May Day||Hey Day

So-called "traditions" at UK create as little stir and interest as they possibly could and still be called any kind of function at all. But one of the few, very few, and extremely rare traditions that actually is a tradition is May Day, with its colorful, pretty, or humorous floats, the hard work and interest that go into them, and the high peak of enthusiasm students feel for it and that somehow seems communicated to the crowds of townspeople lining the streets for the parade.

"But I tell you these May Day judges go for simplicity."

Old Kernels Should Be Filed

An interesting sidelight on the growth of the University and its changes in the past years is to be found in the back issues of the Kentucky Kernel for the last 25 or 30 years. No bound, complete file of these exists, and one should be compiled and placed in the library while the papers can be gotten together. These old Kernels, and new ones, are far from journalistic masterpieces, but they are of interest from the standpoint of University history.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor: In reply to a "disgusted student" letter in last week's Kernel concerning the "Troupers" show we would like to make a few remarks. This person made some rather crude statements concerning an act presented by us. We are all very glad to receive "constructive" criticism concerning the different acts we present from time to time, but this is the first comment we have ever received stating that our act was unclean. On the contrary we have always received favorable comments.

Having met in a minstrel show in the ninth grade we joined to enter the "Troupers" show. A nice lucrative lease to the owners and have been doing shows ever since. We have given shows for all types of groups, from church and YMCA to various high schools in the Bluegrass region; this includes one Veteran's hospital where material must be rigorously censored. We find that this type of entertainment brings in small sums of money, in fact it helps to put us through school.

We cannot understand why any one could or would make such untruthful statements; however if this person does not like our sort of act we suggest that he be allowed to take the matter to a local theater and really get shocked. The question is whether this is constructive criticism or is this person just a little neurotic? It seems to be the latter since he or she did not wish to reveal their name to the general public and official opinion.

GRIPPIN AND SCHWARTZ Dear Editor: This could be an awfully nice University except for two little annoyances that I have been experiencing much of late.

One is the clever little way that the University telephone operators click the phone in your ear when you politely ask for a number. It sounds like dynamite exploding, but it mildly. After your shattered ear-drum has recovered somewhat, you ask again for the number, which you usually do not get until the fifth or sixth try. When this happens, the operator begins screaming, ranting, and raving in a rage. It is disgusting to say the least. I have often thought of reporting this to UK authorities, but have lapsed into a "Oh-what-the-heck" attitude, thinking I would soon be leaving school anyway.

Another thing is the bookstore. A nice lucrative lease to the owners is fine—as long as they never favor to the University by such minor things as cashing checks for students. Now they make you bring your own checks and there at a certain odd time—usually the middle of an hour when most people have the classes—so that not many show up. Usually the "freezing" attitude is given out freely to students who desire to have a simple little check cashed. The bookstore says it loses money on checks, but it doesn't seem that it should when identification can be required very easily. It's not easy to reform to world I noted your "perfectionist" remark in reply to Thurman's letter last week but it would be nice to see justice given in these two fields I mention today.

Thank you, SENIOR (See editorial—ED.) Dear Editor: Perhaps it's not my place to raise a kick, inasmuch as I'll be graduating.

Check Cashing Trouble

Much complaining is going on nowadays because of the increasing difficulty in getting checks cashed anywhere around the campus.

About the only place that will cash checks is the Campus Book Store, and as most students are aware, the book store has been cutting down drastically on the cashing of checks.

The size of personal checks has been limited, and hours when checks will be cashed have been cut down in order to limit the amount cashed every day. Although only too well aware of this, most students may not realize the why's and wherefores of the move.

One reason is the $678 in cold checks that have bounced back so far this semester.

Another is the expense and trouble of the cash checking situation. The store charges nothing for cashing checks, does it as an accommodation to students. It has to hire an armored car to take the money to the bank and thereby avoid leaving it in the store overnight. It has to pay insurance on its safe; it must pay for the services of a fulltime clerk to carry on the service, and it must stand the loss when checks are cold.

The book store has been cashing about $5000 in checks every day, and when government checks come in the amount jumps to $20,000 to $25,000 which must be taken immediately to the bank. So it can easily be seen that free check-cashing is far from a small-time operation for the book store.

Now the store has cut down the amount cashed to about $1500 a day. This is helpful to the book store, but it leaves many students unhappily stranded on many occasions.

Some arrangements should be made to accommodate the students in this matter. It's not the book store's fault; many similar book stores cash no checks at all.

But some scheme should be worked out whereby students may be supplied with a service that is all too often more of a necessity than a convenience.

Cookin' With Gaskin

By Nancy Gaskin sold all his papers in a hurry. Reason: He shouted, "Extra, extra, summer school session looking lax, the United States, Well, who wants house mothers, may face the axe" to ride in a kitchen sink? —Morehead Trail Blazer

A befuddled physics student, whose handwriting is legible, handed in an exam paper with this written on it, "Physics 156, The Mystery Hour." When he got his paper back, the teacher had scrawled across the top of it, "For which one of us?"

At LSU there were many comments about the delivery truck parked outside one of the fraternities houses on fraternity row. Painted in the language there are also across the side of the truck was some very sad tries of words. They are: Buy me one—Out of gas—Does not paid—Funds not sufficient—External use only—Best in peace—Glenville Mercury.

Are any of our beautiful Trojan Helen so fickle as this? "You gave me the key to your heart, my love; Then why do you make me knock? Oh, that was yesterday, saints above! And last night I changed the lock." The other day the Michigan State News put out an extra.—All about the summer session, etc. One of the news boys hired for the occasion —Illinois State Normal, Vidian.

Writer Looks For A Feature But The 'Critic' Can't Be Found

By Jerry Finch "Get out and find a feature," says the editor, so we get.

To write a feature story one must have a subject, or at least the accepted view. The first thing, therefore, is to find a proper subject that the high caliber IQ's of college students will appreciate.

It's a fine day; why not write a story on Spring? There must be some slant on Spring that hasn't been done before, but we can't find it.

Wandering over to where Norwood Hall used to stand, we survey the new field of sod that has been planted. This looks like good feature material. Happily we traipse out on the new lawn and are left with a sinking feeling.

A passing geology student pulls us out and we hook a shoe out of the mud with a long branch. The place is a trap, the new grass covering the ruins and holes where the tilted earth is settling. We idly wonder how many students are at the bottom of the pit, trapped while taking a short-cut when late for the class.

The trenches that criss-cross the campus hold a fascination. The new heating system being laid to the Fine Arts building might be a feature. We noted that the wooden bridge over the main cross-campus sidewalk is the worse for wear, so we bang around for awhile hoping someone would fall through and we could get an exclusive story.

No such luck. We tried pushing a little old lady into the pit, but she turned out to be a physics instructor.

So wiping the mud from our clothes, we went toward the SUB. We passed a girl selling Tau Sigma dance tickets and she asked us to put in a plug for Tau Sigma. We told her sorry, that we couldn't mention Tau Sigma.

Down the side steps by the SUB, an embryo sidewalk was beginning to take shape. Nothing there to write about.

Wandering back up Lime Street we noted that a new wire fence was being put up, whom to keep out or keep in we couldn't tell. On a nearby note there was a sign: "Save Your University $50,000 A Year." We looked back at the fence. We went on.

Strolling by Memorial Hall, we could hear strange sounds, oddly like many persons standing up and sitting down again. There must be something going on in there, we decided wisely. Looking in the door we saw that the standing-sitters were bright students getting honored by the University, by being allowed to stand up in a group for a second, and then left to find their way back down to their seats.

We got back to the news room and told the editor that we were sorry, but there just were no features to be had. He yelled at us: "You idiots, you couldn't see a feature if it hit you in the face!" We told him this wasn't so. We gave him this story. He threw it in our face. We saw it.

Lois Flege, Nancy Bird, and Charles Patrick join Editor Charles Whaley in celebration of the completion of work on the 1949 Kentucky Kernel. The weary editors will have but a brief respite from their labors before sale of the yearbook begins on Monday, May 23.

'This Is Kentucky' Will Be Theme Of Yearbook To Appear May 23

By Jerry Finch
You say you knew it all the time? But did you know that "This Is Kentucky" is the theme of the 1949 Kentucky? And on Monday morning, May 23, this year's Kentucky will be on sale, the first time within two years that the UK yearbook has been distributed before the end of the school term.

Under the editorship of Charles Whaley, new ideas in make-up, style, and presentation have been incorporated into the pictorial survey of the past two semesters.

Miss Flege Designed Cover
The cover, designed by Lois Ann Flege, carries a conservative tone in gray and green with a small print of Memorial Hall in the upper left corner. For the first time in years the cover is padded instead of being the usual hard binding.

Introducing the theme of "This Is Kentucky," the first few pages are pictures of state scenes—Churchill Downs, My Old Kentucky Home, Cumberland Falls, and other photos of featured state crops and parks.

Following the general state illustrations is a section colored in green and black devoted to informal shots of University of Kentucky life, including dances, SUB functions, and other social gatherings.

Just Graduated!
The divisional pages introducing the seniors and juniors were devised by Miss Flege. A photo leading into the senior section shows two career ex-students waving goodbye to college from their baggage-loaded auto. But the juniors are depicted in a photo of two hitch-hikers, holding a "Going To UK" share-your-ride card with summary of the groups' activities for the year, another new idea. The Kentucky beauty queens and their attendants appear in the back of this Kentucky, and some of the main illustrations are done in green and black.

Career-minded girls from 209 colleges enrolled last year for Gibbs secretarial training. Write College Course Dean for placement report booklet, "Gibbs Girls at Work."

Not only the usual formal posed pictures of the Kentucky belles are used, but candid shots are inset as well. For instance, Nancy Brewer, Kentucky beauty queen, is caught dashing about in her red slicker raincoat.

UK Songs Added
Another new feature, suggested by Mary Beth Reynolds, is the printing of the University songs, words and music, with a brief history of the individual songs which ends the new Kentucky on a unique note.

On the editorial staff of the Kentucky are Charles Whaley, editor; Nancy Bird, business manager; Lois Ann Flege, assistant managing editor; Karl Christ, Anne Pardue, Mary Shinnick and Monte Tansy, associate editors; Kent Hollingsworth, sports editor; Dudley Saunders, assistant sports editor; and Jeanne Wilson, assistant business manager.

Whaley said that the Kentuckians are coming out on time due to the staff's following a rigid schedule since the first of October. Some editors stayed on the job over the Christmas holidays and between semesters to be certain that the books reach the students before the end of the current term.

Printed At Kernel Plant
The yearbook was printed in the Kentucky Kernel printing plant and bound at the Kingsport Printing Company, Kingsport, Tenn. Twenty-two hundred copies have been printed.

The 1949 Kentucky will be on sale in Brown 50, McVey Hall, Monday, May 23, through Friday, May 27, from 10-12 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. If the books are not sold out the first week, the time will be extended to the next Monday and Tuesday, 2-4 p.m.

Seniors, to get their yearbooks, must present their cards showing that they have paid senior fees. Other students who have paid deposits must bring their receipts. Cost of the 1949 Kentucky is $4. If the yearbook was purchased before Christmas, the cost was $4. At the same time the new books are being sold, a supply of 1948 Kentuckians will be sold for $2 per volume.

Rains early in the week put a temporary damper on spring sports and beach parties for many students. A characteristic scene shows campusite Lois O'Brien, Dusty Rhodes, Len Hays, and Bill Mansfield meditating mournfully their plight.

The Spice Of Life

Derby Day was like UK home coming. A lot of us still "Pondering" it.

Tilly McCarty met quite a few interesting people in L'ville. She and Bill Benjamin had quite a party on Saturday night following the horse's "heyday."

Boonesboro was the place to go before the weather changed and Moose Mik is the leverage of the year. John Marlow's boat is getting plenty of exercise and some Sigma Nuts, Charlie Pritchett included, love the place so that they just stayed until dawn broke.

One local critic remarked that Elkins Payne looks like a Greek god on a beach background.

Charlie Woodward and Bill McCann married a little by themselves on ROTC field day. How did it feel to walk into an auditorium when everyone else has gone in the other direction?

There might be a little trouble at the SAE hayride when Libby Gerson, Charney Evert's old girl comes from Nashville to have a date with Ted Vincent.

The Theta dance was a honey. Libby Reynolds looked her usual best in flowing shades of pink. How that girl does dress!

Beverly Neudecker pulled a one eye by going to the dance, and Derby cowboy Dave Davidson. What happened to Nancy Bird's piece of this recent soxer?

Carla Madison and Bill Pritchard have made quite a hit with each other. He might be the reason for her returning to school next year.

All the Sigmas and Nu boys turn out these days for the girls' softball games on Linda Brown Home field. The KD catcher, Ella Ross Potter, has lots of rosters. How about the Chaplain?

Encore: Betty Sander and Lewis P. Binouhi, Caroline Hill and Bob Coleman.

Fay Farmer is about to beat Charles Basins's time with Elsie Larch. Better get on the ball, Charlie!

Harry Stanton's part in "George Washington" is about too good to be real.

A triangle — Frank Locke, Fort Ross, and Jean Williamson.

Judy Stoll and a Tri Delta member Judy certainly make a photogenic pair.

Bill Carl has altered the amaz-tor and couldn't find Bill Hockensmith is now spinning around Marsh. What did you do recently that you were worrying about appearing in this work of slander?

All the gals have been wondering "what happen" to Dan Quertross lately. Since he got his car he's been keeping the roads to Frankfort warm.

Should TOP lots of fun and excitement at the joint Sigma Nu—Sigma Chi beach party at Boonesboro tomorrow.

A very cute newsmagazine is Neil Martin and Mumbles Usher.

Guess there is an interest between Ann Keaton and Lee Brewster. He was her date for the big kite dance.

Martha Ann Wilson gives parties for gals who date Sigma Nu's. Guess that is one way to work it.

Coo Hogan and Barkley Sturgill were among those at the Derby, seems to be plenty of spark in the old flame yet!

Mary Jane Appew looked especially pretty at the Theta dance. Her Dede from Center looked happy about the whole thing.

Hitting it pretty regular these days are "Ransom" Brown and Betty Fish, Jim Bill Atkins and Jo Ann Crawford as well as, "Don Juan" Morgan Boyd and Iona Elizabeth Moore.

Pinned: Emily Anderson and Vic Sluts; Betty Thompson and Gordon Menney; Barbara Stewart and Mike Mills; Mary "Brookside" Williams and Fred Howard.

Question of the week . . . Which Theta will our Doctor Moe of SAE be dating next? There's something so cuddly about him. The gals just can't resist his charm.

Lots of couples attended the opening of the Maysville Country Club. Doll Price and Johnny Crockett; Ted Vinos and Joan Pritchard, Marilyn Baur and Charlie Woodward.

The ATO dance was another spring success and those sharp decorations were right in Derby eve mood. Mack Lackey was among the many that had a gay old time. Dick Rhodemeyer was mighty glad to have his big flame, Ann Kel-

Baseballers Take On Tennessee Today, Tomorrow In Crucial Set

The cellar-dwelling Tennessee Volunteers meet the division-leading Kentucky Wildcats at 3 o'clock this afternoon on Stoll Field in the first of a two game series.

The Cats have to take both of these, two more from the Vols next week end, then split or win both of the Georgia games on Wednesday and Thursday, to capture the crown in the Eastern Division of the South-eastern Conference.

Georgia's Bulldogs have already lost four, but Kentucky will play four less games than Trippi's team during the season and could be noosed out if Georgia wins three more games than the Cats.

Schedule Favors UK

However Kentucky does have a break in that they play the weakest team in the division in four of their last six games while Georgia has to battle a vastly-improved Tech team in four of their last six.

Ray Mignerey will start on the mound for Kentucky today, making his last appearance as a starting pitcher on Stoll Field this year as the Cats leave Tuesday on a four-game road trip which will conclude the season. Mignerey who has beaten every team Kentucky played this year, goes after his fourth win without a defeat.

Roy Ford (2-0) or Willie Allen (1-1) will hurl Saturday's contest which will begin at 2:30 p.m.

Outfielder Benny Zaranek, who injured his right leg while rounding second base against Vanderbilt three weeks ago is just now able to jog around the diamond and probably will make the southern trip even if he doesn't get into this weekend's games. He's hitting .368 and plays a heads up game in the outfield.

Cats Split With Tech

The Wildcats took one and gave one to Georgia Tech in a two-game series last week. The Yellow Jackets stung five Cat pitchers with 16 hits good for 18 runs as Kentucky lost their second baseball game of the season 16-12.

Don Fucci drove in four runs with a homer and a single to lead the Wildcats' attack, but Monte Jordan, Ted Schoening, Dick Harvin and John Lanford banged out three hits apiece for Tech. Lanford also tossed a 370-foot homer over the right-field wall.

Thompson, J. B. Thompson (3), Brown (9), and Bossos; Mignerey, Allen (2), Hatchett (4), Yowanski (5), Tucci (7), and Turner, Cummins (7).

Walt Hirsch struck out 14 batters and his mates jumped on Herb Bradshaw for 16 hits as the Cats snapped back from Friday's defeat with a 9-1 win over Tech, Saturday.

Second Baseman Johnny Mayes gave a home run and Dick Ramsey and Fucci knocked triples for Kentucky's big hits.

Cats & Kittens

UK Sports Profiled

Coach Adolph Rupp, Kentucky's wizard of hardwood magic, is known to the sports world by a considerable number of true and not-so-true anecdotes, but the best new one to date is related by the Louisville Courier-Journal's Tommy Fitzgerald. . . .

The 19-year-old player from Dayton, Ohio, who is a sure starter on next year's basketball team, likes baseball even better than the hardwood sport and intends to enter the pro baseball ranks as soon as he graduates from college.

WALT HIRSCH, first baseman for the Wildcat baseball team, is a handy man to have around. Last Saturday, he was called upon to take the mound against the heavy-hitting Georgia Tech Engineers and set them down with just one run as the Cats retained their slim hold on first place in the Eastern Division of the Conference standings. Hirsch, a physical education sophomore, played in the outfield for a time last season. He throws left-handed, but bats right.

Pitcher-First Baseman Hirsch Big Factor In Cats' 9-2 Record

Walt Hirsch ambled off first base last Saturday, picked up a left-handed fielder's glove, glared at Tech's slugger that banged out 16 hits the day before, and proceeded to strike out 14 men, allowing a meeky six singles and one run to rack up his third pitching victory in four appearances on the mound in the last two years.

Hirsch is the team's regular first baseman, but against a bunch of hard-hitting lefthanders, Coach Moseley often uses this sophomore outfielder.

Wink Bergman New BSU President

Wink Bergman, representing Immanuel Baptist Church, will be installed as president of the Baptist Student Union Council tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Baptist Student Center.

Other members of the council are Frances Jeranian of Calvary Baptist Church, vice president; May Arnold of Immanuel Baptist Church, secretary, and Bob Francis of Immanuel Baptist Church, treasurer.

Circus Con Men Put On The Bite --- Students Give Up Without A Fight

"Watch the red... who'll bet five it's the one on the left?" Thus the man with the little fold-up table and three worn cards took his quota of suckers to the mill at the circus last week.

Among that quota was a group of University students, according to various sources.

With his cunning double-talk, he maneuvers the crowded midway and sideshow with his little "game" that usually nets him hundreds of dollars.

The irony of it is that the persons who get suckered-in know they haven't got a chance. He looks them, though.

It all starts this way: Our little man has two or more assistants in the crowd acting as enthusiastic "plain-clothes men." Gosh, you ought to see the money they win. Then some poor unsuspecting soul who has his last buck itching in his pocket breaks down. He loses, naturally.

The amusing part of it is the fact that our friend, who in reality never loses, has his eye glued all the time on one of the on-looking scoffers. Yes, he even clips the ones who know the procedure of the hold-up backwards.

His line goes something like this: "Tila telya what I'm 'gona do. You over there, you look like a social case. Step up and turn the right card over... it won't cost you a thing." The outside onlooker, nine times out of ten, will do that very thing.

The on-looking one turns over the right card... because that's what

WOMEN IM's

Phyllis Kloecker, Delta Delta Delta, won the intramural golf tournament for women played at Picadome Golf Course, Saturday, May 7.

Eleanor Murphy, Alpha Delta Pi, was runner-up, and Harriet Spaulding, Kappa Alpha Theta, took third.

The softball tournament is well on the way to completion. Kappa Alpha Theta is the winner of Division II. Jewel Hall and Kappa Delta are leading in Division I, and Zeta Tau Alpha and Boyd Hall are tied for honors in Division III.

The division play-offs will begin Wednesday, May 11 and continue through Monday, May 16.

An archery tournament, which began May 9 has the following individuals entered: Ann Keston and Eddy Garst (Kappa Alpha Theta), Henrietta Avent and Helen Bowman (Jewel Hall), Billy Moore (Delta Delta Delta), Bob Freeman (Tau Alpha Pi), and Alice Wood (Hamilton House).

Purposes believed to be 300 to 500 years old are found on the Galapagos islands.

Major League baseball scouts were on hand during the Kentucky-Georgia Tech series to look over the talented U.K. players. . . . Reportedly, Capt. Johnny Stongh, the Wildcat's slugging shortstop, was the target for the scout's size-up. . . . I would not take too much urging to get "Stew" to withdraw from school in return for a promising contract in his first-love sport. . . . Speculation is rife that the bespectacled Alabamian will not return to his reserve guard role with the Kentucky basketballers next winter.

It is considered unimposed among the tribes of Sumatra and Celebes to expose the knees.

DICK RAMSEY, Kentucky's third baseman, is well-known around Central Kentucky for his prowess on the baseball and softball diamonds. Last spring, Ramsey pitched the Toppers to the intramural softball championship here at U.K. Ramsey, in his first year with the Cat baseballers this spring, nailed down the hot corner assignment after a short time because of his hitting ability. He is a right-hander and has a lot of power at the plate. Should help the Cats considerably in the stretch drive of the SEC baseball race.

Next Season May Be Best Yet For Wildcat Diamond Team

Third Baseman Dick Ramsey and Utility Infielder John Crosthwaite are the only members of this year's Wildcat team who will be leaving at the conclusion of the current campaign.

All the other players on the 1949 roster will be eligible for at least one more season, with Shortstop Johnny Stough expected to be the only

JOHN STOUGH, Wildcat shortstop, has been one of the most outstanding players on the baseball team this spring not only at the plate but also in the field. He has attracted the eye of many Major League baseball scouts during the past two seasons. Last spring, the Montgomery, Ala., diamond standout led the Cats' in hitting with an average of over .400. He is also one of the smoothest fielding shortstops in the Conference.

GOLF

University of Kentucky golfers won three matches and lost two during the past week, including a double victory Monday over the University of Cincinnati and Xavier.

Faced by Captain Johnny Owens' five-under par 67, the Wildcats downed Tennessee, 11-7, Friday on the Lexington Country Club lay-out. Kentucky's number two man, Marvin Lear, shot at 72, and Craig Wright, number three man, shot a 73.

Cincy Downs Cats
 Earlier Cincinnati gained revenge for a loss to the Cats by defeating Kentucky, 17-10, Saturday in the Queen City.

Steve Toper, playing in the third foursome for Kentucky, missed a putt on the final green, which would have at least assured the Cats of a win. Owens' 73 was the best score posted by any of the local winners, but was tied by the Cincy lead-off man, Bob Dixon.

Kentucky's double victory was registered over Cincinnati's Make-the-course. The two teams divided up into six threesomes, so that actually each team was playing a doubleheader. Cincinnati took the third decision, beating Xavier.

Owens' 69 was low for the entire match. However, he barely edged Xavier's Malcolm McMullen, who stroked a one-under par 71. McMullen is a former UK basketball and golf player.

Six Straight For Miami
 Six Kentucky players led 67s but Miami University of Ohio won the match between the two schools, 15-12, Tuesday. The match was played over the short, par-66 Miami course, under a strong wind. It was Miami's sixth straight victory.

Owens, Wright and Lear were the 67-shooters for Kentucky. Other Wildcat scores were Jack Asher and more than any UK team to date, and with the added experience, they should improve.

This year's team surprised everybody. Kentucky was not only a dark horse, but a gloomy dark one. From a team that finished only third in the Eastern Division Monday over the University of Cincinnati and Xavier, three key men were lost: Ralph Beard, who hit 370 and scrambled to 16 double plays; O'Man Guit Barker, who set the team in home runs, RBI's, total bases, and turned in brilliant low-hit pitching victories when called upon; and four-game winner Wah Jones.

But the Cats opened up with a six-game winning streak before Georgia tipped them, 12-12, and threatened to run off with the Southeastern Conference crown just like it was basketball.

Good Prospects Coming Up
 For the first time since the war, freshmen baseballers were encouraged to come out. Several intrasquad games were played and some real hope for next year was found in the young baseballers.

Ed Yanev can throw a ball off the mound before you know he has it—a good curve mixed in with his fast ball can break anybody's back; looks like a starter for next season. C. M. Newton, the Florida Hurricane, can throw the ball almost as fast as Yanev and has control besides a good curve; he made the all-state baseball team in Florida. Doug Moseley might fill the gap at third left by Dick Ramsey.

The pitching staff will definitely be strengthened, the infield smoother, working with another year of experience and the outfield will be the same, with Benny Zaranka, Dom Pucci, Allen Hamilton, Bill Leskovar, and Bob Hene scrambling for positions.

DisKintucky Sports Review

By Tom Diskin, Sports Editor

As far as national interest and importance is concerned, the biggest game for the Kentucky Wildcat football team this fall will be its contest with the Southern Methodist eleven at Dallas on October 22.

The eyes of the entire nation will be watching to see how our Cats do against the powerful and much-publicized Mustangs.

The game will be held in the Cotton Bowl, which will then have a seating capacity of 75,000 after the present enlarging construction is finished on the stadium. Just how many people will see the tilt is naturally very difficult to predict at this time. Much will depend upon how UK fares with its games with LSU, Ole Miss and Georgia.

But it is very possible that this game will attract the largest crowd ever to see a Kentucky team play for one game.

What we are leading up to is that we feel that the University should send our fine band there for this major game.

In 1946, the band, often referred to as The Best Band in Dixie, was sent to Knoxville for the Tennessee tilt. In 1947, the Athletic Association, which customarily allows the band one trip per football season, sent the UK musical aggregation to Nashville for the Vanderbilt conflict. Last year, Frank J. Prindl, director of the band, and his organization returned to Knoxville for the Cat-Vol scrap.

At the present time, it is still a question of just what trip the "BBBID" will make this fall, since Vanderbilt is no longer on our gridiron schedule and the Tennessee Volunteers will be playing here in Lexington.

We believe that the UK musicians deserve a long trip for a change. The University of Tennessee sent their band to all their "away" games last fall, with the exception of one contest.

In a few weeks Director Prindl and the Athletic Association will get together to decide which jaunt the band will make this fall.

If attendance is to be strongly considered, then only three games will be discussed. First, the LSU fray at Baton Rouge, La., is certain to draw a large crowd there, but the early date (Sept. 24) makes it almost too early in the school year to get the band properly organized.

Second is the University of Miami skirmish down in "The Magic City." This game will probably draw from 10,000 to 15,000 less persons than the UK game with SMU at Dallas.

Third, the game with Miami at Miami, Fla., is the most miles farther from Lexington to Miami than to the Lone Star State's No. 1 city.

Then the band could, if necessary, arrange to present a musical program, such as a pep concert, in the civic auditorium at Dallas on the eve of the football game. Proceeds from this could help defray much of the expense of the band for the trip to the Lone Star State.

With sufficient publicity, the Kentucky band would probably draw well there, for the city of Dallas prides itself for its love of art and culture. The metropolis, in addition to having seven institutions of higher learning, has its own symphony orchestra and a large number of music lovers.

We hope that University officials will give serious consideration to sending the band to Dallas. It would be a fine thing not only for the UK but also for the State. The band will give an excellent account of itself there as it has so often in the past. We believe that something can be worked out along this line. But now is the time to start preparations for such a trip.

From the column of Joe Aston, sports editor of the Cincinnati Post:

"These UK basketball players who announced they'll set up in the pro cage business in Indianapolis next season, tried to land in Cincinnati first."

"They wanted to play their games at the Cincinnati Garden. But, ac-

TONY DALLAS, shown above, has been the spearhead of the Kentucky Wildcat track team this season. Against the Tennessee Volunteers last Saturday night at Stoll Field, the Paducah pacemaker won four events and finished as high scorer for the Big Blue cindermen accounting for 59 of UK's 125 points. He captured the high jump (5'7"); the broad jump (29'6"); the 120-yard high hurdles (15.8); and the 230-yard low hurdles (25.7). Despite his efforts, the Cats lost to the Vols, 74-57.

regular season. Let's all turn out to support them in the crucial two-game series with the arch-rival, Tennessee. A double victory this weekend will probably clinch the first spot in the Division for UK, as the second-place Georgia Bulldogs will be fighting it out in Athens with the hard-hitting Georgia Tech Engineers.

The winner of the Eastern Division will meet either Mississippi State (11-2) or Alabama (10-4), depending on results of games this and next week, for the conference crown.

Hypnotism was once thought to be caused by a thick magnetic fluid, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Baby birds often eat more than their own weight in food daily.

This year's Wildcat nine deserves a lot of credit, for what they lack in polish, they make up in hustle and energy. There has been the surprise of the conference this spring. Last season, for example, they topped only one game from Vanderbilt in four tries; this year the Cat cinders took all four tilts. All this despite losing a half a dozen players from the 1948 team, including Outfielder-Pitcher Cliff Barker, Second Baseman Ralph Beard, and Pitcher Wab Jones.

Today and tomorrow will be the Cats' final home appearances of the season.

Cindermen Face UL Cardinals Here Saturday; Lose To Vols

By Earl L. Conn

Kentucky's track team will meet the University of Louisville Saturday afternoon at Stoll Field with the field events scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock and the track events at 4 o'clock.

The Wildcats dropped their first dual meet in two years last Saturday to the University of Tennessee 74-57 at Stoll Field. The Kentucky freshman team handed Millersburg Military Institute an 83-28 beating. The meets were run concurrently.

Big Norm Messeroll, a Tennessee All-SEC tackle, started the downfall of the Cats by taking both the discus throw and the shot put while Jack Stroud was annexing the javelin throw.

Dallas Scores 29 Tony Dallas almost kept the Cats in the meet single-handedly as he swept the high jump, broad jump, and low and high hurdles to score 29 points.

Riley won the pole vault for the Volunteers after Tennessee's Penn Relays champion, Clark, pulled a muscle while warming up.

Tennessee took four of the field events with only Dallas winning in a high jump and broad jump to give the Nashville lads a 31-23 edge. Tennessee soon annexed the mile run — a sparkling 4:21 turned in by Schneider to build a bigger advantage.

Throughout the remainder of the meet Kentucky slowly whittled away the Tennessee edge, but when Scott won the two-mile run for the Vols, Kentucky's last chance was gone as they trailed 69-57 with only the mile relay left.

Johnny Melhaus, running the second leg of the mile relay, caught his man, Kirchbaum of Tennessee, with a terrific burst of speed but Schneider and Reeder, the Vols' last two men, put on a great show with Reeder finishing just better than a yard ahead of Dallas to give Tennessee the final event.

Cobb Tops Fresh In the freshman meet, John Cobb looked especially good for the Wildcats as he won both of the dash events and capped the broad jump. Kentucky's Lambros added both of the hurdle runs to the Kat side of the ledger.

Following the meet with Louisville, the Cats are scheduled to participate in the annual SEC conference meet to be held in Birmingham May 20-21.
