Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, THE KERNEL:
Your feature news story of last week reported the SGA meeting at which the NSA issue was voted upon by secret ballot. I would like to know what right any representative body has to vote secretly upon any issue? The members of SGA are supposed to represent the various groups which elected them. Their vote is not supposed to express their personal opinions and beliefs but the will of their constituents. Why, then, may we not know how our representative voted on NSA—the most important issue of the year on our campus?

I know that Robert's Rules of Order specify that the secret ballot may be used by majority decision of a body but it further states that this method is "rarely if ever used by legislative bodies." I believe that the question of using a secret ballot in our SGA meetings is one of ethics and that the use of the secret ballot is unethical even though it may be legal.

I further believe that those so-called representatives who elected to use the secret ballot should be recalled by their respective groups, for surely, if they haven't the intestinal fortitude to acknowledge and proclaim their own activities in the name of their group, then they no longer have the right to represent that group in SGA.

Also I believe that the president of SGA was dilatory in not at once perceiving the ethics of the situation and correcting it. It was too obvious to be overlooked, therefore it must have been condoned by the president.

Are we going to be represented by SGA or are we going to be dictated to by SGA through anonymous acts and decess?

ROY W. AMIDON

EDITOR, THE KERNEL:
In regard to the bill on affiliation with the National Student Association which has been voted down by SGA, I ask you: Was there any effort on the part of SGA to poll student opinion on this question? The answer to this indicates that decision of SGA does not necessarily represent that of the students. Our student body and SGA have missed a great opportunity to voice their opinions as a group on a national level through NSA on such questions as: veterans benefits, uni-

Dangerous Intersection

It's a grisly thought but the newly scarred tree trunk on Graham Avenue makes us wonder how long it will be before the inevitable happens at the blind corner between the Biological Sciences and Home Economics buildings.

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love and driving his new automobile at even a higher rate of speed, in the stretch and around corners, the Graham Avenue blind corner included.

The danger at this treacherous intersection could be minimized in two simple steps.

The first would be for drivers to approach it more slowly and to keep on their side of the center line.

The second would be the installation of above-the-surface line markers or islands to keep autos on the right side of the line. A stop sign placed on the northeast corner for traffic going west on Graham might also be a good idea.

Modern Art Exhibit Scheduled For March

An art show of 43 full-size facsimile color reproductions by modern masters will be on exhibition in the gallery of the Department of Art during March. All works are owned by the department or by Dr. W. H. Rannels, department head.

Artists represented are: Renoir, Van Gogh, Gauguin, Degas, Pissarro, Mary Cassatt, Monet, Bonnard, Rousseau, Derain, Picasso, Marin, Grosz, Marc, Miró, Klee, Kandinsky, Bonatti, Munch, Watkins, Braque, LeBrun, and Charlot. The art gallery, Biological Sciences Building, Room 217, is open daily from 8 to 5 and on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

How many operators will we need NEXT YEAR?

This is but one of the many questions telephone men are called upon to answer. Part of their work has always been to anticipate demands for personnel . . . to determine what additional equipment must be provided, what new construction will be necessary to handle the constantly increasing demands for service. Careful planning in every phase of telephone work requires the services of many qualified men. For them, this growing business offers the opportunity for active, interesting careers. UK's Observatory Offers Professional Training Free

Not too long ago, a little man walked down one of the busy thoroughfares of Lexington with a "dimple" over his shoulder. He called it a telescope.

He set his contraption up on one of the corners, and hunched a sign on it which read, "See the Moon, the Stars, and the Planets . . . for a look . . . 3 for 25c."

Within ten minutes he had a line of inquisitive people, each waiting impatiently to spend his dime or quarter to view the wonders of the heavenly bodies through a cheap, two-inch telescope, no more powerful than a pair of opera glasses.

Ambitions

At the same time, on the campus of the University, a few, very few, ambitious citizens of this fair city were peering through the larger, more efficient telescopes of the University observatory, under the tutelage of a trained astronomer, without paying a cent.

Undoubtedly, these people gained more knowledge of the celestial regions than those who had foolishly stood in line to help fill the purse of a man who knew a good thing when he saw it.

Advantages

They had all the advantages of a fully equipped observatory, and an instructor who knew his business. This observatory, which was erected in 1921, and designed by a group of architects who specialized in astronomical buildings, cost $35,000.

The first observatory on the campus was on the northeast corner of what is now McVey Hall, and was built in 1903. It housed an eight-inch, second-hand telescope, and the sub-department of astronomy until 1928.

In The Way

Then one night, when someone tried to investigate the mysteries of Mars a little further, he discovered that McVey Hall was in the way. In fact, buildings had sprung up all around the campus, and the observatory no longer had enough room to maneuver.

Then, to save the expense of a new building, someone suggested moving the telescope to the top of Pence Hall. This was vetoed as impractical, and the new observatory was on its way.

The $35,000 was earmarked for the new structure, and the construction was started that year.

Moveable Dome

The edifice, as it stands now, has a movable dome with a sliding top to give an unrestricted view of the heavens. It was put up just back of Cooperstown is now.

The telescope was sent to Philadelphia for repairs and adjustment to position and declination of Lexington. The bill came to more than $1400.

New Equipment

Through the years new equipment such as a transit, a chronograph, astronomical clock, a spectroscopic attachment for the telescope, and various other contrivances were added until now, the supplementary equipment alone is worth over $8000.

Time passed, and Dr. H. H. Downing took charge of astronomy here. Then Dr. Downing took over the reins of the Department of Mathematics, and the responsibility for the observatory fell to Miss Virginia F. Rohde, who is still in charge.

Not long ago the Department of Mathematics and Astronomy inaugurated a policy of opening the observatory to the public one night each week. Recently, however, the results have been disappointing.

Public Show

The observatory is open every Monday night to all those who wish to attend, and the demonstrations and lectures start at 7:45 sharp, and last for about an hour. Miss Rohde has announced that she will be there every clear Monday night from now on.

Beginning next quarter, with the resumption of the course in Practical Astronomy, the observatory will also be open for members of that class only, on Tuesday nights.

The public is welcome to all Monday night sessions.

The dome was originally designed to house a twelve-inch scope, in hopes that some day the University would be endowed with one of such size, or be able to afford one.

Refracting Telescope

The present telescope, which is of the refracting type, in contrast to the giant reflecting telescope of Mount Palomar, is able to enlarge objects 600 times.

At the present time, it is being used primarily for student observation, and very little celestial investigation is being attempted. This is due to the lack of a trained professional astronomer, but Dr. Downing hopes to have an experienced man and a better telescope within the next two or three years, in which case operations at the observatory will swing into high gear.

Hindrances

The "public," as the astronomer according to Dr. Downing, the at-

Conley Says He's Hurt - - Blames Kernel

By Smoky Fields

The case of Conley vs. Barker, filed last week on the Law School bulletin board, was hastily removed to the Dean's office for jurisdictional reasons. The story, however, is still circulating, and it goes like this:

Pat Conley was suing George Barker and the Kentucky Kernel, alleging that a recent front of testimonial publicity had injured his reputation in that many people now believed he was in such dire financial straits as to accept cigarette bribes.

Needs No Help

Labeling the rumor that he was involved a "barred lie," the story continued, "the (Conley) asserted that the truth of the matter was that he was receiving $75 a month from the government and that he didn't need no help from nobody."

He was quoted further as saying, "As a result of this unfounded publicity, I have been unable to float a loan in order to get my laundry."

Attorney for the defendant Barker was reported to have said that he was prepared not only to show that Conley has given his consent, but that he had actually "begged him" to use his name.

Admiralty Court?

A prominent and widely read legal author and authority on "equitable conversion" had when queried as to his "rationalization" (legal term for "screw-job") of the case, said it definitely should be transferred to the Admiralty Court since both parties were "sea" students, and cited numerous articles in the Siberian Law Quarterly which conclusively proved his point, he said.

Members of the Law School faculty could not be found for comment because they were all out searching for the author of the story, who is, according to confidential reports received by the Kernel, out searching for a job.

New Course Opened On World Religions

An impartial study of 10 of the great religions in the world today is incorporated in a newly-devised course which will be offered students through the Department of University Extension. It was announced by Prof. Louis Clifton, director.

The correspondence course, entitled "Great Religions of the World," will offer an intimate study of religious beliefs and practices, the general place of religion in human life and world understanding.

Dr. Jesse DeBoer, assistant professor of Philosophy, will direct the course. Students will receive four quarter hours credit for successful completion of the work.

Atmospheric conditions in Lexington are not suited to thorough investigation of the celestial regions, and that, in company with other hindrances, has kept the astronomer from doing more than they have with the available instruments.

Until the time when the University has better experimental facilities available, the astronomy department will continue with student work and with the "public" nights.

Houston University Offers Study Centers In Southern Lands

Students, graduates, and faculty members from colleges all over the country are expected to enroll this summer in the University of Houston International Study Centers.

Dr. Joseph S. Werlin, director of the centers, said in announcing that a new center will be opened in Cuba this summer.

Dr. Werlin bases his expectations on the result of last summer's centers, in which twenty-five colleges and universities were represented.

These study centers, which also include Mexico and Guatemala, are designed to acquaint the students with the social, cultural, and historical aspects of Latin-American countries, Dr. Werlin explained. Field trips, sight-seeing tours, and recreational excursions to spots of historical and cultural interest are scheduled, he said. A unique, all-expense plan enables students to save materially in the costs of travel, housing, meals, and tours, the director explained.

University Girls Are Better Housekeepers

Improvements in living quarters for University women were made this year despite crowded conditions, Mrs. G. M. Zemp, manager of the women's residence halls, said Thursday.

Much of the credit for improvement was given to the students themselves, who are, Mrs. Zemp said, "better housekeepers" than they have been in previous years. Residents of Jewell and Boyd halls were commended for their co-operation while the rooms and hallways were being painted.

New carpets and furniture have been added in Patterson and Boyd halls.

Elimination of food waste has been stressed this year, according to Frances Kendall, assistant manager and dietitian. The $10 increase per quarter for food has been absorbed by the increase in food prices, she stated.

Cuba Trip Is $275

Traveling and living costs for the Cuba center are $275, excluding tuition. For the combined Mexico-Guatemala center, the expense is $340, excluding tuition. The tuition is based on the subjects taken.

These study centers are recognized by the Veterans' Administration, and veterans are exempt from tuition and receive their usual subsistence allowance, Dr. Werlin said. Enrollment is arranged through a letter of eligibility from the local Veterans' Administration office of the student.

All courses are taught in English and are open to both undergraduate and graduate students. Students enrolling in the Cuba center will leave Houston June 7 and will return in the middle of July. The combined Mexico-Guatemala center will begin July 19 and end Aug. 23.

Dancing Don'ts For Dopes

He says, "Shall we dance?" She hesitates. Twitch are all the same to this single-track trancer. Rhythms? He's never heard of it! Somebody ought to tell him that dancing is moving to rhythm, and each rhythm has its own rules. 1-Are you a "Sleepwalker"? This lad bends almost backward as he swoops and glides. He's in a trance, really out of his mind—and his partner feels like the model for the Leaning Tower of Pisa. He simply has to straighten up and dance right! 2-Are you a "Hypnotist"? The girl who dances with this man needs a course in mental telepathy. He decides on involved maneuvers—but forgets to let his partner know that things are about to happen. This chap must think of his strong right arm as a sort of steering wheel—and lead with it, brother, lead! 3-Are you a "Big Lover"? This fellow can make his eyes glow like hot coals, his voice sound like velvet dynamite. A girl in his arm (he thinks) is just waiting to be led to temporary unconciousness behind a potted shrub. Actually, he's as attractive to her as an ice-cream cone to her back. Varsity says: to succeed at a dance—DANCE!

Independents To Hold Regional Convention At Illinois University

Delegates from colleges and universities in five states will meet at the University of Illinois, March 11-13, when the National Independent Student Association regional convention is held there.

Representatives from Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, and Wisconsin colleges and universities have been invited to participate in a discussion program on such topics as independent and fraternity-society relations, athletic activities, scholarship aims, social activities, and organizational structure.

According to Stanley Zagol, chairman, the convention committee is urging immediate appointment of student organizations and by student governments in schools where there are no independent student organizations.

It is important that schools without active independent organizations learn of organization benefits, says D. L. Stuart, Illinois dean of Independent men. He points out that delegates from active organizations may profit from exchanges of ideas that will broaden the scope of independent activities.

Make Friends, Join A Host Giving Blood

By Martha Evans

During the war a lot of us gave blood and went away with a good feeling that we'd done our good deed for the day.

Now comes a chance to do your good deed and not only feel good, but get thanked as well.

For the first time in their history, the local blood banks at the Good Samaritan and the St. Joseph hospitals are making an appeal for blood to be donated on a personal basis, that is, you give blood for somebody you have had an opportunity to meet and make friends with.

You make a friend, you may save a life. Better than that is the feeling of extreme personal satisfaction that comes from hearing the person you helped give his thanks.

The average person can give a half-pint or pint of blood every two or three months without feeling any ill effects. Even students whose hours are irregular and who seem to have little sleep can safely make donations.

However, if there is any doubt whatsoever as to the wisdom of giving blood because of your physical condition, consult a doctor first.

Cause for American Pride

WASHINGTON'S FAREWELL ADDRESS

Here, in our First President's own handwriting, is part of the far-sighted speech he delivered to the American people 152 years ago. The spirit of the doctrine still applies. It calls for a firm unity among our people... emphasizing above all the need for every citizen to take pride in the name of an American. The original is now aboard the "Freedom Train"—a traveling exhibit of the most significant documents in our history.

Be proud of what you write... and the way you write it!

Naturally you're proud when you own a Parker "51". For this is the world's most-wanted pen. It glides with satin-smoothness... gives new freedom to your thoughts and fingers... makes writing more fun! Whether it's an exam—a theme—a letter, this is the pen that will always show you at your best. Ask for the "51" in either the regular or new demi-size. Choice of points. The Parker Pen Company, Jamestown, Wisconsin, U.S.A., and Toronto, Canada.

Georgia Tech, Tulane Win SEC Openers

With big Jim Nolan tossing in 25 points, The Rambling Wreck from Georgia Tech pulled a first round upset victory over the slow-moving Crimson Tide of Alabama, 46-34, yesterday afternoon. The upset in the very opening game of the fifteenth annual SEC tournament, came as hardly to surprise to Wildcat fans who had seen Tech and the blighted Nolan score 54 points against Kentucky less than two weeks ago. While the Wildcats were winning that encounter 75-54, Nolan was personally accounting for 32 points from the pivot.

Tech jumped into an early lead and held a 17-16 halftime advantage, but with Nolan, a strong All-SEC candidate, getting 18 of his points in the second half, the Red Elephants just couldn't match the pace. Sharp was high for fourth-quarter points with nine points.

By virtue of their victory yesterday, Tech advances to the finals against Georgia's Bulldogs. Game time is 1:30 p.m. this afternoon.

In the second opening round game played yesterday, Tulane's second-seeded Green Wave had to come from behind in the last half to defeat the Auburn Plainsmen, 47-40. At the half, Auburn led 20-14.

Williams and Moberly, the latter a freshman from Kentucky, paced the Plainsmen with 15 and 9 points, respectively. For Tulane, Hinesy with nine, and Athas with eight, were high.

TEAM STATISTICS

In 29 games Kentucky has hit 31.2% of their shots. Opponents have hit an average of 22.5 of their shots. Kentucky averages 68.1 points per game. Opponents average 43.0 points per game.

Forwards have accounted for 955 points. Guards have accounted for 702 points. Centers have accounted for 347 points.

North Carolina And Oklahoma Aps Lead In Offense, Defense

Kentucky's tournament-bound Wildcats moved into the top ten teams on the nation in both offense and defense the last week, although dropping from fifth to seventh place in the offensive department. They returned to the top ten in defense for the first time since mid-season, with a tenth place defensive average of 43 points per game. The Wildcat offensive average is 68.1.

Western Kentucky moved from sixth to fifth place with an offensive average of 69.4 points in 27 games, but are not among the top ten defensive teams.

North Carolina State forged into the offensive lead with a 77.1 average in 28 games. The Southern Conference champs have lost but two games. Rhode Island State, the perennial national scoring leaders, have a firm hold on second place with a 73.2 average. Next best is Bowdoin Green's 70.5.

The defensive-minded Oklahoma Aps are still in a class all by themselves as far as defensive averages are concerned. In winning 24 of 27 starts, the Hank Iba men have limited their opponents to an average of 21.6 points per game. Second best is Alabama with 39.7. The remaining eight teams are bunched together separated by only a few tenths of a point.

The Wildcats met two of the leading defensive teams during the regular season and gave their averages a licking, but none of their opponents are listed as offensive leaders. Three SEC teams are among the top ten in defensive averages.

RALPH BEARD, Kentucky's fiery little All-America guard, is the leading Wildcat scorer, with 327 points at the end of the regular schedule.

University Student Wins Lead The Band Contest

By John Irvin

When Fred Luigart, Jimmy Mulloy, and Bob Trimble got to the box office at Joplin Monday night they came awfully close to heading back to town—for without dates they couldn't see putting down nine bucks to hear Sammy Kaye.

One half hour later Fred was well equipped to set up housekeeping. He had been voted winner in Kaye's coast-to-coast So-You-Want-To-Lead-A-Band contest.

Representing the teen-ager group, Fred had put the band through its paces with the "One-O'Clock Jump."

Fred's "take" for the night included an electric Laundraler affair, an electric blanket, a portable radio, a vacuum sweeper, a wrist watch, a Hanson lighter, and other items (too numerous to mention and too bulky for Fred to get home without the aid of a truck).

What Fred doesn't even know until he sees it in print now is that Sammy Kaye made a statement for the Kernel that may mean the youthful SAE winds up at Carnegie Hall later this year.

Kaye said, "I thought Fred was so good he may be in the 1948 So-You-Want-To-Lead-A-Band Contest Finals at Carnegie Hall, in which the first prize includes $1000 in cash."

Sammy explained that as the program winner on the last Monday night American Broadcasting Company nation-wide show, Fred has a good chance to represent the "teen-age group" from the South in the final Carnegie Hall shindig.

Whenever the name Adolph Rupp is mentioned in sports circles a number of stories about the Kentucky coach immediately floods the conversation. One of the most legendary of the Rupp stories originated over a dozen years ago, but is still told wherever sports is the main topic of conversation.

The 1928 Kentucky team with big LeRoy Edwards starring, was the nation's best. Undercoated, it travelled to New York and lost to unbeaten NYU, 22-23, in the last seconds via a foul called on Edwards for screening. Rupp complained bitterly about the officiating. On his return to Lexington, a newspaperman asked him, for example, "I really don't know," Adolph said. "Riding back yesterday I turned on the radio. A broadcast came on from one of the churches in New York. The minister used as his text, 'He was a Stranger, and They Took Him In.' That's all I know about what happened."

Introducing... Barney Barnstable

By Stan Schill

Dale Barnstable, in case you can't read the players' numbers, is the guy with the flailing arms who seems to confuse the opposition until they don't know which basket is where.

Barney, as he is called by his team-mates and just about everyone else, seems to be the center of the perplexing question of perpetual motion. On the court, at least, he's a blinding demon. With his long, length and equally long arms and legs, he looks like a giant spider with all its extraneous going at the same time.

He flings these things around a gym with utter abandon. When this 6-foot, 2 1/2-inch, 175 pound sophomore twists his lanky frame into a crouch in front of an opponent, and makes like a windmill, you can be sure there's going to be action a-plenty, and soon, too.

Boss Rupp calls Barney one of the most improved players on the squad, and anyone who has ever seen Dale play, will readily agree. The Baron says that Barnstable just refuses to be on the second team. "What can you do with a guy like that?"

Barney, who hails from Antioch, Illinois, isn't as tall as he looks. Not that he's any slumped—not by far. While Alex Cross doesn't look as tall as he actually is, Barney's just the opposite.

On the floor, Barney is the proverbial "whirling dervish." Combine that with really smooth ball handling, well nigh perfect shooting, and plenty of speed, and you've got a

Adolph Rupp

Another story about the Baron is almost forgotten, but once recalled, shows that his determination and tenacity were just as strong 25 years ago as they are now.

Coch Rupp's first job, in 1923, was at Marshalltown, Iowa, a position he accepted under the illusion that he was to be basketball coach. It developed, to his complete consternation, that he had been hired as a wrestling coach, grimly piloted his boy grapplers to a state championship the very first year.

Watch this lad. He's a ball player who will be making headlines some day, and that day isn't too far off.

Wildcats Halt Xavier's Win Record, 59-37

By Tom Dickinson

Hitting 26.9 percent of their field goal attempts, the Kentucky Wildcats easily defeated Xavier, 59-37, before a capacity crowd of 2300 people last Saturday night in the Mackeyster fieldhouse.

Xavier, whose 15-game winning streak on their home court was shattered by UK, managed to make only 16 shots in 48 shots for a .333 average. The Cats collected 24 baskets in 65 tries to register with No. 27 of the campus 20-point-two losses—Temple and Notre Dame. Xavier's record now is 21 victories and five losses.

Barber And Jones Lead Cats

Cleaver Cliff Barber and Wah Jones took high scoring honors for the winning quarter, garnering 15 and 12 points respectively in the Xavier defense held UK's two high scorers for this season—Ralph Beard (387) and Alex Groen (321)—to a total of only 12 markers. Beard, who was guarded by Tommie Beard, scored eight, while Groen collected four against Malcolm McMillen, Xavier's leading point-getter in the contest with 13 tallies.

The rebounding of Jones and Alex Groen throughout most of the game was outstanding. They grabbed the rebound off both ends and quickly and gave the shorter X players little chance to control the ball until late in the game.

Xavier Falls Behind After First Half

The contest started off with Wah Jones, the Harlan Hurricane, hitting two fielders in the first minute or two of action, and UK jumped to a 10-5 lead shortly after. Then Xavier thrilled the partisan crowd as they started to hit and the count went to 17-15 UK, the closest the white-winded Muskies got to tying the score all evening.

Moments later, the Big Blue of Kentucky started to roll and out-scored Xavier 14 points to three and pulled up to a 31-18 lead at the end of the first semester of the game. It was the same score at the end of the second half as the UK egress continued to pull away with the over-anxious Muskies missing many easy layup shots. Although they played rather ragged at times during the game, the Wildcats convinced the Buckeye crowd that they were the stiffer team. The 20-point victory gave Kentucky an all-time mark of 31 wins and a two losses against Xavier.

Junior Varsity Wins No. 3

The Kentucky junior varsity advanced its third win of the year without a loss as they romped over the Xavier freshman squad last night. Previously the X five had won 15 straight conquests for the season. The winners, composed mostly of the Wildcats third-string players, trailed 17-13 at the half, but led by Roger Day, Walt Hirsch and Dutch Campbell, the Kittens took the top position as the score jumped from 21-21 to 32-23 and finally 42-24 before the final gun sounded. Day was high for UK with 15; Bob Ruesberg had 10 for X.

Paraplegics Perform At Half

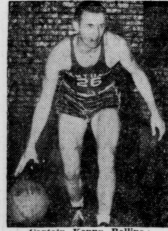

Twelve paraplegics from the Birmingham General Hospital of Van Nuys, Calif., all ex-Army veterans, defeated the Xavier Rockets, 16-0, between halves of the featured game. Both quintets played the game from wheelchairs as the visitors held the collectors' records in a 10-minute exhibition.

Kenton "Dutch" Campbell

Captain Kenny Rollins

Jack Parkinson

Three Senior Wildcats Graduate, Rollins, Parkinson, Campbell

by Kent Hollingsworth

Last Saturday night when Kentucky downed Xavier 59-37, three seniors, Captain Kenny Rollins, Jack Parkinson, and Kenton Campbell played their last regularly scheduled basketball game for the Wildcats.

Kenny Rollins entered the University in 1941 and played in the four scheduled that year, helping to win two, while dropping two. The next year Kenny was a starting guard on the varsity that included All-Conference players, Marvin Akers and Mel Brewer, Muff Davis and Milt Tyco held down the forward positions. Rollins didn't tear any nets off baskets around the conference, but he played a steady game and landed the ball well.

At the end of his sophomore year Rollins joined the navy and played with the Great Lakes Naval basketball team for one season. After three long years in the Navy, the Wickliffe, Kentuckian re-entered the University in the fall of '46.

Pitted against All-Americans Jim Jordan, three-letter-man Boddy Parker and a host of other returning veterans, Rollins after one week of practice left no doubt in anyone's mind as to who would start along with Ralph Beard at the guard position. He and forward Joe Holland were the only Wildcat performers to start every game last season, and at the close Rollins was one of the five Kentuckians placed on the '47 All SEC first team.

Aside from being elected captain of the Wildcats for two seasons, the first player to ever have a honor bestowed upon him, Rollins prizes most the trophy awarded him at the basketball banquet last year for the player selected by his teammates, as the most valuable to the team.

It's a real comfort to his teammates and fans alike, to have Kenny in the ball game. When he roars down that center, jumps in the air, sits there for a while and finally flips the ball up and through, for two points, everyone settles back, yawns, and says, "Well, another win for Kentucky."

Cosch Rupp is really going to miss Captain Kenny Rollins next season. Parkinson Was All-American in '46. Jack Parkinson, another senior, will be in the ranks of the professionals next season when the Wildcats work out. Parkinson was Captain of the Kentucky team that won the National Invitational Tournament in New York in 1945 and is placed on the All America Team at the end of that season. He was an All-Conference guard three consecutive years.

In his sophomore year he hit the basket for 27 points in the first 22 minutes of a SEC tournament contest. That was one point less than the record, to that date, and for the next eight minutes Parkinson fired shot after shot from all over the court in a vain effort to set a new record, but was unable to connect.

"Sleepy" Parkinson spent last year in the Army and on his return to the Wildcats, was unable to wrest a starting guard position from All-American Beard and Capt. Rollins. Parkinson's long shot artillery for the Wildcats, will long be remembered.

Center Dutch Campbell, All-Conference his freshman year, will also graduate at the end of this season. This '47 reserve had the hard luck to be playing for a team that had such outstanding centers as Wah Jones, Bob Brannum and Alex Groen. Easily a regular on almost any team in the nation, Dutch preferred to be a substitute for Kentucky his last two years, so as to help him when he takes up coaching after his graduation.

Before taking up his coaching career though, the big Ohlan plans to play a few years' professional ball.

Bowling, Badminton Close Winter Intramural Docket

The Winter quarter intramural sports program comes to a close next week, with the crowning of bowling and badminton champions. Championships in the two bowling leagues, will be decided as will a singles and doubles champion in badminton.

Intramural director Bill McCubbin announced that wrestling, tennis, softball, golf and track will make up the Spring quarter calendar. Entry date for wrestling and softball has been set for March 26. Tennis and golf won't start until mid-April or later, and the two day intramural track meet will take place sometime in May.

McCubbin requested that anyone entered in either of the sports now being played, or anyone who intends to take part in the spring sports, should keep a regular check on the bulletin board in the Alumni Gym basement.

Fifteen fraternity men and one Independent advanced to the fourth round, or eighth-finals, of the Badminton Singles tournament in matches played yesterday. Unless some unforeseen difficulties arise over a place to play, the quarter-finals will be held Tuesday, and the semi-finals later on in the week.

In the Doubles tournament, the eighth-finals must be played by Monday. Quarter-finals are scheduled for Monday, and the semi-finals for Tuesday. The date for the finals hasn't been set yet.

To the Singles division, the sixteen remaining competitors include four ATO's, three Sigma Chi's, two Kappa Alphas, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Phi Delta Tau. The Independents, Delta Tau Delta, and Phi Kappa Tau have one entrant each.

The "A" League bowling tournament started yesterday afternoon at the Colonial Lanes, with nine five-man teams qualifying for competition. Semi-final rounds will be played Monday afternoon and the championship match is booked for Tuesday afternoon. The nine qual-

HALYARD'S SPORTS SHOW

Featuring Today —

Kentucky Could Beat Western But Why Should They Play?

As we prepared to leave for the annual Southeastern Conference tournament, we found that we could no longer avoid the favorite question in sports circles, "Can Western beat Kentucky?" And now that we've started into it we're not too sure that we want to ignore it any longer.

We saw Ed Diddle's great Western aggregation play in the KIAC tournament in Louisville last week. And we saw Peck Hickman, a Diddle trained man, point his Louisville Cardinals to within a nifty point of the Hilltoppers—a moral victory for University of Louisville.

*Now we'll have to admit that outside of height and Dec Gibson, the Hilltoppers haven't got more than an average club, but those two points are enough to make a great squad. Hickman knew this, and he also knew that his midgets at the University of Louisville could do very little about the six-foot-five giants from Bowling Green. So the Cardinal mentor concentrated on slowing up Gibson.

Johnny Knopf, little fly guard, was assigned the duties of playing opposite the Western star. This he did and did very well. With some capable assistance given Knopf by Roy Combs, Gibson got only four points in the first 20 minutes, had a personal mark up against him, and had completely missed the back boards on a half dozen set shots. And Louisville led at the half one intramission by eight points.

Gibson rallied some in the second half, the Hilltoppers really became Hilltoppers as taller men came from the bench to replace already towering giants, and with a crisp from the top of the basket and a last second revenge move against Knopf by Gibson, Western remained King of the KIAC by one point. Diddle lost his red towel, however, because we know who got it.

We point out all this about Western, figuring that more people reading this have seen the Wildcats in action than have seen the Hilltoppers. However, in a game with both Western and Kentucky playing their best brand of ball, we have no doubt that Kentucky would win. We don't think, though, that just one game between the two teams would be a true match, but would rather have a two out of three affair.

The big point is, "Why should Kentucky and Western play anyway?" They are recognized as the two top teams in the nation, and as soon as one defeats the other, the loser would probably begin to drop from the top rankings. With Kentucky in the NCAA, Western in the NIT, and Louisville playing in the KIAC, there isn't another state than can come close to Kentucky's claims.

We're proud to be Sports Editor of the school paper for the basketball team that's rated first in the nation, and located in the home of so many nationally recognized cage squads. May we wish all three teams success in their coming tournaments, and continued success in putting this Commonwealth first in basketball.

Grid Practice Brings Heavy Work, Injury

By Dudley Saunders

With four men nursing injuries and two others allowing operation scars to heal, it really seemed like football season the past week, as Paul Bryant's gridiron charges rounded out their second week of practice.

Instead of blocking dummies, the Cats are now blocking their teammates on the other side of the line of scrimmage, and some of those bruising tackles and being felt by the backs and great.

Harry Ulinak, the man who will probably step into All-SEC Center Jay Rhodemyre's pivot slot next fall, is still nursing a bad knee operation, and it is doubtful if he will get into uniform before next fall.

The Nashville Dandy John Chumley is the other man still getting over the effects of an operation.

Red forwards were Sandra Crockett, Charlotte Knapp, and Frances Goldstein; guards were Joyce Ferris, Martha Durham, Anita Levy, and Carolyn Herdt.

Forwards playing for the White team were Ida Wellwood, Ruth Wilde and Barbara Lutes; the White guards were Anne Marjain, Kitty Richardson, Caroline Lee, Malbeann Clark, and Audrey Hawkison.

Wah Jones probably will not get to take part in spring practice nor the intra squad game April 3, as basketball duties are certain of taking up his time until late in March and possibly over into April.

Pass-throwing George Blanda, big gun of the Cat's '48 aerial attack has been sidelined by a painful, sprained right thumb. Punting or passing, the veteran quarterback has looked good this spring, and although not a great runner, might blossom out as one of the nation's best T-formation field generals next fall.

Shorty Jamerson, the hard driving Henderson, Ky. half back, and Center Bob Wodtke, received minor cuts during the week.

During scrimmage sessions most of the boys seemed to be hitting fairly hard for this time of the year, but the backs were constantly breaking away for good runs. Running especially well was the above mentioned Jamerson.

In the line, Bob Gain seems to be heading down runners all over the place and Roy Ford is playing hard ball at the pivot slot.

The backfield, not as hard hit as the forward wall, with only Jack Paris and Bill Moeley gone, has been strengthened more than the line.

Still the number one question mark, Don "Dopey" Phelps hasn't reported for spring football as of yet. Reportedly out to conquer scholastic difficulties this quarter in order to become eligible to play next fall, the Danville speedster.

To be eligible to vote as a squad manager, sophomores must have a 1.8, and the senior manager will have to maintain an even 2.0.

The backfield, not as hard hit as the forward wall, with only Jack Paris and Bill Moeley gone, has been strengthened more than the line.

Still the number one question mark, Don "Dopey" Phelps hasn't reported for spring football as of yet. Reportedly out to conquer scholastic difficulties this quarter in order to become eligible to play next fall, the Danville speedster.

To be eligible to vote as a squad manager, sophomores must have a 1.8, and the senior manager will have to maintain an even 2.0.

Track Time Trials Planned As More Prospects Needed

Lack of material and the complete absence of student managers, and not the weather, are the main causes of concern to track manager Don Seaton.

With hardly three weeks remaining before the first varsity meet and about twice that time before the opening freshman meet, track manager Don Seaton is not too sure that he will have enough boys out to fill up the ranks of either squad.

Only immediate hope was that the warmer weather will entice the colder-natured boys to come out. However, the real hope in the arm will come when several members of the football and basketball squads have up their equipment and help for the cinder-path.

Spring football practice doesn't end until around April 3, a week after the Purdue Relays. It isn't known yet when the basketball finale will take place, what with national tournaments and Olympic trials ahead.

Seaton continues to plead for more support from the student body pointing out that track isn't a scholarship sport and that he has to depend upon the student body and athletes from the other sports to make up a team.

The handful of track candidates now working out, have shown promise but there aren't enough of them to make up a team. Seaton stated he had been informed by authoritative sources that numerous boys now in school have talent but haven't reported. He pointed out that the weather is becoming progressively warmer and that in case of bad weather the team can work out in the warehouse across Limestone from the gym.

The track manager announced that a new managerial system will be inaugurated this year, whereby each year the team will have a section manager. Applicants are requested

From the group of sophomores who appear the number will be pared down to two juniors, and when their senior year rolls around, one will be chosen manager by vote of the squad and Coach Seaton.

TIPS ON TOGS by Link

MARCH 28—(Which is crowding in on us, but fast!) will be Easter morn—How are you gonna be fixed for spring glad rags? Will you step out the front door with pride or sneak out the back door? Don't use the back door—You can find the following spring togs in our store and rub elbows with the best of 'em in the said "Easter Parade"—Beautiful spring suits, sport coats, slacks, "Lamb Knit" sweaters (really great), "Van Heusen" shirts, new mad ties, sport shirts, and "Mallory" spring hats. New styles and ideas are dragging in every day, so drag yourself down and give them the once over.

MY OPINION—Have chosen ED ROBERTS of the ATO fraternity as best-dressed man. He always looks neat, but he especially caught my eye at the ATO winter formal a couple of weeks ago. Ed was very correct in a double-breasted, one button roll tuxedo—pinstriped boom shirt with big down collar—black tie with matching studs and cuff links (proper amount of cuff showing too!) and black patent leather evening shoes. As a personal note he wore a medallion with his fraternity colors and crest—Good dressing, Ed!

NEW FEATURE—The person selected by this column as being especially well dressed, is entitled to two free dinners at the Henry A. Lucas Post Veterans of Foreign Wars Club (229 1/2 E. Main St.). He can take a date or a buddy. If you are chosen, please see me at the store for a letter of introduction to the club manager for your dinner—so, Ed, come in and get your letter.
