1986 CKJF BOARD ANNOUNCED

Michael Ades and Dr. William Levy have been elected as new members of the CKJF board of directors. Gloria Katz, Erle Levy and Joe Rosenberg have been re-elected.

The results of the voting, which was conducted in a mail ballot, were announced at the December meeting of the federation's board by Marilyn Moosnick, chairwoman of the Nominating Committee. All five were elected to three-year terms.

Gloria, Erle and Joe were reconfirmed as members of the Executive Committee along with Sheila DeKosky, first vice-president and Terry Wilson, secretary, at the January board meeting. Elected for one-year terms as members-at-large of the Executive Committee were Gail Cohen and Leon Ravvin.

Reappointed to the board for three-year terms were Robert Baumann, representing B'nai B'rith; Simone Salomon, representing Ohavay Zion Synagogue; and Nat Sandler, representing Temple Adath Israel.

Janice Brock has been named to fill the unexpired elected term of Halley Faust, who has resigned. In addition, Stanley Rose was named to fill the unexpired term of Martin Barr, who resigned his post as one of three board representatives of Temple Adath Israel.

In other action, President Katz announced the appointment of Dr. Nat Sandler as chair of the Community Activities Committee, Evelyn Geller to succeed Dr. Sandler as chair of the Social Services Committee, and Marilyn Moosnick as chair of the Community Relations Committee. Charlotte Baer is continuing as the C.R.C. co-chair.

Gail Cohen is continuing as general chair of the Campaign Committee, assisted by Men's Division Chair Dr. Robert Baumann, Women's Division Chair Simone Salomon, and Israel Bonds Chair, Charles Stern. Super Sunday 1986 co-chairs are Vinnie Dubilier and Joe Rosenberg. Also, continuing as chair of the Budget and Allocations Committee is Evelyn Geller.

President Katz announced that every member of the board is required to serve as a member of one or more of the committees. Members of the community are also urged to participate in one or more of the CKJF committees. For more information about committee participation, contact the appropriate committee chair or CKJF Administrator Judy Saxe.

Michael Ades is a trustee and past president of Ohavay Zion Synagogue, past co-chairman of NCCJ, past board member of CKJF and past chairman of the Men's Division campaign. He is an attorney.

Bill Levy was ticket chairman of the 1984-85 Forum and a participant in the first CKJF mission to Washington, D.C. He is an anesthesiologist.

Gloria Katz is the federation's incumbent president, Joe Rosenberg is second vice president, and Erle Levy is treasurer.

Janice Brock is on the CKJF Women's Division board, a member of Interact, and was a participant of the first CKJF mission to Washington, D.C.

Stanley Rose is a past president of the Temple, past chairman of the UJA campaign and a past member of the CKJF board. He is president of Factory Services, Inc.

A complete list of the 1986 CKJF board appears on page 16.

CKJF BUDGET & ALLOCATION PROCESS TO BEGIN

CKJF's budget and allocation committee will meet next month to discuss which charities, outside of the United Jewish Appeal should receive money from the federation.

The committee welcomes suggestions for funding, both for Jewish and non-Jewish charities. The deadline for submitting them is Feb. 14 and they should be sent to the committee's chair, Evelyn D. Geller, 3493 Sutherland Drive, Lexington, 40502.

CKJF sends 70 percent of the money it raises through the General Campaign to the UJA. Money contributed to designated funds such as Operation Moses and Project Renewal is used only for that purpose.

Administrative expenses are taken from the remaining 30 percent.

The balance at the end of the fiscal year is then combined with other federation income, such as interest on investments, and is distributed to other charities.

Funding recommendations of the budget and allocation committee must be approved by the CKJF board. After this year's recipients are designated, a list will be published in the CKJF newsletter.

Serving with Ms. Geller are Harold Baker, Bob Baumann, Gail Cohen, Halley Faust, Judy Levine, Erle Levy, Stanley Rose and Ricki Rosenberg.

In 1985, nearly $23,000 was distributed to Jewish charities in the United States and abroad aiding medical and welfare programs as well as educational institutions and youth activities. An additional $2,000 was distributed to charities in Central Kentucky.

Beginning in 1987, the process for funding other charities will be changed, with a specific amount being designated in the 1986 federation budget to be allocated in 1987.

FOR EXAMPLE.....

The Community Kitchen is one of a number of vital social services agencies in Central Kentucky that has received donations from CKJF.

Community Kitchen provides 250 meals a day to Lexington's needy from the Horizon Center at 610 Corral Street. Hot meals are served in the morning and sandwiches are distributed until 2 pm.

The organization also holds a health clinic five mornings a week using two registered nurses who are on staff along with volunteers and students. The clinic, located at 167 N. Upper St., serves between 10 and 15 people a day.

At the same location, Community Kitchen also provides a clothing exchange and showers two days a week.

The organization also provides both spiritual and social services counseling.

JEWISH AGENCY MEETS IN U.S.

In an effort to forge closer links between leaders in Israel and those in the diaspora, the Jewish Agency will hold its Board of Governors meeting in New York Feb. 18 and 19.

The meeting will give Jewish leaders in North America the opportunity to observe decision-making in the Jewish Agency, which supervises many social welfare programs in Israel. Members of the Agency board and staff members will tour several Jewish communities in the United States and Canada after the meeting.

It will be the first time that the Agency's board of governors has held a meeting in the U.S. since the reconstitution of the Agency in 1971.

Editor's Note: A major portion of UJA funds is allocated to the United Israel Appeal, which in turn transfers to and monitors the use of these monies by the Jewish Agency.

THANKS

ERLE LEVY, Campaign Committee Chair for 1985. You and your Men's Division Chair ALVIN GOLDMAN and your Women's Division Chair JUDY LEVINE led a most successful campaign. Every dollar raised was channeled into a network of services and programs that directly and indirectly improve the quality of Jewish life.

Events like Super Sunday 1985, co-chaired by ERNIE COHEN and SUSAN MILLER, raised monies that enable the Joint Distribution Committee to ease the lives of thousands of elderly Holocaust survivors still living in Eastern Europe. Money from Central Kentucky also poured into absorption centers in Israel where so many Ethiopian Jews escaped famine and arrived into the twentieth century.

Project Renewal Chair JO BELIN...our thanks to you on behalf of the residents of Netanya Sela. Their beautiful park and so many of their social programs are in place because of the generosity of Central Kentuckians.

To CHARLES STERN, Chair of the 1985 Israel Bond Drive, we speak for the government of the State of Israel when we say thank you for the dollars loaned to Israel through the purchase of bonds.

The children who attended Camp Shalom and everyone who participated in CKJF programs join in with grateful thanks to the 1985 fundraisers.

The 1985 campaign was a great success as $315,381 was raised. Erle, Alvin and Judy...your leadership insured it. The cooperation you received from the hundreds of campaign workers guaranteed it. We residents of Lexington and surroundings are proud to be a part of this caring Jewish community.

AND FROM ALVIN AND JUDY.....

Special appreciation to the 1985 Men's Cabinet: Martin Barr, Robert Baumann, Stephen Bobys, David Bolotin, Steven Caller, Harry Cohen, Leon Cooper, Louis Diamond, Halley Faust and Phil Hoffman..... and Women's Cabinet: Charlotte Baer, Judy Baumann, Gail Cohen, Harriet Cooper, Vinnie Dubilier, Alberta Gerson, Ellie Goldman, Nancy Hoffman (1985 Women's Division Vice Chair), Renee Hymson, Gloria Katz, Ricki Rosenberg, Irma Rosenstein, Simone Salomon (1985 Women's Division Co-Chair), Judy Saxe, Carol Veal, Merle Wekstein and Carole Wilson.

"We hope the community will respond to our successors, Bob Baumann and Simone Salomon, as enthusiastically as they did to us."

A list of contributors to the 1985 CKJF-UJA Campaign is on pages 4 & 5.

JEWISH COMMUNITY MARCHES IN TRIBUTE TO MARTIN LUTHER KING

About 100 people marched under the banners of six Jewish organizations in a parade to pay tribute to the Rev. Martin Luther King.

The Sunday, Jan. 19, march around the University of Kentucky campus was one in a series of events to mark King's birthday, which was celebrated as a national holiday for the first time on Monday, Jan. 20. About 1,200 people marched together, representing a variety of religious, civic and political groups.

Members of the Ohavay Zion Synagogue, Temple Adath Israel, Lexington Havurah, Hadassah, Hillel and CKJF followed the 1½ mile parade route in raw weather.

The march was followed by speeches and song in Memorial Coliseum.

This was an excellent opportunity for the Jewish community to reach out to the black community, according to Community Relations Committee co-chair Charlotte Baer, who helped get out Jewish marchers.

It is hoped in the wake of the march that the black-Jewish dialogue, a series of discussions between members of Lexington's black and Jewish communities, can be resumed on a regular basis, she said.

The march was not the only event in the Jewish community honoring King's birthday. Temple Adath Israel held a program on King in conjunction with Friday night services on Jan. 17.

SOVIET JEWS PROFILE

Samuel and Rachel Matveyev live with a small group of other Jews on a collective farm in rural Russia.

The community, called Ilyinka, was founded before World War I by a group of Jews fleeing pogroms. After the Russian Revolution it became a kolkhoz, or collective farm. The Jewish collective was later forced to merge with another.

The Jews in the collective have attempted to maintain a traditional way of life and many have sought permission to go to Israel. While a few were allowed to leave, the Matveyevs, who have four children, were not among them. The chairman of the kolkhoz has said he will never give them permission to leave. He has refused to forward mail from Israel containing invitations to immigrate.

Five families protested by striking and returning their farm equipment to the collective. In retaliation, the collective has denied them food, forcing them to subsist on what they are able to grow themselves. Letters to the Matveyevs may be addressed to:

Talovsky Rayon
Voronozhskaya Oblast
Posiolok Ilyinka
RSFSR, USSR

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles about Jews who have been refused permission to leave the Soviet Union. Information was provided by the South Florida Conference on Soviet Jewry.

SOVIET JEWRY REGIONAL CONFERENCE

A regional conference on Soviet Jewry for residents of Ohio, Kentucky and nearby states will be held March 31 in Cincinnati.

The conference is intended to educate and mobilize the Jewish community. Further information about this gathering, sponsored by the Jewish Community Relations Council of Cincinnati and other organizations, will be included in coming issues of the CKJF bulletin.

If you are interested in attending this one-day conference, please contact Gail Cohen, chair of the sub-committee on Oppressed Jewry of the Community Relations Committee, 272-1459 (evenings), or Judy Saxe at the CKJF office, 252-7622.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

TERROR IS INDIVISIBLE

FROM THE CONSULATE GENERAL OF ISRAEL
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

The Consulate General of Israel points out that the recent airport massacres in Europe are reminders anew that terror is indivisible. That applies to Palestinian terror as much as any other.

One cannot make a distinction between: a) PLO terrorism and that of other Palestinian terrorist organizations; or b) between terrorist activity in Israel, the Administered Territories and abroad; and c) between Israeli and Jewish victims, on the one hand, and those of other faiths and nationalities, on the other.

The latest assault on innocent, defenseless passengers of international civilian air facilities in Rome and Vienna were perpetrated by two groups of terrorists presumed to belong to the Abu Nidal terror organization. But the crucial point to be made is that the PLO, which is the core of international terrorism, cannot evade its major responsibility.

The terrorization of international air traffic - whether by blowing up or hijacking aircraft in mid-flight or by holding their crews and passengers hostage, or by shooting up departure halls in airports - was introduced by the PLO in 1968 (the hijacking of an El Al plane to Algiers). It has been repeated countless times by various PLO factions over the years since then.

The fact that the Abu Nidal splinter group brags about the Rome and Vienna attacks, does not absolve Arafat from his overall responsibility. It is he and his PLO that have made terror the norm in the Middle East and the world over; and other PLO leaders continue, to this day, to advocate stepping up the "armed struggle" (a euphemism for terrorist activity) and miss no opportunity to say so. Moreover, the PLO continues to carry out terrorist strikes.

Those who close an eye to this kind of terrorism, while condemning that practiced in Rome and Vienna, simply play into the hands of all terrorists.

SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE

CKJF's Scholarship Committee has funds available for young people who need financial assistance in order to attend a non-profit Jewish summer camp or who are interested in participating in an educational program in Israel.

Camperships may not exceed 50% of the combined cost of camp tuition and transportation. Family income and circumstances which impose a financial burden on the family are taken into consideration.

Scholarships for Israel study are limited to not more than $500. They are awarded to young members of the Jewish community to assist them in strengthening their commitment to Judaism. A recipient must plan to spend at least six months in Central Kentucky following return from Israel, during which time some form of service must be given to the Jewish community.

All information provided on the applications is kept confidential.

For applications or further information please contact Evelyn D. Geller, Scholarship Committee Chair, 3493 Sutherland Drive (40502), 606-273-8972 (between 10 & 11 p.m.); or the CKJF office, 333 Waller Ave., Suite 5, (40504), 252-7622.

DEADLINE for applications is APRIL 1.

LEXINGTON JEWISH MUSIC SCENE

A picture of a Klezmer Band appeared on the front page of the Wall Street Journal in April of 1983, which read "Lively & Soulful, Old Klezmer Music Undergoes a Revival." In smaller print, but still in headlines, it continued "Import from Eastern Europe Even Hits Carnegie Hall."

What the reporter didn't know was that a revival had taken place in Lexington, Kentucky years before and a Klezmer Band had been playing here for weddings, bar and bar mitzvahs, congregation dinners and special Jewish functions.

Larry Sherman, self-styled Jewish musicologist of the Bluegrass, has been keeping the Jewish Klezmer tradition alive with his own Klezmer Band.

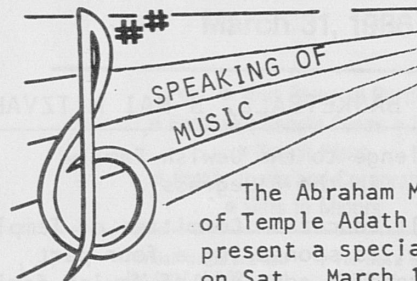

His players are mostly professional musicians now living in the Lexington Jewish community. The jobs usually have been tailor-made to fit particular needs like the wedding of the Jewish bride and the Latvian groom.

Chasidic and Israeli music have been furnished for bar and bat mitzvah family celebrations. Chanukah tunes were played for the public at the Lexington Public Library and at Dudley Square this past December.

Larry has accumulated a small treasure of Cantorial, Dance, Folk, Hebrew, Israeli, Ladino, Liturgical, and Yiddish theatrical music.

Like Klezmer Bands of yesteryear, his groups have played appropriate music for non-Jewish events also.

These talented musicians play accordion, bass, clarinet, drums, flute, guitar, halil, piccolo, piano, saxophone and tamborine; and include vocalists who can sing in Hebrew, Ladino and Yiddish.

The Abraham Music Fund of Temple Adath Israel will present a special program on Sat., March 1, 8 p.m. at Temple Adath Israel, 124 N. Ashland Ave.

Professor Bonia Shur, Music Director, Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati, will present a fascinating live and taped presentation titled "From Traditional to Jazz Music" which will deal with the search for an acceptable musical tradition among the Jews.

Professor Shur, besides being a renowned composer and scholar is also a talented entertainer whose ability to capture audiences is due to his personal charismatic qualities, sincerity and a true sense of spirituality.

Admission to this program is free and open to the public.

THIS WINTER, ISRAEL IS GIVING EUROPE A REAL TASTE OF SUMMER.

In England the snow is 10" deep.

In France it's minus 8°.

Germany has gale force winds.

Yet in the heart of winter, Europe's markets are warmed by Israeli superstars: crisp green peppers the size of grapefruits, plump, juicy tomatoes, succulent strawberries, giant melons. These are fruits that leave everyone else out in the cold.

Thanks to the ingenuity of Israel's agricultural scientists and the innovative programs of the Jewish Agency's Rural Settlement Department, funded by the United Jewish Appeal/Federation Campaign.

These impressive fruits and vegetables come from an area which has a climate just as extreme: Israel's blistering Negev desert... where you can count the rain drops on one hand.

But this inhospitable environment is gradually being transformed into Europe's winter vegetable basket.

Through the use of drip irrigation and geothermal water, Israel has achieved not only the highest agricultural rate in the world, but the highest export rate.

And there's still enough left to feed the whole country.

Israel's winter fruit and vegetables are certainly a ray of sunshine for the world.

By supporting Israel's Rural Settlement Program through the UJA/Federation Campaign, you are helping turn a dry desert into a vast green vegetable basket for the whole of Europe.

Israel's achievements in the desert serve as a model for famine-stricken nations with similar landscapes who are plagued by hunger.

And that's something we as Jews throughout the world can feel proud of.

Please give generously today.
