Information For The Working Press And Radio

The Stoll Field press box, re-built entirely during the past summer at a cost of more than $30,000, is believed to be one of the most modern in the country. Among the unusual facilities of this "eye in the sky" are two unique press-radio lounges located on the second floor at both ends of the box, and heat-resisting, glare-reducing plate glass panels slanted at an angle of approximately 20 degrees to increase visibility of the field. Working spaces in the press section are 30 inches in width and radio crews have booths approximately eight feet square to work in. The press section of the heated and ventilated box has two levels occupying the first floor and the radio section is located on the second floor. Restrooms are located near the entrances at both ends of the press box, which stretches between the 25-yard stripes.

Admission to the press box is limited to male working members of the press and radio, statistical and clerical assistants, scouts, and certain other athletic representatives. Space assignment inquiries should be directed to the Sports Publicity Editor in care of either the Department of Public Relations or the Department of Athletics, University of Kentucky, Lexington.

Sideline passes will be issued to accredited photographers and assistants. Space for newsreel men and photographers working with telephoto lens will be made available upon request to the Sports Publicity Editor. Complimentary press-radio tickets for seats in the stands are awarded only by the University Complimentary Ticket Committee and are issued prior to the opening of the season.

Radio stations desiring to broadcast Kentucky's home football contests must first secure a permit from the University Radio Director. Address requests to Elmer G. Sulzer, University of Kentucky Radio Studios, Lexington. Tickets will be issued to the working crew by the Sports Publicity Office upon notification that a permit has been granted. Spotters are available to sportcasters if requested in advance. Kentucky's current broadcast policy prohibits simultaneous television of home games.

Newspaper and radio representatives should order their own line facilities through the Lexington Telephone Company and Western Union to assure reservation of loops from the press box. Hotel reservations also should be made direct. Among the better hotels are the Lafayette, Phoenix and Kentuckian, all in downtown Lexington and within a few blocks of the stadium. All assistance possible will be rendered by the Sports Publicity Office.

Programs, brochures, current rosters on both teams, mimeographed running play-by-play accounts, halftime and final individual-team statistics, substitution and scoring summaries, and other pertinent information will be supplied the working press and radio. Starting lineups will be announced over the Public Address system and may be checked against the probable starters listed on the center spread of the program. Mimeographed explanation of band maneuvers and halftime entertainment also will be distributed.

Refreshments will be served to your seats at halftime and coffee or coca cola may be obtained anytime from the attendant. Outside telephone service is available.

When leaving the press box, please use the ramp in Section O directly below the press box West entrance. The press gate opposite the lower end of this ramp will remain open until all persons have left the box.

The Bryant Story

One of the nation's outstanding young football mentors, Paul Bryant's name has become synonymous in the South with an upswing in the grid fortunes of Kentucky's Bluegrass Wildcats.

In three seasons at the helm of the Kentucky gridiron machine, the 35-year-old former Alabama star has lifted the victory-famished Wildcats out of the doldrums of the Southeastern Conference football cellar and established them in a contending position despite numerous difficulties.

Bryant took just one year to accomplish the near-miraculous feat of re-building the shattered foundations of Kentucky football into a solid front that resulted in a season record of seven victories against three defeats—the Wildcats' most successful campaign since 1912. Calling upon his wartime service experience, Coach Bryant consolidated the gains and launched an even more startling attack during 1947 that saw the 'Cats roll up another impressive 7-3 record for the regular season and then add a thrilling 24-14 victory over Villanova in the Great Lakes Bowl inaugural at Cleveland—Kentucky's first bowl appearance.

Minus the services of nine players from the starting eleven and five more from the rest of the 1947 squad, the Kentucky team of last season nevertheless proved the surprise of the league. No one seriously expected the Wildcats to provide more than token trouble and were about to write them off as a threat after three early season losses. But the experts failed to count on the spirit instilled by the resourceful Bryant. Brazenly benching three of his top backfield stars, the Wildcats' head mentor jerked his charges out of their defeat lethargy enough to complete the remainder of the schedule without a setback. The record stood at 5-3-2 and the defeats came at the hands of the three teams who finished first, second and fourth in the conference standings.

Bryant's three-season record of 20 victories against nine defeats and two tie games — the best in Kentucky football history for a three-year period since a 23-5-1 total was made in 1909-11 — has attracted wide attention. He has been mentioned prominently in speculations on the successors to head mentors at larger schools and in the pro ranks. The latest outcropping came last December when Bryant was rumored as the "odds-on-choice" to become head coach of the professional Washington Redskins. However, he rejected the bid (which reportedly was for an eight-year term at double his present salary) to remain at Kentucky.

Bryant came to Kentucky in 1946 from the University of Maryland, where he had served as head gridiron coach for one year after having been released from the Navy. During that year he produced the Maryland school's best football record in history — six victories, two losses and a tie.

A native of Fordyce, Ark., Bryant starred in football and basketball while attending high school there. Later, at the University of Alabama, he starred on the highly successful Crimson Tide elevens of the 1933-35 period including the Rose Bowl team of 1935. Playing the end opposite the famed Don Hutson, he failed to gain significant attention from the press and fans but Coach Frank Thomas chose to retain him as an assistant following his graduation.

After four seasons with the Tide, Bryant moved to Vanderbilt as line coach and spent two years with the Commodores before leaving for the Navy in 1941. Following a training period, he went overseas to Africa and remained there until released as a Lieutenant Commander in 1945 just before the football season opened.

Bryant Year IV

The Outlook For 1949

"Kentucky will field an improved, 'spectacular' gridiron aggregation for the 1949 season. . ."—Paul Bryant.

Such an admission on the subject of team prospects coming from an experienced collegiate football mentor in pre-season sounds like the epitome of optimism, but Kentucky's youthful T-formation director has an explanation that lends the expected sobering note of qualification.

The fourth edition of Bluegrass Wildcats to perform under the tutelage of the former Alabama Crimson Tide flankman is almost certain to be "spectacular"—but only in the sense that it promises to display form to the liking of fans who dote on the "wide-open" brand of offensive play. The team will have some personnel best adapted to putting on a colorful, crowd-pleasing football show.

"We may not win a lot of games, but we'll look good even in those we lose," Coach Bryant asserts.

Facing a tough, 11-game schedule, the most extensive regular season campaign ever attempted by a Wildcat eleven, Bryant and his coaching assistants can not be pinned down to venture a prediction on how many games the 'Cats will win or lose. However, they cagily admit to the possibility that their Kentucky charges will be slightly improved over the outfit that "got up off the floor" in 1948, after three stunning, early-season setbacks, to mark up a surprisingly successful 5-3-2 record.

"In my opinion, the display of courage and character by the 1948 team in fighting back after a poor early-season showing will contribute greatly to the morale and spirit of this year's squad and our teams in the future. From a long range point of view, I believe we progressed more in 1948 than in either of the two previous seasons," the Kentucky head mentor points out.

Summing up the potentialities of the '49 Kentucky grid aggregation that should make for improvement over the Wildcat team of last season, Bryant points to the heartening prospect of more reserve strength than at any time during his tenure at the Bluegrass school. Only seven lettermen were lost from the 1948 team and at least 10 dependable new hands will appear on the scene from last year's successful yearling squad. All but one of the approximately 30 returnees, who will make up the nucleus of the 1949 team, earned a "K" last fall or in previous years.

Besides depth of material, the Kentucky coaches are counting on greater all-around team speed and finesse during the coming season stemming mainly from an additional year's experience running off the T-formation. This intricate, tricky style of offense was adopted in 1947 after Coach Bryant utilized a single wing system during his first season as head mentor at Kentucky. Also contributing to the speed and deceptiveness of the Wildcats' running game will be the fact that the squad will be generally small in regard to weight and height, but very little changed in this respect from last year.

Also on the positive side of the ledger, the 1949 Kentucky grid-ers will present a tighter front line defense due for the most part to capable, experienced linemen such as All-American candidate Bob Gain at tackle and Capt. Harry Ulinski at center. The Wildcats' secondary defenses, on the other hand, appear to be weaker and form the biggest question mark in the defensive setup since several of the men in these positions will be untested sophomores.

In the aerial department, look for no "circus" but expect to see more pigskin tossing than at any time during the past three years. The passing attack should be improved, most observers feel, despite the loss by graduation of ace passer-kicker George Blanda. Stepping into Blanda's shoes, as both quarterback and number one passer, will be a triple threat sensation up from the freshman team of last season, Vito (Babe) Parilli. On the basis of his showing in 1948 as a freshman and his performance under fire in Spring practice games this year, Coach Bryant and his staff are counting heavily on the sophomore speedster's trusty right arm and unusual allied abilities as a kicker and runner.

Much of the success that the Kentucky Wildcats may be able to enjoy this season will depend to a great extent on the development of several promising sophomore prospects, such as Parilli.

Some of the difficulties and weaknesses faced by the Kentucky coaches in the 1949 team, in addition to the untested secondary, are the lack of a superior punter of the Blanda calibre, undermanned tackle and end slots, and a tough schedule that calls for the Wildcats to face six major opponents on foreign fields. Kentucky is the only SEC team that meets all three top teams of the conference in the same season and the order in which the 'Cats catch certain teams, as well as the site (six games away and most of them in a hot climate) are definitely undesirable.

Summary By Positions

ENDS—Strength in depth lacking. . . The loss of stellar flankman Wallace (Wah Wah) Jones by graduation will be felt strongly, but prospects are for a little better all-around end play this season. . . Zaranka and Odlivak, both seasoned performers, should make left end the strongest while sophomores Bruno and Bradshaw are leading candidates for the right flank post.

TACKLES—Weak beyond first line defenses. . . Despite the presence at the left side of Bob Gain, an odds-on choice for All-American honors this season, and the veteran Lloyd McDermott on the right, the team probably will be weak at the tackles due to a lack of experienced replacements. . . Pope and Vance are sure to see service and sophomore John Ignarski, slated to play guard, may prove a real dark horse if shifted to tackle.

GUARDS—Should be strong. . . All five 1948 guard lettermen backed by Dick Holway, alternate captain for 1949. . . Opposite Holway will be veteran RG Pat James. . . Ignarski looks like top flight prospect. . . Wannamaker, Baldwin, Porter are sure to see action.

CENTERS—Another potential trouble spot in the line. . . Capt. Harry Ulinski should be a great performer. . . Doug Moseley, a sophomore, is being counted upon heavily. . . Ford and Shafnitt also are available.

QUARTERBACKS—Biggest question mark. . . It's almost a cinch that an inexperienced sophomore will be running the '49 Wildcats' offense. . . The loss of Blanda left a big hole to be filled, especially in the kicking and passing departments. . . Bryant is depending on a great prospect, Babe Parilli, to fill the gap with help from Dom Fucci, the only letterman in this position. . . Also seeing considerable service will be Bob Bezuk and Paul Jones.

LEFT HALFBACKS—Strong. . . Bill Boller and Dopey Phelps, who carried the brunt of the 1948 attack, are both back and should reach new heights. . . Speed demon Phelps in his final year promises to reach the heights predicted for him after his freshman season. . . Star of the Great Lakes Bowl game of 1947, Bill Boller will be especially dangerous if he regains his stride. . . Bobby Brooks, another speed merchant, also will be used extensively.

RIGHT HALFBACKS—Possibly the strongest position on squad. . . Leading contenders among the bevy of talented and experienced backs for the RHB position are Jim Howe and Shorty Jamerson with close competition expected from sophomore Cliff Lawson and two-letter-man Dick Martin. . . Also up from the freshman team will be Ed Hamilton and John Cobb, who may develop as the season progresses.

FULLBACK—Also in good shape. . . From last year's team there is Lee Truman, rated one of the Wildcats' best defensive backs; Ralph Genito, Clayton Webb and Harold Wooddell . . . Hard-luck Bill Leskovar looks in physical shape and may be the dark horse to watch here.

The Wildcat Offense

SYSTEM—Kentucky will use the T-formation exclusively for the third season. The Wildcats expect to employ the “two-platoon” system of substitution for the first time this season.

RUNNING GAME—It is expected that the Kentucky ground attack will be slightly improved over last season due chiefly to several capable, experienced backs with another year’s training under their belts in running off the intricate and tricky T-formation. The backfield will be light, but will make up for the lack of weight in speed.

AERIAL ATTACK—Despite the loss of the chief passer of last season, George Blanda, Kentucky’s passing should be as good or slightly improved this year. Babe Parilli, triple threat quarterback prospect, will do the bulk of the pigskin pitching. Spring training observers say the sophomore sensation may be the best passer at Kentucky in recent years. Bryant plans to rely more heavily on aerial advancement this season.

PUNTING—Again Parilli will be in the forefront doing most of the Kentucky kicking, with considerable help from Clayton Webb and some assistance from Dopey Phelps and Bill Boller.

EXTRA POINTS—KICKOFFS—Bobby Brooks can be expected to perform most consistently in the points-after-touchdown department with some help from Bob Gain. Kickoffs will be made by either Gain or Ben Zaranka, and Gain will be the most likely kicker on field goal attempts. Holders in these departments will generally be Parilli and Shorty Jamerson.

SAFETY MEN—With a bevy of speedy backs at his disposal this will be one of the lesser worries facing Coach Bryant. In the safety position its likely to be Phelps, Brooks, Jerry Claiborne, or Emory Clark. Most dangerous will be Phelps, who led the nation in kickoff and punt returns in his freshman year.

FIELD GENERALS—Center Harry Ulinski is the elected captain of the 1949 Wildcats and Left Guard Dick Holway will serve as alternate captain. Calling the signals will be Quarterbacks Babe Parilli, Dom Fucci, Bob Bezuk or a replacement.

Kentucky’s first and only All-American football player was Clyde Johnson, a tackle from Ashland, Ky., who made the Associated Press’ first team All-America selections in 1942. . . Several other players have received honorable mention on various honor teams, including such stars of recent years as Jay Rhodmyre, Wash Serini, Wallace Jones and Bob Gain. . . A near-unanimous honorable mention selection last season, Gain is expected to receive considerable support for first-string honors on this year’s All-American teams.

Origin Of "Wildcats" Nickname

Kentucky's athletic teams are known to sports fans as the Wildcats. This first and only nickname borne by University varsities had its origin in 1909 in a speech made by Commandant Carbusier, then head of the military department of old State University. Speaking to a chapel audience of students on the showing of the Kentucky football team in defeating Illinois six to two, the Commandant declared "they fought like Wildcats." The tag was popularized by word of mouth and by the press with the result that it has since become synonymous with all major Kentucky athletic teams.

While the name is old in origin, no claim is made regarding precedence over similar nicknames boasted by Northwestern, Villanova and other schools.

An alumnus two years ago presented a live Kentucky wildcat to SUKY, student pep organization. Named "The Colonel," the cat is is cared for by the group and is displayed in a cage on the sidelines at all home football games.

Facts About Mississippi Southern

Location—Hattiesburg, Miss. Conference—Gulf States
Nickname—Southerners Colors—Black and Gold
Coach—Thad Van (Ole Miss '28) Publicity Director—Jack Moore

Series History and Information

Mississippi Southern, Gulf States Conference champion, is a new-comer to the Kentucky football schedule and the two schools will meet on the gridiron for the first time this season. However, the Southerners are well known by reputation having proved a "thorn in the side" of many Southeastern Conference teams in past years. Reportedly a big ball club in size, they are capable of providing serious competition and have a knack of knocking off good teams unexpectedly. The Southerners are not optimistic about their 1949 season chances, having been hard hit by losses which included Coach Reed Green's services. 1948 Season Record—Won 7, Lost 3.

Sept. 24 — KENTUCKY vs. LOUISIANA STATE UNIVERSITY

Site—Tiger Stadium (46,000), Baton Rouge, La. Kickoff—8 p.m. (CST)
Officials—Referee: T. G. Kain (Georgia); Umpire: T. A. Russell
Jr. (Auburn); Head Linesman: Frank Waddey (Georgia Tech); Field

Facts About Louisiana State

Location—Baton Rouge, La. Conference—Southeastern
Nickname—Tigers Colors—Purple and Gold
Coach—Gaynell Tinsley (LSU '37) Publicity Director—Bob Lynch

Series History and Information

The 1949 meeting of the Wildcats and Tigers on the football field will mark the first gridiron meeting of the two schools. Gaynell Tinsley, Louisiana State All-American in the late thirties, will field his second Tiger grid squad this season and the grapevine reports say the LSU re-building program may begin to show some results. 1948 Season Record—Won 3, Lost 7. The Tigers finished in a tie with Florida for tenth place in the SEC standings with a 1-5 conference record.

Oct. 1 — KENTUCKY vs. UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI

Site—Hemingway Stadium (34,000), Oxford, Miss. Kickoff—2 p.m. (CST)
Officials—Referee: J. J. Lynch (Holy Cross); Umpire: W. W. Paterson (Auburn); Head Linesman: Bob King (Missouri); Field Judge: Battle Bagley (Washington & Lee); Electric Clock Operator: Ned Searcy (Wake Forrest).

Facts About Mississippi

Location—Oxford, Miss. Conference—Southeastern
Nickname—Rebels Colors—Cardinal Red, Navy Blue
Coach—John Vaught (TCU '33) Publicity Director—Billy Gates

Series History and Information

A comparatively recent rivalry, the Kentucky-Ole Miss grid series dates back to 1944. In that initial contest, the Wildcats took the measure of the Rebels 27-7 for the most decisive victory scored by either team in the history of the series. The Rebs gained a close decision (14-7) in the 1947 game to deadlock the series at one victory for each school, then went ahead in the all-time record by defeating Kentucky 20-7 last year. Ole Miss is figured to have one of the strongest teams in the conference again this year despite the absence of the Connerly to Poole combination. The Rebels won eight and lost one in all games last season, and finished second in the conference race with a 6-1 record.

Facts About Georgia

Location—Athens, Ga. Conference—Southeastern
Nickname—Bulldogs Colors—Red and Black
Coach—Wally Butts (Mercer'28) Publicity Director—Dan Magill

Series History and Information

Kentucky and Georgia have met annually on the gridiron since Oct. 21, 1939, with the exception of the 1941 and 1943 seasons. The first game was played in Louisville and resulted in victory for the Wildcats. In succeeding years, however, the always-strong Bulldogs gained revenge to take the lead in the series five games to two, plus one tie. Kentucky fans probably will long remember the 1947 contest as the most thrilling and possibly as the biggest upset. Highly favored Georgia bowed humbly to an inspired Wildcat team 26-0 in that game, which marked the first time in the series history that either team went scoreless. The SEC champs are figured as the "team to watch" again this season despite heavy losses from the 1948 outfit, which included All-American Johnny Rauch. During the regular season last year, the Bulldogs lost only to North Carolina University while winning from nine other opponents. A second loss came in the Orange Bowl against Texas 21-48. In Conference play, Georgia finished on top of the heap with a 6-0 record.

Publicity Director—

Series History and Information

Another newcomer on the '49 schedule whom Kentucky will meet for the first time, The Citadel is not to be lightly regarded despite apparent weakness. The famous old South Carolina military college has a reputation as a "clutch" team—one which reaches unexpected heights against good competition—and is believed capable of giving serious trouble. Word from the Bulldogs' camp indicates a "considerably improved" eleven composed extensively of rising sophomores who have run veteran lettermen to the bench or to other positions. For the 1948 season, Coach Quinn Decker's charges had a record of two wins against seven losses and finished at the bottom of the Southern Conference standings by virtue of five defeats and no victories in league play.

Oct. 22 — KENTUCKY vs. SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIV.

Site—Cotton Bowl (75,347), Dallas, Texas Kickoff—2 p.m. (Dallas time)
Officials—Referee: Ray McCulloch (T.C.U.); Umpire; Buck Brown (L.S.U.); Head Linesman: W. C. Mills (West Virginia); Field Judge: Harry G. Mouat (Armour).

Facts About Southern Methodist

Location—Dallas, Texas	Conference—Southwest
Nickname—Mustangs, Ponies	Colors—Cardinal Red, Royal Blue
Coach—Matty Bell (Centre '20)	Publicity Director—Lester Jordan

Series History and Information

Rated by the experts as on a par with the football kingpins of Michigan and Notre Dame, and picked by many to be at the top of the heap come bowl time, the SMU Mustangs are by far the toughest team Kentucky has tackled in modern times. The meeting of the Bluegrass Wildcats and the Lone Star State Mustangs in the huge Cotton Bowl at Dallas marks the first relations between the two schools. While Kentucky followers are amazingly optimistic over the showing the 'Cats may make against the power-laden Texans, the odds are heavily in favor of Coach Matty Bell's forces. Gil Johnson, the "Number Two Boy" of last year's Cotton Bowl champions, has departed for the lush pro field, but the celebrated All-American Doak Walker still remains as the mainstay of "the best backfield in college football." Southern Methodist's 1948 eleven compiled an over-all season record of nine wins against a lone defeat (Missouri 14-20) and one tie (TCU 7-7), including a 21-13 victory over Oregon in the Cotton Bowl. The Mustangs record of 5-0-1 in Southwest Conference play gave them the league championship for the second straight year.

Oct. 29 — KENTUCKY vs. UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI

Site—Stoll Field, Lexington, Ky. Kickoff—2 p.m. (CST)
Officials—Referee: Fred Koster (Louisville); Umpire: Harry Schwab;
Head Linesman: Pat Moulton (Auburn); Field Judge: Tony Pianowski (Western Reserve); Electric Clock Operator: Dick McNabb (Mercer).

Facts About Cincinnati

Location—Cincinnati, Ohio	Conference—Mid-American
Nickname—Bearcats	Colors—Red and Black
Coach—Sidney Gillman (Ohio State '34)	Publicity Director—Hank Zureick

Series History and Information

One of the older series in U.K.'s football history, the Kentucky-Cincinnati rivalry dates back to 1900 and the "neighbor" schools have met on the gridiron almost annually since that time. Several skips in the record, particularly the 10-year period between 1923 and 1933,

. . . and also the decade covering the years from 1934 to 1945, account for the fact that only 20 games have been played in the half-century of football relations. Kentucky holds a decided edge in the series with 13 victories against six for the Queen City team and two tie contests. With a new coach at the helm and a new offensive system to master, the prospects of the '49 Bearcats are in the unpredictable stage but competent observers look for more serious trouble with the Cincy 'Cats than at any time in recent years. Cincinnati's 1948 team compiled a season record of three wins, six losses and one tie.

Officials—Referee: James Biersdorfer; Umpire: Buck Brown (L.S.U.); Head Linesman: Dr. Fred Heinold (Cincinnati); Field Judge: R. N. Lloyd Jr. (Southwestern).

Facts About Xavier

Location—Cincinnati, Ohio

Conference—None

Nickname—Musketeers

Colors—National Blue and White

Coach—Edward Kluska

Publicity Director—Bob Coates

(Xavier '40)

Series History and Information

Kentucky holds a decisive edge in the 14-year-old gridiron series with Ohio's Xavier University. Of the 11 games played, the Musketeers have managed to win only one—the 1938 contest. The first game was played on Sept. 27, 1935, and the Wildcats have met the Musketeers almost annually since that time with the exception of the three war years of 1943-45. Prior to 1946 and the beginning of a home and home arrangement, all of the Kentucky-Xavier games were played in Cincinnati due both to Kentucky's desire to appear before alumni in that area and the fact that Xavier played a predominantly home schedule. The Catholic school's prospects for improvement in '49 are good with 22 lettermen returning and a large number of promising newcomers on the scene. Last season's edition of the Musketeers won four and lost six.

Kickoff—8:00 p.m. (Tampa Time)

Facts About Florida

Location—Gainesville, Fla.

Conference—Southeastern

Nickname—'Gators

Colors—Orange and Blue

Coach—Ray Wolf (T.C.U. '28)

Publicity Director—Joe Sherman

Series History and Information

The Kentucky-Florida series is an old one, but comparatively few games have been played in the 22 years since the initial contest in 1917. Two gaps in the record of approximately 10 years each account for the fact that the series stands at a total of only eight games. The Wildcats have won six while the 'Gators hold two victories. Last year's tilt marked a resumption in football relations between the two schools and was the first game to be played between the two since 1937. The same Florida team that lost all of its games as 1946 freshmen, won four in 1947 and five in 1948 and will be on hand again this season and, with the aid of star halfback Chuck Hunsinger, stands a good chance to make trouble for opponents taking them lightly. During the '48 season, the 'Gators broke even with a 5-5 record and finished one notch below Kentucky in the SEC standings with a 1-5 record.

Facts About Tennessee

Location—Knoxville, Tenn. Conference—Southeastern
 Nickname—Volunteers Colors—Orange and White
 Coach—Gen. Robert Neyland Publicity Director—Tucker Musser
 (West Point '16)

Series History and Information

One of the oldest football rivalries in the South, the Kentucky-Tennessee grid history goes back to the 1893 season. The ancient and hotly-contested series got off to an auspicious start in those early days as old Kentucky University walloped the Volunteers 56-0—a margin of victory which has never been equalled in the 43 games played in the 56 years since that initial game. The Wildcats and Vols have met continuously since 1906, except for three war years (1917-18 and 1943). In the 44 meetings thus far, Tennessee has gained an advantage of 26 victories against Kentucky's 11 wins and seven games have ended in a tie—the latest a scoreless deadlock last season. Neyland boasts the distinction of never having been defeated by a Kentucky team, but the three Bryant-coached aggregations have come nearer to breaking that record than any Wildcat squad in recent years—holding the Vols to one touchdown victories in 1946 and 1947 and to a scoreless tie last year. The 1948 Tennessee team compiled a season record of four wins, four losses and two ties, and finished just ahead of Kentucky in the SEC race with a 2-3-1 standing. Experts are predicting that the '49 Vols are "ready to roll" with talent galore up from "the finest Tennessee freshman team in history" to supplement a veteran-spiced varsity. On the basis of a Kentucky victory in a meeting of the two frosh teams last year and some over-all improvement on both clubs, the traditional rivalry between the first-division-bound Vols and the Wildcats seems destined to provide material for another colorful history chapter.

Kickoff—8:15 p.m. (Miami time)

Officials—Referee: W. G. Bruner (Mercer); Umpire: William Barfield (Princeton); Head Linesman: Jack Puryear (Oglethorpe); Field Judge: Harry Mouat (Armour); Electric Clock Operator: James McEwen (Florida).

Facts About Miami

Location—Coral Gables, Fla.

Nickname—Hurricanes

Colors—Orange, Green and White

Coach—Andy Gustafson

Publicity Director—George Gallet

(Pittsburgh '26)

Series History and Information

The first meeting between Kentucky and Miami football teams occurred last season and resulted in a Wildcat victory over the Florida Hurricanes. Coach Andy Gustafson, in his second year at the helm of the Miami grid machine, will entertain several "name" teams in the Orange Bowl stadium again this season but the chances are that visitors like Kentucky will forget Miami's hospitality just long enough on Friday nights to make life miserable for the victory-starved Hurricanes. In 1948, Miami won four and lost six. Kentucky was the only team of nine faced by the Floridians last season to prevent them scoring at least one touchdown. The five Miami points came as the result of a field goal and a safety.

Stoll Field—McLean Stadium

Much confusion exists over the duplication of titles in referring to the University of Kentucky's football setup. Officially, by action of the University Board of Trustees, the field-stadium is known as Stoll Field. Unofficially, by usage originating with sportswriters and alumni, the stadium alone is known as McLean Stadium.

Kentucky's first football field, occupying the general site of what is now the practice field west of the stadium, was first given a name when it was dedicated on October 14, 1916, as Stoll Field in honor of the late Judge Richard C. Stoll, prominent alumnus, trustee and benefactor of the University of Kentucky. Soon after the first sections of the present concrete stadium were completed on September 4, 1924, the new field site and stadium were likewise officially known as Stoll Field.

The first attraction to be held on the new Stoll Field was a football game with the University of Louisville on October 4, 1924. A gridiron clash between Kentucky and the then-powerful Centre College team was the first game played in the fully-completed stadium on November 1, 1924.

The popular reference to the concrete stands portion of the Stoll Field athletic setup as McLean Stadium apparently comes from a bronze plaque placed in the stands by the Class of 1925 in memory of Price Innes McLean, a Kentucky football player who died November 7, 1923, apparently from injuries sustained in the U.K.-Cincinnati game played in the Queen City the afternoon before. As far as can be learned, no official action ever was taken in dedicating the stadium in the boy's honor.

The second major expansion of the Stoll Field stadium in as many years has resulted in an over-all seating capacity of 35,454 for football contests this fall. An increase in the size of the stadium last year upped the number of seats from 23,800 to 31,454. The present concrete stands accommodate approximately 27,000 and steel bleacher sections in each end zone seat approximately 4,000 persons each.

The blue and white of the University of Kentucky are known to sports fans everywhere. Officially the colors are Yale blue and white, but in the beginning, when the Lexington institution was still known as the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky, the colors were "Stoll blue" and white. One day back in the 1890's, a group of Kentucky football stalwarts met to choose their school colors. Someone suggested blue and white—"blue like Dick Stoll's necktie"—and those colors were immediately adopted. "Dick" Stoll was to become Judge Richard C. Stoll, distinguished public servant and, for more than fifty years before his death, a member of the U. K. board of trustees.

Kentucky's first touchdown under the tutelage of Paul (Bear) Bryant was made by a player who, at the time, was six months older than his coach . . . Bill Portwood, about to turn 34 years of age, came into Kentucky's opening game with Ole Miss in 1946 as a substitute for end Chink Sengel after the latter had dropped two touchdown passes in the end zone. . . Thrown the same pass that Sengel had fumbled, Portwood snatched it to make Kentucky's first TD under Bryant. . . The Wildcats went on to win the game 20-7.

The University of Kentucky

Located in Lexington, an urban community of 75,000 population, UK is a state supported institution which operates under the direction of the Board of Trustees. Membership of this Board includes the Governor, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the Commissioner of Agriculture, ex officio, and twelve members appointed by the Governor, three of whom are alumni of the University and three members of the State Board of Agriculture. It is one of a number of institutions known as land-grant colleges, which were established by the Morrill Act of 1862, and which will continue to receive federal assistance under the provisions.

The University is on the approved list of the Association of American Universities, and is a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the Kentucky Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. It is accredited in its respective colleges or departments by the Association of American Law Schools, the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business, the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism, the American Library Association, the National Association of Schools of Music, and the Engineers' Council for Professional Development.

The major function of the University is that of instruction. For the performance of this function it is organized into the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, the College of Engineering, the College of Law, the College of Education, the College of Commerce, the Graduate School, a College of Pharmacy, located at Louisville, and a Northern Kentucky Center at Covington.

In addition to giving instruction to its student body, the University contributes to the welfare of the state through research, experimentation, and public service. While all departments make important contributions along these lines, certain divisions and bureaus have been established specifically for these purposes.

The University began as a part of Kentucky University under a cooperative plan authorized by the legislature in 1865. The purpose of this plan was to unite sectarian and public education under one organization. This experiment was tried for a number of years. In the meantime, the Federal funds authorized under the Morrill Act were used to develop agriculture and mechanical arts in Kentucky University. In 1878, when the people of Kentucky decided to establish a state institution of higher learning, the College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts was separated from Kentucky University and reestablished on land given by the City of Lexington and the County of Fayette. Thirty years later the legislature changed the name of the institution to the State University of Kentucky, and gave it additional financial support. In 1916 the name was again changed, this time to the present title, and additional maintenance was arranged by legislative act.

The President is Dr. Herman L. Donovan, one of the most sports-minded university executives in the United States. Under Dr. Donovan's direction, the University has launched on a building program—a feature of which is the construction of a $4,000,000 Memorial Coliseum.

Column Notes And Briefs

Kentucky's 1949 football team will tackle the most extensive regular season schedule ever attempted by a Wildcat grid aggregation. . . Several U. K. teams of years past have played 10-game schedules and the highly successful 1947 outfit competed in ten regular season games and a post-season bowl contest, but the 'Forty-Niners' will be the first to schedule 11 contests during the regular season.

* * *

Kentucky could easily field a good grid squad during the '49 season composed entirely of native Kentuckians. . . A total of 15 Bluegrass citizens are listed on the current season's varsity roster and there's at least one at every position.

* * *

The meeting of the two Wildcats—Villanova and Kentucky—in the Great Lakes Bowl inaugural at Cleveland in 1947 marked the first appearance of a Kentucky football team in a post-season bowl classic.

* * *

During the 1949 regular season, Kentucky will appear in no less than two bowls—the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Texas, and the Orange Bowl at Miami, Florida. . . The appearances won't count, however, on Kentucky's post-season record since the bowls happen to be the home fields of the Southern Methodist Mustangs and the University of Miami Hurricanes.

* * *

The hometowns of Kentucky's 1949 football players represent Kentucky and 13 other states . . . Fifteen come from within the Bluegrass State and Pennsylvania tops the out-of-state delegation with a total of 11 . . . Five come from Alabama and an equal number hail from West Virginia . . . Other states are represented as follows: Indiana, 4; Ohio, 4; Wisconsin, 2; Arkansas, 2; Connecticut, South Carolina, Illinois, New Jersey, South Dakota, and Louisiana all have one native each on the team.

* * *

Kentucky's 1949 gridgers could display a total of 89 letters . . . Five men on this season's outfit will be seeking their fourth K-sweater, while 15 others are two-letter men in football and 10 members of the squad hold one letter in the sport . . . Twenty-five are 1948 lettermen and two lettered in previous years.

Ten members of Kentucky's current gridiron aggregation are married.

Footnote A — Although numerical scoring had not yet been introduced in Rugby football, either here or in Great Britain, when Kentucky and Transylvania (then known as Kentucky University) played their series in 1881, persons in charge of the games obviously had arrived at some sort of agreement assigning numerical values to the various scoring plays. Records never existed and men who played in the games are scattered or dead. All we can do is accept the scores printed in the newspapers — and surmise that a touchdown perhaps counted $\frac{1}{4}$ point and that a goal or an end-kick (a punt into the modern end zone) counted 1. That seems logical, since in the ratio scoring of that day, a touchdown was worth one-quarter of a goal. The end-kick, a British heritage, undoubtedly was introduced because all realized that green players would score few goals, if any.

Footnote B—The football rules took no official position on the score of a forfeited game until 1908 when it was pegged at 1-0 to make it different from any other score possible in the game. By common consent, forfeited games prior to that were entered into the records as victories by 6-0 for the offended team—everywhere, that is, except in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, predecessor of the Southern Conference and the Southeastern Conference. In the S. I. A. A. the 6-0 practice was followed unless the offended team had a greater number of points. In that case, the offended team won by the greater score to nothing. Thus, Kentucky's forfeiture to Central University in 1900 is 6-0, since Kentucky led by 11-0 at the time. Kentucky led Cumberland by 12-11 in 1905 when the Tennesseans forfeited. The Blue and White, under S. I. A. A. rules, gets credit for a 12-0 victory.
