Scouting Report

Game Seven

GEORGIA

GEORGIA—Athens, Georgia Bulldogs. Red and Black. Campus enrollment, 20,500. Head Football Coach, Vince Dooley. Athletic Director, Joel Eaves. Publicist, Dan Magill. Conference, Southeastern.

SERIES HISTORY: A victory last year in Athens broke a seven-year drought for the Wildcats and left them with a 6-19-2 slate against the Bulldogs in a series dating back to 1939. The two schools met almost annually from that time until the series was broken off after the 1949 game and not resumed until 1956 at Athens. During the 22 years that Wally Butts coached the Bulldogs (1938-60), Georgia won nine of 14 games. The Wildcats took the initial game in 1939 and tied the following year, but did not pick up another win until 1947. Despite such Georgia superiority (19-6-2), the games have been interesting as reflected by the fact that Butts' four SEC champions managed an average win margin of only 11 points over the Wildcats.

LAST MEETING: Oct. 27, 1973 (Athens) U.K. 12, U.G. 7—In another thrilling Bulldog-Wildcat encounter, Georgia had completed six straight passes to the U.K. 29 in a drive toward the winning TD at Athens. Quarterback Andy Johnson threw one more time, but his pass slipped off Richard Appleby's fingers and Darryl Bishop intercepted. Bishop returned a few yards and dropped the ball, which was recovered by Frank LeMaster with 37 seconds remaining. Georgia struck first and early, getting a break when Kentucky failed to move the ball after taking the opening kick-off and John Tatterson's punt covered only 14 yards to his own 39. Moments later, Georgia scored from the two. Kentucky came back to cover 80 yards in 10 plays and tie the score on a quick pass over the middle from Mike Fanuzzi to Elmore Stephens for 25 yards. In the next period the Wildcats used the second of two interceptions to score what proved to be the winning points. The first pick-off occurred when Jeff Woodcock tipped a pass by reserve quarterback Ralph Page into the hands of Bishop, who returned from his end zone to the U.K. 27, ending a Bulldog drive that carried to the Cat 24. A few plays later, LeMaster intercepted a Page pass and returned it 24 yards to the Georgia 28. Kentucky settled for a 22-yard field goal by Ron Steele and then ended the scoring by getting two points when Johnson fumbled and his Bulldog teammate Jimmy Poulos recovered in the end zone. The play was set up by a Tatterson punt that Parker downed on the Georgia one-yard line.

TONIGHT'S GAME: Vince Dooley's Georgia Bulldogs, sporting a 4-2 record, come to Lexington fresh off a thrilling 38-31 victory over Vanderbilt before 51,100 fans at Athens.

After defeating Oregon State, 48-35, and losing to Mississippi State, 38-14, the Bulldogs defeated South Carolina, lost to Clemson and defeated Mississippi and Vanderbilt.

Meanwhile, Coach Fran Curci's Wildcats evened their season record at 3-3 with a 20-13 upset victory over Louisiana State before 56,535 fans a week ago in Commonwealth Stadium.

The crowd was the largest ever to attend a football game in the state of Kentucky, bettering the 56,192 attendance at the Indiana game Sept. 28 in Commonwealth.

The Bulldogs drove 80 yards in 10 plays Saturday, with sophomore Matt Robinson scoring on a one-yard sneak with 24 seconds remaining, to beat Vanderbilt.

Robinson's touchdown thwarted a tremendous fourth quarter Vanderbilt comeback which produced 24 points and a 31-31 tie after Georgia had taken a 24-7 lead after three periods.

Vanderbilt tied the game with 1:52 left when quarterback David Lee combined with Jamie O'Rourke on a 26-yard scoring drive.

Robinson, who scored once on a four-yard run and passed for two other TDs in the opening half, then calmly guided Georgia 80 yards in 10 plays for the winner.

Meanwhile, Kentucky defeated LSU with fine defensive play and some big offensive strikes.

Sophomore John Pierce of Harrison County kicked a school-record 48-yard field goal to give the Wildcats a 6-3 lead with 1:04 left in the first half. A minute later, Mike Fanuzzi hit freshman Dallas Owens on a perfect 35-yard TD strike.

The Bayou Bengals came back to tie the score at 13-13 in the fourth quarter, but the Wildcats were not to be denied as they drove 42 yards in six plays, scoring on a one-yard plunge by Sonny Collins with 3:05 remaining.

Kentucky's defense then stopped L.S.U. on fourth and one on the U.K. 49 with 1:47 left to play.

Wildcat coach Fran Curci had nothing but praise for the defensive unit and the squad as a whole. "It was a great team victory," he said. "I know it's a common cliché, but that's really what it was."

He said the victory will have a "profound effect" on Wildcat recruiting and will give a boost to his goal of building a winning program.

"We've been stumbling along, making a lot of errors because we're so young, he said, "but sticking with our young players seems to have paid off."

Curci particularly singled out freshman defensive tackles Jerry Blanton and Bob Winkel, defensive end Art Still and receiver Dallas Owens for outstanding performances.

"We're not out of the woods yet," he said. "We still have some fine teams to play."

D. Glenn Carr, General Manager

BOB WINKEL, at age 18, knows the cold hard facts about college football.

"There is an unbelievable difference in victory and defeat," said Bob. "One Saturday we are smiling and replaying the game on the way home from Blacksburg and the next week we are trying to get out of Morgantown, W. Va., with our heads in our hands."

Winkel is a football freshman at Kentucky. To his own surprise, he is a starting defensive tackle. He's 6-4 and 225 and a tremendous prospect for the future.

"I went to Kentucky with the idea of competing for a varsity job but I wouldn't have been crushed if I had ended up on the JV team," said Bob, looking back.

"Yes, I like the idea of freshman eligibility. There is no reason why a freshman shouldn't play if he is physically capable and mature enough mentally to handle the pressure.

"Of course there is pressure, plenty of it. But I can sleep on Friday nights before games. And I'm doing OK in the classroom. Our coaches insist school comes first and they've convinced me they mean just that. Several of us have English classes that go past lunchtime on Fridays. Our departures have been delayed for road games so everybody can meet those classes. And we'd better be there, too."

Winkle, from Oak Ridge, Tenn., has some details on the victory-defeat comparison.

"Kentucky played at Virginia Tech in our opener. I roomed with Pat Donley. We watched Mash on TV. I thought Blacksburg was sort of rural but the fans were all worked up.

"During the game, I kept thinking we'd win for sure if we could just cut out the mistakes. That's what happened.

"I got to thinking I could play as well as the man in front of me. He had moved from tight end to offensive tackle. I did well, I thought.

"The bus ride to Roanoke was fun. Everybody was buzzing about the game and who had done what. It was exciting just to be there."

Winkel couldn't find much to enjoy at West Virginia. Pre-game was different. The bus ride through the mountains was terrible. His roommate's father had died and Bob spent the night alone. The weather was awful.

"I still thought we'd win. We didn't. I played poorly. West Virginia was big and strong but we'd beat them if we played again. I know we would. I was really disappointed when I saw the film. I can play much better."

Bob Winkel did 16 years of his growing up in Paducah, Ky. Kentucky football never impressed him very much. His family moved to Tennessee and Winkel was surrounded by Big Orange this and Big Orange that.

"It was a squeaky decision between Tennessee and Kentucky when it was time to sign. Nobody told me I could play as a freshman, not on the first team. You'd have to say I'm running a little ahead of schedule. If I'm good enough, maybe I can be a first-teamer all the way. Right now, my goal is to get better before next Saturday."

A Freshman Discusses "Cold Hard Facts"

Winkel figures he's in on the rebuilding of Kentucky football. He foresees brighter days. The Wildcat outlook is much like a 1959 Jaguar Bob is rebuilding in his garage back home.

He bought it for $700, called it a lot of unprintable names when parts wouldn't fit and things wouldn't work during the summer, finally got it running and leaned back and listened to it purr.

"It's going to be a great car when I get it restored," said the big freshman. "I think it'll be worth four, maybe five thousand dollars. No, I'm not going to part with it. That car is going to be the family pet."

Kentucky football stock is headed up, too.

MEMORIAL

Kentucky's athletic complex off Cooper Drive was named "The Bernie A. Shively Sports Center" in April, 1969, in memory of the distinguished Wildcat director of athletics who died of a heart attack at his home December 10, 1967.

Shively joined the Kentucky staff in 1927 as football line coach, following a brilliant athletic career at Illinois. An All-American as a blocking guard for Red Grange, he also was Big Ten heavyweight wrestling champion and a track standout. He was named to the Helms Hall of Fame in 1972.

In 1933, he was appointed head of the UK Physical Education Department, and five years later became director of athletics. He continued coaching until 1946, handling football, track and baseball at various times.

FRAN CURCI

Head Football Coach

In one excitement-packed year, Fran Curci transformed the University of Kentucky football program into an interesting and heart-warming experience for a record number of fans attending Wildcat games.

An average of more than 50,000 persons watched the five home games in new Commonwealth Stadium, while six "away" games drew large crowds to see the rejuvenated Wildcats, who led the nation in percentage of increased attendance.

The season record of five wins and six losses against tough competition, including six teams involved in bowl games, was the best since the 1965 team finished 8-4. The 'Cats tied Florida and Georgia for fifth place in the conference, also the best U.K. league record in eight years.

Better yet, nobody romped over the Wildcats. They led mighty Alabama, 14-0, at halftime before falling, 28-14, and led LSU, 21-7, at intermission before losing, 28-21, in Baton Rouge. In each case, Curci felt a lack of depth was the cause of the Wildcat loss.

Upset victims included Georgia, Mississippi State and nationally ranked Tulane, which came to Lexington with an undefeated record.

At the end of the season, many honors were accorded Curci, including United Press International "SEC Coach of the Year," Inside Kentucky Sports "Kentucky Coach of the Year," and Courier-Journal "Man of the Year" in Kentuckiana sports.

One of his big problems upon arriving in Lexington was to convince the players and fans that Kentucky could win; after an opening victory over Virginia Tech, he told the squad that a person would have thought they had lost, they had to learn to win. By the end of the season, the Wildcats became known as a team that never gave up, and twice came from far behind to lose by only two points to bowl-bound teams.

Curci came to U.K. in December 1972 from his alma mater, the University of Miami, Fla., where he was head coach two years. He started his career as freshman coach there in 1962 after making All-

America and playing as a 5-foot 9, 152 lb. quarterback for the old Dallas Texans of the AFL.

In four years, his Hurricane freshman teams won 12 and lost two games. He then served as a varsity assistant two years (1966-1967), and the Hurricanes participating in the bowl games both those years.

Curci was tapped by the University of Tampa in 1968 to see what he could do about a faltering football program; in three campaigns, he wrote one of the most amazing success stories in college football.

In his first year, he put together a 7-3 season, including victories over Mississippi State and Tulane. That earned for him the Florida Sports Writers Association "Coach of the Year" award, a recognition repeated in 1970. His 1969 season was a brilliant 8-2 affair. His 10-1 record in 1970 also included a 31-14 triumph over Miami and brought the Tampans the nation's No. 1 College Division ranking as well as bringing Curci College Division "Coach of the Year" runner-up honors.

He took over as Miami grid boss Dec. 19, 1970, and left the program there in good shape for his successor.

Curci has been selected four times to coach in all-star games. He assisted Bear Bryant with the South team in Tampa's first annual American Bowl game three years ago, then served as South head coach the next year.

He is married to the former Miss Patricia Ann Taylor of Louisville. They have four children, Angela 13, Frankie 11, Mary Teresa 10 and Jimmie 8.

The Commons Cafeteria in the Blanding-Kirwan Complex is one of six cafeterias and grilles where residence hall students use meal tickets.

On-campus housing: Like small cities for 4,750 students

BY BETTY TEVIS

They are like small cities.

The north campus with its dozen vintage brick buildings, narrow walks, reminiscent somehow of a medieval town if it weren't for the bicycles lashed to every lightpost, porch railing and tree. And the muted music from a hundred open windows. The jars of peanut butter and cans of coke on the window sills. The couples perched on the building steps side by side in low, earnest talk.

Over on the south campus it's just as alive with youth and activity but the setting is the sleek, modern housing complex—built all at the same time in the 60's, efficient and planned.

About five thousand undergraduate students live in University housing, and each fall several hundred are on the waiting list to move in.

Three young Kentucky women in an upstairs corridor of Keeneland Hall ("best hall on the campus") tell you how it is. "I came here not knowing anybody," the coed from Glendale says. "I've met people, have friends. You live in a suite; you get to know three other people well."

"It costs about the same as living in an apartment," says the young woman from Elizabethtown. "A few years ago it might have been cheaper to live off campus, but inflation has run up the cost, made dorm living cheaper."

"Believe it or not," says the junior from Hartford, "the food in the dorms is good. And you can eat all you want."

"I don't see how they (the University) do it—great food," says another.

They speak exuberantly about their particular residence hall—Keeneland—a spacious, beautifully furnished three-story structure built in the 50's to house 302 upperclasswomen. It has kitchens, study lounges on each floor and a huge lounge with billiard and pingpong tables and even an ice machine in the basement.

"We have more room. We can arrange our own furniture. There's a bathroom between each two double rooms. It is THE best dorm on campus; girls can't wait to get in."

Later, in the tweedy, carpeted lounge of Blanding I, UK's first coed dorm for undergraduates, a poised young woman from Hopkinsville tells you there's more friendship than romance here.

"In other dorms, guys are for Friday and Saturday nights,

Guidance and counseling in the halls and it's a big deal. Here, we talk together as friends. It's great to have mixed company."

A young man from Michigan says yes, he likes the coed dorm. "It's my first experience living in a residence hall; it suits me fine." The men and women, he points out, live either on separate floors or in separate wings on the same floors, and their interest in one another is as friends.

They "appreciate the privilege" of living in Blanding I. "Placed in a situation like this," adds the young woman, "people tend not to abuse it. The responsibility is left up to you. You tend to act like an adult." Asked about romance among the residents of Blanding (1), she thought a long time. "I can think of one, possibly two romances," she said.

Blanding has 162 residents.

"To each his own," says Rosemary Pond, the wise and friendly associate dean of students for residence halls.

"Older halls have bigger rooms. Some think the central campus dorms (Donovan for women, Haggin for men) is the greatest because it's close to most classrooms and the library.

"We tried coed residence for underclassmen last year. Great camaraderie and lots of social activities evolved. Yet, for this year about the same number of students applied—no increase.

"Then there are those men and women who want to live where there's NO visiting by the opposite sex. We have floors on various residence halls to accommodate them."

Dean Pond runs UK's housing system of 19 halls housing 4,750 students, with equanimity and skill.

"We're safety and security-oriented," she says. "We request everybody—man or woman—to sign out when he's going away, telling us his destination. We want to know where he is, in case of emergency.

"Accountability is the key word. Everyone's hours are self-regulated. We lock all halls at midnight; a night clerk lets the student in after that."

"In loco parentis went out with the dean of women (a title now supplanted by associate dean of students). Students are what they are by the time they get to the University."

But there is guidance, counseling and support in the halls, whenever a resident needs it, from 140 "wonderful kids," hand picked as corridor advisors to their peers. They are trained in a leadership development program, given room and board, and "tuned in to the needs" of their fellow students in Boyd and Patterson, Haggin and Holmes, Blazer and Kirwan, and all the others.

"Kids in many ways profit more from their out-of-Keeneland Hall, for upperclasswomen, is considered ideal by its 302 citizens, mostly because of its space, comfort and proximity to the central campus.

"Staff not bogged down with minutiae" classroom experience than from what they learn in classes," says Dean Pond, quickly adding that "most professors, if they thought about it, would agree."

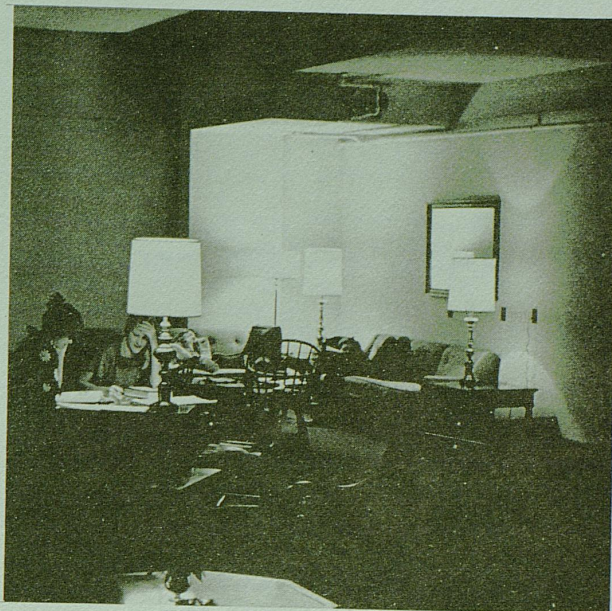

Programming in the halls runs from forums (the multiple roles of women, ecology, politics, religion) to dances to student art exhibits. Sometimes an enthusiastic hall will get together its own drama group, or a choral ensemble like the "Blanding Tower Singers." There are intramural teams in a dozen sports, for both men's and women's halls, continually playing in tournaments.

Camping and recreational equipment, owned by the halls, may be checked out by residents.

Dean Pond says her staff is "not bogged down with minutiae — few rules and regulations we have are the absolute necessities for maintaining a meaningful living arrangement."

Extended visiting hours, a variety of meal plans, a respect for individual privacy, security, and a new attitude of concern

Continued

There are four study halls in University housing that stay open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Each residence hall has other study areas, just as quiet, above, but open shorter hours. The Blanding-Kirwan Complex, below, housing 2,664 undergraduates, is considered choice by many for its efficiency, proximity to the Seaton Sports Center, and the UK bus that stops alongside it every 10 minutes during the day.

"Students take good care of our halls" and respect for others on the part of UK students are all part of UK's success in residence hall operation, she says.

It costs $1,256 per academic year (two semesters) for a single undergraduate to live in campus housing and eat three meals a day in one of the 6 student cafeterias or grilles. For room with breakfast and dinner it's $1,090; for room and any two meals a day it's $1,130.

Students who live off campus—and they are the majority—may contract for meals in University eating places: $659 per year for three meals, $493 for breakfast and dinner, $533 for any two meals a day.

Facilities for laundry and recreation are in every residence hall; some also have kitchens for student use.

Graduate housing in University owned apartments (Cooperstown) is moderately priced; so, too, is married student housing (Shawneetown).

The University plans no new housing, and unlike many other state schools has no housing requirement. Still there's a waiting list.

"That makes all the difference," Dean Pond says. "Students take good care of our halls, because nobody MAKES them live there. Forced dorm living can cause resentment, make for damage.

"Here we can say, 'It's my understanding you're living in our halls by choice.'"

If they move out, they will have to compete with thousands of others for low-cost housing, a list of which UK keeps for the convenience of students. Such housing is neither approved nor recommended by UK: the landlord's only requirement is non-discrimination on the basis of race, religion, creed, or national origin.

Off-campus, an efficiency apartment furnished in a relatively new building may cost around $125 a month without utilities. In an older home, similar lodging may cost $115. Often three students pool furniture to lease a 2-bedroom unfurnished apartment off-campus for about $150 a month. Advocates of off-campus housing like the proximity to downtown, the utter absence of restrictions, the association with "non-university types."

But those in the halls counter with the "no housekeeping, no cooking, more people around" argument.

As Dean Pond says, "to each his own."

Thirst-Quenching: A New Approach

Operating under the ages-old premise that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, the University of Kentucky football training staff doled out fluids on a non-restrictive basis at a rate of 30 to 50 gallons during each pre-season practice session this fall.

"The old theory was to keep their intake of fluids to a minimum," Wildcat trainer Roy Don Wilson said. "We now subscribe to the practice of letting them have all they want when they want."

In addition to breaking tradition with the amount of fluid served to the players, the Wildcat staff also has changed its method of dispensing fluids.

"In the past, we stopped and had breaks, according to the heat and the condition of the players," Wilson said. "Now, we carry portable fountains around and keep those filled from large containers hauled around on a golf cart.

"We not only don't limit their fluids, but we also don't slow down their momentum. Under the old system, they had to get up and stretch after a break."

Wilson feels that some players participating in high school athletics aren't getting enough fluids because of the theory that a little fluid goes a long way.

The Wildcat staff approaches the situation on a scientific basis. The two brands of prepared mixture contain all the electrolytes needed to replace those lost in perspiring, plus sugar for energy. Wilson uses a heat index thermometer developed by the Army and he compiles his own records, using a pocket computer to figure the percentage of body weight the players lose during practice.

"Most lose up to two and one-half percent," he said. "Three or five percent loss is too much. If a player loses five percent and hasn't gained it back, he's not going to practice."

As part of a strict control over such matters, the players are required to weigh in before and after practice.

Wilson is well pleased with the results of the new approach, which he hopes will be adopted in high school programs throughout the state.

FILL 'ER UP—Coach Fran Curci watches as two members of the Wildcat football training staff refill a fluid bottle at Shively Sports Center.

PAUSE THAT REFRESHES—Assistant trainer Phil Latham "serves" fluid to a couple Wildcats during a practice session.

Alumni News Notes

Alumni following Curci's Cats to New Orleans next weekend are invited to a pre-game reception at the Fontainebleau Motor Hotel on Tulane Avenue. A cash bar will open at 4:30 p.m. CST and we'll have snacks for you. No reservations are necessary, just come and remember to bring your Wildcat victory towels with you. See you there!

* * *

A TROUNCE TENNESSEE pre-game brunch is planned for November 23 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Knoxville beginning at 10:30 a.m. The Wildcats will start toppling Tennessee at 1:30 p.m. Reservations must be made in advance. Please send your check, payable to the UK Alumni Association, (amount $3.50 per person) to the Alumni Association, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky. 40506. Again bring your victory towel with you as well as your blue and white hat, tie, gloves, scarf, coat, socks. Let's be the sea of blue that drowns the orange-clad Volunteers.

A special welcome tonight to alumni from the Detroit (Michigan) Area Alumni Club who are here to watch the Cats grill Georgia. Two of Curci's Cats—Dave Crea, a sophomore offensive tackle, and Ted Peurach, a 6'2", 250 lb. freshman—are from the Detroit metro. area.

Voices of victory are being raised on the West Coast as the Los Angeles Area Alumni Club gather around the radio at the home of Jeff Pence, the Club's president, to hear a special relayed broadcast of the UK-UGa. contest.

Homecoming '74 will be the focus of attention when alumni next gather in Commonwealth Stadium. Your Alumni Association invites you to a reception November 9 at 10:30 a.m. honoring C. G. Morehead, Kentucky's artist of property, who will unveil his original painting of the UK Administration Building. The painting was commissioned by the Alumni Association to raise money for student scholarships. Signed prints of the painting are being sold for $20 each plus 5% Kentucky sales tax and $3 for postage and handling. You may order your print now by sending your check made payable to the UK Alumni Association, to UK Alumni Association, Morehead Print, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky. 40506. If you prefer, you may pick up your print at the Alumni House, corner of Rose Street and Euclid Avenue, after December 10.

The "sold out" sign is up on reservations for the Vanquish Vandy pre-game homecoming lunch at the Alumni House, but there's still plenty of room for you to stop by the Alumni House after the game for refreshments and cookies and conversation.

Some of the highlights or changes in the '74 Homecoming events are a Monday night dance for students.

Thursday night the Homecoming parade will wind its way down University Drive and along Hilltop Drive, Woodland Avenue, Euclid Avenue, Rose Street and back to Commonwealth Stadium where the '74 Homecoming queen will be crowned at the traditional pep rally. Old Blue, the Alumni Association's double-decker English bus, will have the honor of transporting the football team in the parade.

The concert this year will be on Friday night and feature "America". Tickets are available from the UK Concert Committee, Student Center Board, Room 203, Student Center, Lexington, Ky. 40506. Admission is $4.50, $3.50, $3.00 or $2.50.

Wildcat Assistant Coaches

BILL NARDUZZI, DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

The architect of an improved Kentucky defense last year was Bill Narduzzi, who has played for and been associated with some of the great names in the game of football. At East Canton, Ohio High School, he was co-captain in football, captain in basketball and baseball, earning three varsity letters in each and two in track. At Miami University in Oxford, he was a star lineman, first under Ara Parseghian and then under John Pont and was voted the Redskins' outstanding lineman as an end during his senior season (1958). Before entering the college coaching ranks, he was assistant coach of the city champion (11-1) Benedictine High, Cleveland, Ohio; assistant coach, Sandy High, Magnolia, Ohio (8-2) in 1961; assistant coach city champs (7-3) and track coach, Ursuline High, Youngstown, 1962. He was freshman coach at the University of Pittsburgh in 1962, and varsity assistant at Brown in 1963 and 1964. He coached seven years at Yale University, where the Eli ranked either first or second in total defense in the Ivy League all those years, was ranked No. 2 nationally in total defense and No. 3 against the rush in 1968, and in 1970 ranked No. 13 in total defense and No. 11 against rushing. Bill is immediate past president of the “Cradle of Coaches Association,” a professional organization of Miami U. of Ohio affiliates in the coaching field.

BILLY MITCHELL, DEFENSIVE ENDS

Billy returned to his alma mater last year from Wake Forest, where he was a member of K-Letterman Tommy Harper's staff. A native of Georgetown, he earned four letters as quarterback at Garth High, plus three letters each in basketball, track, and tennis. He was All-State two years in basketball and regional high jump and tennis champion. As a U.K. halfback, he earned three letters and also lettered as a high jumper for the Wildcat cinder squad. He was head coach at Manual High in Louisville in 1965 and then served as an assistant at Murray State, Virginia Tech and Wake Forest.

JOHN COOPER, DEFENSIVE SECONDARY

Now in his second year with the Wildcats, John came to Kentucky from the University of Kansas, where he was defensive coordinator, defensive secondary coach and recruiting coordinator. A standout safety as a college player, he was a member of Iowa State's famed “Dirty Thirty” Club of 1959 and captained the Cyclones in 1961. He remained at Ames a year as a member of Clay Stapleton's staff, then joined Tommy Prothro at Oregon State for the 1963-64 seasons. He went with Prothro to UCLA to coach the defensive backs. He left UCLA with Pepper Rodgers when the latter was hired for the KU head job following the 1966 season. A native of Clinton, Tenn., he was a quarterback and safety on the undefeated Powell High School team of 1952 and the 1953 team (7-3) and was named outstanding player in the Tennessee All-Star game.

DAN COUGHLIN, DEFENSIVE LINE

A teammate of Fran Curci and a two-year starter as offensive guard and linebacker at the University of Miami, Dan cut his coaching teeth at Coral Gables High School, where he spent nine years with the perennially powerful teams there. During his tenure, the Cavaliers won 102 games, lost nine and tied one, registering nine shutouts in 13 games in 1967 and winning two national championships. A native of Cleveland, he played his prep football at Benedictine High. After graduating from Miami, he coached one year at LaSalle High there.

JON MIRILOVICH, OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

A former star end at the University of Miami, Jon is in his fourteenth year of coaching and second year at Kentucky. He was a teammate of Fran Curci at Miami's Archbishop Curley High, earning All-City and All-American honors. Playing as two-way end at U. M., he lettered three years and was accorded honorable mention All-American, teaming again with Curci. He played with the Dallas Texans before a leg injury cut short his career. He served successfully as assistant coach at Columbus High (1961-62) and Southwest High (1962-62), head coach at Columbus (1965-66) and as assistant coach at Coral Gables High (1968-69) before joining Curci at Tampa in 1970. The Spartans swept to a 10-1 record that year and rolled up an astounding 342 points, including 31 against U. M. and 48 against Florida A&M. Jon went to Miami with Curci in 1971 and came to U.K. with him last year.

NICK NICOLAU, OFFENSIVE BACKFIELD

A graduate of New Bedford (Mass.) High, where he was a member of football and track teams, Nick launched his collegiate career as a freshman on the Southern Connecticut defensive unit which established a national small college defensive record in 1951. He was then shifted to offensive halfback during his sophomore campaign and was the club's leading ground gainer. He interrupted his college career for a two-year hitch in the Marine Corps but returned to Southern Connecticut in time for the 1956 season and was a key member of the Owls' 9-0 club, the finest in the school's history. He was the last player to earn four varsity football letters. His coaching background includes stints in high school, Southern Connecticut, Springfield College, University of Bridgeport, University of Massachusetts and University of Connecticut. While head coach at the University of Bridgeport for five years, he was twice chosen "Coach of the Year" in 1966 and 1969. He was selected as honorary head coach of the "Centennial" University of Bridgeport team. His '69 team won the Eastern Football Conference championship in 1969 and played in the First Annual Knute Rockne Bowl. He holds a Bachelor's degree from Southern Connecticut, a Master's degree from the University of Indiana and a doctoral degree from Springfield College.

RON BLACKLEDGE, OFFENSIVE LINE COACH

A member of the Bowling Green University Hall of Fame (Oct. 28, 1972), Ron came to U. K. in 1973 from the University of Cincinnati, where he served as an assistant (offensive line) in 1972. A native of Robertsville, Ohio, he was raised in Canton, where he was All-City and All-Stark County both in football and basketball, honorable mention, All-Ohio football, second team basketball, a three-letterman in baseball and winner of the Timken Athletic Achievement award in 1956. He was a regular on the 1959 undefeated Bowling Green football team, winning All-Mid-American Conference honors. He was also first team All-MAC in baseball, winner of 1960 NCAA slugging honors and a seven-year all-star in Canton amateur baseball circles. He was guidance counselor and assistant football coach, Canton South, 1960-63, head coach Timken High three years, a graduate assistant at Ohio University in 1966 and coach one year at Canton Glenwood. He was assistant coach at Ashland College three years before joining Wildcat letterman Ray Callahan at Cincinnati.

DAVID WELLS, RECEIVERS

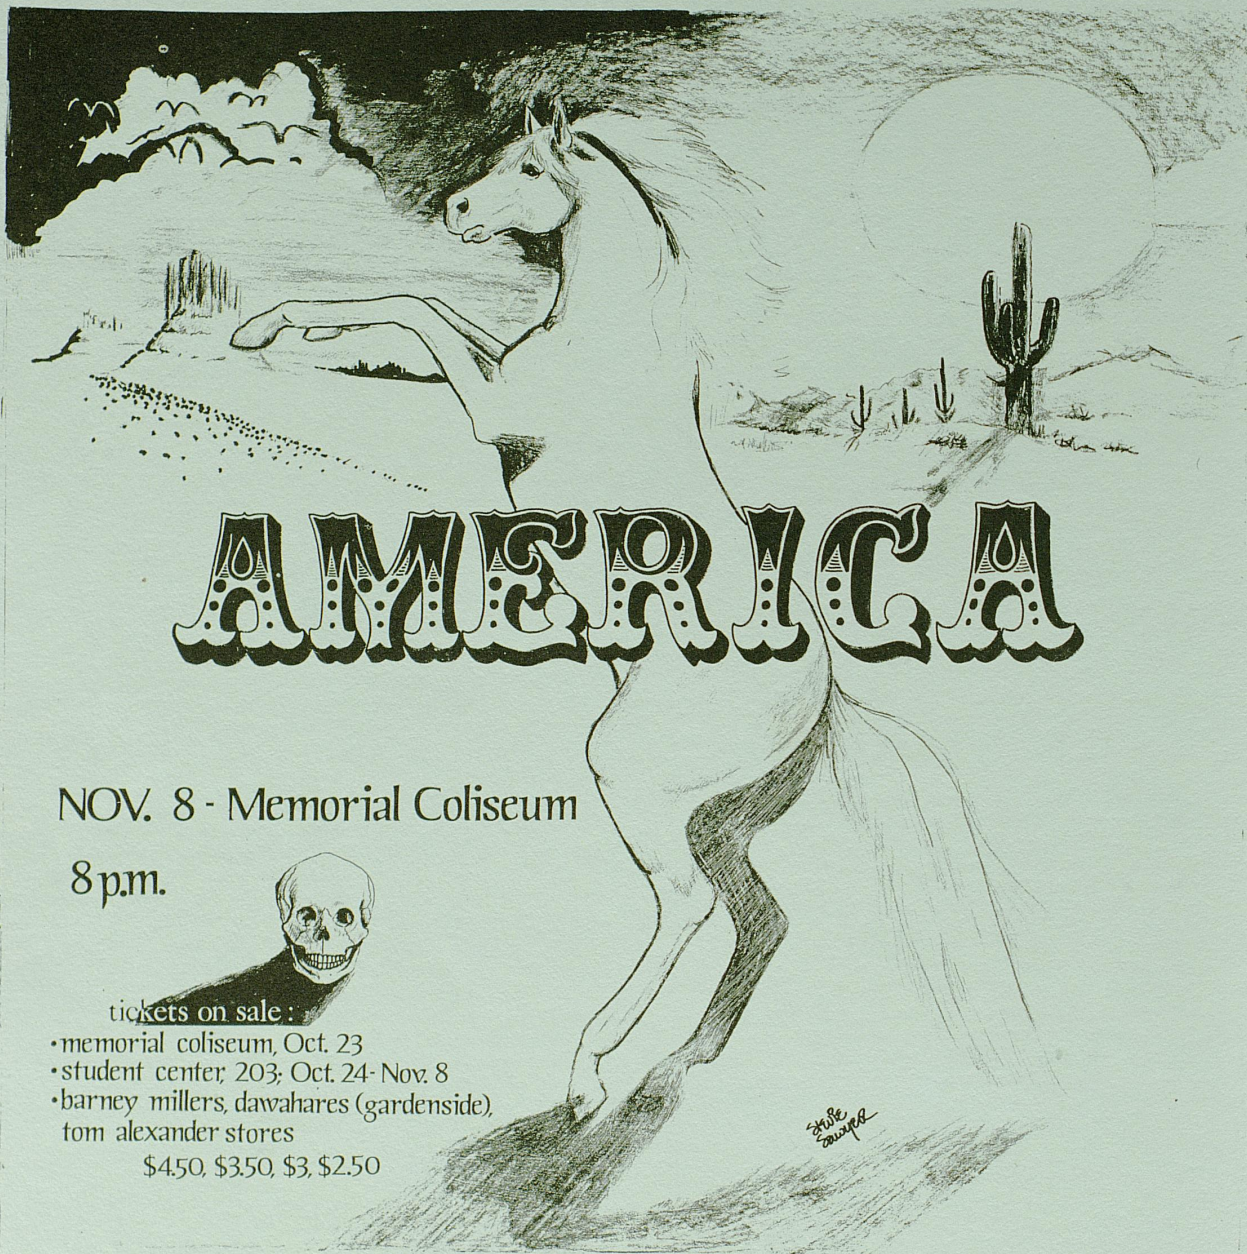

A native of Madisonville, Ky., Dave came to the University three years ago as a graduate assistant after serving an internship as an assistant at his high school alma mater. He earned three football letters and was an All-State running back at Madisonville, setting a school record for the most points in a season. He also earned three basketball and four track letters, participating in the state track meet two years. An Academic All-SEC and honorable mention Academic All-American, he lettered three years as a wingback at Ole Miss, playing on one SEC championship team and participating in the Sugar, Bluebonnet and Liberty bowls. He was with the Washington Redskins during the 1966 exhibition season and was a graduate assistant that fall and the following season at Ole Miss. He spent two years with the Army in Germany before returning to Madisonville.

FLETCHER CARR, ASSISTANT

It is fitting that Fletcher work with centers, since that was the position at which he excelled at the University of Tampa. After earning four letters as a starter there, he joined his former coach Curci last year at U. K. A native of Erie, Pa., he made All-City in football at East High, playing tackle on both offense and defense, earned four letters in track and was city wrestling champ. At Tampa, he made All-South Independent and was an honorable mention All-American. He was All-American and NCAA College Division wrestling champ in 1971 and 1972, Florida State champ four years and participated in the 1968 and 1972 Olympic Trials. After finishing first in the College Division wrestling championships last year, he was fourth in the University Division. He is the 1973 Southeastern karate champion, holding a black belt in the sport. He also served last year as the University's first wrestling coach of modern times, finishing with a fine record and excellent prospects for the future.

CLARENCE UNDERWOOD, ASSISTANT

"Buckshot," who returned to the University in 1965 as an assistant coach, will head up the prep defense this year. A native of West Virginia, he played football at Woodrow Wilson High in Beckley and at Marshall University, where he also lettered in boxing. He coached four years at Beckley High, served as a Naval lieutenant in WW II and coached two more seasons at Beckley before joining "Bear" Bryant's staff at U.K. He left U.K. in 1956 to become athletic director and head coach at Thomas Jefferson High in Port Arthur, Texas, compiling a 77-26-6 record and winning six district championships. He was Texas high school "Coach of the Year" in 1957 and coached the South All-Stars in the 1960 Texas schoolboy classic.

Dr. Holman Hamilton:

BY BETTY TEVIS
University Information Services

Take 450 assorted students, some taking the class—American History Since 1865—as a requirement. Sift them into Memorial Hall at 9 a.m. on a November morning, add Dr. Holman Hamilton, and stir.

Stir intellectually, that is. The students themselves stir little otherwise, except to take notes or to chuckle at the professor's asides and anecdotes about John Quincy Adams or

Rutherford B. Hayes or "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion."

Many will be back by choice as upperclassmen for American History 1828-1865, what Dr. Hamilton, twice chosen a University distinguished professor, calls "a close-up of a period—most of my research has been in that field." A handful of students will also enroll in American Historiography, a seminar for graduate students.

For two decades now, this wise and witty man has been teaching at the University of Kentucky and awakening lifelong love for history, or turning mild interest into love. Whatever it is that fascinates his undergraduate listeners makes him a much-in-demand lecturer for groups of every kind. He delivers the annual J. P. Young lecture series at Memphis State University and the History of American Civilization Series at the University of Florida.

...the drama, the fascination of history."

He inaugurated the Hyland-Price Lectures at Washington College, and the Haynes Lectures at Marshall University.

Of his lectures, this genial scholar says thoughtfully, "I try to put in concrete material, colorful material. I try to keep them awake, make them feel some of the color, the drama, the fascination of history.

"Their eyes, manner tell you they're interested," he says.

Youngsters now enrolled in his big history class call him "entertaining," "fascinating," "the best professor . . .", and the like.

Men like Lexington Vice Mayor Scotty Baesler (B.S. '63, J.D. '66) have been away from college long enough now to know how profoundly Dr. Hamilton has affected their lives.

"He helped generate my interest in history; I still try to keep up with it. He was practical, and he was thorough."

And Ben Chandler ('57), publisher of The Woodford Sun, says, "I remember him fondly; I enjoyed very much his type of teaching. He's a delightful, distinguished gentleman. He sparked for me an interest in the past. I enjoy, as much as anything else, delving into these old newspaper files."

In fact, Chandler says he's writing a history of Woodford County—a project that, perhaps, was born years ago in a UK history class.

That combination of journalism and history is Dr. Hamilton's own. Graduated from Williams College, Williamstown, Mass., in 1932 with a degree in English, he took his first job as a reporter on his hometown Ft. Wayne (Ind.) Journal-Gazette, and almost immediately began spare time research for a biography of Gen. Zachary Taylor. He was promoted to editorial writer and stayed with the newspaper until 1950, with his book, "Zachary Taylor: Soldier of the Republic," published in 1941.

There was time out for Army service during World War II, in which he rose from the rank of private to major.

It wasn't that he didn't enjoy journalism but he decided, after eight years, that a man could combine research and writing with teaching better than he could with newspapering. So, at age 41, he quit the paper and enrolled in the University of Kentucky graduate school.

"I'd visited Kentucky—Louisville, Lexington, Frankfort—and had gotten to know Winston Coleman, Dr. Hambleton Tapp, William Townsend and Dr. Thomas Clark. I liked Kentucky and Kentuckians: they're a combination of Virginia gentility and frontier earthiness.

"Kentucky has always had a great appeal to me. There are good historians and good human beings here." Dr. Clark, he says, "made the history department, the University Press, the library."

Upon earning his Ph.D. degree in 1954, Dr. Hamilton was appointed to the faculty of the UK Department of History, and has been here ever since, producing along the way, as editor, author or co-author, six more books and a number of articles and reviews.

In 1966, with his "Prologue to Conflict," he won the Alice Hallam Book Award for that year's best historical book by a UK teacher. He has received both the Great Teacher and the Alumni Research awards from the University. And his colleagues have chosen him as Hallam Professor of History (1969-71) and Distinguished Professor of the College of Arts and Sciences (1972).

Students evaluating him in Fall, 1973, overwhelmingly ranked him "excellent" on 11 separate qualities. Given a chance to comment (anonymously, and knowing the professor would not see the comments until grades were in) they tended to write:

"Finest teacher I ever had."

"Fantastic. Great. Marvelous . . ."

"Would love to take course again just to hear him speak . . ."

"Everything a history course should be. . ."

His knowledge of subject, fairness, enthusiasm, power to inspire, all earned him overwhelmingly high "grades" from his students.

About these "ratings" Dr. Hamilton appears pleased; the praise of his students seems to mean at least as much to him as the acclaim of the world, the press and the lecture audience.

He sees no decline of interest in history on the UK campus. "Quite the contrary, students seem to feel more need for it," Dr. Hamilton comments. "They're interested in relevance—what's going on now related to what happened in another time. They're looking for parallels and similarities."

Those who do their graduate work with this genial man "practically become members of the family" in the give-and-take of scholarly research and writing.

But for all students, the casual freshman in the survey course or the intense Ph.D. candidate, Hamilton has the same gentleness and courtesy.

The professor's research and writing never stop, but the UK student comes first. Dr. Hamilton makes himself always available to students, after class in the lecture hall, or if they want to talk at length, by appointment in his office.

With the six teaching assistants who help him with his huge American history class (they supplement, with small group sessions one hour a week, Dr. Hamilton's two hour-long lectures each week), he is especially close, often lunching with them. To a man—and two women—they are his admirers.

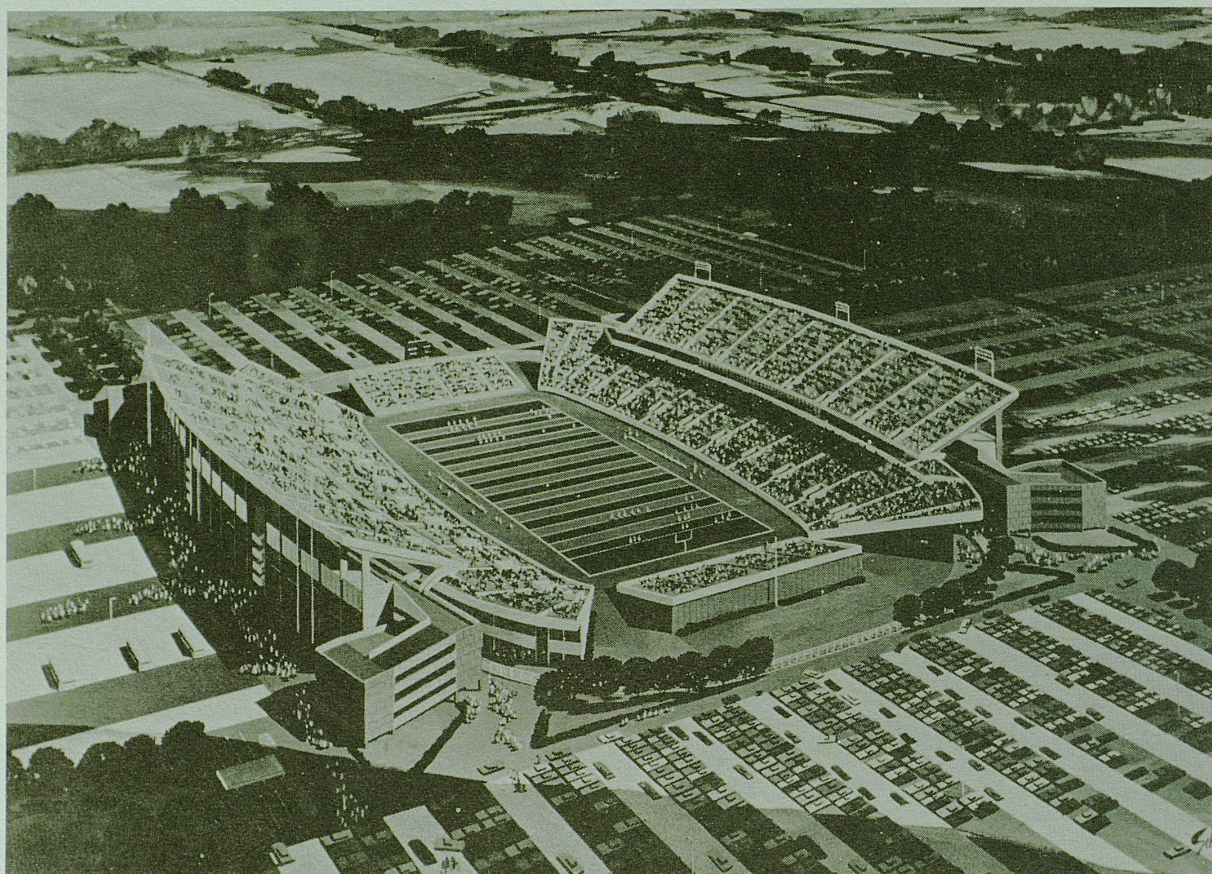

He is one of UK's best known professors to the world outside, but his heart is here with studies and students, and his greatest joy and satisfaction is here, too.

Perhaps Chaucer described him best: "and gladly wold he lerne, and gladly teche."

Fletcher Carr specializes in karate at U.K. All-Sport Camp.

Trinity High School coach Dave Moore teaches the proper stance.

A Diversified Camp

The University of Kentucky All-Sports Camp is a diversified camp featuring instruction in tennis, karate, football, weights, golf, track, wrestling, swimming, volleyball and baseball.

More than 100 youngsters from Kentucky and other states attended the first camp last summer, utilizing the University of Kentucky's modern, clean dormitories, fine cafeteria and excellent athletic and recreational facilities.

The setup works like this: Each camper chooses a sport for major instruction and two other sports for less instruction, with the campers working in groups selected according to age.

The daily schedule includes a 2½ hour instruction in major activity and two hours in all activities, along with regular rest periods and periods of recreational activity and league competitions.

There are special events at nights—movies, council fire, etc.—and visits during the week to such places as the State Capitol, Red River Gorge, Natural Bridge and Blue Grass area horse farms.

The 1975 camp will be held in late June. Enrollment is limited.

John Cooper is the tennis expert-in-residence.

Dan Coughlin gives baseball instruction.

Bill Narduzzi conducts a group exercise.

ON, ON, U. OF K.

On, On, U. of K.
We are right for the fight today.
Hold that ball and hit that line;
every wildcat star will shine.
We'll fight, fight, fight for the blue and white,
as we roll to that goal, varsity.
And we'll kick, pass and run
'till the battle is won,
and we'll bring home the victory.

U.K. ALMA MATER

Hail Kentucky, Alma Mater!
Loyal sons and daughters sing;
sound her praise with voice united;
to the breeze her colors fling.
To the blue and white be true;
badge triumphant age on age.
Blue the sky that o'er us bends;
white Kentucky's stainless page.

MY OLD KENTUCKY HOME

The sun shines bright in the old Kentucky home,
'Tis summer, the people are gay;
The corn-top's ripe and the meadow's in the bloom
While the birds make music all the day.
The young folks roll on the little cabin floor
All merry, all happy and bright;
By'n by hard times comes a-knocking at the door
Then my old Kentucky home, Good-night!
Weep no more my lady, Oh! weep no more today!
We will sing one song for the old Kentucky home
For the old Kentucky home, far away.

There's more to electricity than meets the plug

Our first responsibility is to supply the electricity you need when you need it — all that's needed, 24 hours a day. Growing needs. For home, business, and industry.

But making sure that everyone in our service area has all the electricity needed is just part of the picture.

Take the problems involving the environment, for example. Reddy's working with scientists and researchers to clean up air pollution, improve and expand sewage treatment, filter pollution out of lakes and streams, and replace old-fashioned polluting processes with clean electrical systems.

In fact, in the area of environmental control equipment on which patents have been issued, more than 90 per cent require electricity.

Reddy Kilowatt makes things happen environmentally!
