FRENCHMAN IS GUEST SPEAKER

M. Pierre de Lanux Praises World Court and Points Out that War is Not Inevitable

SPEAKS TO FRENCH CLUB

M. Pierre de Lanux, an ex-soldier of Paris, France, addressed the political science classes yesterday morning in room 232 McVey hall on the political and economic situation now existing in the nations of Europe.

The speaker pointed out that war was the result of temptations which could and had been resisted within the past several months, and that war is not inevitable. Men can prevent war, he said, if they desire to resolve to war all ways and means may be overlooked.

No European nation wants to be alone, the Frenchman pointed out, and they have been trying to prove their neutrality to the world.

Monsieur de Lanux said that he did not believe that Austria would want to join Germany in normal times, but if she did the other nations would not prevent it.

The visitor is spending several days on the University campus, speaking to various organizations. He has worked in France for the League of Nations, and is an ardent follower of the League of Nations and the European situation.

Monsieur Lanux, who is also a noted author and lecturer, was class speaker of honor at the annual banquet of the University French club, Le Cercle Francais, at the club restaurant last night.

At the banquet the "Fleur de Lis" of the University, which is a literary and social organization, pledged five members to its membership. Those pledged were Elizabeth Jett, Irene Montgomery, Margaret Reimann, Ann Todd, Julia Wood, Wunderlich, Jane Freeman, Hope Sullivan, Betty Bewley, Jane Welch, Margaret Mackley, Margaret Jessie Robey, Eleanor Randolph, Evelyn Alister, Ruby D. The retiring commission members will install the new members at services to be held on Tuesday, April 16, in Patterson hall.

MEAN OLD CALENDAR SAYS WE GOTTA GO HOME FOR VACATION

From Thursday, 8 a. m. to Tuesday, 8 a. m. classes will be dismissed for the Easter holidays, according to an announcement in the University calendar.

Just who is responsible for the University calendar we are not certain. No doubt the person or group involved in its publication mean well. Surely they harbor no thought of malice toward hard-working, law-abiding students.

Year in and year old they have been faithful to the trust.

Such devotion and fidelity does not deserve criticism. With so much crookedness in the world today, honesty and fair play are so scarce that we should be thankful for what we can get.

It is in spite of a deep respect for the multitudinous virtues and their unshaken beliefs it has, nevertheless, been deemed necessary to offer a derogatory comment on their activities as shown in the University calendar.

At the present time large numbers of students are attending classes almost daily. Many others manage to attend at least half of the time. A few are working on even paper as they due yet for another month. A goodly number are parading in true military style. And practically all are engaged in some of the most watery weather every recorded in the history of the University. Many and varied are the fields of endeavor in which is average student is enjoying himself.

And now we ask you— Is it just? Is it fair? Should the person or group who put out the University calendar be allowed to print the notice, "Thursday, 8 a. m. to Tuesday, 8 a. m. Easter holidays," and thereby deprive students for four whole days of all the pleasure of attending this institution learning?

Should they have the authority to tell students to drop all work and do nothing for the better of a week but loaf? Should they prevent the "determined to get an education" student body of this University for the more Commission be as a result of the University calendar? The decision, dear student, we leave to you.

$400 IS STOLEN FROM SORORITY

Kappa Kappa Gamma House Is Looted by Thief While Occupants Are at Banquet

TWO WATCHES STOLEN

A loot approximating $400 or more, was discovered following a check-up conducted Sunday at the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority house after a thief had ransacked the house Saturday night while the members were attending a pro-nice banquet.

An early estimate placed the loss at $20, a flashlight and a clock. The Sunday inventory, however, showed the loss over $100 in cash and other articles valued at upward of $300, including two pearl necklaces, two wrist watches, a pair of earrings, a diamond ring, two cameras, two flashlights, two purses, and a small amount of clothing.

The third and final step is the application of paint, color, and Bronx cheer from the barnyard fowls, is an Easter-egg.

The first step in this procedure of circumvention is to deprive the protesting bird of her eggs.

The second step consists of placing the egg in boiling water until it is of a hard and durable quality.

But since it isn't a very simple matter to interview rabbits in the bushes, we decided to deal only with the eggs.

When Mr. McPadden said that he had Easter eggs he was referring, of course, to the season of the year, and not the various colored cavity ovoids which constitute the popular idea of Easter eggs.

It seems that the chicken has her own ideas about what the color of an egg should be. And— "You can't change any hen's mind," Mr. McPadden avows. "She just naturally lays an egg of the color she wants it to be and that's that."

Not even the arrival of the Easter holiday will cause her to shift her opinion.

Consequently it often becomes necessary for the human race in its quest for the proper wherewithal by which Easter is celebrated to circumvent that obstinate "ole critter," the hen.

Willis Leads Cat Thinsies In 85-32 Victory Over Vandy In Opening Track Meet

Sprinter Is First in 100, 220 Dashes, High and Low Hurdles for 20 Points

MILE RELAY PROVES HARD FOUGHT EVENT

Wildcat Freshmen Star in Unofficial Role in Two Mile Run

Ben Willis, sophomore, took first place in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and the high and low hurdles, scoring 20 points to lead the Wildcat track team to an 85 to 32 victory over the Vanderbilt Commodores, Saturday afternoon, on Stoll field.

The Kentucky thinsies outclassed the Commodores in every event except the high jump and the discus, and the pole vault in which Hay, Kentucky, and Campbell, Vanderbilt, tied for first place. The Cats took first place in twelve events and scored second in seven, while Vandy registered only two firsts and six seconds.

Probably the closest race of the afternoon was the mile relay, which was won by the Kentucky quartette. Nearly every lap was run neck and neck until Gates, Kentucky anchor man, pulled away from the Vanderbilt man to cross the finish line just two yards ahead.

Hocker and Spragens took first and second in the two mile run for Kentucky, but they finished over a half a lap behind Dave Rogan, Middleboro, and Joe Moore, Washington, D. C. both Kentucky freshmen who were allowed to run in the race to increase the field. Rogan's time in this event was 10:55 and he looked extremely well as he sprinted the last half lap with apparent ease.

The summary: 100 yard dash—Willis, K. Black, V. Time 10.5. 220 yard dash—Willis, K. Black, V. Time 23.1. 440 yard dash—Miller, K. Stewart, V. Time 56.6. 880 yard run—Ford, K. Travis, K. Time 2:12.3. Mile run—Ford, K. Hocker, K. Time 4:55.5. Two mile run—Hocker, K. Spragens, K. Time 11:26.9. 120 yard high hurdles—Willis, K. Coffman, K. Time 16.4.

220 yard low hurdle—Willis, K. Harvey, V. Time 27.5. Shot put—Rupert, K. Olah, K. Distance, 40 feet, 3 inches. Discus—Beck, V. Rupert, K. Distance 115 feet, 6 inches. Javelin—Symple, K. McMillan, K. ## Alleged Communists To Be Investigated In Illinois City

Chicago, April 15—(INS)—An immediate investigation of alleged communist activities in Illinois educational institutions will be demanded of the state legislature tomorrow, State Senator Charles W. Baker declared today.

The first witnesses to be brought before the legislative inquiry, if the resolution is approved, will be Charles E. Walgreen, head of a national drug chain system, and Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, Senator Baker declared.

Walgreen charged that the University of Chicago is a hotbed of subversive propaganda, in withdrawing his niece, Miss Lucille Norton, from the University.

The druggist offered to submit proof of radicalism in university classes before an open meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Rejection of the offer by President Hutchins was bluntly scored by Senator Baker, who declared:

"The university should welcome this opportunity to clear itself of grave charges. Mr. Walgreen is not the only patriotic American who believes that communism has gained a foothold in the university."

Meanwhile, prominent alumni began organizing with a view to investigating the charges of radicalism on the campus. "We would welcome a fair inquiry," a spokesman said. "We do not wish to injure the inherent right of academic freedom—but we cannot permit a small group to agitate for the overthrow of the government."

At Northwestern University, it was learned, trustees are engaged in a quiet inquiry into radicalism and are taking steps toward the elimination of the agitators.

Radicals Get Ultimatum At Michigan College

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 15 (INS)—Student radicals who have kept things in a turmoil for months at the University of Michigan, today pondered the ultimatum of President Alexander G. Ruthven—an ultimatum which amounted to an order to "calm down or get out."

Stirred by state-wide criticism of the doings of parlor punks and campus communists, Doctor Ruthven declared that radical teachings and influences will no longer be tolerated.

"The work of the university has been interfered with by the pervasive activities of a few professional agitators," his statement said. "Students who are known to have interfered with the proper conduct of university affairs, and with the work of their fellows, are being investigated and necessary action will be taken promptly."

The Knights Templar at a recent meeting in Grand Rapids, issued a warning to the university that funds made available by the order to help needy students would be withdrawn from students who refuse to take an oath of allegiance to the United States government.

W.A.A. News

By BETTY EARLE

Just a few important announcements to make and then we're all off for a holiday (and don't anybody make a crack about the little word "off"). The natural dancing club will meet today at 4 p. m. in the Women's gymnasium instead of tomorrow at that time. Then beginning next Tuesday there will be archery daily on the athletic field behind Patterson hall at 3 p. m. At 4 p. m. each day beginning next Tuesday there will be baseball. Both of these are minor sports of W.A.A. and will count 50 points toward an athletic award.

"NEW DEAL" LAWS ASSAILED

Washington, April 15—(INS)—The Supreme court convened for decisions today with a decision on constitutionality of the Railroad Pension act among the probabilities. The court also had under advisement another "New Deal" law—the Lemke 5-year Farm Moratorium act—which was assailed as unconstitutional by the Louisville Joint Stock Land Bank.

I Looked Into The Flames
Today I looked upon the warm hearth
Alone, and sadly cast
My weary eyes into the bright flames,
And the flames have passed.

For early in the blue tinged morn
My heart and I had dreams
I threw my heart to the winds,
And now it flows cold streams.

The winds were kind and soft but
Her eyes were deepest blue,
And caring not she broke my heart
And swiftly passed from view.

I hope I dreamed my heartbreaks
But it was far too real.
She tore my soul with mystic touch,
A raper-etched thrill.

During his recent trip to Europe, Alfred A. Knopf bought the American rights to a Swedish novel, "The Old Man's Coming," by Gustaf Gustaf-Jonson, and the book is one now being translated for publication as soon as possible. It is a best-seller in Sweden.

I have a spirit to be filled? What matter now the rush of time? I have a spirit to be filled. A wanderer in fields afar, Away from things I strive to learn. A rope or chain of hardness strong Can never hold my mind in check. A flash of fire, a note of bird, The wailing wind, the bending tree, The arching wave on blue of dew, A song that lifts or lowers my head: All these and countless score on score

Are each a blade so keen and swift, No bond can keep my soul from flight Into the realm of timeless time, Where only food of sweetest taste

Is served to fill my hungry heart. Then back I come, my spirit filled, To do the work I had begun. —R. K. T.

Shelved by a Sheba?

light an Old Gold

Anti-war dramas are notoriously futile as peace-makers, and so Mr. Van Druen's "Flowers of the Forest" will probably stifle no battle school as the most-entertaining Mr. Van Druen is not constructive, and while seeking to destroy the world's worst habit, offers no practical way in which to cure it. He suggests that we should be too proud to go to war. In "Flowers of the Forest" he gives a view of the filthy ruin wrought by the murderous hatred and fear of each nation for the other and falls to prescribe a correction. Do you, he seems to ask, love your country well enough to fight for it? Is your government, in either right or wrong, worth the obscene sacrifices involved in its inevitable quarrels? Are the Stars and Stripes, or is the Union Jack, with all the values those banners symbolize, deserving of your defense of them at the cost of your life, liberty and pursuit of happiness?

Mr. Druen convinces the reader that his war is hell and that the use the gym since it would give the school a fine advertisement over a national radio network. However, I think that Derby Eve is a bad time for the dance.

Answer: Jean Pat Bell, "I think that it is a good idea but I know of many other bands that I would rather hear. However, he'll be there."

Answer: Amelia Denton, "We should have Rudy here so that we shall have had a good band here at least once, and I believe that he will suffice."

Answer: Katherine Reid, "Except for the fact that the dance is on Derby Eve, it is a fine idea."

Answer: Martha Louise Shipp, "Indoubtedly, he should be allowed to play in the gym."

Answer: "Red" Kerr, "I think it is a good idea if they will bring over and let the dormitory girls go."

Answer: "Moon" Garling, "It will give the University plenty of good publicity and the students a good dance and floor show, so let them have the gym."

Answer: Ben Taylor, "One time when we have the chance we should have a good band here that will put this thing on the map."

Answer: Dave Salyers, "I think that it would give the University more publicity than any other social activity of the year."

AND SO FAREWELL!

When the time comes for the editor and his staff to give over the reins of the paper to those who are to follow, it is only natural that we should look back over the last year and view with pride our accomplishments while we look to those who are to succeed us to carry out the things in which we have temporarily failed.

However, the last time we listed some of our deeds and aims we received a letter from a gentleman in Texas saying that the editorial should be put to the tune of "I Love Me." Consequently, feeling somewhat abashed, we shall not attempt to catalog the things that we have done or the things we have failed to do, but simply say this, "We've tried and tried hard."

IF A MAN DIE, SHALL HE LIVE AGAIN?

Spring; Easter; the terms seem synonymous—the rebirth, the re-awakening of grass and flowers and symbol of the resurrection of Christ. We all are familiar with the stories of the crucifixion and of the risen Christ, and as the Easter time draws near we look to them once more for hope, guidance, and inspiration.

How beautiful, how powerful are such statements as Paul's conclusion after Jesus had appeared to him on the way to Damascus. "Now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept." How magnificent, how stupendous indeed is the entire Bible, the entire Christian faith! Yet ever into our brain creeps this thought, behold we know not anything! The more we consider the problem, the more perplexed we become until we can only conclude that we can reach assurance only through our own faith. Blind faith perhaps, groping faith, but powerful.

Having had intellectual problems raised, we are unable to accept the Bible literally. We cannot believe that heaven and earth were created in seven days and such and such a time, and we would just as quickly take for granted that Jonah swallowed the whale as that the whale swallowed Jonah. Taken in this light religious symbolism, in another all emotionalism. We ask more and more often "Where is the intellectual division?" In regard to the report of Christ's resurrection from the tomb, we can only hope that it means for us individual rebirth. The symbolism is superb, but can it be literally? Considered logically it may mean everlasting life in another sense. In the fall the grass dies. In the spring new shoots of green begin to grow from the same spot. The grass lives again, but not the same blades of grass that withered last fall. Those withered leaves were used to fertilize the roots that the new spring might have its chance at the sunlight. Thus the round continues and in the same manner may not human life? Studies in evolution and heredity seem to do more than merely suggest this. The characteristics, the personality that makes us the different individuals we are is passed on to our posterity. Is this everlasting life?

Branches of our religion vary widely. In some, notably the Catholic division, the symbolism is emotionalism. Everything is done to create the atmosphere. Symbolism is predominant and the majority do not get beyond the symbolism. It is, and should be, the last thought we would consider for a moment to indicate or even possess contempt or derision for any man's religious beliefs. A person needs something beyond himself, a power which he feels can aid him and give him comfort in times of distress. If a man has any semblance of this, we would not take it from him.

Christianity itself has been the greatest influence for good the world has ever known. The philosophy of Christ never has been surpassed, nor is it likely to be. As to the supposition of a heaven and hell, a Judgment day, and rewards for the faithful, it is up to the individual and his beliefs. But despite all appealing doubts, we cannot help but feel that there is some great power behind it all; otherwise how futile is this whole existence? Whether that in that inexplicable something we term the soul returns to some central point or whether as the last breath expires, so passes another twig, we do not know. For alas, we have no proof, only faith!

THE GOOSE-STEP INVASION

The Senate has added $1,433,374 to the House War Department appropriation of $3,452,304 for setting up 113 new Reserve Officers Training Corps units in high schools and colleges. The item, if accepted in conference, will increase the present student R. O. T. C. enrollment of 148,000 by 30,000 to 178,000 youths. Probably most of the new units will be in high schools and doubtless drill will be compulsory in most units.

In the same War Department bill the Senate has added $1,560,000 to the $1,000,000 House item for enlarging Citizens' Military Training Corps camps. This increase would enable the enrollment of 37,500 young men, instead of 14,000 under the House bill.

The House also has before it two bills, one backed by Chief of Staff MacArthur, further militarizing the Civilian Conservation Corps. They would add two months to CCC enlistments to prepare the young woodsmen for a five-year course in the auxiliary reserve force.

To what end, sober-minded Americans are asking, are these martial gestures on Capitol Hill? Even were we faced by danger of an invading foe, which we are not, these methods would not advance effective preparedness. Perhaps the purpose is what some are pleased to call "educational."

DR. ROBERT A. MILLIKAN Doctor Millikan in his address before the students of the University demonstrated his ability and initiative as an interpreter of world affairs as well as a leader in the field of physics. Such interest and knowledge of things material and unconnected with that field in which he has gained special renown is a tribute to one of the most famous of living scientists.

In Dr. Millikan is found the ideal student and teacher. He has not only made great advances by means of intensive research and discovery in the field of science but has kept "abreast of the times" and what is going on in the world. He maintains his position as an indefatigable searcher for and proclaimer of truth.

Referring to several of the issues at stake today as being sinister and subversive threats against the American ideal of a free and self-governing people, he recalled Lord Macaulay's fateful prophecy of 1848 when he said that the destruction of our system of self-government would come in a time of depression when, under the pressure of ignorance, those in control would act to prevent the operation of economic laws and the return of prosperity.

The stupendous bonus racket was cited as an example of a case where a selfish minority, if successful in its endeavor, would cause others to clamor for a "share" and bring further decay and usurpment of the democratic powers of our system of government.

There are also the purely emotional appeals of the irrational, as evidenced in Louisiana and California in the past few years. These situations are accurate and clear demonstrations of the dictatorship of the incompetent. Such a man is to be recognized not only for his achievements in a narrow but important field, but also for his keen insight and understanding of human nature and sharp analysis of the universal situation today. The world needs more of such men—they are invaluable in solving the problems facing it today and putting it back on an even keel.

A COLLEGE EDUCATION

In a recently published pamphlet, "College Career and The American Fraternity System," C. H. Freeark, author, attempts to give reasons why a person should go to college. Mr. Freeark is well qualified to give views on the subject of a college education inasmuch as he spent five years in the business world and two years in France during the World War before entering college as a full time student. For the last five years he has been in the commercial field of managing college fraternity chapters. He says:

"Everyone cannot make a success of a college career and more than every person can gain fame and fortune as a musician or surgeon. A university education, like other callings in life, requires qualifications. Everyone does not possess them. On the other hand it is well to consider the idea that one who can not successfully do university work is mentally inferior and incapable of anything in life above common labor. Such a thought is utterly ridiculous. Even though a student may not be financially able or care to complete a college career, the contacts gained and the observations employed will be valuable and the time not be wasted."

"Many studies have been made to show the earning power of a college graduate over a period of years as compared with that of a non-college man. They have definitely proven that the earnings of a college trained person will average higher than those of one who did not attend an institution of higher learning. This picture is weakened in the minds of many by certain specific instances of persons who have attained a higher degree of business and social success without the benefit of a college education. The fact should not be overlooked that in questions of this kind a great number of cases must be taken into consideration and that the averages rather than the few specific cases represent the true picture."

"History seems to verify the conclusion that an education is an important consideration in the lives of the leaders of a nation, but this does not necessarily mean those who are educated in college, but college graduates who are found in greater numbers than non-college people among such leaders. "The parents of American youth feel that a college education is desirable and necessary, yet are precious few who have attended college, who could give a comprehensive statement of what they want their children to get out of college or what a college career has to offer. It is the thing to do and that seems to be sufficient.

"A college course is for those who are interested in the 'why' of things. This does not mean that a college man can not also be practical. With a knowledge of the theory and fundamental principles, the practical phase becomes more interesting and more practical. The practical man is restricted to what he has been told, read or stumbled over. The theoretical man knows no limit to the practical application of the fundamentals except his reasoning powers and imagination.

"Some of the greatest benefits of college, however, are not secured from the classroom. College brings together in a small compact community, students from every walk of life: from cities, towns and rural areas. The students represent every conceivable social and economic strata, every school of religious thought, every philosophy of life.

"One of the real thrills enjoyed by the faculty and others who are in a position to observe students at college is to watch the development of the new students. The student's horizon is broadened through contact with a class of students who were born and reared in an environment decidedly different from their own. It is a great melting pot from which the student gains some benefits in spite of their best efforts to prevent it."

Mr. Coffman, Shucks, and we had a nice run de plume that we intended to use the week-end. Now John Q. worked pretty well. Joe Quinn's your sport, C. H. Freeark, author, attempts to give reasons why a person should go to college. We are told that if we mention a certain name in this column we will have our back broken. So here it is—Cliff Collins. And we understand that Grace Fiddler, the popular ex-coed from Chicago who attended Kentucky last year, and Cliff have ended a long romance.

OH, DOCTOR

We all know that Kappa Georgia Turnipseed, the Mayville farmer, had her appendix removed last Wednesday. But your correspondent learned a few things about Turnipseed that some readers may not know.

METALLURGY

TODAY WE WILL TAKE UP THE DIVISIONS OF METALLURGY—CHEMICAL AND MECHANICAL TREATMENT OF THE ORE.

PIPE URGE

THE BEST WAY TO EXTRACT FLAVOR FROM MILD, MELLOW, NO-BITE PRINCE ALBERT! IT'S THE TOP!

Wednesday afternoon, when coming out from under the ether, George yelled at the top of her voice, "Where is Hal? I love Hal." This was repeated far into the night. We went over to Room 324, G. B. Hall, to see Georgia again Sunday. We entered the room, having dark circles under our eyes after a riotous time at the fine dance given by the Alpha Sigma Phi Saturday night, where we met Mrs. Turnipseed. We think Mrs. Turnipseed is a most charming person, but still more charming after she said, "Georgia may be in love now, but she'll get over it as she did the measles when she was eleven years old."

Jane the Crain And we are certainly glad to see Chlo Crain, the blonde bombshell, up and around after a recent illness that took her to the hospital. We will take this opportunity to let Jane that we were only kidding her about the ride to Chicago in an aeroplane that we had arranged for her for Easter vacation.

At the last moment, we learn the truth about the guy Coffman and the white horse business that he mentioned last week. Although he is in a limited way, to associate with each other which brings about an exchange of ideas, experiences and philosophies. Removed from the restrictions and authority of the home, a student is released among others of his own intelligence and social expertise where he must make his way entirely on his own initiative and responsibility.

From Garters to Pin, Huh? We have definite proof that Sigma Chi Bill Crady presented Chlo Ann Stevenson with a pretty pair of red and white garters. Nice go! Bill, she needs 'em. And Bill says that this is only a starter; he claims that he is going to pin her next.

Those Sigma Nus Have the Sigma Nus "gone" Chlo Ann Stevenson and her friends have Harold Davidson and Boo Houllihan, both of the Sigma Nu lodge, have been seen courting Marie Vernon and Katherine Reid, respectively, in a serious manner during the past few months. We wonder if the spring weather will bring out a couple of pins?

Too Much Correspondence Saturday, Phi Delta John Bell received a postal card from a little girl who needed an extra copy of the card is reproduced here—"Don't write so much, John, your grades will go down."

Kelly the Cop, says, "Now that the weather is getting better, I'm gonna have lots of fun in the botanical gardens with my new flashlight." Doctor Funkhouser, when handing back exam papers in heredity class, explained, "A big X on your paper doesn't mean love and kisses."

Robbery The Kentucky Kappas certainly did impress the visiting Kappas who were in Lexington for the province convention last week-end. In fact one pretty little girl from L. S. U. will probably never forget the visit. She lost $63 when the Kappa house was looted by a thief Saturday night. Dot Curtis reports that a box of pennies that she had been saving for several years was stolen. She was saving these pennies to purchase rocking chairs for the standing army.

Drippings from the Quill Richie Baker, Helen Irvine, and Nancy Lou Coleman are the sweetest trio of coeds on the campus. Law students should be careful where they park... The SAE boys are convinced that Buddy Dallas' power is slipping after a certain red-headed coed recently broke a date with him... Herb Collins is missing from the Sigma Nu lodge for three days, and no one knew of his whereabouts... Lou Hennegen and Carrie Schere make a keen pair... Joe Arvin was seen doing some serious courting with Anna Bess Clark in Turnipseed's room in the hospital... Ernie Fall has been slipping out of the SAE house, supposedly unknown to the inmates, to have dates with Marge Fieber...

SOME OF THE DIFFERENT PROCESSES FOR SEPARATING THE MINERAL FROM THE GANGUE ARE: GRAVITY SEPARATION, FLOTATION, MAGNETIC SEPARATION.

IF YOU WANT TO BRING US YOUR BUSINESS DATES (AND) INGA-GARD WELDING WE CAN HELP YOU.

PRINCE ALBERT IS AMERICA'S FAVORITE PIPE TOBACCO. 2 OUNCES IN EVERY TIN OF PRINCE ALBERT. A CHEER FOR TOP QUALITY TOBACCO.

Johnny Ennis, the Tavern's expert soda jerker, has a twist on Nancy Lou Coleman... Kappa Mary Lally's mother reads the Kernel, so Mary "catches it" every time her name appears in this column... Eleanor Warren says that she likes a lot of publicity... Walt Hillemeier says that he would like to see his cousin's name (Louie Hillemeier) in this rotten column... Professor Webb offers his Physics class a scientific formula for the angle at which to hold an umbrella... Charlie Meads confesses his love for Mayme Maddox. The college boys have apparently overlooked a charming transfer named Mary Jane Albritton that puts her shoes under the bed at Fatt hall... Jack Howard will do most anything to meet Louise Broadmont, the pretty little girl that is taking graduate work at the University... Swede Youngberg "winds up" the Alpha Sig dance Saturday night with two dates... As Nancy Dyer is back in town, Nate Elliot is no more himself... When Sam Kennedy can't get Mary Todd on the phone at Patt hall, he leans his head out of the Tavern and hogs calls her... Bill Smith has evidence concerning the Kappa robbery.

Now that spring weather is setting in, after three weeks of gloom, we will expect the college boys to hang their fraternity pins on a few of the coeds so that we will have something to write about in the future.

Translating the symbols, the Tokyo telephone operator says, "The connection is made—go ahead, please." Meaning that now you can talk to Japan from any telephone in the Bell System.

Interestingly, Japanese was the first foreign language ever transmitted by telephone—when in the winter of 1876-77 three Japanese students at Harvard visited Alexander Graham Bell in Boston. These men have lived to see the day when they can talk with Boston from their homeland!

Seeking to put the whole world on such easy speaking terms, Bell System service now enables you to reach more than 93% of the world's 33,000,000 telephones.

Why not drop in at home tonight—by telephone? For a lot of pleasure at bargain rates, call by number after 8:30 P.M.

Roosevelt's "Must" Bills Face Crisis In Congress

Washington, April 15—(INS)—While making slight adjustments, President Roosevelt's most important recovery bills, Congress ended its fourteenth week today facing a hedge-pegged program at both ends of the capital.

The President's new NRA, public utility, labor disputes and banking reform bills were buried in committee. His AAA bill, reported by a Senate committee, has failed to reach the floor, while reports are being prepared. His new social security bill was under debate in the house, with its passage forecast there this week, but it was also buried along with the others in a Senate committee.

Administration leaders were threatening to use the party whip on both House and Senate in an effort to speed the legislative pace. They were concerned especially by dilatory handling of the bill, extending the NRA for another two years. It must be passed by the middle of June, when the National Recovery Act expires June 16, and few bills of such controversial character have gone through House and Senate within so short a time.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS, PASSING OF RESOLUTIONS CLOSING MEETING OF KENTUCKY EDUCATIONAL ASSO'N

Election of officers and passing of resolutions brought to a close Friday night the annual three-day meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association held in Lexington, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of last week.

Approximately 7,500 teachers, school officials and prominent educators attended the meeting this year, increasing over the previous year over last year at least one half. All general sessions were held in Memorial auditorium, while special meetings and luncheons were held in various hotels.

Porter H. Hopkins, superintendent of Somerset schools and a member of the board of directors, was elected president for the ensuing year, succeeding Howard Payne, president of Morehead State Teachers College. Hopkins was chosen over the school superintendent of Sturgis schools, T. W. Oliver, superintendent of Pikeville city schools, was chosen vice-president, and F. McWhorter, Washington county superintendent, second vice-president, both without opposition.

The last general session Friday night heard an address by Dr. Robert A. Millikan, chairman of the California. Doctor Millikan outlined "disturbing trends" in the affairs of the country, and the "soldiers' bonus movement and the situation in Louisiana. He urged a balanced budget and elimination of graft.

Resolutions adopted by the delegate assembly, the governing body of the organization, during the session were one thanking the 1934

Berlin, April 15—(INS)—Charging him in an official government statement with treason, the German government today rejected Switzerland's demand for the release of Berthold Jacob, anti-Nazi journalist held for trial here. ### KENTUCKY BOYS RECEIVE AWARDS

Four State Students Given College Scholarships Under Plan Sponsored by Montgomery Ward Firm

Montgomery Ward officials announced here today that four Kentucky youths had been awarded scholarships under the college scholarship plan recently inaugurated by the company.

The first four persons to win in Kentucky are, according to the statement of Joseph E. Dyer, president: Donald Hales, Jackson; W. M. Cain, Irvington; and Homer W. Barrett, Pikeville, who achieved this distinction in the order named.

Under provisions of the plan there are no limitations as to the age of the applicant and scholarships are awarded when the required number of credits for merchandise orders have been obtained by the applicant.

The plan, according to company officials, makes college, university, or specialized education training possible for many who might otherwise not be able to secure it. Wards adopted the plan only after it was approved by a number of leading educators. Although the plan was announced only last August it has been enthusiastically received in all parts of the country, thousands already having enrolled.

Of the four Kentucky winners, Dyer and Hales are enrolled at Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College at Richmond, Cain attends Western Kentucky State Teachers College at Bowling Green, and Barrett is a student at Pikeville College at Pikeville.

ANDY ANDERSON AND ORCHESTRA RECEIVE MANY COMPLIMENTS AND WIDE ORCHESTRAL RECOGNITION

The many compliments on "Andy" Anderson and his orchestra by the large number of music and dance lovers who have heard his orchestra, has quickly brought this band to the front. Andy has played for numerous campus dances, fraternity and sorority dances, and inaugurated the "Wednesday night" dances.

His rumbas, sweet music, waltzes and jigs, together with the thrilling contralto solos, rendered by Ruby Dunn, star of radio station WHAS, and beauty contest winner, have rated him as "the tops."

"Andy" has not only gained fame as an orchestra leader, but also thrilled the witnesses of the Kentucky-New York basketball game last winter in Madison Square Garden with his shifty ball playing, which helped to win for him unanimously the captaincy of the Wildcat team for the 1935-36 season. He began his musical career with Johnnie Johnson and his orchestra, and was tutored by Pop Kohnman, of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra.

Features of "Andy's" orchestra include "Four Brass," consisting of three trumpets and one trombone, and the saxophone section, containing two flutes, a bassoon, two tenors, and two baritone.

The twelve men in the band, all of conservatory calibre who expect to pursue musical careers, have played for dances with twelve to fifteen hundred persons in attendance, and have entered into competition against such orchestras as Jan Garber, Johnny Hamp, Jack Miles and Carlos Molino.

They have played at the Swiss Gardens in Cincinnati, the Phoenix and LaFayette hotels in Lexington, the Brown hotel and the Richmond Club in Louisville, and for numerous dances throughout the Bluegrass and Queen City section.

The orchestra has received several offers for the summer season from clubs in Cincinnati, Louisville, Detroit, and Chicago; but Andy hasn't decided which one he will accept.

Billy Stegmeier, a member of the orchestra, has achieved success for his orchestration and his compositions. Other members of Andy's orchestra include Billy Butterfield, who was featured with Henry Thies for one season; and Jack Bryden, who is the drum, marimba, and xylophone soloist.

In New York, recently, Anderson met Haven Gilpy, author of "Santa Claus is Coming to Town," "Honey You're an Old Smoother," "Tin Pan Parade" and other hits, who complimented his orchestra very highly, and introduced Andy to

SENATE FLAYS FARM PROGRAM

The Roosevelt farm program today faced a furious attack in Congress. Striking similarity between the development of the battle against the AAA to that which brought the NRA to its present state was seen by close observers.

The situation already has become so acute that Administration leaders in Congress see little hope for final enactment of the drastic AAA amendments unless Congress remains in session for months.

With New England textile interests leading the assault on the program, the so-called "left wing" farm groups were massing forces behind substitute farm programs.
