Mechanical Notes.

W. H. Dicks, representing Henry L. Doherty and Company, banking and engineering firm, of New York City, was a visitor at Mechanical Hall recently. Mr. Dicks presented the opportunities with his company to the members of the class of '18, and hopes to set at least two of the class to enter the employ of his company immediately after commencement. Henry L. Doherty and Company own and control several of the largest public utility companies in the country. Mr. A. W. Davies, of the class of '17, is with the Toledo Railways and Light Company, controlled by the Doherty company.

Mustard, in charge of employment of engineering graduates for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, talked to the senior class, College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, February 11. Mr. Mustard is desirous of setting a number of men from the 1918 class to enter the employment of his company immediately after they are graduated in June. The Westinghouse is one of the largest electrical manufacturing firms in the world. A number of men from the University of Kentucky have gone there immediately after graduating. The opportunities offered are exceptionally good.

Ensign Frederick Amigo of the United States Navy talked to the seniors at Mechanical Hall, February 12. Ensign Amigo addressed the battalion, February 15, as did also Lieutenant J. Ray Duncan, '12, on leave of absence from the Navy at present. Lieutenant Duncan has just finished an intensive training course of two months, first at the Marine Barracks, Washington, and later at the Naval Academy, Annapolis. When he leaves here will report for duty afloat.

DR. WALKER PRAISES OUR PRE-MEDICAL COURSE.

Doctor Gertrude Walker, of Philadelphia, addressed the students of the University of Kentucky, Monday evening, February 11, on the subject of "Women and the Medical Profession." Before beginning her address Doctor Walker said that the pre-medical course arranged by Dr. J. W. Pryor and now in progress in the University was the best of its kind in America. Slides made from a moving picture film called "A Woman Physician in the Making" was an entertaining feature of the lecture.

Doctor Walker said that the war had created great demand for physicians, both men and women, and urged all students to consider taking up medicine as a study and life work, not only because it presents opportunity for service but is remunerative.

LAW DEBATERS PREPARE FOR CINCINNATI BATTLE.

The debating teams selected before Christmas by the Henry Clay Law Society of the College of Law, University of Kentucky, are preparing for the forthcoming meeting with Cincinnati teams on a date yet to be decided. One team is preparing to entertain the Cincinnati boys when they come here, the other team to be guests of the boys in Cincinnati.

The subject to be discussed is: "Resolved—that the Constitution of the United States be so amended that Congress may give the President power to restrict the privilege of free speech when in time of invasion, rebellion or public peril, the safety of the public demands it."

In a competitive contest, eight men were selected, to constitute two teams of three each, and two alternates. They are: Virgil Chapman, Ben H. Scott, Ed. Hardin Holland Bryan, Virgil Pritchett and Milton Revill; alternates, C. H. Dinker and Vance Quarles.

The students of the College of Law adjourned work Thursday, February 14, and spent the day in Frankfort attending the sessions of the Legislature, visiting the capital and the penitentiary. The boys were accompanied to Frankfort by the faculty of the College.

CLASSES OPEN A WEEK LATER NEXT SEPTEMBER.

The University of Kentucky will begin work in September, 1918, on the third Monday of the month, instead of the second, according to a decision of the University Senate at its meeting, Wednesday, February 6. This action was taken because agricultural students always miss the first week of school to attend the State Fair. Work will be continued no later in June than usual, but with only one holiday, Thanksgiving, the time lost by students returning home for its observance, is expected in the main to be made up.

STUDENTS STUDY STOCK ON KENTUCKY ESTATES.

McVEY URGES ADOPTION OF EXTENSION MEASURE.

In regard to the securing of passage of the Extension Bill, known as House Bill 294, Senate Bill 96, now before the Legislature, Doctor McVey, president of the University of Kentucky, said: "Heretofore the State of Kentucky has appropriated only $18,000 for the carrying of agricultural extension work throughout the State, when the Federal government requires the providing of $60,000 annually by the State to meet the conditions in the Smith-Lever Bill, and the difference, about $38,000, has been taken from experiment station funds which in reality were needed in other places; for instance, in erection of farm buildings and enlargement of experiment work along agricultural lines, which is hampering both divisions of work."

The request for the direct appropriation of $62,000 has been made to take care of the work properly, and as a result of this appropriation, the State will receive $180,000 annually from Federal funds under the Smith-Lever bill passed by Congress in 1914, but if the appropriation is not made by the Legislature we will not get the $180,000, which is wholly for agricultural extension work. The extension work places a burden on the University in addition to what it now carries and the passage of the Extension Bill will relieve the situation and continue the good work of the extension division."

"NEGRO LIFE IN SOUTH" WEATHERFORD'S SUBJECT.

W. D. Weatherford, Nashville, Tennessee, will address students of the University of Kentucky in Chapel, Tuesday, February 19. In the evening of the same day he will speak again in the Y. M. C. This work may be divided in various ways between class exercises and 2 hours study; 2 hours laboratory and 1 hour outside work, or three hours of drawing or shop work. For lecture or recitation course, credit may not exceed the number of hours a week of such lectures or recitations.

Colonel George Bain addressed the students of the University of Kentucky in chapel, Tuesday, February 12, presenting an optimistic view of the outcome of the world war.

Colonel Bain touched upon many dreadful happenings noted in his long life. Among them he ramed a certain duel, the selling of slaves, extensive gambling and domestic and civic conditions surrounding the life of the Mormons. He predicted that out of the world war would come a great merchant marine and aeroplane service, fully developed cotton industry and domestic manufacture of dyes, destruction of the social wall between the fashionable 400 and the common 4000, and said, incidentally, that President Wilson's old hat will be worth more in the future than the Kaiser's helmet. In conclusion, the speaker said that after the war "democracy will come over the hill, carrying wounded autocracy in its arms."

COMMITTEE APPOINTED FOR THRIFT STAMP SALE.

A thrift and saving stamp campaign as a war economy measure will be launched in the University next week. Plans will be made to every member of the faculty and to the students of the University to contribute to the war movement by investing in thrift and saving stamps.

Professor E. F. Farquhar, Doctor J. E. Tutill and Doctor R. N. Maxon have been appointed by President McVey to direct the work of the campaign.
