Mr. Claud Phillipson.

Dear Nephew:-Doubtless you will be surprised to get a letter from one who perhaps you have not thought of for some time, and one who perhaps you do not remember, however I take the liberty of writing to you and to let you know that Grandma Phelps died here Jan. 9th. 1915. and that she had a life time dowery in a piece of property her and at her death it went to the Phelps Heirs, Now perhaps you know that my Father had a large Family, 12 children the Youngest of the Gilrs was your mother and this property now is to be divided among the 12 children and you children is entitled to your Mothers part of the property, which I will say is not much but what there is it rightfully belongs to you Children This property consists of a house and lot, and it will have to be sold before there can be any division made of it. I have consulted a Lawyer and I find that the easiest and quickest way will be for one or two of the Heirs to buy out the others. So your Uncle R.H. Phelps and myself have decided that we would buy the others out if we could So we have offered the other Children $ 50.00 each for their part or interest or we would take the same amount for our interest, So I offer the same amount for your Mothers interest, and since you and Marie are the only ones of age We will have to make a separate deed and send to each one and have you sign it before the transfer can be made. I have written Marie and she said that she was willing to sign the deed for the amount that I offerd, and if this is satisfactory to you I will have a deed made out and send it to you and you can sign it and return it to the Farmers & Merchants Bank at this place and when all the deed are back in the Bank we will send each one a check for the amount due them.

I just had a letter from your Sister Marie Crom, she is living at Gault Colo. on a homestead, one of your brothers is there with them and the other one is in Denver. I would like that you would make a reply to this as soon as possible so that this matter may be adjusted as soon as possible. I Understand that Marie is the Guardian for the Boys who are not of age so she will have to sign for them. She told me where you were I had lost track of you and did not know where to write to you or I would have written sooner. I am still at Lutesville and I suspect that I will always be here, I tried the west some little bit but it did not suit me, I was in Okla. for Eleven months, and that was enough of the west for me. I would like to hear from you once in a while and know what you are doing. I have been Buying Poultry and eggs here at this place for Seven Years, for Goodwin & Jean, Making a very good living out of it I have a family of Four Children Two Boys and Two Girls. the oldest boy and the oldest girl will graduate from the eighth grade this year if nothing happens more than I know of at present, I want you to write to me and let me know what you will do in the matter referred to above, Tell me about yourself and Family. with this I will close, From Your Uncle.

A WAIL FROM AN ADVANCE AGENT

Wherever I look; wherever I turn,
In whatever direction I go,
One question, one only, confronts me;
"Can you fix me all right for the show?"

The baggageman weighs my baggage,
Says: "A hundred of excess or so;
What's the name of the troop you're ahead of?
Can you fix me all right for the show?"

The genial, obliging hotel clerk
Cries in a professional glow:
"If your room does not suit you I'll change it;
Can you fix me all right for the show?"

The porter who brings in my grip says,
"Fo' de land's sake, youse a trooper, I know;
I kin tell 'em a mile off, by golly; say boss,
Can you fix me all right for the show?"

The chambermaid says, with a sly little wink
And in tones confidingly low,
"I'd like to take in the performance;
Can you fix me all right for the show?"

And nights in a feverish slumber
I wretchedly toss to and fro
And dream the bed bugs in legions are calling
"Can you fix me all right for the show?"

Kind Heaven, will ever St. Peter shout,
When I pass up from below,
"Say, when is the company coming;
Can you fix me all right for the show?"

BACK THIS TO THE LIMIT.

You can back this to the limit, what you are in life to-day
Is the sum of goals you've tried for, as you've journeyed on your way.
And the fortune and the glory that may be
in store for you
You will only claim and gather by the things you try to do.

Sitting down and fearing failure never got
man anywhere,
Roads that yesterday were quagmires men
to-day in comfort fare.
The "impossible" is only what we haven't learned to do
But somebody's going to try it, and some day
he'll do it, too.

It's the man who tries who conquers, not the
timid soul and frail,
The successes are the fellows who were not
afraid to fail;
You can back this to the limit, that young man will never rise
Who looks for problems easy, and the hard ones never tries.

—Detroit Free Press.

Entomology.

"Do you really think the public likes to be humbugged?" asked the man of many anxieties.

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum; "when the humbug is pretty and harmless. But they resent the kind that buzzes around waiting for a chance to sting 'em."—Washington Evening Star.

Marks of Belligerency.

"Can you tell by the bumps on a man's head what sort of disposition he has?"

"Phenologists claim to be able to do that.
However, a person of ordinary intelligence can sometimes tell by the bumps on a man's head what sort of disposition his wife has."— Birmingham Age-Herald.

SCHWAB ON COLLEGE MEN.

Training a Help if They Realize They Don't Know Everything.

Charles M. Schwab, of Bethlehem steel fame, has written an article for the American Magazine in which he tells some of his opinions of college graduates. He says:

"The college man who thinks that greater learning gives him the privilege of working less hard than the man without such an education is going to wake up in disaster. I regret that some college men enter industry with an inflated notion of their own value. They want to capitalize at once their education, at the time they spent getting it. They feel it is unfair to begin at the bottom, on the same basis with a boy of 17 or 18 who has never been to college.

Censor Board Rules on Rialto, Prince Shows

A new decision was announced Tuesday by the censor board in regard to eliminations in the film, "Day of Faith," now showing at the Rialto Theatre. According to the decision only the closing scene in the last reel of the film showing a head of Christ with the eyes opening and closing will be eliminated. The board decided this scene is crude, irreverent and unnecessary.

The following eliminations were ordered in the bill now playing at the Prince Theatre:

Eliminate "Adam had nothing to do but loaf around the garden and play craps—and they played craps—for the Good Book says they had a paradise (pair of dice), and when Eve stopped it they had nothing to do but raise Cain. How they raised Cain before they got Able I don't know, but they did it, all right—all right."

Eliminate, in the closing act, where the black-face comedian grabs and struggles with the white girl bride to kiss her. Notice, please, to be very careful to remove this from the stage programs. The sight of this is very shocking and certainly dangerous from the standpoint of racial encouragement, especially when your negro patrons sit and look upon it from the gallery."

Three vacancies on the board will be filled the first of the week, Mayor Holcombe stated Tuesday.

Copper Shares Action of Anaconda In Passing

BY STUART P. WEST.

New York, Feb. 26.—(Copyright, 1924.)—The passing of the Anaconda Copper dividend was the big incident in today's market. The street had been led to expect unfavorable action after the passing of the Calumet and Hecla dividend on Saturday, but the worst it had looked for was a cut. News of the complete omission came as a very unpleasant surprise and was followed by a violent drop in Anaconda within a few minutes. The selling quickly spread to the rest of the copper group, although it was less severe in the South American issues, because these, on account of their low costs, have not been hit the way the North Americans have by the low selling prices of the metal. Inspiration had a particularly bad break on the idea that its $2 dividend could no longer be considered safe.

The greater part of the list stood up remarkably well even while the selling movement in the coppers was
