University of Kentucky campus map

WELCOME TO THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

Since you're using this map, you're probably a new student or a visitor to the University. If you possibly have time, be sure to take a tour aboard "Old Blue." The old double-deck English bus, donated to UK by the Alumni Association, leaves from in front of the Student Center Monday through Friday at 2 p.m., and makes the rounds of the campus community. Usually a student tour guide is on hand to give added color to college life, and to explain the many facets of the University and its 20,000-student body.

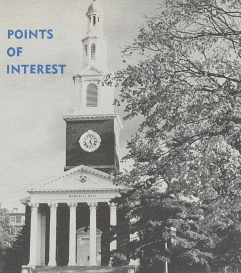

During your tour, you'll view more than 100 major buildings, some old history-laden structures with completely renovated interiors, and some just completed, housing ultra modern teaching and research facilities and equipment. You might keep in mind that in addition to the Lexington Technical Institute the University also includes a dozen community colleges strategically located across the state, bringing college close to home for nearly 15,000 off-campus UK students.

The University at Lexington is broken down into 15 academic colleges—a large number of institutes, bureaus, supportive and administrative offices—and the Albert B. Chandler Medical Center. It is one of the leading research centers in the nation, and has become widely recognized for its outstanding contributions to the improvement of human health.

Perhaps no other university in the nation has made as much progress toward serving the educational needs of the entire population of a state—and to some extent, the nation—with students ranging in age from 16 to over 60, from doctors to truck drivers; from scientist to fireman; from the lawyer to legal secretary to the nurse.

If you would like further knowledge about UK, you may pick up printed materials at the UK Publications Bureau, Room 101, Old Agriculture Bldg., just to the right of the main gate on Limestone Street. Formal arrangements for campus tours can also be made here at University Information Services, phone: 257-2803.

POINTS OF INTEREST

MEMORIAL HALL—More than any other building, Memorial Hall symbolizes the University to the UK alumnus. Originally intended as a chapel in memory of Kentucky's sons who died in World War I, the building now is used primarily for concerts, lectures, and some classes. Its outdoor amphitheatre is used during spring, summer and fall months for classes and student activities.

BLANDING-KIRWAN RESIDENTIAL COMPLEX—A 23-story 522 million housing project on a 25.5-acre site, accommodating 2,644 students in 19 two-40-foot towers and eight low-rise dorms. Units are comfortably furnished for student living with carpeting, central air, TV lounges and snack bars. Observation lounges at the top give an impressive view of the campus, Commonwealth Stadium and Lexington.

PATTERSON OFFICE TOWER—The 19-story tower houses more than 1,000 faculty members, primarily in Arts and Sciences, Library Science, Social Professions, Student Affairs, and the Patterson School of Diplomacy. The top floor has well-appointed meeting and conference rooms, lounges, and an observation area. The WHITE HALL CLASSROOM BUILDING adjoining the Patterson Tower with both underground and above ground walkways, features large modern classrooms which accommodate nearly 4,000 students. It is one of the largest structures of its kind in the nation.

AGRICULTURAL SCIENCE CENTER—Completed in 1972, Ag Science South, a solid concrete structure, is windowless on two sides. Primarily for animal science faculty and students, it accommodates half offices and half labs in the central core. AG SCIENCE NORTH, brick with solar panels, is designed primarily for plant science faculty and students; contains a library, hexagon-shaped auditorium, the National Botanic Research and several administrative offices.

STUDENT CENTER—This low level building with bookstore is one of the most popular spots on campus. It has lounge, meal, snack, club and student rooms, game rooms, cinema and a gallery.

COMMONWEALTH STADIUM—Featuring the latest of stadium designs, the huge steel and concrete superstructure will be the home of the Wildcats for years to come. A gently curved seating facility with twin cantilevered decks provides a spectacular view of the turf section for some 54,000 fans from nearly any point on the field. The facility also contains well-appointed offices for coaches and staff.

DON CASH SEATON SPORTS CENTER—A geometrically-designed building erected in the early 1970's—one of the most unique structures of its kind in the nation—features a large, versatile gym that accommodates several team sports simultaneously, handball courts, physical fitness rooms, research lab, office and classrooms. With bright, attractive decor, and well-equipped with body-building devices, the center is one of the most-used buildings on campus.

THOMAS HUNT MORGAN BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES—A brick and concrete structure, completed in 1974, features laboratory, lecture, seminar, and study rooms and equipment for the study and teaching of plant and animal life processes. Research facilities, including advanced lighting in the foyer, makes an attractive setting for educational endeavors of both students and faculty.
