LADY WINDERMERE'S FAN STROLLER PRODUCTION, IS INTERESTING DRAMA

Oscar Wilde Presents Comedy of Manners, Visualizing England in 1890.

FAN IS THEME OF PLOT.

Entire Play is Intensely Gripping and Entertaining.

"Lady Windermere's Fan," the well known play by Oscar Wilde, is a comedy of manners, and is a striking and vivid picture of fashionable English life in the period of 1890. The plot of the play is woven about a lovely fan, and is intensely interesting from all standpoints.

The play opens with the presentation of the fan to Lady Windermere by her husband on her 21st birthday; during the day several people call on Lady Windermere, among them Lord Darlington, an ardent admirer, whom she discourages at every turn; the Duchess of Berwick with her daughter, Lady Agatha Carlisle, also calls and during the course of the conversation, the gossipy old Duchess informs Lady Windermere that Windermere is the subject of conversation for everyone, because of his intimate relations with an adventuress who has recently come to London.

To make matters worse, that evening Lord Windermere insists that his wife invites Mrs. Erylne to her party, and when she positively refuses to have the woman in her home, Lord Windermere invites her on his own initiative, even though his wife threatens to insult her if she comes.

In the face of all this Mrs. Erylne accepts, and although Lady Windermere makes no public demonstration, (Continued on page 8.)

MANY NEW PLAYERS ARE IN THIS STROLLER CAST

Stars of Previous Productions Take Principal Roles; New Actors Prominent.

"Lady Windermere's Fan" carries in its cast the names of new Stroller eligibles as well as more experienced stars all of which have been chosen for their respective parts with great discrimination.

Miss Frances Smith, who will be remembered for her charming portrayal of the lead in "The Thirteenth Chair" last year, has been awarded one of the two leads in the play as Lady Windermere.

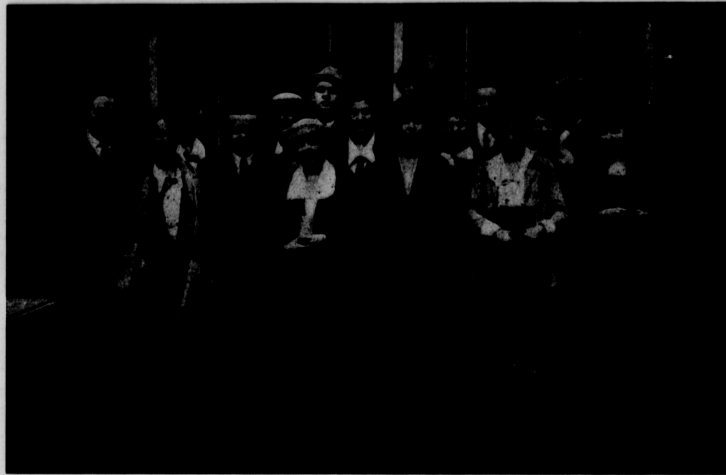

Miss Eleanor Morse, a senior, who has taken leading parts in the Strollers each year, has been given the second lead as Mrs. Erylne, an adventuress.

Miss Mary Lyons who will ever be remembered for her able interpretation of Rosalie in "The Thirteenth Chair," is taking the part of Lady Plymdale.

Miss Lucille Stillwell, a new Stroller eligible, as the Duchess of Berwick, a comedy role requiring very skillful handling, which she enacts with great ability.

Miss Virginia Shiveley as Lady

CAST OF "LADY WINDERMERE'S FAN"

After a long strenuous rehearsal in Mechanical Hall the cast of the 1923 Stroller play paused for a moment to have its picture snapped for publication.

SEATS FOR STROLLER PLAY NOW ON SALE

First Night Will Be University Night

The seat sale for the three performances of "Lady Windermere's Fan," opened at the Lexington Drug Wednesday at noon and the sale, especially for the first night, which will be known as University night, has been very large. It will be a gala event from the point of attendance and parties have been made up ranging in size from 12 to 48. The sale for Friday night has also been good and a large crowd is expected for Saturday afternoon when it is hoped that the many club women from nearby towns will attend the performance.

The Stroller managers have two ideals for the production this year, and one is that it shall be the best ever and the other that the audience will be comfortable and satisfied and for this purpose they have done their best to give a first class production and have hung curtains around the auditorium from the edge of the balcony. The sound of the speakers voices will be clearer and the audience more comfortable.

CAMPUS CHATTER

At a meeting of the Philosophian Literary Society held Monday night at Patterson Hall, the following members for the forthcoming year were elected: Elizabeth Wheeler, president; Marion Parsons, vice president; Rowena Coates, secretary-treasurer; Louise Carson, literary critic; Lucille Bush, sergeant-at-arms.

The society voted that the next meeting which will be held May 7, will be an open meeting to which all former members will be invited. Numerous committees were appointed.

HISTORY OF STROLLERS REVEALS EARLY PLAYS OF THAT ORGANIZATION

"Lady Windermere's Fan" is Fourteenth Production of Dramatic Club.

FIRST PLAY IN 1919.

Dates For 1923 Production Are April 26, 27 and 28.

"Richieu" in 1910; "Brown of Harvard" in 1911; "The Virginian" in 1912; "The Lost Paradise" in 1913; "The College Widow" in 1914; "Charley's Aunt" in 1915; "Father and the Boys" in 1916; "The Lion and the Mouse" in 1917; "Mice and Men" in 1918; "Under Cover" in 1919; "The Climbers" in 1920; "The Admirable Crichton" in 1921; "The Thirteenth Chair" in 1922.

That, in short is the history of the Strollers: But there is a far greater history, beneath the titles of the finished productions presented above—a much deeper, more profound history with a touch of human appeal if we take a look into the archives of the Stroller dramatic club of the University.

In a manuscript left to the organization by that never-to-be-forgotten member, who had every interest of the club at heart, Leo Sandmann, we find an accurate account of the early beginning of a dramatic club on the campus of the University of Kentucky. We find that the club really begins in 1909, despite the fact that the club was not really organized until December, 1910, because it was in that year that Professor MacKenzie gathered together a group of students interested in the drama and studied it from a practical standpoint. So much interest was manifested by his students that the next year or the fall of 1910, they

STROLLERS WILL GIVE PLAY AT MAYSVILLE

Annual Production to be Opened Out of Town.

The first production of Oscar Wilde's play, "Lady Windermere's Fan" will be given at Maysville Tuesday night and the alumni and former students are endeavoring to make the trip successful. Miss Bettie Barbour has written to 50 citizens of Maysville to enlist their interest and has contributed daily publicity to the three papers.

After presenting the play three times in Lexington, the cast will go on its third annual Eastern Kentucky trip and in addition to showing at Middlesboro on April 30, Pineville, May 1, and Harlan, May 2. Miss Margie McLaughlin has taken care of the Middlesboro publicity; Miss Kitty Conroy has written to Pineville the Strollers have been most successful in the past and as this their first time that Harlan is to be included in the circuit they hope for an unprecedented success.

STADIUM DRIVE STARTED AT MEETING OF CAPTAINS ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Large Number of Students Gather to Begin Work on Drive.

$5,000 RAISED AT DINNER.

Drive to Close Friday Night at Final Dinner Meeting.

The stadium campaign is on! It was launched Wednesday night at a workers' dinner in the girls' gymnasium by a selected group of about 120 of the most enthusiastic and representative men and women on the campus. Into their hands was placed the financing of the greatest enterprise ever undertaken by the University of Kentucky students, however, the responsibility does not rest solely upon the leaders of the campaign but upon every student in the University.

The dinner began at 6:15 by the singing of a stanza of America, followed by a short prayer by Dean Melcher. A light, three-course meal was quickly and efficiently served by several University boys, after which the instructions for the drive began, Major Webb, Professor of Physics, presiding. The first speaker was Herbert Graham, alumni secretary. He stated the object of the campaign—the raising of $25,000 among the students for their allotted part of the amount required for the building of a stadium, a basketball auditorium, and for the student loan. "This," he said, "is, comparatively speaking, a very small sum. It is the cost of running the University for a week and an infinitesimal part of the amount spent in a year by students on pleasure alone." He impressed upon the workers the vital importance of the success of the drive—its importance not only to the University but to the

WEEKS OF HARD WORK ON STROLLER PLAY

Entire Organization Unite To Make Forthcoming Production a Success.

The work of the Stroller play is shown when the story is presented by an excellent cast working hard behind the footlights for the entertainment of the audience after weeks and weeks of hard practice but all the workers that have contributed to the finished product do not appear and very seldom is the carpenter, the property man, the electrician, the stage manager, the business manager, publicity staff, director or president seen on the stage or known to the public student body.

This year a staff composed of President Heavrin, Director Burks, Stage Manager G. K. Smith, Business Manager John Albright; Secretary Kitty Conroy, and members Bill Tate, Mary Peterson, Ann Hickman, Bettie Barbour, Helen King, have worked out the difficulties of the year's work and regular reports have been made. A rehearsal schedule has been published weekly by Jimmie Chapman. It takes hard work on the part of the designers of the scenery and stage setting

Unity of purpose on the part of all college men and women in Kentucky is the surest hope for the "Greater Kentucky" movement.

Business men and editors of newspapers in Cleveland said the most significant feature of the recent convention of Alumni Secretaries of American colleges and Universities was the "All College Dinner." Plans were formulated then for a permanent organization of all the college men and women living in Cleveland, 15,000.

Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, toastmaster at the dinner, said the destiny of the higher institutions of learning and so of the country rests in the hand of alumni. In Kentucky, during the next few months such an organization is very likely. The aim could only be the common weal.

CANTRILL PLEASES

University Has Strong Appeal to Candidates for Office.

"You have spoken as no other candidate for office in Kentucky that I have heard."

This exchange was between the president of the University and J. Campbell Cantrell, Democratic candidate for nomination for Governor, who addressed the Lexington Alumni Club Saturday. President McVey and all those present were much encouraged after the meeting over the prospect for educational advancement in Kentucky. Other gubernatorial candidates will be called on to address the local alumni in the next few weeks.

The school program in Kentucky is receiving more attention from candidates for office than ever before. Alumni of the University have taken the lead in promoting the whole general program.

CHICAGO CELEBRATES

Attendance of Women Adds to Pleasure of Meeting.

In Chicago Saturday evening at the Edgewater Hotel nearly two score former Kentuckians gathered to celebrate the annual meeting of the Alumni Club of that city. News of happenings on the campus and plans for the future were greeted with great enthusiasm. Alumni of the University there have become the centre of southern societies.

This was the first meeting in several years when women were present. This feature will be continued for the wives of members and for their friends.

J. Rufus Watkins '15 was elected president of the club; Phil Kaufman '01 vice president, and W. T. Woodson, '14, secretary-treasurer. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Woodson, Mr. and Mrs. Kaufman, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Gullin, Mr. and Mrs. W.

Ray Allen and guest, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hoeing, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Johns, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lawson, R. H. Guerrant and guest, Max Powell and guest, J. Bert Siegel and guest, Herbert Masters and guest, C. H. D. Osborne, H. A. Nelson, S. D. Saunders, Herbert Graham, J. R. Watkins and Chas. K. Dunn.

The club will continue its monthly luncheons in the Marshall Field Grill on the third Monday of each month.

Hall Detroit!

"The Detroit Alumni Club has been well represented in these columns by the Secretary, Charles E. Plank, than which there is no whicker. Plank felt the urge of spring last week and journeyed down to Cynthiana for three days. Consequently, I have taken out the old typewriter and polished up the letter 'I'.

"While in Ann Arbor recently, I had an interesting conversation with Professor Henry Anderson, '97, who is head of the College of Engineering, University of Michigan. He has been in Ann Arbor for twenty-three years and has seen many of his former students rise to stardom. Notably among them is Howard Coffin, vice-president of the Hudson Motor Car Company, head of the aircraft division during the recent war. Professor Anderson is very enthusiastic over the possibilities of "Kentucky" particularly if she is liberally represented in the State Legislature.

"Oliver McAdams ex- of Lexington, I have seen several times in Ann Arbor. He finishes in medicine next year, I believe.

"Bob Arnold, '19, resigned from the American Blower Company and went back to Kentucky, April 1. It is probable that he will return to Detroit after a short vacation, so that our Alumni Club will not lose him after all.

"Jack Lewis, ex-23, Mining Engineering, (363 Emerson street) breezed into the office last week and announced that he was from Kentucky. That's all the rating any man needs with me, so he was soon my guest at the most exclusive cafeteria in town. I'm that way, hospitable and all that, so bear that in mind, fellows, if you are ever in Detroit. Let it be known that I am in the city sales office of the American Blower Company, 1450 David Whitney Bldg., Detroit."—E. H. Clark, '16.

Student Speaker Pleases

"I should have written you ten days ago about the visit of C. M. Clay Porter to Bowling Green, but have been out of the state. Mr. Porter made an excellent address here before the Rotary Club, saying practically everything he should have said, and nothing he should not have said. In fact, he pleased everybody. We also had a nice little round table conference afterward with eight or ten graduates of University of Kentucky who live here."—W. J. Craig, '01, Western State Normal School, Bowling Green, Ky.

Cambridge Crowd Grows.

"I should have written you long before but never seem to get round to it. We have several at Cambridge from Kentucky: Jim Dixon '20, Fats Thompson '21 (with Armstrong Cork and Insulation Company), Eger Murphree '20 and Hershel Auxier ex-21, in Tech., Johnson ex-22, who was a pre-med., Brady M. Stewart '22. Law, Buck Elliott '19 (who has been at Illinois for the last two years), in Agriculture, and Margaret Long ex-24 is at Radcliffe.

We are planning to have a meeting to form a Boston club soon after the spring vacation. The Kernels are wonderful life-savers; they keep everyone interested. We have been passing them around to those who don't get them. I ran down to Yale a few days ago and had a short visit with Donald Dinning, who is making good there."—Rob Raible '21, Divinity Hall, Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

HISTORY OF STROLLERS

began presenting playlets in their class room as laboratory work and this grew until Professor McKenzie decided to try them in a real production in a real theatre. The play selected was "Richieu" and the production was a great success both dramatically and financially. None of the programs of the play are in existence and as the author of the manuscript writes, "It is only from memory do we write some of those who took part and they are Paul Francis, J. B. Saunders, E. L. Becker, Roy Porter, A. B. Phister, Bessie Hayden, Eloise Ginn and a Miss Dean. Thus we have the embryo of the Stroller Dramatic Club."

Another place in the history, it is stated, "We had no encouragement from the faculty; instead we were oppressed from the beginning, even some members in a faculty meeting, called for that purpose threatened to expell those students who were responsible for this organization. Only one member of the faculty, at that time stuck by the students and this was Professor E. F. Farquhar, who attended the mass meeting as one of us and who like the rest of us pledged ourselves to bear the financial loss of the next play if there was any. That season's production, "Brown of Harvard" and the 1912 play "The Virginian," were dramatic successes exceeding anything that had been produced by amateurs up to that time in Lexington. About seventy-five dollars was cleared above all expenses and we were careful to guard it closely."

It is evident from the records that the most successful year the Strollers had up to this time was the year 1914 and in this year several lasting precedents were established. It was at this time that the idea of Amateur Night was conceived. To prevent University students from becoming implicated in disastrous Hallow'een stunts which was customary in Lexington among students at that time President Barker decided to give a reception to all students and members of the faculty on that night. The reception included dancing, refreshments, fortune telling and games and they lasted until one o'clock in the morning, thinking that by this time it would be too late and the students would be too tired to indulge in any pranks. At this juncture the author of this history conceived the idea of consulting with officials and offering Stroller services on this night and while doing this Professor Melcher suggested Amateur Night and ever since the custom has clung to the University and it is one of the most pleasing evenings of the year.

It might be interesting to know that up to 1914 the Strollers had no pin or emblem by which they might be designated and it was finally decided to vote on through. The author of the history was the successful contestant in the design for a pin which is the present pin worn by the Strollers.

The history goes on down giving details of each play and the members of the casts and the towns which were visited. "Charley's Aunt" was one of the most successful productions up to this time in the history. It was in this play that many Stroller stars who long upheld the honor and glory of the organization first took part.

It was in the 1917 production "The Lion and the Mouse," when Mamie Miller Woods and "Frizzy" first swept Kentucky audiences off their feet with their rare interpretations and capability as young Thespians. Then later in "Under Cover" Lucy Young and Gus Gay came into the limelight. With the "Climbers" came Mary Elizabeth Downing, Milton Revill and Herndon Evans. These people, Strollers will never forget.

The Strollers are doing greater things this year than they have done previously—their talent is multiple compared to former years and the executive and business organization is unquestionably remarkable in its efficiency. It has been an honor to be a Stroller—it will always continue to be an honor. To have taken part in a Stroller cast means to have created something which will never die, to have given to the University a touch of refinement and culture which comes only thru the production of the drama.

This time next year "Lady Windermer's Fan" will be history and will be entered on the records as those other 13 plays which have gone before. Are you going to miss the chance of seeing the best play the Strollers of the University have ever presented to a Lexington audience since their establishment on the campus fourteen years ago?

University night is the evening of April 26 (Thursday) in Woodland Auditorium at 8:15 o'clock.

KENTUCKY LYRES MUSICAL CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED

There will be a meeting of all the cast and chorus of Erminie Monday afternoon at 3:30 in the music room, the purpose of which is to collect all the musical talent of the University and to form an organization which will be run along parallel lines with the Strollers. The "Kentucky Lyres" a name which has been suggested for the organization, will give an opera every year. The opera which has been chosen for next year is Pinafore, and practice of the choruses will be started as soon as the organization is formed. So come Monday afternoon for only those who come out and support the organization will be eligible for the opera.

CAT TRACK TEAM TO MEET TENNESSEE VOLTS IN DUAL MEET SATURDAY

Heavy Rain Prevents Meeting With Vanderbilt Last Week.

VISITING TEAM STRONG.

Kentucky's Victory Will Depend On Ability of Her Runners.

The Wildcat track team is scheduled to meet the Tennessee Vols in a dual meet Saturday afternoon and unless rain again interferes, Coach Buchheit's men will be given a chance to prove their worth. Last Saturday all was in readiness on Stoll Field for a dual meet with the Vols and a heavy track was the cause of the meet being cancelled after the Vandy team of thirteen men and coach arrived in Lexington. Tennessee has a stronger squad of track men than they have had in recent years. The last two clashes with the Vols have resulted in Wildcat victories, but the 1923 meet will not prove easy picking for either team.

Tennessee brings a team to Lexington that is strongest where Kentucky is weakest. The Vols' strength in field events kept them in the running with Vanderbilt two weeks ago and it was not until the relay was run that Vandy was given a 68-62 victory over the Vols. The Tennessee squad is not weak in the running events, however, as their star performer, Davis, works in the quarter mile, half mile and relay. This boy is one of the best runners in the South today, having captured first in the half mile run in the S. I. A. A. meet at Tulane last year. He will be pitted against Gorman, and the Kentucky boy promises to make the Vol star step to earn a victory.

Two football men, Kefauver and Moore, will represent Tennessee in the weights. They will be forced to work against Captain Davidson, who has been turning in some nice records during the past week. In Kay, Tennessee has a sterling hurdler, but he will have to beat his records to nose out Dewhurst, the Kentucky hurdling ace.

The meet should be close throughout, while it is expected that Kentucky will excel on the track, and Tennessee are not so great that each event will not be nip and tuck. The Kentucky men are in need of a good stiff meet as they have been in training since the Louisville indoor meet March 31 without having a meet or a let-up in the training. The cancellation of the Vandy meet was a serious blow to the Wildcats, but they are expected to take their spite out on the Vols Saturday.

"DISTINGUISHED COLLEGE"

At the time this article was written the cadets of the University of Kentucky, R. O. T. C. were preparing to undergo inspection by military authorities to determine whether or not the University of Kentucky should be classified as a Distinguished College. The results of this inspection have not been completed, but by the time the Kernel shall have reached its readers we confidently predict that we shall have achieved this unique distinction which our Military Department and students so much desire.

For the benefit of those unfamiliar with the method and purpose of such classification and inspection the Kernel will state briefly its purpose. A board composed of Major Charles G. Helmick of F. A.; Capt. Joseph S. Daugherty, Inf.; Lieut-Colonel David H. Biddle, Officer in charge of R. O. T. C. affairs in Fifth Corps Area, inspects every college in which there is an R. O. T. C. There are approximately 104 colleges eligible and of this number 21 were placed in the Distinguished College class last year. This is the first time that the University has been recommended to be inspected, which is proof of the rapid growth and progress made in advancement during the past few years.

Only a few years ago the Military Department official personnel was made up of one officer and there was no non-commissioned officers. Today the staff is composed of five officers and three sergeants. In 1921 only one man completed the advanced course. Last year there were seven. This year there are 15 and there are prospects for thirty next year.

Within the last few years the Military Department has been completely revolutionized through voluntary efforts of the students themselves. Formerly military drill was an irksome task and students spent much of their time trying to get out of drill. Students now are not only trying to get in but stay in achieve positive results from their training.

The drill or practical side of military training is only about one half part in proportion to the theoretical interpretation obtained from the use of text books. The number of persons now enlisting for advance work is doubted that of last year and the Kernel predicts that the staff will be taxed and forced to take on new members to care for the great number desirous of taking advanced work in military science.

To become classified as a Distinguished College will not only place the University of Kentucky upon a level with larger colleges of America but it will give the students desiring to enter the army the benefits of entrance without examination other than physical. It will also entitle them to a commission in the Marine Corps upon recommendation upon entrance by Colonel Freeman.

The Kernel congratulates the Military Department upon the increasing popularity of its work. Such work opens up a new field for dignified an useful service science which Kentuckians have shown already full well her prowess, leadership and loyalty.

EPOCH IN STATE'S HISTORY

In another column appears a notice detailing the establishment of a $1,000,000 Trust Fund for mountain development by Mr. E. O. Robertson of Ft. Thomas involving the leasing for a period of 75 years of 15,000 acres of land in eastern Kentucky situated in the counties of Breathitt, Knott and Perry to be used for agricultural college extension work by the University.

An interesting project will be carried out by experiments in reforestation, farming, horticulture and grafting. In addition, work in educational extension will be developed by the University under the agreement with the direction of the fund. It is also expected that a number of model schools will be established in cooperation with the state vocational board, and the local school authorities.

The Kernel desires as the part of the student body to acknowledge with gratitude the gift made by Mr. Robertson and express the appreciation that they feel in being given the opportunity to develop and properly utilize the great natural resources of those mountain sections. To our mind it is one of the most important forward steps which has taken place in the state's educational progress in recent years, and we feel that it has come as a reward for efforts put forth for advancement by the University despite the many handicaps which it has suffered during past years.

What a glorious thing it would be for the University of Kentucky if other Kentuckians who have made their wealth out of Kentucky's resources—wealth which would mean so little to them and so much to the University—would catch the vision of Mr. Robertson and help advance higher education. There are in Kentucky many such men who have in time past disclosed kindly attitude toward the University who might now join Mr. Robertson in the establishment of other funds that will bring the University of Kentucky to the position of leadership and prominence that it so deserves and is so well able to achieve if given necessary assistance.

STADIUM DRIVE

As the Kernel was moving to press positive results were not given out as to the amount subscribed by students and faculty toward the stadium Drive now being conducted upon the campus, for the erection of a stadium and basketball court upon Stoll Field. Already several organizations have followed the Su-Ky Circle and have pledged 100 per cent.

The Kernel feels confident that the students who have long felt the need of a stadium will be willing to make sacrifices that such end might be accomplished. Before the next issue of the Kernel is published the students will have decided whether or not the University of Kentucky will have a stadium.

STADIUM DRIVE STARTED

entire state. "The soul of Kentucky is wrapped up in a campaign like this," he said, "and on its outcome hinges the building of the University for the next ten years."

The next speaker was President McVey, who was greeted enthusiastically. He said, in beginning, that he had refused an invitation to meet Lord Robert Cecil in Louisville that night in order that he might be with the students at the beginning of such a gigantic movement. This won great applause from his hearers. Dr. McVey's speech was short but every word bore weight for the students knew that he spoke truly. In brief, he said, "Kentucky must either go forward or backward—there is no middle ground. Her progress rests largely upon her educational facilities and the State University is the institution upon which all eyes are turned—especially after the publicity this drive has given. The decision rests with the students—what will they make it?"

ward or backward—there is no middle ground. Her progress rests largely upon her educational facilities and the State University is the institution upon which all eyes are turned—especially after the publicity this drive has given. The decision rests with the students—what will they make it?"

After Dr. McVey's message, Professor Webb explained the working plan for the drive. The campaign, he said, would last three days from Wednesday night until Friday night. At noon on Wednesday and Thursday the workers were to meet for lunch in the girls' gymnasium where reports should be made to the respective captains and on Friday night they were to have a formal dinner where the outcome of the enterprise would be made known.

"The student body has been divided according to colleges," he said, "and the name of every student has been placed upon an individual card. Every worker will be given a certain number of persons to solicit, no worker being allowed to ask anyone for a subscription unless he has that person's name. The students should average $25, but as there are many who will not give this much, every one who possibly can, should be urged to give more. It must be made clear that the subscriber may designate where he wants his money to be used. It is proposed that the proceeds be divided as follows: $140,000 for the stadium, $40,000 for the basketball auditorium, $10,000 for the student loan and $10,000 for Patterson Monument, but if any student wants his donation to be used exclusively for one of these things, it will be used as he designates on the card."

Ted Creech made a short talk, urging that the students give up such things as going to the Ben Ali, the Lexington Drug and the Greeks so often and donate the money to the stadium. He remarked that the average boy spends as much as $25 on cigarettes in a year. He reported that his committee had already received promises of $1,500.

Pledge cards were passed out during the meal and when they were turned in and all reports counted the amount subscribed up-to-date was announced as $4,800. The students rose to their feet and sang, "On, On, U. of K." after which the meeting was formally adjourned.

$1,000,000 TRUST FUND CREATED FOR EXTENSION WORK FOR UNIVERSITY

E. O. Robinson Establishes Foundation; Gives Long Lease on Land.

WILL AID MOUNTAINS

$10,000 Annually to be Matched by Similar Amount From State

Announcement was made by Judge E. C. O'Rear, of Frankfort, Monday of the creation of a $1,000,000 trust fund and the lease of 15,000 acres of land in eastern Kentucky for a period of 75 years, for the E. O. Robinson Mountain Fund and the University of Kentucky. Mr. E. O. Robinson, Ft. Thomas capitalist, has established the foundation.

The land is situated in the counties of Breathitt, Knott and Perry and is contained in four tracts. In addition to the land, a yearly income of $10,000 is offered contingent upon state appropriation of not less than $10,000 annually. This sum will be made by the University from its regular appropriation, and steps will be taken to raise an equivalent amount as its supplement.

The terms of the lease provide that three trustees of the foundation shall serve as a governing board jointly with a committee which has been chosen from members of the Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky. President McVey is chairman of this committee.

The foundation is represented by Judge O'Rear, Mr. Robinson, and C. N. Manning of Lexington, while the University has chosen Judge R. C. Stoll, Mr. Robert Gordon, of Louisville, H. N. Froman of Lexington.

The members of the E. O. Robinson Fund are Mr. Robinson, Judge O'Rear, Leland G. Banning, Fred W. Mowbray, of Cincinnati, Mr. William Manning, H. Hyden, of Clay County, and Mr. Menifee Wirgman, of Louisville.

The University will take active charge of the work which shall call for the development of the entire mountain section of the state on a scale hitherto unknown according to Judge O'Rear.

Immediate plans contemplate the setting aside of 14,000 acres of a reforestation project, and the utilization of the remaining 1000 acres for experimental station farm.

President McVey has announced that he, accompanied by Dean Thomas F. Cooper of the College of Agriculture, would make tour of inspection properties, sometime in May.

"The agreement between the E. O. Robinson Fund and the University," Dr. McVey stated, "is a great step in the development of eastern Kentucky. And through the broad vision of Mr. Robinson, an interesting project will be carried out by the experiments in reforestation, farming horticulture, and grafting. In addition, work in educational extension will be developed by the University under the agreement with the director of the fund."

"I will look upon the creation of this fund by Mr. Robinson," he continued as a statesman-like act that should have far-reaching results."

Dean Cooper stated that "The project marks a new epoch in the possibility of effective work upon the part of the College of Agriculture and the Experiment Station. It has been evident for many years that experimental and demonstrational work in agriculture was necessary in the mountain area and there are many mountain agricultural problems that can only be cared for by work in that territory."

"Until a careful survey", he continued, "is made of the properties, and the monies available by legislature enactment is known, little can be said of the work undertaken. It is hoped, however, that an experimental substation will be established at an early date."

The University of Engineering

Of all the things that go to make the successful engineer, none is more important, nor more in step with the spirit of the profession, than a studious attitude. One man says about another—"he is always willing to learn," "he doesn't think he knows it all"—and he intends to pay a high compliment when he says it.

The great engineers are always at school, always learning, always seeking for more knowledge. They begin with this desire for fuller understanding, and they keep it up to the end.

Any engineering operation, over and above the primary purpose for which it is carried out, is an active and post-graduate class in engineering, also. So that Westinghouse, or any other great business, is, of its very nature, a University where theory and practice combine to make bigger, broader and more practical engineers.

The courses in this University are not limited to prescribed subjects nor terms—the subjects are almost infinite, and the semesters are endless. Men with the weight of years on their shoulders work and learn side-by-side with those whose day has just dawned.

This post-graduate school fits men for almost anything. Fits them for it, and makes them continually fitter. Out of this continuing fitness have grown the engineering accomplishments on which this institution has grown. It is, perhaps, one of the great educational institutions of its day.

Van Arsdale Pitches Excellent Game But is Given Little Support

SAUER, ARNOLD CAT STARS

Seven of Oglethorpe's Nine Runs Gifts of Feline Infielders.

Unable to handle the ball while in the field, or to connect with the southpaw slants of "Lefty" Willis, the Cats dropped their second contest of the year Thursday, April 12, losing to Oglethorpe by a 9-1 count. Van Arsdale turned in a very good game, allowing the visitors but seven safeties, but had very little support. The Cat infield blew up several times after "Arsenic" had pitched himself out of a tight hole, only to see the Georgia errors.

Willis had the Blue and White eating out of his hands the greater part of the contest and was accorded excellent support by the infield. The combination of Partridge, Maurer, to David, three times stopped promising Cat rallies with a double killing.

Ray Sauer, Cat gardener, led the locals with the stick, getting two of the five bingles collected by the Felines off Willis. "Cutey" Arnold accepted nine chances at the hot corner without a bobble. Morris and Kemp were the leading stars for Oglethorpe.

Oglethorpe opened the run-making in the second when they crossed the plate twice without the assistance of a hit. Parrish, first man up, whiffed, but Van Arsdale walked Morris on four straight balls, and the Georgian center fielder went to second on Rouse's error, Kemp getting to first. Morris scored and Kemp went to third on Rouse's bobble and the latter scored on David's infield out.

Kentucky scored its only run in the same frame when, with two down, Rouse walked, went to second on Bryant's bad peg to second, and scored on Arnold's hit to right.

The visitors gathered three more tallies in the next four rounds by hitting Van Arsdale safely five times and taking advantage of a walk and an error. In the eighth, Kemp, first up, drove a healthy triple to deep center. Bryant walked. Attempting to bunt, David popped to Arnold who took the ball at his shoestrings and threw to Powell, doubling Bryant. With two out, Rouse threw wild to first on Willis slow bouncer and Kemp counted. Not to be outdone by the Cat shortstop, Pribble uncorked a mighty heave in the direction of Rose street and Willis came in from second.

Partridge reached first when Powell dropped Van Arsdale's throw and counted the third run of the inning in a few seconds later. The Georgians again scored in the ninth when, with two down, Morris singled, stole second and third with ease and scored on Rouse's fifth error of the contest.

Although the final count was 9-1 but two of Oglethorpe's runs were earned. The Cat infield will certainly have to brace up in the future or the high-grade pitching they have been given thus far will be wasted.

STUDENT LOAN FUND SUBJECT OF TALKS MADE BY WEBB AND FARQUHAR

"Loan Made on Business Basis to Help Students," Says President McVey.

TRIBUTE PAID MRS. McVEY

"All Notes Paid; No Tendency To Shirk Payment," Says Webb.

The Student Loan Fund was the subject of the regular chapel held at the fifth hour on Tuesday. Dr. McVey opened the meeting by a short scripture reading, followed by several announcements. Thursday and Friday of this week she inspection corps from Washington will visit the University for the purpose of inspecting cadets for the United States honor schools. Classes will be dismissed Friday afternoon so that the students may attend the maneuvers. Thursday afternoon the faculty will meet the corps, tea will be served at the president's house. Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 6:30 the Woman's Club of the University will entertain the student body at tea in the President's office.

Dr. McVey explained very briefly the nature of the Student Loan Fund. "It is a loan," he said, "made on a business basis, to furnish funds to students who for any reason are not able to 'carry on.'"

Professor Webb then told what the Student Loan Fund had accomplished. He stated that more than 100 loans had been made this year and that he expected more to be made before June. The loan consisted at first of only $1,400 and handled just the most urgent cases, now it has grown to $11,000. He said that perhaps, before long the University would be able to advertise in its bulletins the fact that the Student Loan Fund was ready to help any boy or girl who showed ambition and good scholarship and who was hampered by lack of funds.

Professor Webb gave a list of the alumni who belonged to the $500 honor roll started by Mr. J. R. Gardner of Tulsa, Okla. The members up to the present date are: Mr. Chas. Brock, of Denver, Col., Mr. Iley Browning, of Ashland, Ky., Mr. Howard Ingles of New York, N. Y., Mr. J. W. Canahan of Chicago Ill. and Mr. Morgan O. Hughes who also established the Hughes fund of $1,000, which is mainly for agricultural students.

Mrs. W. T. Lafferty generously gave the proceeds of a series of lectures which amounted to $1,100. Other contributions were given by the Kiwanis Club of Lexington, the Woman's Club of Lexington and the Alpha Xi Delta fraternity. The Alumni presented a gift of $1,700.

Professor Webb closed his talk by saying that one remarkable thing about the Loan Fund of this University was that every single note had been paid, extended, or else was not yet due. In no case has a tendency been shown to "get out of" paying. This proves without a doubt that the loan is very much worth while.

Professor Farquhar spoke on the memorial fund as a gift from the heart. "The money is not he real thing in funds of this kind," said Mr. Farquhar, "but the feeling that goes into it". They may take it thru necessity but it will harden them. He went on to say that older people did not think so much about the giver but to youth the gift without the giver was bare indeed. Youth has yet the vision of idealism.

Professor Farquhar told of four memorial funds that had been made by the family and friends of those dead. But they are not dead," said Mr. Farquhar, "they live now in our memories".

The funds mentioned were as follows: The Jessie Cecelia Dodd fund, established in 1921. The Molly Vaught Fund established in the same year, The Captain George Clark Rogers Fund established in 1922 and the Mabel Sawyer McVey Fund established in 1923.

Mr. Farquhar said, in referring to Mrs. McVey, "She who died a year ago now lives a mother to all students. Immortality of great ones depends on our need of them. She will live in this fund thru our need of her. God goes with it and helps the soul starving in the darkness. Surcharge with her spirit we may catch the real significance of this memorial and by it make the heart of the University throb."

In reply Dr. McVey said that the last was a surprise to him. "Her heart was in the University," he said, "and this touching tribute to perpetuate her memory in the hearts of friends is more enduring than marble and bronze."

Three vocal selections beautifully rendered by Miss McLaughlin, a young contralto from Louisville, closed the program; these included, "Danny Boy", the love song from "Carmen", and "O Promise Me" by DeKoven. She was accompanied by Miss Stillwell at the piano.

LADY WINDERMERE'S FAN

she determines to leave her husband's house forever, and agrees with the delighted Darlington to go to his apartments and await him there immediately after the party.

Lady Windermere carries out her plans, leaving a note for her husband in which she explains her actions; Mrs. Erylne, suspecting something, intercepts the note, and goes immediately to the apartments of Darlington. Arriving shortly after Lady Windermere, she tries to persuade her to return to her husband and child, and has just succeeded when the outer door opens, and men's voices are heard, the two women have just time to hide when several gentlemen enter with Lord Darlington, among them Lord Windermere.

While talking among themselves, a member of the party discovers Lady Windermere's fan lying on the table, and Windermere is about to demand that the apartments be searched when Mrs. Erylne enters, declaring that she brought the fan away from the party by mistake. The act closes with Mrs. Erylne standing in the center of the floor, and Lady Windermere slipping silently away.

The next morning while Lord and Lady Windermere are talking over the affairs of the night before, Mrs. Erylne is announced, and after a prolonged argument with Lord Windermere, upon the advisability of revealing her identity as the mother of Lady Windermere, they decide it is best for the young wife to remember her father's story of the mother's death. Mrs. Erylne accordingly leaves her daughter's home without revealing her identity.
