UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

LEXINGTON 29

ALUMNI OFFICE

August 1, 1948

Dear Fellow Alumni:

Unquestionably the Commonwealth of Kentucky, the University of Kentucky, the Alumni Association of the University of Kentucky are on the march. Tremendous strides have been made by all three, especially in the past few years and as Kentuckians by birth or adoption, as graduates of the University and as members of the Alumni Association, all of us, I am sure, want to do all that we can to continue this acceleration, this progress. The personal question that confronts all of us is what we individually and as a group can do to assist. It has occurred to me that perhaps each of us could help in the following ways:

(1) By talking the greatness of the University of Kentucky. I am sure all alumni recognize the truth of the statement, so concisely put by Dr. Donovan that "YOU CANNOT HAVE A GREAT STATE . . . WITHOUT A GREAT UNIVERSITY." The University of Kentucky is a great institution but it has managed to become such on financial support which in comparison with neighboring state universities is extremely small and limited. The University needs additional buildings, facilities and personnel. As alumni we should talk these needs and the importance of added financial support from the state to our friends and all residents of Kentucky.

(2) By strengthening and enlarging the Alumni Association. Last year the Alumni Association reached a membership of 3600, more than doubling the membership of two years ago. A strong University needs and deserves strong alumni backing and such a backing can normally be given best through a powerful Alumni Association. Each of us can help in this through getting additional members from our friends and acquaintances among the more than 18,000 graduates of the University and each of us can also help by taking an active part in the association and through individual alumni clubs.

(3) Through individual financial support. The University has created the Kentucky Research Foundation to accept bequests and gifts for general or specific University purposes. As a small part of this the Alumni Association last year inaugurated the University of Kentucky Loyalty Fund as an alumni annual giving program. These funds are administered by the Kentucky Research Foundation and were used partially this year for the creation of the first all-expense four-year scholarship awarded by the University to the outstanding high school graduate nominated by any alumni club, alumnus, or high school principal of Kentucky. This fall we are hoping that the Alumni Association can join in support of President Donovan's "adoption of Heidelberg University" program which is more fully explained elsewhere in this issue of the Alumnus. Funds for this purpose will likewise be administered by the Kentucky Research Foundation. To the extent each of us is able, we should contribute to these worthy causes. The combined contributions from all of us will further the success of our objective.

Personally, I am sure all of us are anxious to help in every way we can. I am confident that we will and that the triumphal progress of our state, our University and our Alumni Association will continue this year and in the years to come.

Very sincerely,

President

University of Kentucky Alumni Association.

UK'S BEST FRIEND

Few, if any, institutions in the history of American education have been able to boast of an alumnus, friend and counsellor who has devoted as long a period of unselfish service to his Alma Mater as has Judge Richard C. Stoll, '95.

Just last May Judge Stoll came before the executive committee of the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees, of which group he has been chairman for 30 years, and asked to be relieved of his duties. He will remain a member of the Board which he has served for 46 years, but has retired as chairman of the executive group.

This is the Alumni Association's public expression of its gratitude to Judge Stoll for all of those years of loyalty and service. We feel that there is not much we can add to the tributes of appreciation and confidence which have been expressed orally and in the Kentucky press, but our love and veneration for Judge Stoll is so personal and so deep, that we felt compelled to put on record that which has been, always, in our hearts.

We are gratified to know that, although he has resigned the executive chairmanship, he will continue as a member of the Board to which he was reappointed by Gov. Earle C. Clements in January, for a six-year term, and that the governing body of this great University will continue to have the advantage of his guidance and counsel.

It is our hope and prayer that Judge Stoll's health will improve, and that the lightening of his duties will bring to him many happy, leisure hours in which he may look back upon half a century of service to an institution and to a citizenry which love and value him more than he, in his selfless modesty, could ever dream.

PLEASE ! ! ! !

Every organization in the country today, from the armed forces down to the line of any organization is new blood and without it the group withers and dies.

Therefore we are appealing to the dependables of the Alumni Association, to help us recruit memberships so that our organization may take on new vitality and added petus.

IF EVERY ACTIVE MEMBER OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION WOULD RECRUIT ONE NEW MEMBER, our association would receive the necessary spark to set on to the biggest and best year in its history. Don't procrastinate—“let George do it,” do it yourself. Get out and talk about your Alumni Association, its aims, its purposes and its accomplishments; and urge those other dilatory but meaningful alumni and former students to feel the need of their support.

PLEASE!!! We need missionaries in the field. Consider yourself a special emissary from the Alumni Association to recruit new members and help us—no matter how hard, we can't do it alone—to double our membership for 1948-'49. It will be done. IT'S UP TO YOU!

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser

In the lamented death of Dr. W. D. Funkhouser the community, the University of Kentucky, the nation and the whole scientific world suffered a grievous loss. For 30 years he has been on the faculty of the University. In that long and crucial period in American history and the history of education he taught thousands of young people who ever after revered his memory as a great and inspiring instructor, one who engaged their minds, engaged their interests and taught them how to think.

It is not necessary here to call attention to his services in the field of athletics or even of anthropology. The newspapers have sufficiently emphasized what he accomplished there. His fame rested upon his grasp and mastery of the sciences of entomology, in which he had many peers. His name was known wherever in learned circles. He

Alumni Elect Bullock, Shively, To Head Association

Baker, Palmore On Executive Board

John R. Bullock, '28, Cincinnati attorney and a member of the Alumni Executive Committee last year, has been elected president of the general association for 1948-'49. Bernie A. Shively, '30, University athletic director is the newly elected vice president of the association.

Chosen by a mail ballot sent to approximately 3,600 active members, the alumni electorate also named Homer L. Baker, former student and Louisville Cement Company executive, and H. D. Palmore, '14, Frankfort, president of the Kentucky Concrete Pipe Company, to the executive board for three-year terms.

All four men have given a great amount of time and unselfish service to the work of the Alumni Association, and have participated in various activities for the furtherment of the association and the University.

Mr. Bullock headed the Alumni Loyalty Fund's initial campaign drive this past year, carrying on the whole successful campaign without expense to the association. He is a member of the board of directors of the Alumni Club of Greater Cincinnati, a member of the Alumni Executive Committee, life member of the association and charter contributor to the loyalty fund.

Mr. Shively has been a member of the Executive Committee for several years, headed the committee which raised funds from alumni last fall to give watches to graduating athletes, and has generally served the association in all of its worthwhile projects.

Mr. Baker was prime mover in the reorganization of the Louisville alumni two years ago and is a member of that club's board of directors. He is chairman of the Downtown Quarterbacks' Club of Louisville in the sponsorship of showing UK athletic films before Louisville audiences and is an ardent Wildcat fan.

Mr. Palmore is past president of the Alumni Association, has served a six-year term as a member of the University's Board of Trustees, has been a member of the executive committee for a number of years and is a life member of the association. He is one of the University's most loyal sons.

J. R. Whitmer, '22, of Bremen, Ky., a member of the faculty of Western Kentucky State College, received the honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Bethel College, McKenzie, Tenn., in June. He is a former president of Bethel.

THE COVER

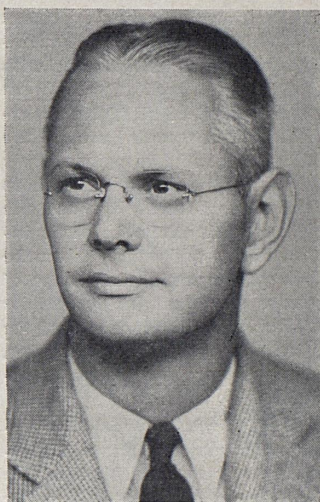

This month's cover picture is the architect's conception of the completed stadium. It is possible that the upper deck will not be added, and these additional seats will extend to the sides instead of to the top. However, the finished stands will seat 24,000. The present work being done will increase the concrete stands by 10,000 seats.

riched the science to which he gave most of his life. His many publications were unique, but were, because of his modesty, published only for a group of friends and associates. Many of these, if expanded, illustrated, and printed for the general reading public would have made a wide appeal and had a large sale. His friend and classmate, Dr. Beebe, the distinguished naturalist, has published book after book which sold readily and afforded both pleasure and instruction, such as "Jungle Nights."

Dr. Funkhouser made a distinct contribution to the science of anthropology, into which he had gone with the enthusiasm and thoroughness which characterized all of his undertakings. He had traveled around the world, spent months in regions rarely visited by white men, studying both the animal and insect life, and the aborigines, with whom he made intimate contacts and among whom he lived in perfect amity. His range of knowledge was great, his sympathies broad, his love of science and of the art of teaching deep and unchanging, and his influence over students remarkable.

In all of his relations with his family, his neighbors and friends, his co-workers, his assistants, his kindness and courtesy were never-failing. He had endeared himself to many and will be greatly missed. The Lexington Leader extends its sincere condolences to all who have been bereaved by his death.

—Lexington Leader, June 11, 1948.

Lt. Col. E. R. Young, '26, and Lt. Col. Joseph J. Huddleston, '37, both were graduated from the Air Command and Staff School at Maxwell Field, Ala., on June 4.

Colonel Young has been assigned to the 937th Engineer Aviation Group at MacDill Field, Fla., as executive officer, and was to report July 1. The assignment consists of supervision of the activities of several Engineer Aviation Battalions engaged in training, and in making non-contractable repairs upon air bases used by the Strategic Air Command.

Colonel Huddleston was to report July 1 to Barksdale Air Force Base, Shreveport, La.

CHAMPION OF UNIVERSITY

The retirement of former Circuit Judge Richard C. Stoll as a member and chairman of the executive committee of the board of trustees of the University of Kentucky would cause the deepest regret to every friend, alumnus and supporter of the state's highest institution of learning except for the fact that all of them will know that the signs are all good or "Dick" Stoll, as his friends and many admirers call him, never would have quit.

Appointed to the Board of Trustees of the State College in 1898, Judge Stoll has rounded out fifty years service as a member of the board. No doubt there were many years within that time that he would have greatly preferred to relinquish the duties. They are arduous and bring heavy responsibility. But he never considered retirement during the most difficult and trying years in which he served.

As things stand, he has surely earned the right to retire from the executive committee, although he will continue to serve as a member of the board of trustees. The University is fulfilling its destiny more completely than ever. That he is succeeded by Guy Huguelet, who is heading the campaign for the athletic fund and in many other ways as an alumnus has shown great zeal and ability for the University, surely is gratifying. The president of the University of Kentucky, Dr. H. L. Donovan, has developed into a real leader of education in the state in a way that could not be reflected better than in his unanimous selection as president of the KEA. With a field house and stadium addition under construction, "Bear" Bryant on the Home Front and Rupp's Men in the Olympics, the University is making progress.

Typical it is of Judge Stoll's interest that, as the Kentucky Alumnus once stated, he became a life member of the Alumni Association "several times," to assist it by paid up dues.

Always volunteering his services as counsel, he helped Dr. Frank L. McVey through the difficult period when teachers' salaries were borrowed on faith. Chairman of the executive committee for thirty years he assisted in selection of presidents

U.K. Man Studies Housing In Europe

Charles T. Stewart, '32, of Lexington, director of public relations of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, has gone to Europe to make a 10-week study of housing problems.

Mr. Stewart left Washington in the middle of June with Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of NARES, to start a trip through nine European countries to study housing questions.

A graduate of the University of Kentucky, Mr. Stewart was a field consultant for the Kentucky Municipal League before he became director of the Urban Land Institute, a subsidiary of NARES, in 1940. He became director of public relations for NARES in 1946 after his discharge as a lieutenant in the Navy three times and in solving all types of problems, large and small. The University will never have a better friend, but Judge Stoll has done his part in a way that it will be remembered through the years many, many good and loyal supporters who will enlarge its program and advance its aims.

Old Champion Passes—The University of Kentucky and the Southeastern Conference lost a dominant leader yesterday when Dr. W. W. Funkhouser died at Lexington. As secretary of the loop, Dr. Funkhouser was instrumental in bringing the Southeastern Conference to present high standing among American college athletic leagues. . . . helped Louisville obtain the annual conference basketball championship and was a great basketball and football fan. . . . He favored the scholarship plan used by the Southeastern, and was opposed to dropping it for the N.C.A.A.'s so-called plan code. . . . He was a champion athlete in his youth, and a champion of athletes in his later years. . . . surely will be missed.

Widow of A. J. Olah Gives Books To UK

Alumnus' Library Is Memorial Gift

The engineering texts, reference books and other volumes in the library of Arperd John Olah, '36, former University athlete who died March 17, have been sent to Dr. W. S. Taylor, dean of the College of Education, as a gift from Mr. Olah's widow, the former Frances Boisseau, also a former University student.

"The books will be given to students who are in need of text books, insofar as they can be used for that purpose," said Dean Taylor, "and the others will be paced in the library of the curriculum laboratory in the College of Education and in the general library of the University."

In making the gift Mrs. Olah said that after her husband had transferred from the College of Engineering to the College of Education, it was Dean Taylor whom the two former students knew mutually and best, and that her husband would want Dean Taylor to place them where they would do the most good. "Give them to some worthy student or students, who, like him, could not afford to buy them, or place them in the library if that is where they will do the most good."

$2,500 Scholarship Given By Graduate

Samuel M. Cassidy, Jr., '25, of Jenkins, Ky., president of the Consolidation Coal Company there, has presented to the University, for his company, a check for $2,500 to support a scholarship fund to finance graduate engineering study and research in the coal industry.

The company has said it would make similar contributions annually.

Mr. Cassidy is a life member of the Alumni Association, and a loyal supporter of all University and alumni projects, and was a charter contributor to the Alumni Association's Loyalty Fund drive last year.

May "Fortune" Has Feature On UK Men

Murphree, Roberts, Are Fuel Experts

The May issue of "Fortune" magazine carries an illustrated story entitled "Synthetics: The Great Oil Reserve," in which five men are pictured "at the center of the storm" and described as "five of the most influential voices in synthetic fuels today." One of these five men is E. V. Murphree, B.S. '20, M.S. '21, president of the Standard Oil Development Company, in charge of research.

Mr. Murphree is a member of the Military Petroleum Advisory Committee and, in 1945, Time Magazine listed Mr. Murphree as one of the five U. S. technical experts with vision and ability who had helped push to completion the atomic bomb project.

In the Fortune story there is also reference made to George Roberts, Jr., '32, formerly of Lexington, now

First Award Goes To A 16-Year-Old

John A. Biggerstaff, of Berea, Ky., 16-year-old graduate of the Berea Foundation School, has been awarded the first University of Kentucky Alumni Loyalty Fund $2,800, four-year all-expense scholarship. He will begin his studies at the University in September.

Nominated by Thomas L. Adams, '27, of Lexington; V. D. Roberts, B.M.E. '05, M.E. '17; G. Gilbert Roberts, M.A. '34, and W. R. Hutcherson, A.B. '22, M.A. '24, all of Berea, the young man entered competition with a large group of nominees sponsored by University alumni and Kentucky high school principals and came off with the prize; the largest single scholarship ever given by the University. The student recipient will hold the $700 a year scholarship for four years, provided he maintains at least a B standing at the University.

While a high school student, Biggerstaff, a former Lexington Leader carrier and son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer A. Biggerstaff of Berea, was a member of the band, orchestra, chorus and swimming team. He plans to major in the sciences when he enters the University in September.

The scholarship was awarded on the basis of scholastic aptitude, character, personality, need and participation in extra-curricular activities.

director of research for the Stanolind Oil and Gas Co., of Tulsa, Okla. The article says, in part: "The most courageous of the private companies is Stanolind Oil and Gas, the large producing subsidiary of Standard Oil (Indiana.) In 1943, Stanolind hired away one of Kellogg's smart young experts, George Roberts, and began picking up leases in the great Hugoton gas field of western Kansas."

The University is proud of these two men.

Pardue, '25, Stahr, '36, Named To U.K. Deanship

Head Graduate
And Law Schools

Two University of Kentucky graduates were chosen from the school's staff by the Board of Trustees, June 25, to become the new deans of the University's Graduate School and College of Law.

Dr. Louis A. Pardue, professor of physics and atomic research specialist, was appointed dean of the Graduate School succeeding the late Dr. William D. Funkhouser, who died last June. Elvis J. Stahr, Jr., professor of law, was named as the new dean of the College of Law to succeed Dean Alvin E. Evans, who will retire soon.

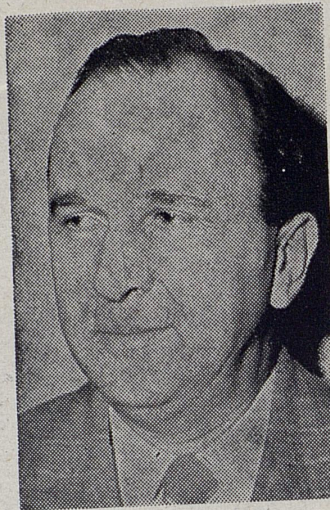

The appointment of Dr. Pardue became effective July 1 and that of Prof. Stahr is scheduled to take effect at the beginning of the next school year on Sept. 16.

A graduate of UK with an A.B. degree in 1925 and a master's degree two years later, the new Graduate School dean attended Yale University and received the doctorate degree in 1931. He later studied advanced physics at the California Institute of Technology and University of California, specializing in atomic science.

When war broke out, he was made research associate at the University of Chicago, headquarters of the group of physicists developing the atomic bomb. Subsequently, he became a senior physicist on the project and rose to the position of physicist in charge of all natural radioactive sources at Chicago.

Prof. Stahr, a native of Hickman, graduated from the University in 1936 "with high distinction" and has been popularly referred to as one of the brightest scholars ever to attend UK. A member of numerous social, professional, honorary and academic organizations while in college, he also maintained a perfect, all-A record for the four years. He was named recipient of the Balfour National Award, Sullivan Medallion and Rhodes scholarship.

He attended Oxford University in England as a Rhodes Scholar, re-

Goodloe Leaves RFC For Big Assignment With Coca-Cola Co.

John D. Goodloe, '28, formerly of Richmond, Ky., has resigned as chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to become general counsel for the Coca-Cola Company.

After 17 years in public work, Goodloe has accepted a position which, it has been reported, will pay him $75,000 a year in private industry.

Mr. Goodloe was appointed one of the five RFC directors on December 27, 1946. He has been general counsel for the agency since 1943. In accepting the RFC directorship vacated by George E. Allen, he took a salary reduction of $2,000, his pay as general counsel having been $12,000. On April 9, 1947, he succeeded Charles B. Henderson as chairman.

The former University of Kentucky student entered government employment direct from Harvard University Law School, from which he was graduated in 1931. He went to work for Stanley M. Reed, now one of three Kentuckians on the Supreme Court but then general counsel for the Hoover Farm Board.

When the RFC was broadened in 1932 to include the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation, Mr. Goodloe went with that branch and has been with some phase of the RFC ever since.

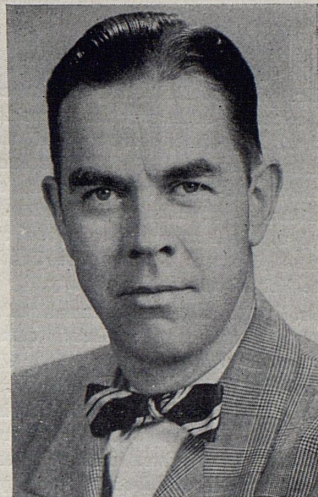

In his job with the Coca-Cola Company Mr. Goodloe will have his headquarters and home in Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser Passes At Home On June 9

UK Loses Beloved
Teacher, Scientist

Dr. William Delbert Funkhouser, 67, educator of international prominence, long-time secretary of the Southeastern Athletic Conference and beloved teacher of thousands of University of Kentucky students, died at his home in Lexington on June 9. He was dean of the Graduate School at the University.

Dr. Funkhouser had been seriously ill for several months. Death came about 6:30 p. m.

Dr. Funkhouser was best known for his contributions to athletics in the South, but he was even more prominent in educational circles, especially in the field of entomology. He was recognized as one of the foremost entomologists of his time.

Wrote Most of Regulations

He was the only secretary the Southeastern Conference ever had. In that capacity, he had written most of the regulations governing operations of the conference and was chief interpreter of the rules.

Dr. Funkhouser helped direct recovery efforts when Floyd Collins was entombed in a cave near Cave City more than 20 years ago.

He had been head of the University of Kentucky Graduate School since 1925. He was appointed to the school's staff in 1918 as professor of zoology and head of the zoology department, positions he never relinquished. In 1927, he also was named professor of anthropology.

He was author of 318 books and scientific publications on entomology, zoology, and archaeology which have been credited with assisting materially in enlarging the scope of these subjects.

Took Round-the-World Trip

Among his more popular books are "Wildlife in Kentucky," "Birds of Kentucky," "Kentucky Pre-History," "Autobiography of an Old Man," "Portraits of Kentuckians,"

"Dead Men Tell Tales," and "The Days That Are Gone."

He was a member of numerous expeditions. He was granted leave from the university in 1932 to make a round-the-world trip to collect insects, and in 1941 he made a similar trip to Mexico and Guatemala.

Dr. Funkhouser was born March 13, 1881, the son of Hugh Clark and Laura Josephine Mobley Funkhouser, in Rockport, Ind. He was graduated from Wabash College in 1905, obtained his master of arts degree at Cornell University in 1912 and his doctor of philosophy at Cornell in 1916. In 1929, he was awarded a doctor of science degree from Wabash.

He served in high schools at Brazil, Ind., and Ithaca, N. Y., before coming to the university.

He held memberships and served as officer in more than a score of scientific and educational organizations, including the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Entomological Society of America, New York Entomological Society, American Society of Zoologists, American Eugenics Society, National Geographic Society, American Anthropological Association, Kentucky Academy of Science, Kentucky Education Association, Kentucky State Historical Society, Wilson Club, Filson Club, Bradford Society, Authors League, Kentucky Research Club, American Museum of Natural History, American Archaeological Society, and others.

Headed Athletic Council

He was chairman of the University of Kentucky Athletic Council from 1910 to 1945 and had been secretary of the school's athletic board since 1945. He was secretary-treasurer of the Conference of Deans of Southern Graduate Schools, a member of the executive committee of the Oak Ridge Institute, and an officer in several civic clubs.

Dr. Funkhouser's name was listed in "Who's Who in America," "American Men of Science," "Who's Who Previous to signing with Universal-International, Mr. Hambleton was assistant to William Pereira, RKO producer.

Before going to Hollywood, the former University student designed costumes and sets for several stage successes in New York, an outstanding example of which was Vera Zorina's starring vehicle "I Married An Angel."

Former Student Recalls Quiet Charm Of Dr. W. D. Funkhouser

By Joe Reister, '34,

Chief, Courier-Journal Lexington Bureau

The death of affable, scholarly Dr. W. D. Funkhouser doubtless brought a sharp feeling of sorrow to the hearts of hundreds of graduates and students of the University of Kentucky, as well as other citizens of the state and the nation.

All who were privileged to have known him in the classroom or on the campus will remember well his quiet, down-to-earth demeanor and his sparkling dry wit.

It was my good fortune in the early 1930's to attend one of Dr. Funkhouser's courses in zoology.

The course was just as popular with undergraduates then as it is today.

There was never a dull moment in Dr. Funkhouser's lecture classes.

He had a definite flair for the dramatic and always put over his punch lines like the good trouper he was.

Scores of students will remember the time he strode into the big lecture room in McVey Hall that warm spring day back in the early '30's.

The doctor usually wore a black suit with matching vest, a crisply-starched white shirt and a black tie.

After having checked the roll of some 200 students, he settled down to one of his always-interesting talks on zoology.

About 9:30 p. m., after 30 minutes of lecturing, he remarked that it was unusually warm that day.

Then off came his coat and his vest, both of which he placed carefully on the edge of the long table in front of the blackboard in that big lecture room in McVey.

Every student in that room knew something unusual was up, for the professor just didn't remove his coat and vest like that while lecturing.

With a motion as calm and deft as that of a magician hitting his best trick, the good professor reached inside his shirt and tossed a big, black snake onto the table.

Notebooks, pencils and the like went in all directions as the co-eds

(and the males, too, for that matter) created a big space in and around brother snake.

The snake slithered over to the desk side of the table, raised its head, and "cased" the crowd.

"See, he's looking at you, and he probably isn't so pleased with what he sees," Dr. Funkhouser remarked, in his crisp way.

After using the snake to demonstrate that the bite of a non-poisonous reptile is entirely harmless to humans and with the coy remark that "this snake is cleaner than many of you," Dr. Funkhouser's lecture was concluded.

The snake episode was typical of Dr. Funkhouser's lectures.

It also gives an insight into the true character of the man Funkhouser, who contributed so much to athletics in the south, to entomology in the world, and to folks in general.

You get a sort of catch in your throat when you remember having seen him stride slowly across the campus in his familiar slightly-bent-forward manner.

Requiescat in pace.

Dr. Odor, '40, To Work In Germany

Dr. Anna F. Odor, '40, assistant professor of German at the University for the past four years, has resigned to become a relief worker with the American Friends Service Committee in the French zone of Germany.

After a month of training in Philadelphia, Miss Odor was scheduled to sail for Europe in late July. She will be stationed at an AFSC clothing distribution center in Koblenz, Germany, and expects to serve there for approximately 18 months.

The committee, organized in 1917, is a relief organization sponsored and managed by the Quaker church.

Miss Odor received her Ph.D. from the University of Illinois in 1944.

Capt. E. T. Riley '32,
Now At Dayton, Ohio

Captain Edward T. Riley, '32, formerly of Russellville, Ky., is now enrolled in a new Air Installation Engineering Special Staff Officer course at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio.

This course has been established with the Air Force Institute of Technology to supplement the engineering education of Air Installation officers in order that they may efficiently and economically administer the estimated two-billion dollar system of U. S. air bases and installations.

Captain Riley was graduated from the University of Kentucky College of Engineering before entering the Air Force.

During the war he served extensively as a post engineer in India. Before entering the Air Force Institute of Technology in March he was stationed at Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin, Tex., as an Air Installations officer.

Nancy Shinnick, of Wilmette, Ill., University junior and daughter of William C. ('17) and Nancy Innes Shinnick ('17), was crowned beauty queen of the Kentuckian, University yearbook, at a coronation ball held on the campus last April.

John Crockett, junior, from Maysville, was named most popular man.

Judge R. C. Stoll, '95, Resigns As Chairman Of UK Executive Board

Judge Richard C. Stoll, for fifty years a member of the University of Kentucky's Board of Trustees, resigned as chairman of the Board's executive committee at the May meeting of the University administrative group. He will continue to serve as a member of the board.

Judge Stoll has been chairman of the committee for thirty of the fifty years he has served as a board member, and has a longer record of unbroken service to an educational institution than any other one citizen in the history of American education.

Serving without recompense and at the sacrifice of his own personal interests, Judge Stoll's contribution to the advancement of his Alma Mater has been without precedent, and his resignation as chairman of the executive committee was accepted reluctantly and with deep regret by members of the board. He gave ill health as the reason for his resignation.

Judge Stoll's first appointment to the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees was made Jan. 2, 1898, just three years after his own graduation, when he was named the first alumnus member by Gov. William O. Bradley. In June of that year, in the absence of the Governor, Judge Stoll presented the diplomas to the graduating class.

Since that time he has been appointed to the board by both Republican and Democratic governors, including Augustus E. Wilson, James B. McCreary, A. O. Stanley, W. J. Fields, Ruby Laffoon, A. B. Chandler and Keen Johnson. He has also served under Gov. Simeon Willis and Gov. Earle C. Clements, who reappointed him to a six-year term on Jan. 9 of this year, as representative to the board from the state at large.

Judge Stoll entered the University of Kentucky (then Kentucky State College) as a student in 1891, was graduated in 1895, was at Yale University two years obtaining his law degree, and shortly after his return to Lexington was appointed a trustee.

Thus he has been connected with the institution, either as a student or a trustee, for all except a few years of its existence.

He has served as a member of the University board from 1898 to 1905 and from 1908 to the present time. Judge Stoll became a member of the board's executive committee in 1910, vice chairman in 1917 and chairman in 1918, serving in that capacity until his resignation on May 24.

Stoll Field, the University athletic field, was named for the school's benefactor, and a bronze plaque on the stadium describes him as "an alumnus, trustee and benefactor" of the University.

In 1894 Judge Stoll played full-back on the football team.

Judge Stoll's son, Richard P. Stoll, Lexington city prosecutor, holds two degrees from the University of Kentucky. The B.A., received in 1942, and the LL.B. awarded in 1944. Both men are life members of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association.

The prominent jurist became a law partner in the firm of Darnell and Stoll in 1902 and in 1904 became senior member of the firm of Stoll and Bush. This firm existed until 1915, from which time until 1932, Judge Stoll practiced alone. From 1932 to 1944 he headed the first of Stoll, Muir, Townsend and Park and in 1944 Gayle Mohnney was added to the firm. In 1946, following the death of Wallace Muir the name changed again to Stoll, Townsend, Park Mohnney and Davis, and this past March began operating under the name of Stoll, Keenan and Park. He served as circuit judge of this district from 1921 to 1931.

The Harlan County Mining Institute has announced the establishment of four-year scholarships in mining engineering at the University. The first two scholarships will be for 1948-'49 and each year thereafter two additional awards will be made.

Huguelet, Chairman, UK Executive Board

Guy A. Huguelet, president Southeastern Grayhound Lines, has been named chairman of the executive committee of the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees, succeeding Judge Richard C. Stoll, who resigned May 24 from the chairmanship after thirty years' service in that capacity.

Mr. Huguelet was appointed to the Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky by Gov. Earle C. Clements for a six-year term in January following his selection by ballot of the University in a mail ballot. Active members who named the prominent alumni to the Governor from which group he selected Mr. Huguelet.

A graduate of the University of Kentucky in 1914 with an LL.B. degree, Mr. Huguelet was admitted to the Fayette County Bar that year. He was a member of the law firm of Keenon, Huguelet and O'Dear and in 1926 became a partner, organizer, general attorney and secretary of Southeastern Grayhound Lines.

He was elected president of the company in 1928 and has held that position ever since. He is a member of the board of the University of Kentucky Athletics Association, a member of the executive committee of the Alumni Association, vice president and director of the National Association of Motor Vehicle Operators and director of the Lexington Hotel and the First National Bank of Lexington.

Succeeds Whitaker

James C. Lyne, '33, Russellville attorney, has been appointed county attorney of Logan county to succeed John A. Whitaker, alumnus of the University who was recently elected to Congress from the Second District to succeed Gov. Earle C. Clements, also a University alumnus.

Mr. Lyne, 39 years old, is the son of C. S. Lyne, Russellville businessman. He received his Bachelor of Laws degree from the University in 1933 and has practiced law in Russellville since that time. He resigned as city attorney to accept the county attorney's post.

Andrew W. Clark, '37, of Covington, has been elected president of the Kentucky Junior Chamber of Commerce for 1948-'49.

Lancaster, who has served as an instructor in the University's Physical Education Department in addition to his basketball duties, completed his teaching chores in June and will devote his entire time to cage activities.

A former Georgetown College star of the early thirties, Lancaster first came to the University of Kentucky in 1942 to complete work on his master's degree and instruct in physical education.

He entered the Navy in March 1944 as an enlisted man and was discharged a lieutenant in 1946. Since returning to UK he has helped Coach Rupp with the varsity and has done a major part of the scouting while the Wildcat cagers have risen to their greatest

Education Senior To Represent Class Of '48 On Alumni Board

Carlisle Myers, Jr.

Carlisle Myers, Jr., of Lexington, who was graduated last June from the College of Education, has been elected an honorary member of the Alumni Executive Committee for the year 1948-'49, as a representative of his class.

Young Myers was chosen by the committee from a group of seven seniors, representatives of each college of the University, who were nominated by the Student Government Association for the honor.

The Alumni Executive Committee's youngest member is a veteran of World War II, having gone into service as a buck private in the Infantry in March, 1943. In January, 1944, he transferred to the Air Corps, and was injured in a plane crash in New Mexico in 1945. He spent almost two years in Army hospitals following his accident, and returned to the University to complete his undergraduate work in 1947, having been honorably discharged with the rank of first lieutenant.

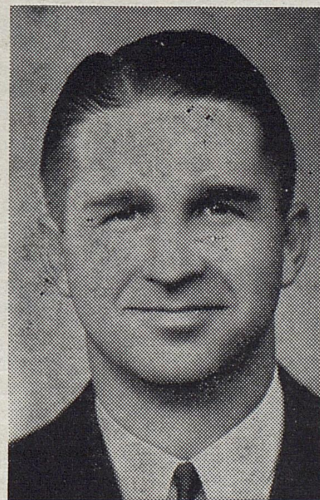

At the University young Myers has been a member of the Student Government Association; Lamp and Cross; Delta Tau Delta social fraternity; the golf team in 1940-'42; played on the frosh basketball team in 1939; is a member of Scabbard and Blade and last spring was golf coach at University High.

During his hitch in the Air Corps and while a patient, Mr. Myers maintained an active membership and interest in the Alumni Association. He succeeds Vincent Spagnuolo, '47 representative, on the committee.

Mr. Myers has also been elected president of the 1948 senior class in the College of Education.

1948 Seniors Name Officers By Colleges

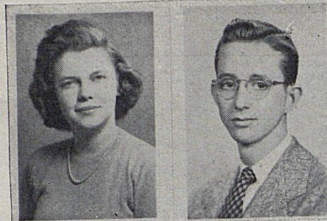

Harry Hinton William Toombs.

Graduating seniors in the seven colleges of the University, 915 strong, named class officers in the various colleges just prior to the June commencement exercises.

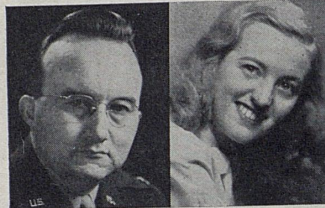

This was done at the request of the Alumni Association, which has had great difficulty in contacting classes for reunions and other events since the plan of electing senior class officers was abandoned by the University several years ago.

Assisting the association in its plan of drawing the graduating seniors more closely to the association through these elections were seven representatives of the colleges, chosen by the Student Government Association and sent to the April meeting of the Alumni Executive Committee as guests of that group. They were: Mary Keith Dosker, Louisville, Arts and Sciences; William Toombs, Louisville, College of Commerce; Robert Hayes, Lexington, College of Engineering; Russell Conrad, Burlington, College of Agriculture and Home Economics; Carlisle Myers, Jr., Lexington, College of Education; Byron Begley, Jr., Richmond, College of Pharmacy; and John Hopkins, Carlisle, College of Law.

Graduating seniors chosen by their classmates for these offices were: College of Arts and Sciences: Hubbard Smith, president, and Helen Hutchcraft, secretary, both of Paris; Agriculture and Home Economics: George Freas, Salmons, Ky., and Nancy Stolts, Lexington; Engineering: William Guthrie Marks and John J. Willis, both of Lexington; Education: Carlisle Myers, Jr., and Georgia Portmann, both of Lexington; Commerce: William Toombs, Louisville, and Harry Hinton, Sturgis; Law: Niel Maxey, Mt. Sterling, and Frank Warnock, Greenup; and

Helen Hutchcraft Hubbard Smith

Niel Maxey Georgia Portmann

Pharmacy: Ernest M. McClure and Bonnie Gertrude White, both of Louisville.

It is the plan of the Alumni Association to contact these college class officers whenever the association wishes to get information to members of the 1948 graduating class.

He is a graduate of Millersburg Military Institute and the University of Kentucky, where he received a B.S. degree in social science. Major Pribble has held a reserve commission in ROTC since his graduation from the University in 1935, and was called to active service in February, 1941. The University of Kentucky 1947-48 school year whirled to a close June 4 with:

1. Graduation of 915 students.
2. Award of the Algernon Sidney Sullivan medallion to Paul Blazer of Ashland as Kentucky' "outstanding citizen of the year."

Rutledge Main Speaker

Supreme Court Justice Wiley B. Rutledge, a native of Kentucky, delivered the commencement address during ceremonies on Stoll Field. He told the graduates they should "seize the chance" before them and make the world "a safer, more decent and more livable place than my generation has been able to prepare for you."

"Unrelenting effort, drudgery, attention to detail and unyielding hope, all mastered by imagination and understanding," may yet bring peace and order to the world, he said.

"Three years ago we came out victorious with the hope that victory always brings," he continued. "Now, conscious that we could not remain aloof from recurrence of danger threatening others, with high purpose and determination, we set about building institutions that would make recurrence impossible.

"Much has been done to that end, and who is not conscious that much of the hope, yes even the determination, that arose on the end of the conflict has not vanished," he stated.

Blazer, Ashland oil executive, received the Sullivan award on the basis of outstanding service to the Commonwealth.

Miss Hutchcraft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winn Hutchcraft, Paris, was prominent in campus activities. She received the Frances Jewell McVey memorial scholarship award, the Phi Beta music fraternity award to the outstanding senior woman in the group, the Mortar Board plaque for sophomore scholarship. She served as president of Phi Beta, YWCA and Mortar Board. She was graduated with high distinction from the University.

Conrad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Conrad of Boone county, served as president of the YMCA. He was a member of Lances, junior men's leadership society; Omicron Delta Kappa, senior men's leadership society; Phalanx, and Alpha Zeta fraternity. He was graduated with distinction.

The Sullivan awards were established in 1925 by the New York Southern Society in honor of a distinguished lawyer and public-spirited citizen of New York during the post-Civil War period.

The class of 1894 held its 54th reunion last June, and although there are eight living members of the class, only Mrs. P. F. Kesheimer (Lillie Kroesing) came back for Commencement Week.

However, Mrs. Kesheimer brought the above picture to prove to the "young un's" that the beaux and belles of the Gay Nineties were a fine group. Living members of the class, so far as the office can ascertain, are: George D. Bradshaw, Detroit, Mich.; Dr. John T. Faig, Cincinnati; U. A. Garred, Clivehurst, Long Island; N. A. Newton, Oil City, Pa.; Mrs. Pearl Oots Wells, Lexington; William Clay Trigg, Corydon, Ky.; and Mrs. Harriet Horner Hobdy, Kentfield, Calif.

Three Alumni Receive Honorary Degrees June 4

Judge Charles I. Dawson

Five native Kentuckians who have brought distinction to their state by accomplishments in their chosen fields were awarded honorary degrees by the University of Kentucky at 81st annual commencement exercises June 4.

The degree of honorary Doctor of Laws was conferred by President H. L. Donovan upon Wiley B. Rutledge, associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court; Earle C. Clements, governor of Kentucky; Charles I. Dawson, Louisville attorney and former judge of the U. S. District Court; Don Whitehead, ace Associated Press correspondent; and Hal Price Headley, Fayette county thoroughbred horse breeder and philanthropist.

Justice Rutledge, who was the commencement speaker, was born at Cloverport, Ky., in 1894. He was appointed to the nation's highest tribunal by the late President Roosevelt in 1943. Prior to that time, he practiced law privately, was on the law faculty of three universities, and served as an associate justice of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

A U.K. alumnus, Governor Clements was born in Morganfield in 1896. He is a veteran of 26 years experience in public offices ranging from sheriff to U. S. congressman and was elected chief executive of the commonwealth in November, 1947.

Gov. Earle Clements

Judge Dawson, also an alumnus, who recently donated his services to the University in the precedent-setting case deciding that U.K. personnel are not bound by the state constitutional salary limitation, is a native of Logan county born in 1881. His career in law during the past 40 years included terms as a member of the Kentucky House of Representatives, attorney general, and U. S. District judge.

Don Whitehead, '26-'28, is a native of Harlan and a veteran of 20 years newspaper work. Currently assigned to the Washington bureau of the Associated Press, the former U.K. journalism student covered the European war for A.P. from the North African campaign through VE-Day. He was the speaker at the alumni banquet June 3.

A distinguished sportsman, philanthropist and farmer, Mr. Headley was born in Kentucky in 1890 and is now best known as promotor, organizer and a director of Keeneland Race Track, the horse racing oval near Lexington which is the only track in the U. S. recognized by the Department of Internal Revenue as a non-profit track. All profits go to the state and for many years have helped support the University of Kentucky.

Dr. H. L. Donovan, '14, president of the University of Kentucky, is president of the Kentucky Education Association for 1948-'49.

D. H. Bray, '39, New Ky. Highway Head

Dwight H. Bray, 'B.S.C.E. '39, C.E. '40, of Frankfort, former director of the division of maintenance and for the past three years director of the division of design has been named chief engineer of the Kentucky Department of Highways, succeeding Thomas H. Cutler, '03, who has been named consulting engineer, attached to the technical staff of the department.

"The position of consultant was created largely due to the passage of the two cent gasoline tax, which necessitates some immediate organization, planning and locating of roads provided for by this Act," Mr. Withers said. "Studies in all phases of highway needs will be undertaken."

Mr. Bray, who holds two engineering degrees from the University of Kentucky and a geology degree from the University of Missouri, has been with the Highway Department since 1920 when he was assigned to the field location office in Henderson as a draftsman.

Paul Hanna, '47, of Shelbyville has been named marketing specialist in dairying for the Tennessee State Department of Agriculture. He has formerly been engaged in dairy extension and herd-improvement work in Kentucky.

UK Alumni Hear Correspondent

American armies in Europe could have occupied thousands of square miles more during the last war had they not been ordered to stop, a former war correspondent for The Associated Press said in an address June 3, before fellow-alumni at the annual Alumni Association banquet.

The speaker, Don Whitehead, now an AP Washington correspondent, told a University of Kentucky Alumni Association audience at the Student Union building that "American armies kept faith with the Russians."

"They could have gone on," he asserted, "to capture Czechoslovakia—Prague—and many cities in Austria."

"They had no idea of the present tug of (cold) war. They were not planning to set up an army to be in a position for a third world war."

Whitehead was introduced by LeRoy M. Miles, retiring president of the association.

The newsman, often hailed as one of the best reporters covering the war, outlined a "background" of current events. He told of the first invasion plan, through the Balkans, which was scrapped in favor of the "direct invasion" across the English channel.

Had the original plan been followed, he said, the effect would have been to seal off from Russia the countries now Communist dominated.

This plan was abandoned by the high command, Whitehead related, to permit a faster end to the war by the invasion across the channel.

Referring to totalitarianism, the correspondent said he had seen what it meant to lose freedom. "When I saw Buchtenwald," he reported, "I began to understand what it meant to lose freedom. Freedom is something we cannot afford to lose."

University President H. L. Donovan told the association's members the last school year has been "the greatest in the University's 83 years" because:

1. The Court of Appeals, in reversing itself to allow the University to pay its professors more than $5,000 annually, made it possible for UK to keep its faculty from falling apart.

2. The legislature gave the University the "best budget in its 83 years."

3. The University had the largest student enrollment—7,802 registered last September, and 9,991 different students in residence at various times.

"Had the Court of Appeals not ruled favorably," Dr. Donovan said, "we would have lost half our faculty by now." The low salaries, he added, "would have become a joke in the academic field."

The University president also noted that the alumni association now has the largest membership in its history—3,600. "This is a mark of progress," he said. "There is no reason why the membership should not increase to 5,000 next year and keep climbing."

The new officers of the association were elected in nation-wide mail balloting by approximately 3,600 graduates and former students. They were selected from eight candidates nominated last March by two subcommittees of the executive committee.

Mrs. John N. Browning, '22, Maysville, is retiring vice president of the association.

Fred D. Brockman, '47, assistant Harlan county agent for two years, has resigned to accept a position as county agent in Estill county. He taught two years in Jackson county schools before going to Harlan, and served three years as a Pharmacist Mate, Second Class, in the Navy before teaching school.

Class Reunions "Bigger, Better" Than Ever

Commencement week activities for University alumni got off to a big start on Wednesday, June 2, with the reunion of 26 members of the class of 1908 at a buffet supper at the home of Miss Sunshine Sweeney, Pine Grove, Ky. Fifty per cent of the 40-year class got back for the reunion, sat together at the Alumni dinner and at the commencement luncheon, and generally enjoyed the good fellowship of the occasion. T. R. Bryant was reunion chairman for the group.

Thursday at noon the class of 1912 held a reunion luncheon in the Student Union, with 26 present, including three guests from the class of 1911. Officers elected were: Jay Gaiser, president; Leslie Jones, vice president, and Cleo Gillis Hester, secretary. W. S. Taylor served as reunion chairman.

That same day the class of 1930 held a luncheon in the Primrose room of the Lafayette hotel with Billie Whitlow Smith in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Smith was elected class secretary and 20 members attended. This group made a class contribution to the University of Kentucky Loyalty Fund.

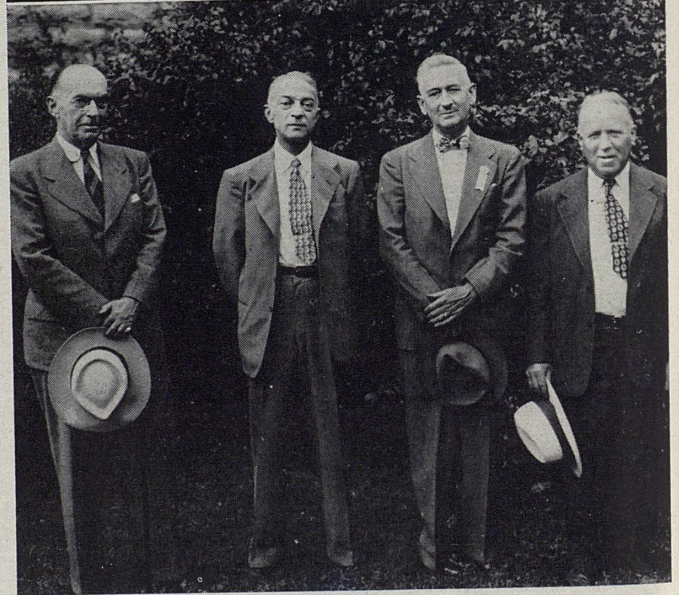

The 14 Faradays, engineering students from the class of 1914, celebrated their reunion on Thursday with a luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Harp. This class, together with the class of 1908, established headquarters at the Lafayette hotel and held open house during the week for members and friends.

Other classes, returning in smaller groups to attend the general alumni functions, included: 1892, '93, '94 and '95; 1911 and '13; 1931, '32 and '33.

Registration for returning alumni was held in the Alumni Office Friday morning, June 4, from 10 to 12, preceding the commencement luncheon. Those registering were:

Daniel P. Morgan, '14, Canton, Ohio; J. C. Everett, '22, Maysville; Cecil Harp, '14, Lexington; Edgar E. Johnson, '14, Buffalo, N. Y.; Rogert T. Thornton, '14, Buffalo, N. Y.; H. Berkley Hedges, '14, Philadelphia, Pa.; Rita Mount, '31, Lexington; Rosa Lena Brumfield, '40,

Forty Years Between Pictures

Just 40 years later, this past June, the same four got together, in the same place and in the same order, to have their pictures taken at the reunion of their class.

"Fourteen Faradays" Get Together

It's hard to beat the "Fourteen Faradays" when it comes to loyalty. Back in 1914 the senior class turned out 14 fine young engineers and time after time Cecil Harp, Fayette County Engineer and a member of the group, has gotten them together on the campus for a bang-up class reunion. This year was no exception, and here are nine of the 14, on the terrace of Mr. Harp's home on Kingsway Drive, after a delicious and beautifully appointed luncheon, presided over by Mrs. Harp.

Dr. Donovan Honored By Berea College

Dr. H. L. Donovan, '14, president of the University of Kentucky, was the June commencement speaker at Berea College, and had conferred upon him the honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

The citation which accompanied the degree read as follows: "It is my privilege to present, for the honorary Doctor of Laws, Herman Lee Donovan, distinguished educator, now the president of the University of Kentucky.

"Dr. Donovan was born in Kentucky and received his education in the public schools of the state. His life has been devoted to the cause of education in Kentucky. As teacher and administrator in the public schools, as president of Eastern Kentucky State Teachers' College for thirteen years, and as the leader of the University of Kentucky since 1941, he has exhibited administrative capacity of the highest order.

"Dr. Donovan's influence is important to Kentucky, but it has not been confined to this state alone. National recognition has come to him for his work as participant and leader in many important educational organizations and conferences. He is the author of several books on educational subjects and a frequent contributor to periodicals in this field. The recent request of the U. S. Government that he serve as educational advisor to the occupational authorities in Germany was a fitting recognition of his achievements.

"Berea College does well to honor Dr. Donovan for his attainments in the field of education. But we honor him also as our very good friend and neighbor."

Willard N. Hogan, M.A. '34, a member of the Berea College faculty, presented President Donovan for the honorary degree.

Katherine Roberts, '25, formerly of Lexington, is with the May Foundation at Rochester, Minn., a head psychologist with the health research project.

Class Of '08 Celebrates 40th Reunion

The class of 1908 came back, 26 strong of the 52 living members, to celebrate its 40th reunion during Commencement Week.

They held open house at the Lafayette hotel, attended all the Alumni events scheduled on the campus and topped off the reunion with a buffet supper at the home of Miss Sunshine Sweeney, Pine Grove, near Lexington.

T. R. Bryant, assistant director of Agricultural Extension at the University was the moving force back to this grand reunion.

Alumni Homecoming Plans Are Announced

"Campus Call" has been sounded for all alumni Nov. 13, when the Wildcat grid warriors meet the University of Florida on Stoll Field.

Shades of the "squirrel hat," the "pork-pie" era and others will stalk the campus on that day, when graduates and former students will return for a day of cheer, good-fellowship and general fun-making.

Registration tables for alumni will be set up at the Kentuckian, Lafayette and Phoenix hotels during the morning hours, and the game is scheduled for two p. m. on Stoll Field.

Following the game the President and Mrs. H. L. Donovan will entertain at Maxwell Place with their annual homecoming tea for alumni and friends of the University, and that evening the Alumni Association will entertain all returning alumni and former students at a reception and dance in the Gold ballroom of the Lafayette hotel.

Put the date down on your calendar of coming events—Saturday, November 13—and don't let anything interfere with your return to the campus for the final home football game of the 1948 season.

John P. Jones Gets Reynolds Promotion

John P. Jones, Jr., '41, has been appointed industry manager of the housewares division of the Reynolds Metals Company in Louisville.

In his new position Mr. Jones will be in charge of development and sales of all housewares items. After joining the Reynolds firm three years ago he was placed in charge of housewares sales in the Philadelphia area. From this post he was transferred to Louisville and named assistant industry manager in the housewares division, a position he has held for the past two years.

Prior to his service in the Reynolds organization, Mr. Jones had

A penciled score of "On, On, U. of K," written by Prof. C. A. Lampert, emeritus head of the University's Department of Music, and given by him to Henry A. Taylor, '23, of Henderson, in the early 1920's, has found its way into the historical collection of the University library, through the kindness of Mr. Taylor.

According to Henry, "Prof" Lampert, as he was affectionately known to all the students, gave him the score with the request that he (Henry) fit some lyrics to the tune. Somehow or other, in the rush of other campus duties, the young Henderson boy did not get around to the lyrics, which later were written by Troy Perkins, '25, now U. S. Consul to Nanking, China, but he did keep the penciled score, and treasured it through the years.

It came to the Alumni Office this spring, attractively framed, with the compliments of Mr. Taylor. Incidentally, there is another generation of Taylors on the campus now. They are Henry, Jr., and Ellis, sons of Henry and Mrs. (Elizabeth Ellis) Taylor.

Kentucky's Ralph Beard was named to the Helms Athletic Foundation's 1948 All-American first team, and Alex Groza was chosen for the second string center.

In addition, Coach Adolph Rupp, who already had been named to the coaching Hall of Fame, received a special award for having led his Wildcats to the national crown. It was the third time that Rupp-coached Kentucky teams have accomplished this feat. They won the titles in 1933, 1946 and this year.

'Cats 1948 Football Prospects A Question

Nine Players Lost From 1947 Eleven

By Roy Steinfort '46
Director Athletic Publicity

What will fortune bring Paul Bryant's Kentucky Wildcats during the 1948 campaign?

For two years, the gridiron gods have delivered success to the 34-year-old Kentucky mentor and his squad. . .

But what will happen in Bryant's third season at the Bluegrass school? For that question, the youthful, good-looking Bryant has a stock reply.

"When you lose nine players from your starting eleven and five more from your squad in one season what would you expect to happen?"

"With the Southeastern Conference freshman rule now back in force, we are allowed to play only the men who were eligible last July 1. This simply means we will replace nine first string players with boys who were only good enough last fall to be second, third, and fourth stringers.

"That seems to be answer enough!"

Bryant in two seasons at Kentucky has compiled an unequalled record at the Bluegrass school. Arriving here from the University of Maryland early in 1946, Bryant was greeted by a squad which had won just two games the previous season while losing eight.

With snow still many inches deep on Stoll Field, Bryant and his newly formed staff went to work. After several week's work, he was still missing what he was looking for—gridiron material.

Drills were concluded. Bryant and his staff started on a recruiting program. In June, a portion of his harvest arrived. Some more enrolled in September.

That 1946 season produced seven victories and only three losses. Kentucky emerged from the S.E.C. doldrums.

Last season, these boys who had compiled such an enviable record in '46 were seniors. They went all out to win eight games while losing three to again amaze the Southern football powers.

Included in this string of victories was a 26-0 triumph over the Georgia Sugar Bowl champs and a 24-14 win over Villanova in the inaugural Great Lakes Bowl game.

Bryant this fall is faced with the task of rebuilding his entire machine from a squad riddled by graduation and academic attrition.

By graduation, Kentucky lost two starting ends, George Sengel and Don Ridge. By academic attrition, Dick Hensley departed. Both starting tackles—Bill Griffin and Wash Serini—swapped pigskins for sheepskins.

Five guards, the heart of the forward wall, are missing—Hut Jones, Matt Lair, Gene Haas, Leo Yarron and Charles Browning.

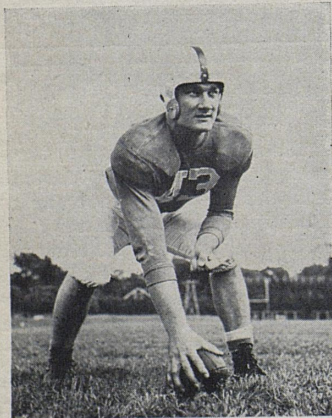

Jay Rhodemyre, Kentucky conference center, completed eligibility. There remains a big hole to be filled.

Kentucky's two best all-around backs—Fullback Bill Moseley and Halfback Jack Farris—were graduated. Farris was the team's leading ground gainer with a 6.4 yards per try average. Moseley had a 3.5 average. They were both excellent defensive men, especially on an aerial attack.

Let's look at the prospects for the coming season. At the flanks, there are Ben Zaranka, (6-4, 191) Jerry Claborn, (5-10, 175) Charles Bentley, (6, 190) Don Frampton, (6-2, 185) and Wallace Jones, (6-4, 195). Jones, however, will be going to the Olympics with the basketball team. Claborn may not be back in time to make the quick physical transition from the round ball to football.

Four tackles—Bob Gain, (6-3, 190) Doc Ferrell, (6, 198) Lloyd McDermott, (6-1, 215) and Frank Smoothman, (6-4, 215)—will be available for service. Gain and McDermott seem to have the inside track for starting jobs.

The guard situation is definitely not good. This is one of the obvious weak spots in the Kentucky line. Of the eight men listed on the roster as guards, only four appear to be in the running this fall.

Dick Holway, (5-10, 183) Pat James (6-1, 195) Bill Dawson, (5-10, 190) and Ray Porter (5-10, 185) are the quartet given the nod by Bryant as most likely to succeed.

With one exception, the center spot is woefully weak. Brawny Harry Ulinski (6-2, 196) is back for his junior season. The rangy flipper-back was troubled with a knee injury last fall. This spring he underwent an operation. If it proves successful, then Ulinski can almost count on being a sixty-minute man in the line-up.

The backfield, generally speaking, is a brighter thought than the line.

To assist, and possibly beat-out Blanda, will be Carl Genito, a sophomore. Carl played as a freshman halfback for Bryant during the 1946 campaign and last season he was withheld. Genito doesn't possess a tremendous amount of ability, but he seems to do everything well when under pressure. Besides being a better passer than Blanda, Genito is a threat as a runner.

The halfbacks are adequate. At the right side, there's Jim Howe (6-1, 175) and Dick Martin (6, 170). Howe is a junior and a youngster who is not blessed with a great deal of speed. BUT he's one of those runners who somehow, somehow, always manages to shake off the tacklers and go for long gains. Martin is only a sophomore, but he has fine possibilities, and he's sure to see action. Defensively, he's probably the roughest halfback on the squad.

At the left side, there are two small but powerful men. Bill Boller (5-11, 180) and Shorty Jamerson (5-8, 170) both played a lot last fall.

Boller can pass, kick, and run while Jamerson, a slow youngster afoot, relies on a good change of pace to ward-off tacklers.

Fullbacks are numerous, but only two boys—Dopey Phelps and Lee Truman—are seriously considered. Phelps has a terrific reputation as a runner. His freshman season, he was tops in the nation at running back punts and kick-offs. Last fall, his sophomore year, he was going great until the West Virginia game where he suffered a shoulder injury.

UK Adopts Faculty At Heidelberg U.

Alumni May Help By Contributing

A plan to help feed and clothe the war-poor faculty members and their families at Heidelberg University in Germany, conceived by President H. L. Donovan last spring while on an observation trip of German universities as a representative of the U. S. Government, has been taken up by faculty, students and alumni of UK with the "adoption" practically an accomplished fact.

Working through a faculty-student committee, staff, alumni and students are contributing money and clothing for the project, and at a meeting of the Kentucky Research Foundation during commencement week, the group agreed to serve as official recipient of all monetary contributions. Checks or cash should be sent to Dr. Leo M. Chamberlan, president, Kentucky Research Foundation, University of Kentucky, Lexington 29, Kentucky, and checks should be made payable to the Foundation and marked "Adopt Heidelberg Project." Gifts of money to this charity are deductible from income tax returns, according to a ruling from the Revenue Department.

President Donovan was greatly impressed by the hunger and threadbare clothing of the faculty and their families at Heidelberg. "I spent much time at Heidelberg and came to know some of the people there," said the University president, "and they are scholars upon whose shoulders rest much of the responsibility of training a better type of leadership for the future of Germany."

Betty Rhoads Is Recognized at UK

Betty Ree Rhoads, '48, of Lexington, daughter of Lt. Col. Wayland Rhoads, '15, was named recipient of the first annual Alma Magna Mater award for unselfish service to the University, at the annual Honors Day convocation in May.

Miss Rhoads received an engraved julep cup from the organization which is composed of sons and daughters of alumni and former UK students. The award was presented by Dr. Frank L. McVey, president emeritus of the University, at a tea which President and Mrs. H. L. Donovan gave for the group at Maxwell Place, May 13.

Basis of the first annual Alma Magna Mater award was "for outstanding and unselfish service to the University by a senior class student." Miss Rhoads has been active in many campus groups including membership in Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority; SuKy, student pep organization; YWCA cabinet; Women's Athletic Association; Student Government Association; Student Union house committee; student affiliate of the American Chemical Society; K-Dets; and Pitkin Club. She also has been associated with many campus drives.

Lieut. Col. Robert C. Bagby, '37, of Ft. Thomas, has been awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service in the organization, training and operation of Air Force units in Ireland from August, 1942, to December, 1943.

The award was made at a ceremony at Air Force headquarters by Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Power, chief of the Requirements Division in the Directorate of Training and Requirements, to whose office Colonel Bagby is assigned.

The 34-year-old senior pilot joined the Air Force as an aviation cadet shortly after graduation from the University. He completed his flying training, and was appointed a second lieutenant in the Air Reserve in June, 1938, 14 months later receiving his Regular Army commission as a second lieutenant of Air Corps.

From December, 1944, to October, 1945, he was attached to the 318th Fighter Group at Okinawa, after which he returned to this country to attend the Command and General Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. Upon his graduation in March, 1946, he was assigned to the War Department General Staff and in October, 1947, was named deputy chief of the Fighter Branch in the Requirements Division, which position he now holds.

U.K. Scientists Develop New Tractor Engine Using Alcohol As Fuel

A revolutionary type of engine burning ethyl alcohol as a motor fuel instead of gasoline has been developed by research engineers of the University of Kentucky Aero-nautical Research Laboratory.

Development of an engine converted to the use of virtually any type of vegetable alcohol makes it theoretically possible for a farmer to grow a fuel-producing crop and assures relief from gasoline shortages in certain specialized fields, where U.K. scientists declare.

As designed by Prof. A. J. Meyer, director of the laboratory, and other engineers after two years of research sponsored by Joseph E. Seaton Company & Sons, Louisville distillers, in cooperation with the University, the new engine is more specifically a specially-constructed carburetor. The carburetor is essentially a conversion allowing an engine, such as that of a farm tractor to which experiments have been confined so far, to operate on alcohol instead of gasoline.

The special carburetor has a double chamber, one on top of the other, which allows the engine to operate by using either gasoline or alcohol. Since evaporation of alcohol requires three times as much heat as that needed to vaporize gasoline, the apparatus is designed to return 10 per cent of the engine exhaust into the intake system, Prof. Myer explained.

University research engineers said the conversion apparatus could be inexpensively installed, probably at a cost of about $50, and would make operation considerably cheaper (10 to 15 cents a gallon) than gasoline, if alcohol were readily available.

In more than 500 hours of tests and field demonstrations of a tractor engine equipped with the new alcohol-burning carburetor, the system has worked extremely well, according to U.K. research scientists. Power output and performance are equal or superior to gasoline operation, but the engine requires a greater amount of fuel.

Greater efficiency could be ob-

'34 Grad, Librarian For U. S. In Germany

Helen E. Fry, '34, of Lexington, formerly a member of the University of Kentucky library staff, is chief supervisory librarian for the entire U. S. Occupied Zone in Germany. She entered the Army Library Service August 1, 1943.

Miss Fry is a native of Rochester, Pa., and after her graduation from the University taught in a consolidated high school in Athens, Ky., later joining the University library staff which position she held until joining the Army Library Service.

As an Army librarian Helen is a civilian civil service employee with a professional rating, working for the Army Special Services Division. The Army librarians organize and operate Army libraries and various library services for the Army, anywhere personnel may be located, and work only with the Army not with civilians with the exception of Army dependents.

On entering the Service Miss Fry was assigned to Godman Field and then the Armored Replacements Training Center, both at Ft. Knox, Ky. After two years in the service in this country she was transferred to the European Theater of Operations in August of 1945 and was located at Calas Staging Area near Marseilles, France, where she supervised Army libraries operated to occupy the men who were waiting

UK Board Honors Late Dean Anderson

Engineering Buildings Named In His Honor

All buildings in the Engineering Quadrangle on the University of Kentucky campus will henceforth be known as Anderson Hall, according to a ruling of the Board of Trustees at the May meeting of that body's executive committee. The action honors the memory of the late Dean F. Paul Anderson who served the college for 43 years as professor and dean.

A bronze tablet will be erected in the main corridor of old Mechanical Hall, suitably inscribed with the following: "ANDERSON HALL, Named in honor of F. Paul Anderson, who served the University of Kentucky for 43 years. 1891-92 as Professor of Mechanical Engineering. 1892-1918 as Dean of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. 1918-1934 as Dean of the College of Engineering.

"It was through his efforts that the College of Civil Engineering, the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, and the College of Mining Engineering were consolidated in 1918 to form the College of Engineering. In recognition of his leadership in Engineering, he was chosen Dean, and served in that capacity until his death in 1934."

The University will also place smaller bronze plaques in the west and south and east units of Anderson Hall, giving the date of their erection, the Board of Trustees at the time they were constructed, the name of Dr. Frank L. McVey, president in those years, and other salient facts in connection with the building units.

to be sent home from the ETO after V-E Day. In April of 1946 she was transferred to Wiesbaden.

In Wiesbaden she worked as a special librarian with U. S. Air Force Headquarters in Europe. She wrote, in addition, a weekly book review column for the local paper and had two radio programs.

In October, 1947, Miss Fry was transferred to Bad Nauheim and given her present assignment.

U. K. Dedicates Its Educational Frequency-Modulation Station

WBKY, the University of Kentucky's frequency-modulation educational radio station, dedicated its new studio and transmitter in special ceremonies May 24.

Dean Maurice Seay dedicated the studio, the first of its kind in educational radio.

E. G. Sulzer, head of the Department of Radio Arts, explained that a new acoustical treatment was employed. It uses diffusers which look like half-round wood panels and reduce interference effects. The treatment was developed for motion picture recording and was not used in radio studios until 1940.

Built by Graduate Student

The transmitter was designed and built by James Hisle, graduate student in the College of Engineering, over a period of two years. Of 1,000-watt power, it has four-bay turnstile antennae which increase its power to 2,300 watts.

WBKY will be heard on the new high-band transmitter and the present low-band one until an FCC directive abolishes operation of the low-band one. Although the new coverage area has not been exactly determined, Sulzer estimates it will be between 40 and 60 miles. He said there are about 4,000 FM receivers in Lexington.

Radio broadcasting at UK was begun in April, 1929, when the first program was broadcast from the University over Station WHAS, Louisville. In 1933, the school inaugurated its radio listening center system, which makes radio available to remote parts of the state.

tained," Prof. Meyer stressed, "we are interested primarily in getting a workable and practical model on the market first."

It is not intended that the engine should make gasoline altogether replaceable. "Alcohol is not cheap enough now, generally speaking, to compete with gasoline as a fuel in the United States, but in locations where it is easily obtained or produced it will prove cheaper than gasoline. Such an alcohol-burning engine can go a long way in reducing gas consumption in certain specialized fields, such as farming," stated.

series of hobby programs presented during the year, and in 1943 the school received the Peabody award for the best public service program of the year. The award was won by a series of 10 talks on "Our Hidden Enemy," concerning venereal diseases.

U. K. Dormitory Dedicated June 4

John Bryan Bowman Hall, new residence unit for men at the University, was dedicated Friday, June 4, as part of the Commencement week program. Named for one of the founders of the University, the building is the fourth permanent dormitory for UK men. It accommodates 108 students and provides recreational facilities for the dormitory quadrangle.

Report of Annual Meeting of Alumni

The annual meeting of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association was held June 3, 1948, following the annual banquet in the Student Union Ballroom.

John R. Bullock, '28, newly elected president of the association, presided. Mr. Bullock opened the meeting by entertaining a motion that the reading of the minutes of the annual meeting of the association in 1947 be dispensed with. It was so moved by LeRoy Miles, '28, and seconded by Curtis Park, '17.

Moved and seconded the motion carried.

The report of the secretary was presented by the executive secretary, Helen King, '25, and was as follows:

Secretary's Annual Report For The University Of Kentucky Alumni Association Year 1947-'48

It is a pleasure to report that the University of Kentucky Alumni Association has made considerable progress during the fiscal year 1947-'48.

Under the able leadership of LeRoy Miles, '28, of Lexington, and a fine executive committee the association has reached an all-time high of 3,636 members, including 111 new life members; and, as your treasurer will report to you, we have accumulated enough government bonds to cover the 356 life memberships included in the grand total and recorded by the association.

Last July, and again this year, the association obtained football ticket priorities to home games for alumni who paid their dues before and during the month of July, and the office staff worked with the Athletics Association in keeping accurate records for the priority group.

At the annual meeting of the general association last June, the group voted to give the executive committee power to raise the membership dues this year if it saw fit. The executive committee at its January meeting voted to increase the dues to $3.00 for an A membership and $2.00 for a B membership. This information, together with the annual membership letter to 18,000 graduates and former students informing them of their athletic ticket privileges, has already been sent out.

Last fall, for the second consecutive year, the association entertained returning alumni at a reception and dance at the Lafayette Hotel, following the homecoming football game, with a record-breaking crowd in attendance.

Early in the fall the office sent out ballots for the election of an alumnus member to the Board of Trustees, and from the three nominees receiving the highest number of votes the Governor of Kentucky appointed Guy A. Huguelet, '14, of Lexington, to the six-year term beginning January 1, 1948.

As has been the annual custom for a number of years, the association entertained the Wildcat football and basketball squads at banquets at the conclusion of their respective seasons, and sell-out crowds attended both events. The alumni secretary also served on the Mayor's committee of citizens to plan for the homecoming celebration of the basketball team when it came home in March with the National Collegiate championship.

An alumni legislative committee, headed by Senator William W. Blanton, '24, of Paris, assisted President H. L. Donovan in the promotion of his budget program before the 1948 Legislature, and the office worked out and carried through, by correspondence and personal contact, a program of "in the family" group meetings among Kentucky alumni, to acquaint them with the President's budget request.

The secretary reorganized Alma Magna Mater, a student group consisting of the sons and daughters of former University students which had been inactive for several years, and is serving as faculty adviser to the group.

The office sent out notices to active alumni about the University's annual Founders' Day program, and worked with the committee on arrangements for the event.

One of the most encouraging features of the year's program has been the activity of the various organized clubs throughout the country. The executive secretary attended meetings in Cincinnati, Bowling Green, Louisville, New York, Detroit and Cleveland, and other members of the faculty and staff talked before clubs as follows: New York, Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, vice president; Washington, President H. L. Donovan; Chicago, Coach Paul Bryant; Philadelphia, Coach Rdolph Rupp; Cincinnati, Dr. T. D. Clark, head of the Department of History, and Harry Lancaster, assistant basketball coach; Louisville, Leroy Miles; Cleveland, President Donovan. Of these clubs Detroit, Philadelphia and Cleveland reorganized this year.

Since the association inaugurated the plan of sending handsome certificates to life members, Professor J. S. Horine, '09, has kindly lettered the names on 356 of these cards. In appreciation of his services the executive committee voted an honorary life membership in the association to Professor Horine this year.

The executive committee also set up a sub-committee for the purpose of raising funds from interested alumni and friends to purchase wrist watches for graduating seniors in athletics. Athletic Director and now Alumni Vice-President, B. A. Shively, headed this committee, and raised enough money to present handsome watches to the senior football and basketball men at the alumni banquets.

As has been the custom of the association for the past five years, the group entertained one graduating senior from each of the seven colleges of the University at its April meeting, from which group they elected Carlisle Myers, Jr., graduating senior in the College of Education to serve as an honorary member of the executive committee next year. This is done to tie in the graduating class more closely with the work of the association.

I think you will be interested to know that following the annual meeting of the association last June, when the membership voted to take in all graduates of the newly absorbed College of Pharmacy, a fine return of memberships came in from the new group, and these men and women are showing a healthy and active interest in the University and in alumni work. While the annexation of this large group meant much additional work for the office staff, it has paid very good dividends.

The office sent out two mailings to reunion classes this spring, and the editor pointed the May Alumnus toward reunion plans. Incidentally, the Alumnus has helped, as much as any other one factor, to weld the membership together, and we are grateful to the Board of Trustees and to President Donovan for making it possible for us to publish such a high class type of magazine.

Because of the increasingly large graduating classes, the secretary asked the committee to work out some sort of plan whereby the association would have more direct contact with recent graduates, since the University, several years ago, abandoned the plan of holding class elections. This was done through the seven seniors who came to our April meeting and from there went to their respective deans and asked them to call senior class elections. Each college elected a class president and secretary, which will greatly facilitate the work of the office when their reunions come due.

Probably the outstanding work of the association this year is reflected in what has been done by your new President, John R. Bullock, '28, of Cincinnati, who headed the newly set-up Loyalty Fund drive for the purpose of establishing a four-year, all-expense scholarship for a worthy student. Mr. Bullock will make a detailed report to you this evening, but I think all of you should know that this campaign which has been eminently successful, was not only conducted but financed by Mr. Bullock, without expense to the association. Such personal loyalty could not fail to be appreciated by the entire membership.

Finally, I think this association should know that the members of the alumni executive committee come to Lexington monthly, from September through May, and many of them are here tonight, at their own expense, just for the purpose of serving their Alma Mater. The weather is seldom too bad or business too pressing to interfere with their love and loyalty to the work of the association and the University and, when you read their names on the masthead of the Alumnus, I want you to know that they are really "those who serve."

In conclusion, I would like to express my deep appreciation to President Donovan, the Board of Trustees and the University administration for their ready cooperation and help at all times. Vice President Chamberlain has helped the Loyalty Fund committee organize and launch its membership drive and we are very grateful to him. And to the members of the office staff, Jeanette Graves, office secretary and willing assistant in all phases of alumni work, and to Dorothy Donahue, Betty Sunley, Joan Adams, Barbara Akers and Betty Hogge sincere appreciation, and the assurance that their loyalty and interest have made the year both pleasant and profitable.

Respectfully submitted,

Helen G. King,
Executive Secretary

It was moved by Mr. Miles, seconded by H. C. Robinson, '06, that the report of the treasurer be accepted. Moved and seconded the motion carried.

The report of the Finance Committee was presented by the chairman, L. K. Frankel '00, in which he stated that the executive committee, according to the action taken at the general association meeting last year, had voted to raise both the A and B memberships one dollar, making the A, $3.00 and the B, $2.00.

He also reported that no action had been taken on the cost of life memberships and that he would like this question taken up by the group at the present meeting. It was his recommendation that the life membership fee remain at its present rate of $25.00.

It was moved by G. Lee McClain, '19, seconded by H. C. Robinson, that the life membership fee be continued on the same basis as it has been ($25.00). A discussion followed this motion during which time Mr. Shropshire stated that he was not in favor of continuing the $25.00 life membership and that it had been kept at that rate in order to increase the number of memberships and of life memberships but that he felt that since the memberships had not increased accordingly it should be discontinued and raised. Miss King read a letter from the American Alumni Council which stated that "life memberships vary in cost with the school. Of these present twenty-five charge $50 or less; twelve charge $50 to $75; five charge more than $75. Belief was expressed that the higher the cost—within reason—the more the membership is desired and appreciated. There is a real danger of cheapening a membership, life or annual, by charging too little."

There being no further discussion the above motion was voted upon and was defeated.

It was moved by Milton S. Smith, '08, seconded by Mr. Shropshire, that the life memberships be continued at $25.00 for the coming year and raised to $50.00 June 1, 1949. Moved and seconded the motion carried by two-thirds vote.

Mrs. John N. Browning, '22, a member of the scholarship committee, reported that the committee has received 55 contributions of $100.00, 78 other contributions, contributions from the class of 1915 and of 1930, totaling $6,662.19. The scholarship, the first of which will be given this fall, is the largest given by the University, $700 for four years, and at the present time there are one hundred applicants for the first scholarship to be awarded by the association. The appointment will be made sometime this month.

Following the scholarship report Grover Creech, '20, spoke in praise of the work of Mr. Bullock's committee.

It was moved by T. R. Bryant, '08, seconded by Mr. Robinson, that the report of the scholarship committee be accepted. Moved and seconded the motion carried.

Mr. Bullock asked that he be given permission by the general association to appoint a committee to study the constitution and submit a revision of it at the next annual meeting. It was so moved by Mr. McClain, seconded by Mr. Frankel. Moved and seconded the motion carried.

Mr. Bullock then announced that nominations were open for position of executive secretary of the association. Miss Helen King was nominated by LeRoy Miles and it was moved by Mr. Palmore, seconded by J. Ed Parker, Jr., '20, that the nominations cease and that Miss King be elected unanimously. Moved and seconded the motion carried. Mr. Bullock authorized Miss Graves, office secretary, to cast a unanimous ballot for Miss King.

Nominations for treasurer of the association were then opened and James S. Shropshire was nominated by Mr. Frankel. It was moved by Mr. Palmore, seconded by Mr. Robinson, that Mr. Shropshire be elected unanimously. Moved and seconded the motion carried. Thereupon the president instructed Miss King to cast a unanimous ballot for Mr. Shropshire.

B. A. Shively, '36, then announced that due to the fact that the Keeland race meet will be going at the time of the Vanderbilt game and that hotel reservations are impossible to obtain at that time, the Florida game has been scheduled by the executive committee as the homecoming game. The date is November 13th.

Mr. Bullock announced that since Dr. Donovan's return from Germany the University of Kentucky has adopted the University of Heidelberg and is collecting clothing and food for the students and professors. He felt that this would be a worthy project for the association and that it might be possible to help financially through the Kentucky Research Foundation but that an announcement concerning this project would be made in the August Alumnus.

There being no further business it was moved by Mr. Palmore, seconded by Norman Chrisman, '45, that the meeting be adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Jeanette Graves, '43
Secretary

Prior to the above business meeting of the association Mr. Miles in-introduced the new president of the association for 1948-49, John R. Bullock, who in turn introduced the new officers. They are as follows: B. A. Shively, vice-president; Homer L. Baker and H. D. Palmore, executive committee members.

Audit Report

Executive Committee
U. of Ky. Alumni Association
Student Union Building
University of Kentucky
Lexington, Kentucky

Gentlemen:

Pursuant to an understanding with your Secretary I have audited the financial records of your association for the year beginning April 1, 1947, and ending March 31, 1948. I submit herewith my report thereon which consists of a statement of Cash Receipts and Disbursements for the period, together with comments thereon. It is my opinion the statement of cash receipts and disbursements correctly set forth the operations of your Association for the year under review.

During the period covered by this examination the total receipts of the Association, with the exception of $15.70 spent in cash for postage and other small items, were deposited to the credit of the Association with the Bank of Commerce, Lexington, Kentucky. I have traced such receipts into the bank, have verified the $15.70 cash payments and have found the bank withdrawals made by properly authorized officers. The purposes for which all payments were made are shown in the accompanying statement of cash receipts and disbursements.

On May 20 I examined the contents of the safety deposit box of your Association at the First National Bank and found the following U. S. Savings Bonds of Series G classification therein:

Month of issue	Payee	Amount
Nov. 1942	U. K. Alumni Ass'n	$1,000.00
June 1943	U. K. Alumni Ass'n	400.00
July 1944	U. K. Alumni Ass'n	600.00
Dec. 1944	U. K. Alumni Ass'n	1,000.00
Dec. 1945	U. K. Alumni Ass'n	1,100.00
Aug. 1946	U. K. Alumni Ass'n	600.00
Nov. 1946	U. K. Alumni Ass'n	500.00
May 1947	U. K. Alumni Ass'n	500.00
Oct. 1947	U. K. Alumni Ass'n	2,300.00
Jan. 1948	U. K. Alumni Ass'n	600.00
March 1948	U. K. Alumni Ass'n Loyalty Fund	1,000.00
		$9,600.00

This is in accord with the records of your Association, and my audit of last year, which show $5,200 of bonds owned on March 31, 1947, and $4,400 purchased during the period covered by this audit. The $136.25 shown on the accompanying statement of cash receipts and disbursements as Interest on Government Bonds represents the interest maturing and collected on the above bonds during the period from April 1, 1947, to March 31, 1948.

During the period covered by this audit your officers invested $675 more in the above bonds than was received from life memberships during the same period. $500 of this represents acquisitions to cover receipts for the period included in my audit report of May 1, 1947, which period ended March 31, 1947. On March 31, 1948, your Association therefore had invested in bonds $175 more than was received on life memberships since June 1, 1945. On the latter date there was an excess investment of $175 thus bringing the total excess investment to March 31, 1948, to $350. This represents investments in bonds to cover memberships of 14 persons who became life members prior to June 1, 1945, and have since died. The total number of living life members on March 31, 1948, was 330 from whom total receipts were $8,250, all of which was invested in bonds on March 31, 1948.

The $1,046.00 transferred by your treasurer to the Loyalty Fund, together with $193.38 from the McVey Book Fund, was deposited in a special account in the Second National Bank of Lexington, Kentucky. This account, known as the "University of Kentucky Alumni Loyalty Fund," was also increased by a transfer to it of $11.72 discovered as the balance of an old account of the Association with this bank. One check of $1,000 was drawn on this account purchase the $1,000 U. S. Savings bond mentioned above. The balance of $251.10 in this account as of March 31, 1948, was confirmed to me.

The properties owned by the Association as of March 31, 1948, consisted of the following:

GOOD FOR YOU!

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

LEXINGTON 29

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

June 15, 1948

• Mr. John R. Bullock
Taft, Stettinius & Hollister
603 Dixie Terminal Building
Cincinnati, Ohio

My dear Mr. Bullock:

The initiation of the Alumni Loyalty Fund and the campaign to secure donations to it for the purpose of creating some very substantial scholarships has been one of the very progressive movements of the Alumni Association during the past year. In my opinion, the campaign has been highly successful because of the support it received from Mr. LeRoy Miles, the past president of the Alumni Association, and the enthusiastic support it received from you as chairman of the committee to direct the campaign. If the alumni in future years will continue to support this program, it will be a great benediction to many worthy young men and women who would otherwise not be able to attend the University. Probably the best investment any man can make is to invest a part of his income in the talented youth of our state who might not be able to develop their talents without some assistance from others. Human dividends are the most important of all dividends we collect on our investments. May I congratulate you and those who worked with you on the very great success you have had in building up the Loyalty Fund.

Cordially yours,

H. L. Donovan
