Every student in the university is proud to think that Norman Neff's painting was chosen out of a group of representative paintings from the finest schools in the United States to be awarded first prize at the College Art Association exhibit.

At this same exhibit Kentucky was represented by a larger number of paintings than any other college. It is indeed a pleasing feat to know that Kentucky, although its art department is not as well equipped as those of the larger schools, has received honors for that department. The exhibits sent their representative work to compete.

On the campus the art department is playing an increasingly important role. It is well known that it is responsible for the sets at the Gaiety. Almost every campus publication has some sample of the work of students in that department. The exhibits done there are good in such magazines as Letters and in the school annual.

Some very fine art exhibits have been sponsored and presented by the art department. Attendance at the past exhibit was record breaking, which goes to demonstrate that the general student attitude is undergoing a decided change. We may credit this change to the change in manner of presentation of the exhibits. An interpretative attitude of presentation is being established. This is educating the student; it is training him to be able to understand, and hence appreciate the paintings that he may have the opportunity to see.

We think that the art department should be given unlimited credit for opening the eyes and the minds of the students to the true value of fine art, for in so doing it has opened a new and wider field of student interest and has given another field for town people to mingle with and enjoy university associations. In these ways it will be of unqualified value, both to the student and to the university.

DON'T BE LIKE THAT!

Saturday the university freshmen football team bowed low before the Bats of the University of Tennessee to the tune of an overwhelming defeat. The final whistle had not ceased echoing before gloomy pictures of future varsity games between Kentucky and Tennessee were being painted by followers of the fortunes of the two schools. It was pointed out that the Wildcats now cannot hope to win from the orange and white for a period of three years, if ever. More handkerchiefs were spoiled by tears than was the case following the Alabama game.

It is amusing to hear pessimists make such predictions. In fact, it shows ignorance on the part of those kneeling at the walling wall. Past records of freshmen and varsity teams should relieve those who cannot envision anything but defeat for the frosh who for the next three years will play varsity ball.

At the University of Tennessee, the first year teams are coached to play as a unit. They are given many plays of their own. They are allowed to be a team. At Kentucky, the yearlings primarily are playing ball for the benefit of the varsity. They are not coached as an independent team, but as a buffer for the Wildcats. It is true that the Tennessee freshmen scrimmage the varsity, but not to the extent that the Kittens do at Kentucky. Thus it is that freshmen teams at the university do not receive great profit from practice. The varsity gets it.

If the ability of the freshmen determines the rating of future teams to the extent many believe, there is no need for Coaches Gamage and Shively. Just give the head Kitten coach the position and accept as truisms the predictions of the pessimists.

But that is not the situation. The freshman players who lost to Tennessee Saturday will be better players after receiving varsity coaching. They will become true Wildcats, imbued with the spirit of Kentucky. And they will win football games from Tennessee.

A NEW WALK

The Kernel notes that the department of buildings and grounds has constructed a walkway from the main campus driveway to Limestone street. The need for a walk in the location of the new one was intensified with the completion of the new Teachers' Training School prior to the beginning of the current school year. Many students have classes in the new structure and must walk quite a distance to them. The new walk also solves the need for a way from the Law building to Limestone street. Formerly students walked along the driveway and were in constant danger of being struck by automobiles. Thus the department of buildings and grounds did its usual efficient work by constructing one new walk that is taking care of pedestrian traffic formerly needing two outlets to Limestone street.

Resolved: "That the woman was made of a rib out of the side of Adam; not out of his feet to be trampled upon by him, but out of his side to be equal with him, under his arm to be protected, and near his heart to be loved." This, we believe, would be an excellent topic for an international debate, rather than one intended to prove academically her place is in the home, waiting anxiously the appearance of her lord and master with the disposition of a Hreford bull and a hairy chest from the depth of which come rumblings of alternate ire and displeasure. But it seems that it is the proper thing for thoughts and arguments on the woman question to travel in the vicious circle of an excerpt from The Orphan:

men in 125 colleges and universities throughout the country where there are more than four fraternities. The data for such surveys was furnished by the administrative authorities of the colleges.
"Each one of these years," Mr. Duerr declared, "has shown consistent improvement over its predecessor. For the college year 1929-1930 the complete returns from 125 institutions having a male enrollment of 200,000 show that the fraternity membership is somewhat more than one per cent higher than the average of all men undergraduates, and almost two per cent higher than the average of non-fraternity men."

Sidelights of Game Are Made Public

Kentucky's band gave its best performance of the year on the field, evolving into complicated formations that amazed the spectators.

The band marched downtown after the Wildcats had been tried and found wanting. Along the way, a drunk fell in rank and insisted on marching with the musicians.

Miss Virginia Dougherty, the chrysanthemum-clad band sponsor, never looked better than she did at the game. And she never sounded better than when giving her impressions in Knoxville.

Came the dawn Friday morning as one of the special trains pulled into the Southern depot. Aided by the conductor, a student set a new speed record when he woke, dressed and was out of the car in two minutes.

And so the trek ended, with one of the musicians leaving his instrument with a taxi driver because he did not have the fare.

TENNESSEE AGAIN GETS BEER KEG

The swan song for the Kentucky football team was played at Knoxville on Thanksgiving day. The tune was not so harmonious, ending in the disheartening key of G-flat.

Ballyhoo, sensational publicity, and other handicaps forced the boys to play under a severe strain during the season. Without a doubt, as Bill Munday announcing in the Alabama-Georgia game, commented so justly, "Alabama beat one of the greatest of all Kentucky teams."

Kentucky was expected to run roughshod over all opponents. No one was given much chance to beat her. She, it was, who was the super-team. But a somewhat unimpressive array of mediocre teams left the boys flabby and soft for the big boys.

The greatest team the south ever produced—the Crimson Tide of Alabama—beat them 19-0. Then the war cry changed to—"On to Duke!" Duke's Mixture with the Wildcats proved no Bull-Durham—and here again Shipwreck Kelly and his fighting Cats fighting great odds in the form of Duke players, lost 14-7.

The best team lost, that's a fact, not an alibi. The score, yes, 14-7. Still statistics are deceiving and figures do lie. The Flying Squadron from Lexington, Va., were next to be defeated. The score was 26-0. Kentucky beat Virginia 47-0.

Then the thirst for the good old beer keg, but next year is another year. Hackman, Dodd, Thayer, Hug, Brandt and many others have completed glorious careers.

King Football is dead. Long live the king.
