Investigation is Advocated By McVey in Response To Student Petitioners

PRESIDENT'S PLAN

AN EDITORIAL

Reflecting the present prime focus of student interest, The Kernel, Friday, in an editorial titled "In the Balance," determined to pursue its investigation of the athletic system.

The investigation of the athletic system, which has been the subject of the system, if there are not, there would be no rubrics of discontent, no charges of incompetence and inefficiency bruited about the campus.

But the true nature of these defects and the seriousness of their import, and their ultimate correction can be brought about only by a far-reaching out of the present, through the exercise of constructive recommendations realized as the result of such an investigation.

President McVey, meeting Monday with student representatives and members of the press, heartily endorsed The Kernel's policy, definitely assured students that an investigation will be conducted, and proposed the setting up of an impartial and authorized committee to handle the investigation.

To the end that the student body might be made more clearly aware of the nature of the investigation and the athletic situation, the president has called a general convocation at 11 a. m. Friday. Students interested in university athletics will be afforded an opportunity of hearing the matter discussed.

Whether discussion of the particular case of Coach Harry Gamage will be offered at this time is debatable. Unquestionably there is campus sentiment against the retention of Coach Gamage.

Coach Gamage has a legal contract authorizing his position at the University for five years. It is the duty of the University to honor its contracts. It is the duty of the University to break its faith with Mr. Gamage. At the same time, if the matter is discussed, if students are allowed to voice their opinions, if the University is allowed to determine the course of the University in its future dealing with Mr. Gamage.

CONVOCATION

FOURTH HOUR THURSDAY IN MEMORIAL HALL

NEW SERIES NO. 24

PRESIDENT SETS ASSEMBLY FOR 11 A.M. THURSDAY

Students Asked to Attend to Learn More of Plan

ATHLETIC SITUATION WILL BE REVIEWED

Status of Coach Gamage Is Not Altered by Reorganization Plan

Responding to student interest in the athletic situation and replying to petitioners purporting to represent the student body, Pres. Frank L. McVey yesterday advocated the investigation and the necessary reform of the present athletic system.

Conferring with the petitioners, with Prof. Enoch Grehan, chairman of the athletic council, Major R. R. Brewer, R. O. T. C. commandant, Kernel staff members, and with other representatives of the press, the president proposed the setting up of an authorized committee to go into the whole situation and bring me their findings.

A general convocation will be called 11 a. m. Thursday, for the members of the student body and opportunity of learning more fully of the president's plan. At this athletic situation, as discussed, recommendations of petitioners will be reviewed, and the president's plan will be outlined in full.

At the meeting, 3 p. m. yesterday, in the president's office, Administration Building, President McVey indicated that he had received three petitions concerning the athletic situation. The first, presented last Wednesday, was signed by the presidents of 40 organizations and advocated a principal revision of the athletic system. According to the president, five signatures later were withdrawn from the petition.

The second petition presented by representatives of The Kernel, questioned the authority of the first petition on the grounds that the signers had not been instructed to sign by their various organizations. The Kernel petition also advocated that student representatives be affiliated with the athletic situation.

The third petition was a statement purporting to reflect the sentiments of the student body. Although first indicating that the investigating committee would be limited to the president, the president said that a committee of three may be set up. According to Dr. McVey, the committee members will be selected by him and may be brought to the university through the athletic institution outside the state in order to assure impartiality.

The petitioners and the student body are invited to attend the convocation at 11 a. m. Thursday in Memorial Hall.

MASQUE GIVEN AT V. W. VESPER

Ben Jonson's "Christmas, His Masque" Presented Sunday Afternoon by Members of Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A.

The Sunday afternoon "vesper" service of December 11 which was sponsored by the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A., was most unusual and interesting because of the performance of Ben Jonson's "Christmas, His Masque."

The Masque was presented as nearly as could be done in exactly the same manner as it was in the original production. The singing of the old Christmas carols, was done exceedingly well, made the audience feel that they were truly a seventeenth century patron of the Jonsonian theater.

Dr. Abner Kelly, who played several appropriate selections on the organ, added that which only an organ can add to the atmosphere in the old English Christmas color. That the entire production was done by members of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. makes the performance all the more creditable. The players surprised the audience with an exceptional performance. Costumes, music, and lines were little short of perfect.

The music for the entire program consisted of the violin, the viola, the cello, the typical old English combination; David Young played the violin. Lee Crooks the viola, Robert Allen the cello. Much credit should be given Mildred Lewis the musical director of the production.

Report Published On Farm Situation

Dean T. P. Cooper Heads Committee in Charge of Publication

A special committee of the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities, headed by Dean T. P. Cooper of the University of Kentucky, has published a report on the agricultural situation.

Reports of 42 agricultural colleges and experiment stations, the United States Department of Agriculture, the United States Bureau of National Grange, and other organizations, economists and technical experts, are included in the publication. The report is a comprehensive study of the condition of agriculture.

Chapters deal with the causes of the present agricultural depression, interest in a prosperous agriculture, monetary problems, international trade, agricultural price-fixing, measures, farm debts, farm taxes, land utilization, transportation, agriculture, and the University of Kentucky's contribution to agricultural co-operation, individual farm adjustment, and research and education.

Other members of the committee making the report were Dean H. W. Mumford of the Illinois College of Agriculture, Dr. L. N. Duncan of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Dr. H. B. Woodruff of the University of California, Dr. G. F. Warren of Cornell University and Dr. M. L. Wilson of Montana State College.

The basketball squad has been working out for the past two weeks and is rapidly rounding into form for their opening clash with Pecos on Friday night. Twenty-five candidates make up the outfit at present, and Coach Kemper announced that he would get out the men who would be the new members of the team.

UNWARRANTED PUBLICATION

The issuance Monday night of an anonymous handbill directed against the "reign of 'Gammage' at the University is one of the most flagrant examples of misguided enthusiasm, awkward, downright indecent handling of a situation, inexcusable affront to all sense of justice and fair-play, and criminal libel that The Kernel ever has noted. And the publishers of these handbills must not go unpunished.

Whether some persons feel that Coach Harry Gammage has discriminated among athletes eligible for selection as football captains is of little consequence, the proof of that discrimination is another matter. And before a proof can be heard, there must be a positive identification of the accusers proferring the charges and willing to substantiate them. Justice, as personified, may be blind, but she never hides her identity; to those who do, she closes her mind.

ABUSE OF PARKING PRIVILEGES

University staff members are allotted by the administration, the White Hall area as their exclusive parking section on the campus. Other parts of the campus have been designated as student parking areas. However, students with cars have disregarded the large sign which designates this ruling, and have been parking in the White Hall area.

hurry to park or with draw, have been careless of other cars in the area. Several staff members have reported that their cars have been damaged although those who have caused the damage have no offer to pay for the repairs. Whether students alone have been responsible for these damages is, of course, debatable. Nevertheless, so long as students abuse their parking privileges they will be hampered for the results of the congestion caused by them.

Entire Team Finds Basket To End Half With 28-8 Score

FRESHMEN WIN 39-19

Kentucky's Big Blue rolled to their second straight victory of the season last night as they trounced the Georgetown College Tigers, 62 to 21. The scoring was started a few minutes after the game got under way and after the first minute or two the Blue was well out in front. The half time score saw the men of Carey Spicer's trailing by 20-8.

"Frenchy" DeMoisy and Darrell Darby led the way for the Wildcats, each making a number of sensational shots that had the crowd on their feet from the very beginning. Ellis Johnson and "Little Bill" Davis played great games in their respective guard positions, each holding their men almost scoreless.

The game with Spicer's Bengals is etched into the memory of this year's Cats will have to take the back seat for some time. The Big Blue if it continues to function the rest of the season as light night bids fair to finish without a defeat.

As the game opened Kentucky had the ball under the Tiger basket from the opening tip, but they were unable to score. The Tigers then took the ball and quickly opened the scoring with a neat shot from in front of the basket.

Way failed to make the shot. A moment later Sale also failed as he attempted a foul shot. Darby then counted a second later as he moved under the basket and dropped in a crisp shot. The Big Blue had a hard time starting their scoring offense and they missed several easy shots.

Darby continued to play brilliantly by scoring a double to place the cats in front. Sale countered with one right afterwards to increase the advantage. Freshwelling was ineffective a moment later DeMoisy tested beautifully for two points. Sale and DeMoisy increased the Cats' lead to 4-4. They then took a couple more and Kirtley of Georgetown got a gratis throw and the score was 20-5. McCrady was sent into the tussle and he

Die for Love But Not for School

Dying for dear old Rutgers or any other school is the bunk so far as N. Bob McMillin, head football coach at Kansas State College, is concerned.

"While he has no objection to good material, he says he doesn't want his boys playing 'for the sake of the school' or for any other reason except love for the game.

"If the player doesn't keenly enjoy the game," McMillin says, "with its contacts, its bruises and bumps, he should quit. The boys who play because they like it make the better players, and are the ones who should play."

immediately countered with two points for the Tigers. Tucker replaced Sale at that point. The half ended a moment later after a flurry of shots as Way failed to make a shot, score 8-8.

Darby was under the Georgetown basket early in the second half to open the scoring. He was fouled by Way, who was expelled on fouls, and rung up another point. Sale dropped in a 20-10 lead.

Substitutes who were the majority of the Bengals followed with a beautiful one-handed toss. Davis put two more and he and Kreuter replaced Sale. Darby connected for two more and he replaced DeMoisy who dropped in a one-handed shot. DeMoisy left the floor and was replaced by Miller who scored again and then fouled Miller who was replaced by Miller. Kreuter scored with a crisp, Johnson gave way to Kercheval. Tucker replaced Lawrence. Miller pushed Jackson who made it 60-15 with a foul throw. McCrady made it 60-15 with a one-handed throw from the foul line, and Hazelrigg followed with a beautiful one.

ALL FIVE ARE ALL-SOMETHING OR OTHER

It is doubtful whether any team in the country boasts of as gallant display of real talent as is pictured above. From left to right you have George Yates, All-Southern; Aggie Sale, All-American; Dave Lawrence, All-American; Darrell Darby, All-American; and Ellis Johnson, All-American. Yates received his creditable reward as the result of his brilliant play in the S. C. tournament two years ago. Sale was honored with his title by last year's College Humor All-American selection. Lawrence was All-American from Corinth high school. Darby was chosen All American from Ashland high school when his team won the national title. Johnson was twice honored with the title as a result of his work in the Chicago tournaments when Ashland high participated.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! Be it known to all concerned, interested, or otherwise, that 13 of the South's leading universities have severed relations with the ancient and honorable Southern conference and are now banded together under a new name—the Southeastern Conference—under new laws, a new president—Dr. Frank L. McVey president of the University of Kentucky—and they stand for better athletic relationships.

This move is the result of several years planning on the part of this group of southern schools, and it is hoped that it is for the good of all concerned. Whereas the old conference had 23 member teams, and spread over the entire South east of the Mississippi river, this new circuit has but 13 members (a more compact group, and one which will enable the conference to recognize a championship more easily), and membership is based on geographical lines.

The first conference of the South was the still existent S. I. A. A. Back in 1921 the Southern conference was formed with 23 members. For eleven years they have maintained a high standard of athletics in their loop, but in recent years there has been the necessity for a more compact group. Friday at Knoxville, Dr. John J. Tigert, president of the University of Florida and former head football coach at the University of Kentucky, announced before a Southern conference meeting that the 13 schools were withdrawing their membership.

A name had already been selected for the new organization, and with-out much ado, the newly formed group elected Dr. McVey president. Dr. McVey has not been officially notified of his election, but it is very likely that when he is informed he will accept the post. He said Monday afternoon that the reason he was elected was that he was the only man not present at the meeting. Under his capable guidance, we know the new group will go far and straight. *

There are but two things that can be criticized in the Southeastern conference. One is the name, and the other is the membership. About the name! Southeastern is not a name that is too small in sound. It doesn't sound as big as Southern conference or as sporty as "Big 13" as has been suggested. It is not a good name to apply to a group that is not strictly southeastern. This new body omits all of the southeastern teams, just because they are along the seaboard. Since they succeed from the old union, it might have been better to name them the Confederate conference.

Concerning the geographical conference of the new group. There is nothing to that. The new conference runs from Florida, in the south, to Kentucky, in the north, to Tulane and Mississippi, in the west. The only other thing that could have done to make that statement more absurd would have been to ask Maryland and Virginia, and extreme east. As it is Georgia and Tech almost do.

Since that is only an excuse, why did they accept Sewanee, Mississippi, Mississippi State, and L. S. U. Instead they would have done better to add Duke, and then have but 10 members—a stronger league could not be found in the nation. And 10 is more compact than 13.

There will be no change in the football schedule for 1933, nor will this season's basketball program be changed. However, it is likely that Kentucky will now meet Vander-at the meeting, scheduled they would present their recommendations to the athletic council. A stenographic report of the discussion will be taken. Complete text of President McVey's report on the petitions follows: "The petition presented to me by Messrs. Yeager, Ewing, Lair and Lynch, as representing students of the University, contains one paragraph in which will be found the main points of their request. This petition is signed by the presidents of different organizations on the campus. The paragraph referred to reads as follows: "We suggest that a re-organization of the financial administration and personnel of this department would conduce to the betterment of the student body. There also was handed to me a statement from the 1932 football team, in which it was set forth that they had done their best, had been well coached, and are willing to stand on their record. "In the conversation referred to and the conversation that followed about the contents of the petition and the difficulties in the athletic situation, there seem to be three points to consider. 1. This would relate to student representation on the council and the membership of the council itself. 2. This has to do with financial matters, auditing of tickets, the securing of funds for athletic expenses, the utilization of funds for athletic purposes. 3. This group of points relates to the personnel of the coaching and business organization and of the athletic council. "In regard to student representation on the council: I shall be glad to appoint two students not connected with any athletic teams to places on the council; also, the membership of the council will consist of persons not employed by the council. "In matters relating to business and financial affairs it is essential that studies should be made about so that the facts may be known, and to that end, I shall appoint a person who will have the confidence of faculty, students and alumni, to make an investigation of the affairs of the council and to have him report to me his findings. "The matter of the personnel of the coaching staff and the business office dealing with athletic matters will be referred to the council on athletics as this is the only authorized and legal body in the University. I shall ask them to go into the whole situation and bring me their conclusions. "It will be noted in the steps that I have proposed that the points of contention made by the petition are dealt with in a fair and constructive way. It is understood therefore that the petitioners will accept these findings and abide by the findings that are reached in this matter." (Signed) FRANK L. McVey, President of the University.

Committee members designated to inquire into the management and the financial operation of the athletic system will be provided with a competent auditor at the expense of the university and, probably, with a Reorganization recommended by the president did not include the altering of the status of Harry Gamage as head football coach. According to Doctor McVey, Coach Gamage was under contract at the university and that "college students should be the last persons to condone the breaking of a contract."

During the conference, Clarence Yeager, Earl Lair, John Ewing and Thomas Lynch, students present the first petition asked Prof. W. S. Hamilton, chairman of the athletic council, that a meeting of the council be held. The students indicated that for 4 p. m. Thursday.

Southeastern Loop Is Result of Meeting

(Continued from Page One) the founders of the Southern conference in 1921, said that the Southeastern Conference would adopt the same by-laws that the Southern conference now has in effect except that the presidents would have had an eye on the work formerly taken care of by faculty chairmen.

Both groups agreed that they would continue their present friendly relations and would continue to meet each other in all sports as heretofore. But Dillon Graham, in an Associated Press dispatch, says that several members of the Southern conference feel that the group which resigned had an eye on the commercial value of a compact body composed of several of the outstanding athletic teams, particularly football. C. P. Miles, V. P. I., president of the old conference, when accepting the resignation of the 13 schools said he hoped they would all prosper and have "bigger and better games."

The football schedules for next year and this year's basketball schedules will be unaffected by the split, it was announced by officials from all the schools of both groups. The Wildcats with a football schedule composed of five of the members of the new group, three of the Southern conference, and an inter-sectional struggle with the University of Cincinnati, seems to be unaffected by its change of status, and the other members may be notably Tennessee and Georgia.

After announcing the split in the conference, both groups adjourned and held separate sessions to decide places for annual basketball tournaments, track meets, and tennis and boxing tournaments. The annual net trophy was awarded to Atlanta, and New Orleans was named for both the boxing and tennis meets. The Southeastern group, and both the boxing and tennis meets were discussed in addition to plans for a meeting to be held in Atlanta on the last three days of that month. Both sections voted to reduce the
