UNIVERSITY GIRLS TO JOIN LIBERTY PARADE

The girls of the University Red Cross Unit are asked to meet in the Red Cross Room on the third floor of the Education Building Friday afternoon at 1:15, dressed in white to march in the Liberty Loan parade, which will start at 2 o'clock at Gratz Park. Red Cross head bands will be given them at the University.

This is the first time the University Red Cross has had an opportunity of appearing in public as a unit, and it is hoped that fifty girls at least will take part. Those who do not care to wear white are asked to join the parade also, with the battalion and University girls.

WAR EDUCATION CHAPEL TO BE HELD EVERY DAY

Royden, Tuthill and Farquhar to Speak Next Week

CADETS WILL ATTEND

The University War Committee, the purpose of which is to decide and plan whatever service the University may render the Government, has been organized and has already begun work. This committee has supervision over Red Cross work, sale of Liberty bonds and all other war activities on the campus.

At a meeting last week plans were made by the War Education Committee, of which Dr. Edward Tuthill is chairman, for holding three extra chapel exercises each week, to be taken up by lectures on the war from military and historic standpoints. These lectures will begin Monday, April 29.

At the first chapel period Monday Captain H. N. Royden will speak on the subject, "German Attack." Doctor Tuthill will speak Wednesday on the "Rise of Prussia." "Bismarck," is the subject of a lecture Thursday morning by Professor Farquhar.

Regular chapel periods will be held Tuesday and Friday as usual. The battalion will attend these war education assemblies in a body.

One of the chapel periods each week will be given over to the commandant of the battalion, Capt. H. N. Royden, who will discuss the war from a strictly military view, explaining the various moves of the allied armies on the Western front. Two talks will be made by Dr. Ed. Tuthill, head of the department of history and economics, who will take up the war from a historic standpoint.

Steps will be taken this week to consider arranging for the social entertainment of the 400 men who will be sent to the University by the War De-

UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT FOR RED CROSS SOCIETY

War Film and Stroller Vaudeville to Feature Program

PICTURE IS UNUSUAL

Under the auspices of the War Committee of the University and the Strollers, an entertainment will be given Wednesday, May 1, at the Lexington Opera House for the benefit of the National Surgical Dressings Association and the University Red Cross. A four-reel film, showing the care of wounded soldiers, will be the feature, while the Strollers will lend their talent in a vaudeville sketch, "A Stranded American Troupe in a French Hospital."

The picture is one of especial interest, and capacity houses have greeted it in other cities. Numbers of American soldiers are shown in one scene, and at one showing of the picture a woman in the audience was surprised and delighted to see her son among a group of Sammys "over there." Perhaps some of the University boys will appear on the screen.

The Strollers announce in their vaudeville bill, the special three star combination, Molloy, Gay and Revill, assisted by Spurrier, in a modern melodrama. Fred Augsburg and a fair damsel both song and dance artists, will give "Ten Minutes of Mirth and Melody." The black face duo, Planck and Jackson, will be on hand, also that Merry Monologist, J. P. Barnes. Numbers of other foot-light celebrities will appear as wounded soldiers, red cross nurses, doctors, internes, etc., while "Soulful Sam" Morton has found his right sphere in the role of chaplain.

The seats, which will sell at twenty five cents and fifty cents will not be reserved, so it will be necessary for patrons to come early to avoid the rush. Make May 1 another big University night.

WOODS SELLS BONDS TO BIG MOVIE STARS

Elmer S. Woods, Lexington, formerly a student of the College of Arts and Science, now a member of Company E, Camp Dewey, Great Lakes, Ill., has been assisting in the sale of Liberty Bonds in Chicago.

In a letter to friends at the University, Woods wrote that he was selling bonds in the Great Northern and was with the group that sold bonds to John Drew, Lillian Russell and Douglas Fairbanks. The Daily News of Chicago, April 18, has a picture of Fairbanks being carried on the shoulders of two of the training boys. Woods is one of the "Jackies."

BATTALION TO MARCH IN LIBERTY PARADE

By order of Captain H. N. Royden, commandant, in accordance with proclamation issued Wednesday by the Governor of the State of Kentucky a half holiday, beginning at 12:30 noon Friday, has been declared, to duly celebrate Liberty Day.

The battalion, in full dress uniform, will form for parade at the University this afternoon at 1:30 p. m. to participate in the Liberty Parade which will be held at 2:00 p. m. From the University the battalion will march in a body to Gratz Park, where the parade will be formed. Further details may be found on the bulletin board at the Armory.

UNIVERSITY QUOTA TO COME FROM TENNESSEE

Recreation Committee Making Plans For Entertainment

U. K. IS ONE OF FIVE

Captain H. N. Royden has received official notice from the War Department that the four hundred drafted men who will be sent here May 7, for special training in the mechanical department of the University, will come from Tennessee. The exact time of the arrival of the "Four Hundred" has not as yet been learned.

Plans for the reception of the men are being made by a committee appointed for that purpose. J. E. Johnson, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., is making arrangements to secure a "Y" room on the grounds where the camp will be made, to provide reading matter, writing materials and rest rooms, where the men may find recreation. Lectures and musical programs are being arranged for their entertainment. Altho no complete arrangements have been made for the feeding of the men, it is probable they will be fed in the Mess Hall on the campus, a certain number coming at a time.

The other Universities which will serve as training camps in the United States for technical training and the numbers and the states from which they come follow: New Hampshire, 100, to Tufts College; New Jersey, 250, to Rhode Island State College; New York, 250, to Rochester Atheneum and Mechanic Institute; Virginia, 190, to Lehigh University.

Word was received yesterday by Captain H. N. Royden, that the adjutant general had ordered the commanding officer at Camp Sherman, O., to send two captains, two first lieutenants and two second lieutenants to the University May 7 for work with the 400 drafted men.

BATTALION GUARD DUTY WILL BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Tents To Be Erected on the Campus For Cadets.

WILL LAST TEN DAYS

Arrangements have been completed by Captain H. N. Royden, commandant, and authorized by President McVey, whereby the battalion of the University with its cadet officers will actively engage in guard duty next week, so that they will be able to do regulation duty upon the arrival of the four hundred drafted men who come May 7, for special technical training.

Captain Royden has arranged for the establishing of guard tents on the campus for the period from Wednesday night, May 1 to Saturday night, May 11, making ten days' guard duty. The time will be divided so as to provide for two guards from each of the five companies of the battalion, and the members of the battalion will be excused from class room duties on the day following the night on which they mount guard.

This means that beginning May 1, one company of the five will be appointed to do guard duty for twenty-four continuous hours on the campus and at the Fair Grounds, the site selected for the quartering of the four hundred men. This company will be relieved after its duty by another company which in turn will do guard duty for one day. After each company has done duty for its respective days, the schedule will be resumed as started.

The guard mounting beginning each day at 3:30 p. m. as designated by Captain Royden follows: May 1, Company A; May 2, Company B; May 3, Company C; May 4, Company D; May 5, Company E; May 6, Company A; May 7, Company B; May 8, Company C; May 9, Company D; May 10, Company E.

Captain Royden will also arrange for daily drill or ceremony on each day for the period the company doing duty serves, Sunday excepted. The ceremony on Saturday, May 4, and May 11, will be held at 1:30 p. m., and on other days at 3:30 p. m.

This is the program that Major Garber approved in giving the University its rating as one of the universities of the country which complies with all military regulations and which insures it a specified number of candidates for any national training camps for officers to be held in the future. Major Garber requested that this program be advanced to come before May 1 to May 15, thereby obviating the necessity of the University's changing its date from the original program.

President McVey, April 24, heartily approved Captain Royden's suggestion that the battalion should learn practical guard duty in such a manner, and approves his plan of appointing such guard duty as should be necessary to provide for the protection of the University's property and for the guarding of the campus and Trotting Horse Grounds.

Tents will be erected on the University campus for the quartering of the men doing guard duty. The duty will be so arranged that the men will be given sufficient time to return to their homes or boarding houses for meals, one or two men doing guard duty during these periods.

Classes at the University will continue as usual, the men doing duty will be excused for the period required to do said duty, returning to their classes, however, when the duty is completed.

Through such arrangements, the battalion will be able to gain thoro and practical knowledge of sentry and outpost guard duty and for the first time will serve as soldiers in the field. Further details will be given each company by its company commander.

PROF. SENDS CARDS TO WAR DEPARTMENT

Henry S. Cannon, professor of German, has sent a collection of post cards collected during his stay in Germany, to the War Department.

These cards show birdseye views of various cities, public buildings, which may be used for the housing of troops, railroad bridges and contain other information of value to the War Department.

Professor Cannon also had several maps of German river routes and the like, but they mysteriously disappeared, and he has been unable to locate them to send to the government.

The following communication from the War Department has been received by Professor Cannon:

"Permit me to thank you for the trouble you have taken for the War Department in sending to us post cards illustrative of localities now occupied by German forces. These cards will be used to the best possible advantage and your generous action is highly appreciated.

"If you should know of the existence of material of a similar nature I would be glad if you would notify the possessor that it is our desire to obtain such data or if you advise us as to such persons we will write to them direct."

The War Department is especially anxious for pictures and maps west of the line and south from Hamburg.

PROF. McNEAL JAMES HEADS GARDEN WORK

With a view to stimulating food production, more attention is to be given to the home garden movement by teachers of Lexington schools and by the children under supervision of McNeal James, Professor of Vocational Training, University of Kentucky. A supervising teacher has been selected for each of the thirteen schools. Last year, four students of the College of Agriculture took charge of all school gardening and more than fifty acres of ground in the city were cultivated by children.

Each supervising teacher will organize pupils of schools into garden clubs which shall hold regular meetings for instruction. The main purpose of the meetings is to sustain the interest of children in the cultivation of gardens. The supervising teacher will help students plan gardens and prepare soil. Professor James will instruct the supervising teachers.

"BACK UP YOUR BOYS" SAYS SCOTCH CANADIAN

Representative Audience Hears Canadian Officers

MESSAGE APPEALING

Friday was Red Cross day, and probably the most representative audience of the year crowded the chapel to hear Lieutenants H. Y. Smith and C. E. Brown, of the Canadian forces, who spoke at the invitation of the University Auxiliary of the Red Cross. Fifty members in the uniform of nurses were seated on the rostrum. Doctor McVey introduced the speakers.

The Lieutenant Smith heralded himself as "a soldier who would rather go over the top, than make a speech," he held his audience from the first, by the very sincerity of his message, and was interrupted often by prolonged applause. He said in part:

"Come with me to the trenches, exposed at any moment to attack by bombs, machine guns, and all the horrible instruments of war. Come, as I did on my first day in front trenches, to patrol duty, and then, heart in mouth, crawl out into No Man's land to investigate wire, find gaps and if possible learn conditions of the Hun first line."

"It is an hour's trip to crawl 100 yards since you are constantly endangered by the bursting star shells and when at last you are within earshot of the Huns, any man who says he isn't frightened is either a fool or a liar. Every sound is terrible.

"When the troops go over the top for an attack on the enemy's trenches every man has a special mission and every man is after a German. In the attack of June 25, my platoon took the outposts. My men were falling; then I was struck in the shoulder and fell helpless into a trench and stayed there until two hours later when I was taken out by stretcher bearers and thru various stages to the hospital, where I was operated on three times and then finally was moved to an English hospital.

"There are hardships out there in the trenches; weariness, cold, rain, mud, rats and vermin, but the boys will stick. Their motto still is 'They shall not pass.' Deny for these boys as they do for you. In safety, peace and prosperity, don't forget that these soldiers are depending on you."

Lieutenant Brown, who wore the kilties of the Highlanders, said that he went over in 1914, and his first impression was of a little Belgium town which had been occupied by the Germans for six weeks. Its women had been dishonored, its property stolen and its buildings destroyed.

"From that minute," said Lieutenant Brown, "I was dying to get at the Huns.

"I went over the top for the first time with mingled feelings. A day or two was given for preparation and when the hour for attack came the tension was so great that men trembled, not from fear but from excitement. The boys were glad to go, and when the signal came they went over like one man—mad to get at the Huns. The Huns don't like to hear the pipes of the Highlanders. They call us the 'Laddies from Hell.'"

In the second battle of Ypres, Lieutenant Brown, who then held but the rank of sergeant, held with thirty-seven men a sector of the first line.

BELGIAN DESCRIBES KULTUR OF GERMANY

The regular meeting of the Horace Mann Literary Society was held Thursday evening in the Education building. Hubert de Wagenaere spoke on "Kultur and the Collapse of the Superman."

Mr. de Wagenaere gave the several definitions of "Kultur" taken by the various German writers in their works and showed how the German education had been cheating the people of that country for the last fifty years. The speaker went on to prove that the German instead of being the superman is really inferior to the other peoples of the earth.

This can be seen in the fact that England and France with a few months preparation were able to hold Germany, while it took Germany years to prepare. While she is winning now she has not done all she set out to do, and the superman should have the spirit and the power to accomplish all that he sets out to do.

Mr. de Wagenaere is with Victor Bogart and is a Belgian. He sees the war in its true proportions and blames German philosophers and teachers as well as the Kaiser.

FOURTH CAMP

mandant, University of Kentucky, by May 1, 1918."

Those eligible for the Class B division entitling them to commissions when vacancies occur are:

- Elbert R. Dearborn, Cynthiana;
- Richard B. Fenley, Valley Station;
- Karl W. Goomsman, Richmond; Hall M. Henry, Lakeland; Harry L. Milward, Lexington; Harold Parks, Irvington;
- T. Ellis Peak, Lagrange; William S. Hieronymus, St. Helena; William R. Gabbart, Louisville, and Augustus M. Kirby.

It is probable all of the above-named will attend the camp with the exception of Dearborn and Parks. The latter intends to join the navy as a candidate for ensign engineer, and Dearborn has been placed in Class 4-A in the draft on the grounds of being married.

Examination of men who are eligible for the camp began Monday in Captain Royden's office.

The seniors who go into military service now will receive full credit for their year's work and will receive their diplomas in June, according to a recommendation that has been made by a special committee appointed to consider this subject. Underclassmen will not be given credit, and their work will be marked incomplete.

The University is now ranked by the War Department with the best in the country, and henceforth will have the privilege of sending at least twenty-five men to each Training Camp.

His superior officers were all killed, and assuming control, he stood out for four days against odds of twenty to one.

The Huns never reached the parapet, but on the fourth day attacked the Canadians with poisonous gas. The majority of the men died, thirty-two of them, and Lieutenant Brown owes his life to a shell hole, into which he fell.

"As I lay in that shell hole and saw the German planes dropping lights as a signal for their artillery, my thoughts were: 'Have the people at home forgotten us?'"

"Back up your boys. They are worth it."

"BONDS OR BONDAGE" SAYS DOCTOR PORTER

Prophecies the Horrors of Reconstruction After The War

AN INSPIRING ADDRESS

Dr. J. W. Porter, pastor of the First Baptist Church of the city, spoke in chapel Tuesday, on the text, "I can do all things thru Christ which strengtheneth me," emphasizing the importance of will power and determination in character and the necessity of students' perseverance in the purpose to complete their education. Doctor Porter is a fervent patriot, and his stirring words were several times interrupted by applause.

Doctor Porter said that his criticism of mankind was that ours was almost a world without purpose, drifting with no goal. "There are," he said, "two kinds of people—the 'cans' and 'can'ts' and the world's estimate of a man depends on his ability to do things, while the world's greatest weakness, its supremest sin, and its greatest fault is its conceit." He cited the German people, who tried to get along without God, magnified man, and produced their superman, as the horrible example, and predicted that the world war would bring the world to its knees, as a Christless culture is a consuming curse.

Of conditions after the war, Doctor Porter said:

"Greater than the losses in France to this nation will be those who drop along the wayside of learning. The Battle of Books is one of the greatest of battles. Students should remain here until their country calls and then go. The reconstruction days of the late sixties and seventies were nothing to the reconstruction of the universe which will begin the day peace is declared."

No one can call into question the patriotism of Doctor Porter after hearing his address. He declared that if he believed there was a drop of unpatriotic blood in his veins, he would order a surgeon to open them; yet he expressed doubt as to his fitness for a chaplain, in spite of his desire to get overseas, because he would want "to pray Heaven into the German at night and shoot the antithesis of it into them by day."

Doctor Porter also made a plea for the sale of Liberty Bonds, declaring that it was really a question of "Bonds or Bondage," and that people might pay their money and take their choice, or keep it and have their choice thrust upon them.

APPEAL FOR NURSES IS MADE BY NAVY OFFICIAL

Summer Training at Vassar Established For College Graduates.

COURSE IS SHORTENED

The last issue of the News Letter of the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense published an appeal from the Secretary of the Navy for nurses. A description of the training offered college graduates in this field at Vassar is also given. The call and information are published below:

"Every woman who desires to serve her country is interested, I am sure, in the campaign now under way to enlist thousands of nurses in the Army and Navy Reserve Corps. If many of those already trained are to be spared from the large hospitals and the tasks of private nursing, the civilian public will be called upon to make sacrifices in their demand for nursing. At the same time everything possible must be done to increase the number of students in hospital training schools. American women must and will gladly aid the nursing profession to recruit new members, and to maintain health and nursing standards in this country.

"The American Red Cross is establishing at Vassar College a summer college, a summer training camp for nurses in which distinguished specialists will give an intensive preparatory course for college graduates. This makes an important addition to the facilities for training the large number of women required for the great work which the Red Cross is performing. Trained nurses constitute an important part of our national defense; they are rendering a service of the utmost value and I believe many capable young college women will be glad to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the Vassar course this summer to fit themselves for this imperative work. The spirit of loyal service, shown in America by women, has set the pace for the men. We may be sure their response to this call will be so ready that no one in America can say—'There is lack of woman's nursing.'

"JOSEPHUS DANIELS,
"Secretary of the Navy."

"Graduates of approved colleges of high standing who are members of the class of 1918, or belonging to classes of the last 10 years, including 1906, are eligible for the Vassar course. All candidates for admission must be in sound health. The student fee for the course is $95.00. This provides for registration, board, room and laundry. Applications should be addressed to the Training Camp for Nurses, Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

"The Woman's Committee, in executive session, moved to indorse the plan for intensive training of nurses initiated by Vassar. The Vassar alumnae conceived the idea of giving to college graduates of the last 10 years such training as would give a nurse's certificate for three years, in two. Students will have their laboratory work at Vassar during the three summer months, for which a faculty of distinction is promised. The cost will be carried under the Red Cross fund for that purpose, the students paying only a nominal sum for board and laundry.

"When this training is over the best hospitals of the country will open their doors to the students. They will receive without any expense eighteen months' instructive work. Applications

ENGINEERING

Jake Gaiser, of the class of 1912, and his bride were visitors at Mechanical Hall last Wednesday. Mr. Gaiser was married in New York, April 10, and was spending a part of his honeymoon at the University of Kentucky.

J. E. Bolling, class '15, who is mechanical engineer for the Drying Systems, Inc., Chicago, was here Sunday. The Drying Systems is engaged in the dehydration of food products. This, at present, is important work as the Government is using the entire output of these plants for the maintenance of the soldiers abroad. B. B. Russell, of the present senior class, went to Chicago Tuesday to take a position with this firm.

"The ship on which we sailed has arrived safely overseas." This is the information gathered from cards received this week from A. C. Smith and Walter E. Rowe, Jr. These men were both juniors in the College of Civil Engineering this year. Last November they enlisted in the 23rd Engineering Regiment to do reconstruction work in France. After a short training period at Camp Mead, Maryland, they sailed for France about three weeks ago.

TENNESSEE REVENGED IN BASEBALL FRIDAY

McClellan Unable To Hold Lively Tennessee Players

RAIN CANCELS GAME

Kentucky was defeated by the University of Tennessee baseball team Friday, April 19, by a score of 3 to 3.

The game was loosely played with a plentiful supply of errors on both sides. The Wildcats found it difficult to hit Meek, but when a connection was made there was usually work for the outfielders. McClellan pitched for Kentucky and felt the wallop of the southern lads' hits thirteen times.

McClellan tried to win his own game in the beginning of the third period when he took unto himself three bags on a healthy wallop to the field. The rally failed to mature, however, and the inning ended with the score but little advanced.

An opportunity to avenge the defeat the following day was denied the Wildcats by some unfriendly genius who turned on the rain. Later in the season the Wildcats will journey to Knoxville to meet the Volunteers on their home grounds and decide two other games.

UNIVERSITY OF PARIS TO ASSIST AMERICANS

The University of Paris is preparing a special course for Americans to learn the language, literature, art and history of France, according to information received by the University of Kentucky from the United States Bureau of Education. No diploma will be given as it is merely intended to meet the immediate needs of American students.

The social side of students' life has always been a subject of sympathetic attention on the part of French Universities. The Bureau states that an association of professors, called "Accueil Francais" (French Reception) has been formed to look after the well-being of Americans in the schools, to introduce them into French families and French society, where they may acquire the knowledge of the 'real France,' so different from the impressions formed in the streets and cafes."

THE LOAFER, A SLACKER

Since some of the best informed men in this country and abroad have said that food will win the war, and since no one wants barely to exist on short rations, Food Administrator Hoover "expects every man to do his duty." Any one who can add an onion or a potato to the annual food production of the Allies should do so. War gardens are becoming the fashion as well as the necessity.

Many students of the University will engage in work during the summer months; some are preparing for nothing but a loafing "spell." For the few who can afford to, it would be proper to pass the summer in the hammock with a magazine in times of peace, but under present conditions, these few would be, to say the least, grossly unpatriotic. For anything that can add to the food supply of the United States, and the health of the individual is pressingly important. Agricultural students of the University will be especially in demand this summer in cultivating the soil, and in so doing, they will acquire practical experience.

OPPORTUNITY TO SERVE.

In compliance with requests of the Government that the University of Kentucky aid in all phases of war work, co-ed students recently organized a charter of the Red Cross here. The local chapter has been active during the last few weeks. Girls are seen going about the campus every chapel day selling sandwiches and keeping the change, but buyers are heartily in accord with the spirit of their rapacity as the proceeds are used to help the Red Cross. Refreshments have been served at some of the student dances. Last week a dance was given by a certain branch of the chapter, the entire proceeds minus the cost, being devoted to the University Red Cross.

The Kernel heartily commends the work done by this organization and commends the marked success so far attained by it. It also commends the student body for the liberal manner in which it has bought articles and amusement offered for sale by these patriotic girls.

The Red Cross, however, plans larger activities than any yet undertaken. As will be seen in other columns of this paper, a war film of four reels, entitled "How France Cares for Wounded Soldiers," has been procured from the National Surgical Dressings Committee of New York City, by the War Committee, a University organization working in conjunction with the Red Cross chapter, to be shown for the benefit of the Red Cross at the Opera House May 1. As a supplement to the moving pictures, a sketch dealing with the amusement phase of hospital work at the front will be given by The Strollers who recently scored so decided a success in their annual play. The Strollers are rehearsing regularly and propose to make their part of the show come up to Stroller standard.

In behalf of the Red Cross and The Strollers, The Kernel recommends the performance at the Opera House to the students and, in the belief that for the time and money spent they will receive full value, advocates liberal patronage. The entire proceeds from the sale of tickets will be used for war work. One half of the gross receipts of the picture and the sketch will go to the University Red Cross; the remainder will go to the National Surgical Dressings Committee of New York City.

LYKELLE POEM NO. 27.

The next year's sophomore fixed his course
Upon his yellow card.
He said, "They will not on me force
A subject that is hard."
"The easy course I seek
I will elect some Greek."

The freshman lit the fire with kerosene.
His age it was just sixteen.
All the relatives and friends
Are invited to attend,
And the funeral takes place at Evergreen.

Girls Help to Win the War!
Wear short dresses and low necks.
Your health may suffer, but you are saving cloth for our soldiers.

Take the place of the men. Learn to swear.
Don't waste light, especially between seven-thirty and ten o'clock.
Seek the darkness of a picture show or the free illumination of the moon.

Eat white bread and meat three times a day. If you are to carry ten

Don't forget that our men need some aesthetic pleasures. Put the price of

ANOTHER U. K. MAN IS ON WAY "OVER THERE"

Newspapers Monday made mention of the departure of approximately 5,000 officers and men, composing the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth U. S. Infantry and the Twenty-sixth Machine Gun Battalion, from Camp Zachary Taylor to an unknown destination.

This division will probably be in active service. In this battalion is Robert E. Duncan, a former University boy, who enlisted at the declaration of war. With Duncan's arrival in France, the University can claim over fifty men "Over There." It is believed that as many more are there, but definite information has not been received for all them.

LOUISVILLE ALUMNI TO BANQUET TONIGHT

The Louisville alumni of the University of Kentucky, will have their annual dinner at 6 o'clock tonight at Klein's. A large attendance is expected this year because, in addition to the alumni who live in Louisville, and those who are there to attend the meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association, there is a large number of old University of Kentucky men at Camp Zachary Taylor.

President McVey will be the chief speaker at the dinner. Among the other speakers there will be Prof. J. T. C. Noe and Major F. J. Montgomery, 334th Infantry, N. A.

LARGE ATTENDANCE OF UNIV. MEN AT K. E. A.

Professors Well Represented On Educational Program

BANQUET IS TONIGHT

President McVey, a large number of the faculty and many students of the University left yesterday to attend the forty-seventh annual session of the Kentucky Educational Association which is being held in Louisville for three days this week.

A number of the faculty are on the program.

Professor Melcher, Dean of Men, responded to the address of welcome, given by Major General Harry C. Hale, last night at Camp Zachary Taylor, and President McVey is listed to give an address this evening. The President is one of the principal speakers at the alumni banquet to be given tonight. A large number of graduates and former students of the University are expected to attend.

A number of those will be in uniform, as the University is well represented among the soldiers at Camp Zachary Taylor.

Headquarters for the meeting are at the Selbach, and the general sessions, excepting one, are being held in the auditorium of the Boys' high school.

Yesterday afternoon, the visitors were guests at Camp Zachary Taylor. Major General Harry C. Hale appointed a squad of soldiers who conducted the teachers over the camp grounds, showing them its most interesting features. The soldiers' band gave a concert to the visitors upon their arrival. A special patriotic program, arranged by the Entertainment Committee and given at the Liberty Theatre, was given last night.

Another special feature of the meeting this year is the community singing in which the assembly will participate.

Superintendent J. W. Ireland, of Bellevue, has been appointed Musical Director, and the songs of long ago, songs of patriotism, and religious songs will be sung by the members. The programs of the meeting devote several pages to the printing of patriotic and community songs.

President McVey, Dean Melcher, Miss Sweeney, Dean Boyd, Dean Roberts, Professor Rhoads and Professor Cover will make addresses. Professor Grehan, Dr. Tigert and Professor Noe, Dean Anderson, Doctor Pryor, and Doctor Terrill will also attend.

Following is a list of some of the principal speakers and their subjects:

Education and the Way—Hon. Herbert Quick, Federal Farm Loan Board, Washington, D. C.

The Public School the True Melting Pot of the Nation—Superintendent M. A. Cassidy, Lexington.

Woman's Work Under Present War Conditions—Mrs. Henrietta Calvin, Washington, D. C.

The Duty of the Commonwealth—President H. H. Cherry, Western State Normal School, Bowling Green, Ky.

ENGLISH CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the English Club was held Monday evening at the home of Miss Virginia Graham, in Aylesford Place. The program consisted of three papers by members of the club on "An Appreciation of Kentucky." Miss Ruth Mathews spoke upon the use that James Lane Allen made of Kentucky in his books; B. Moonick told of the mountains of our State as seen by John Fox, Jr., while Miss Virginia Graham showed how Lucy Furnam looks at the same part of the State. A chorus of the members sang old Kentucky folk songs, after which refreshments were served and Professor Farquhar, chairman of the "cut up" committee, took charge.

A picnic is being planned by the English Club for the middle of May and all English majors are invited to come and make merry at the last gathering of the year. Professor Farquhar will have charge of this event.

ENTERTAINMENT

Association of New York City, the first reel is composed of authentic scenes of the Battle of Verdun, taken by the government of France. The second shows how the wounded soldiers are cared for from the time they are wounded until they are convalescent in the hospital. The third shows the rehabilitation of the wounded soldier by which he is prepared for future usefulness in civic life and the fourth gives in detail the making of surgical dressings. The story is an absorbing one from beginning to end.

When the picture was made in New York City, American officers were called upon to act in the surgical dressings reel. They did so and their part in the picture was done admirably, but the officers slipped quietly away from the studio and the producing company never learned their names or their identity, hence the mystery of these outstanding characters remains unsolved. They may be Kentucky men. Perhaps they are from Lexington and may have been University of Kentucky students.

McLAIN IN SERVICE

Lee McLain, junior in the College of Arts and Science, left Tuesday for Camp Zachary Taylor to enter the service. McLain was stage manager of the Strollers this year, junior orator and active in other student organizations. He is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity and Alpha Delta Sigma, honorary journalistic fraternity.

University of Kentucky, Lexington.

Doubling School Efficiency by Home Co-operation—Mrs. Frederick Schoff, President Mothers' Congress, Philadelphia, Pa.

A Practical Program of the Patriotic Instruction—Dr. W. Owen, president Chicago Normal School, Chicago, Ill.

Education For Democracy—President W. A. Ganfield, Centre College, Danville.

The French Schools as Seen by an American—Dr. John H. Finley, Commissioner of Education New York.

The French Children at School in War Times—Mlle. M. Clement, Norman School, Nancy, France.

ATTEMPT AT ENTERING MINING BUILDING FAILS

Student Frightens Intruder Off Before He Gains Entrance

NOT THE FIRST TIME

Another entrance to the Mining Building, which was set on fire during the winter supposedly by German agents, was effected late Saturday night or Sunday morning.

About 1 o'clock Sunday morning, John J. Leman, a student of the University, was returning home from Mechanical Hall when he noticed a man standing in the shadow of the building. When Leman approached the man started running at top speed.

This excited Leman's suspicion and an examination revealed that a window in the side of the building was wide open. This window, earlier in the evening, was closed and locked.

One night during the winter the Mining Building caught fire about 11 o'clock and the firemen discovered three separate fires started with coal oil. One was in the basement and the other two on the rafters in the attic.

Many valuable records of the Kentucky mines and other information such as maps and the like, which could hardly be replaced, are stored in the Mining Building. State Supervisor of Mines C. J. Norwood has his offices there.

The night following the firing of the building another attempt was made to set it afire, which was evidenced by several burned matches lying on the floor in the basement. This was followed several nights later by another entrance and this time the intruder broke the telephone.

Deputy Fire Marshal Edward Hite conducted an investigation into the fire and came to the conclusion that the building was set on fire by German agents who hoped to destroy the records and maps of the Kentucky mines with the end in view of hampering the coal production.

This time the intruder inflicted no damage and little importance has been attached to the event. Night watchmen, appointed since the earlier entries guard against any further intrusions.

CATS TO MEET MIAMI NINE ON THEIR FIELD

The Wildcats will leave Friday morning for Oxford, where they will play Miami University in the afternoon.

Coach Park expects a hard game there as there are ten men on the Miami squad who played last year. He hopes to present a team that will at least leave the impression that they played some game. It is probable that Lasley will start the game. He has pitched in only one game, that with Wesleyan, which he won.

The game scheduled with Georgetown to be played last Monday was postponed because of the condition of the field at Georgetown. The game will be played next Tuesday at Georgetown.

MARSHMALLOW TOAST IS SUCCESSFUL "Y" PARTY

Faculty "Take Off" Gets Prize In The Stunts

PRES. McVEY SPEAKS

The lawn of Patterson Hall was the festive scene of a party given by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. to the faculty and students of the University, Friday evening.

Every effort had been made to make this last affair of the year a success, and the committee issued their invitations so cordially that almost the entire faculty and all the students gathered to toast marshmallows around the huge fires that had been kindled in the driveway leading to the Hall, and sing the community songs that have become so popular.

The lawn was ablaze with lights for the bright flames of the fires vied with the gay Jack o' Lanterns hanging in the trees and the silver moon riding on high, to see which could throw the most light on the subject. The reception committee was not hampered with the old idea of making as many people talk to as many people as they could introduce in the time allotted them, but gave wide choice and every one seemed to know to whom it was he wanted to talk.

President McVey spoke to the students informally for a few minutes, saying that he would be glad when he could welcome the students to his own home and give them the opportunity of knowing each other better.

The prize for the best stunt was awarded to a faculty "take off." Those taking part in this were Misses Freda Lemon, Bertha Miller, Eliza Spurrier, Elizabeth McGowan, Mildred Graham, Mary Beall.
