University Adds Courses In Police Administration

The University has added to its curriculum a four-year course leading to the bachelor of arts degree with a major in police administration. Pres. H. L. Donovan has announced. The course is being offered for the first time this semester.

Alm of the new program is professional training for law enforcement work and the provision of a steady supply of graduates qualified for employment with local, state, or federal law enforcement agencies.

A separate academic department was not required for the addition of the new course, according to Dr. M. M. White, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. Special police work courses will be taught by the Department of Political Science.

Other required courses, including three in the College of Law, are offered regularly at the University. INSTRUCTOR FOR THE NEW COURSE—public administration, police and the public police science laboratory, and traffic regulation—will be Capt. O. H. Corwell, head of the Kentucky State Police Bureau of Personnel and Training. Capt. Corwell is the former police chief of Kenton, Ohio and has served as auxiliary president.

Several of the students said they had been led to believe that Americans were on the whole, almost destitute. This has resulted from propaganda spread by individuals who either did not know about conditions in this country or by those who are anti-American.

Registration for both day and night courses will continue throughout the week at the Registrar's office in the Administration Building.

SPECIAL CLASSES for adults are being offered by the University Department of Extension, announced.

A total of 52 courses will be offered during the fall semester in the College of Arts and Sciences, Agriculture and Home Economics, Education, and Commerce. Classes will meet in the late afternoon, in the evening, and on Saturdays.

These classes have been arranged especially for the convenience of non-campus students. Professor Clifton said, "The classes are being offered by the University Department of Extension, announced."

German Professors Study at University

Fourteen German elementary school teachers will arrive on the campus tomorrow for six weeks of observation of teaching methods. Dr. Frank G. Dickson, director of the College of Education, has announced.

The nine men and five women will visit the University of Kentucky School and other institutions over the state, and spend about one-third of their time in the elementary sessions.

"The students are here to learn and observe as much as possible," Dean Dickson said. "The classes are being offered by the University faculty will serve as instructors for the extension classes except for special courses where specialists may be drawn from outside the University."

Kernel Policy Same Despite New Building

The completion of the new Journalism Building has released the members of the Kernel staff from the murky, steaming dripping "dungeon" in the sub-basement of McVey Hall.

No longer need the editorial staff dodge dripping grease from the presses upstairs or suffer from lack of heat during all four seasons of the year.

But the added conveniences have brought with them added responsibilities for the new staff. We are charged with publishing a paper worthy of the new building and of the equally new School of Journalism. We have accepted this responsibility with serious misgivings, for past staffs have produced Kernels difficult even to equal, much less excel.

To add to our difficulties, Uncle Sam decided during the summer that he was in greater need of John Witz than the Kernel and acted accordingly, leaving us without the leadership and knowledge of our editor elect. John's loss will be felt keenly by the Kernel, not only because of his journalistic ability, but also because of his personality and constant good humor.

As to the matter of Kernel policy, we feel that the Kernel can have only one policy—to endeavour to present the news and opinions of the student body in the most impartial manner possible.

This policy, as simple as it may sound, will at times be difficult to carry out and the staff's judgment may not always be correct. If at any time any student feels the Kernel has erred we invite him to state his views in the letters column. (All letters must be signed, but names will be withheld on request.) We can only accomplish our aims if we know what you desire and wish, and your opinions, both pro and con, will be a great help to us in deciding.

This year's staff will attempt to produce a paper worthy of the University. However, we remind you that as with any paper, the Kernel can only have influence in proportion to the interest of its readers. The Kernel can never be really successful without your interest and aid.

SGA: Future Uncertain

SGA, that much abused organization, is facing another year. Whether or not it will improve its reputation with the student body remains to be seen, but this year's members do have two factors in their favor: the representation of two active parties and the respectable, if not exciting, vote of 1400 in last spring's elections.

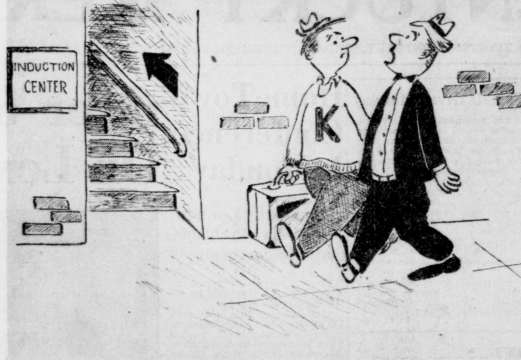

We realize that SGA cannot accomplish all the things that many students feel it should, that its lack of student support keeps it from being too influential. On the other hand, we feel that in the past, students have too often failed to give SGA credit for what it has accomplished. This has been in part the fault of the Kernel which has at times given too much publicity to SGA's failures and not enough space to its accomplishments. We will endeavor to see that this does not happen this year.

We urge both parties to keep their party organizations active throughout the year, rather than just at election time. We believe that a continuously functioning party organization would produce more practical platforms than have been presented in recent years and might enable the students to vote in an election with real issues—something that hasn't been done here in quite some time.

Kernel Had Scooped Ledger

The "reliable source" who gave the Columbia Ledger's sports editor the scoop on Babe Parilli's indelicacy was quoted as justifying his accusation by saying: "All you have to do is look at his record."

The editors, along with several hundred coaches, have already looked. The unanimous decision: Parilli is about the most "eligible" player we've ever seen.

So you flunked the draft test — huh?

Basic Information Concerning SGA: What It Is, Can Do, And Has Done

Since the Kernel believes that every one who is a member of an organization should have at least some knowledge of its structure and achievements, and since every student at the University is automatically a member of the Student Government Association, we are publishing this brief outline of SGA. It is our hope that it will give the student a clearer picture of just what SGA can do and what it has done.

WHAT SGA IS. SGA is the student democratic governing body of the University. Your representative on the SGA Assembly is selected by a vote of the members of your college. Representation of colleges is determined by their size.

The assembly is a unicameral body which consists of thirty members. One third of the members are elected in the fall and two thirds in the spring. However, a student does not have to be a member of the assembly in order to have a voice in its proceedings. Any student may attend the assembly meetings, which are held Monday at 7 p.m. in the SUB. If he wishes to present his views on an issue to the assembly he may do so.

WHAT SGA CAN DO. According to its constitution, the purpose of the Student Government Association is "to act as the responsible authority in relations among students and among student organizations; to act jointly with the University staff in matters affecting common interests; and to advise, request, and recommend action with respect to matters reserved to the University staff."

Under this system, juniors and seniors were given the opportunity to rate their instructors on such points as personal appearance, preparedness for the lecture, and knowledge of the subject. Instructors who did not wish to take the test were not required to do so.

The Student Directory is also a project of SGA. Money for this and other projects comes from an appropriation from registration fees. Last year the organization took over publication of the "K-Book."

It is easy to see from this that SGA does not have unlimited power. However, one can see that it does have sufficient power to make it the most important student body on the campus.

WHAT SGA HAS DONE. Probably the most important project SGA has undertaken is that of the Judiciary committee which takes action on disciplinary cases on the campus. Very little publicity has been given to this work, but it gives students a voice in one of the more important University actions in regard to students.

During the past year, a faculty rating system was started by SGA. Under this system, juniors and seniors were given the opportunity to rate their instructors on such points as personal appearance, preparedness for the lecture, and knowledge of the subject. Instructors who did not wish to take the test were not required to do so.

The Student Directory is also a project of SGA. Money for this and other projects comes from an appropriation from registration fees. Last year the organization took over publication of the "K-Book."

Inter-Faith Council Sponsors Breakfast

The Inter-Faith Council of the University sponsored a breakfast for all new students in the cafeteria Sunday morning. Three hundred forty-one students were entertained. Jerry Bass, vice president of the council, presided.

Bass presented Ruth Ann Maggard, chairman of the breakfast, who welcomed the students, and Bart Peak, director of the YMCA, who gave a challenge to the group concerning religious life on the UK campus.

The Inter-Faith Council meets once each month and is composed of one student member and youth leader from each religious organization on campus.

Good Will, Wisdom Are Fruits Of Foreign Student Contact

By Marilyn Kilgus

It seems so natural to expect great things of the "new crop" of freshmen. It's like the natural faith a farmer places in the seed he sows to bring him a harvest and reward for his labor. With the assurance of the farmer—in the excellence of the seed, the best high school graduates to be had; in the correct methods of sowing and care, well-constructed courses and well-qualified professors, the University of Kentucky looks forward to a time of plenty in 1954.

Put it this way. Mountains of chance for education have come to us in UK Mohammeds, in the form of numerous students from foreign parts. The good will and good wisdom that we, as workers after knowledge and peace on earth, can gain from acquaintance with them is invaluable. Through the Y-sponsored Cosmopolitan Club, which features foreign student membership, to say nothing of outright friendliness in class and Union, we can get a proper insight on life in other than these United States.

the entire campus. Each student opens it to his forward-looking admiration to take his part in the Journalism Building.

The drop in enrollment, resulting in college mid-crisis, also calls to the attention of the world's population out at the freshman women's convocation last week. It was stated there that the segment of persons enjoying a college education amounts to 1% of the world's population. We are the highbrows in the education world. We have the advantage in the professional world. We must confess we have every opportunity for good times here. College is enjoyment.

Nothing is more resourceful than banking on astute economic evidence on campus; so good a tip to take with you. Compare the fees to the casual who carries an extra paddle. So many of history's greatest achievements were done, not to the popular concepts of second best, but to a full acceptance of the alternate way. We can often be thankful for the alternative, when we consider the poetry of Edgar Allan Poe, expelled West Point cadet. This is sure — no one without a second paddle ever made history.

The Fashion Outlook Shows Tweeds For The Fairer Sex Shetlands, Heathers For Men

By Emily Campbell

Have you checked the new tweed look for fall? It seems as if the clothes manufacturers have spent their time importing wools from England and Scotland to give fall clothes the salt and pepper look.

In past seasons tweeds were considered just the thing for casual wear. But this is no longer the case. Now we see skirts, jackets, suits, cocktail dresses, and even formal dresses made from a coarse weave of material. Who knows, maybe a tweed bathing suit will be just the thing before long.

Early September style shows stressed corduroy that looked like velvet. Corduroy, another sport material of the past, has gone dreary. Nothing is in better taste than a shocking pink plinkale corduroy date dress.

SMALL HATS, especially the cloche with the added mask veil complete any ensemble. Remember the plumes of the Gay 90's? Soon you will see them as a trim for hats and the ostrich feathers used on collars and evening clothes.

Velvet has become a year-round material. This fall we see velvet for every occasion on campus. There are shoes, gloves, purses, hats, suits, dresses, skirts and jackets made of this versatile material.

CASHMERE SWEATERS are always the best for style, warmth, and wear. But have you seen the new hairy cashmires? No longer do we have to wear the plain name-styled cashmires because another derivation has been made with the turtle neck.

Belts—every style and color—put added emphasis on any sport and dressy costume. Gaily decorated with gold horses, emblems, etc., these belts add spice and variety to an outfit left over from last season. Suits made with long jackets and straight skirts have lost their place to the short jacket and the full skirt. A tweed suit made with the full skirt needs a crinoline petticoat to make it swing just so.

Along the accessory line peacock blue and gold have taken the place of everything. Both these colors will pop up any basic colored outfit.

THE MOST POPULAR colors for shirts are white and light blue. For casual wear the oxford cloth, soft constructed button-down collar is considered just right. For dress we will see the smart new rounded collar shirt to be worn with a pin-through pin. This shirt is made with french cuffs.

Cashmires are preferred by boys as well as girls. The solid color sweater is the best seller and top rating can be given to a natural colored cashmere which can be worn with any color.

with with the back of the coat cut straight to give a more casual look. Coats are cut with a vent and a slight waistline. Lapels on suits are narrow and roll between the top and second button.

One of the best colors this fall for men is a very dark oxford grey. Shetlands, Heathers mixes, and tweeds are all good in somber tones.

IN NECKWEAR the latest thing is a narrow silk rep tie in regimental stripes. Also popular are neat figured foulards, and of course the knit ties and string bow ties in plaids and checks.

The styles seem to have a tendency to go backward and college men will be seen this fall in camel's hair, double breasted, half-belted polo coats for top coats.

NEW HOUSEMOTHERS WERE WELCOMED by twelve fraternity and sorority houses this fall. The new housemothers are: Mrs. Donald L. Whittier, Alpha Gamma Delta; Mrs. Edwin E. Biers, Delta Delta Delta; Mrs. Stanley Watson, Kappa Delta Theta; Mrs. Phila Thad, Zeta Tau Alpha; Mrs. Alvin J. King, Alpha Gamma Rho; Mrs. Jessie C. Wells, Kappa Alpha Phi; Mrs. Benny G. Williams, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Mrs. Lynn D. Wood, Zeta Alpha; Mrs. Mary S. Moss, Zeta Beta Tau; Mrs. Lodianna Burdette, Kappa Epsilon; Mrs. Josephine Urneson, Farm House; and Mrs. John Jones, Alpha Sigma Phi.

The Party Line Football, Parties, Dances, Rush, Love: That's How UK's Social Season Opens

School bells bring thoughts of football games, fraternity parties, dances, rush, new clothes, and oh, yes, studies! But let's forget about books this early in the season.

As the opening football game everyone donned their new fall apparel only to come home WARY and sunburned. Most of the fraternity houses held open house after the game and served a buffet supper for rushes and their dates.

RUSH, BOTH SORORITY AND FRATERNITY, is in full swing. A new system of rush has been set up for the fraternities this fall. Instead of having delayed rush the boys will pledge their numbers from room of Sept. 21 to noon on Sept. 24. Bid day for the sororities will be Sept. 23.

THE ALPHA DELTA PI Centennial Convention was held this summer in Macon, Ga. Ann Woods, Joyce Harrison, and Edna Baker represented the UK chapter.

HAVE YOU SEEN the new Kappa Alpha Fraternity house, 218 Waverford Place? Thirty boys will live there this fall. The house was built with Mrs. Jessie C. Wells from Louisville as their housemother.

THE STUDENT UNION is sponsoring a square dance Sept. 22, at 8 p.m., in the Ballroom. This dance has been planned for entertainment of new students after the letdown of Orientation week. There will be no charge for the dance.

THE SIGMA PHI EPSILON Golden Anniversary Convale was held this summer in Richmond, Va., with Dick Doney, Gene Hines, and Don Sloan representing Kentucky Alpha chapter.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 22...THE WOODPECKER

Woodrow almost bit off more than he could chew when he tackled the cigarette tests! But he pecked away 'til he smoked out the truth: Such an important item as mildness can't be tossed off in a fleeting second! A "swift sniff" or a "perfunctory puff" proves practically nothing! He, like millions of smokers, found one test that doesn't leave you up a tree.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've enjoyed Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness tests...

Student Ship Praised By German Student

By Jean Grant

The student ship sponsored by the Council of Student Travel is one of the greatest things ever accomplished toward the better understanding of people of different nations. This is the word from Harold Bauer, one of the group of German journalists now at UK for a recreation program.

Harold and the other members of the group came to this country on a student-ship sponsored by the Council of Student Travel, a New York agency. The ship, the M.S. Nellie, was a former aircraft carrier which has been converted for tourist use. It was chartered by the Council for American students returning from study in Europe, and European students coming to this country for study each year.

The M.S. Nellie flies the flag of Panama and has an international crew. The basic crew is international. This crew handles the main jobs on the ship, while American students who are working out their passage handle such jobs as stevedores, waiters, etc.

The first stop on the ship's itinerary was made by picking up 289 Germans who were coming to this country under the student-exchange program. These students included high school students, journalists, teachers, and college students. The ship then went to LeHavre where approximately 800 American students were being added to the passenger list. Several international students also came aboard there.

Several hundred American students who had been touring England were waiting to board the ship when it docked at Southampton. These students brought the total passenger list to approximately 1100 students from many nations.

"We were like an island populated with people from all nations," said Harold in describing life aboard the ship. Panel discussions were organized so that the students could discuss the problems they were interested in and become better acquainted with one another's viewpoints.

UK Awards First Degree In Bacteriology

Conferring of the first doctor of philosophy degree ever awarded by the UK Department of Bacteriology was one of the highlights of the University's summer commencement exercises.

George Scherr, assistant professor of bacteriology at Creighton University School of Medicine, Omaha, Neb., was the recipient of the degree.

Sixteen students were graduated with honors at the exercises. Miss Carol Chambers and Donald Tye were graduated "with high distinction" and departmental honors in social work and music respectively.

Nine others were awarded "high distinction" honors, given for an academic standing of 2.5 or higher. They were Raymond Deiler, William Stonehouse Jr., John Fleer Jr., Preben Haagenen, Herbert Harklewood, Ann Perrine, Helen Smith, William Spilman, and Robert Teater.

Graduating "with distinction" were Clarence Ammerman, Peggy Compton, Josephine Johnson, Josephine Jones, and Aino Koik, all of whom maintained scholastic averages of 2.4 to 2.6.

Four hundred thirteen graduates heard the commencement address, given by Dr. Philip G. Davidson, new president of the University of Louisville.

Non-Credit Course In German Offered

German C-1a, a non-credit course designed especially to prepare graduate students for the foreign language reading examination, will be given again this fall.

This is a beginning course for which there are no prerequisites. Most students who complete the two semester course are able to pass the reading examination without difficulty.

The class will meet Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7 until 8:15 p.m. in Room 2, Fine Arts building.

For further information, call the German Department at campus telephone 2185.

Red Cross Board To Plan Programs

The Red Cross College Activities Board will discuss plans for entertainment programs to be given at a meeting at 4 p.m. Wednesday at the SUB, Room 128.

The Red Cross wishes to set up a schedule using acts such as barber shop quartets, small music groups, comedy, dancing, or boy and girl acts.

Representatives of local campus organizations are asked by the board to attend the meeting.

Those wishing further information should see Miss Margaret Bruce Cruse, Room 122, SUB.

Local Church Gives Spaghetti Supper

A spaghetti supper will be served at 8:30 p.m. tonight at the Maxwell Street Presbyterian Church. All University students may attend the supper.

Officers of the Fellowship are Pat Lancaster, program chairman; Robert Deo Hain, president; and Dan Thomas, youth director and Westminster pastor.

The student center for the Westminster Fellowship is at 179 East Maxwell Street.

Pitkin Club Sponsors New Member Drive

Students interested in becoming members of the Pitkin Club, a religious luncheon group, should apply to Bart Peak, YMCA director.

Applications will be placed on a waiting list and in case of a vacancy in the club will be eligible for membership.

The Pitkin Club is sponsored by the Maxwell Street, Presbyterian Church, YMCA, and YWCA. Its 80 members meet every Wednesday noon at the Maxwell Street Church.

Last year the group contributed to the maintenance of two Displaced Person students and sponsored a Christmas party for the children of Lincoln School.

Sifted and Lifted

By Dale Sullentrop
Exchange Editor

From the Auburn Platsman, of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, we learn that Alpha Phi Omega operates a non-profit book exchange for used student textbooks.

A young man who is able to trace his American ancestry prior to the year 1776, with all marriages, births, and deaths cited in full with proof, is eligible for a scholarship awarded by the Colonial Dames of America, to the Georgia Institute of Technology in Atlanta.

"... so we learn from the Technique. Anyone interested?"

The Tiger of South Carolina's Clemon & M has offered to give one or two column inches of space following every meeting of the student government to publish in bold-face the names of members who were absent, to enable students to see just what their representatives are doing in their behalf.

At Penn College the question was asked, "How many drinks can a student take in one evening and still make superior grades?" The answer — the number of drinks taken in one evening divided by the cube root of the number of women dated in the last fiscal year, plus the respective numerical grade average variation for the past semester. More simply, alcohol is to dates as the number of olives is to a martini.

And from the Auburn Platsman, this story headed, "API Campus Is In State Of Bedlam As Entire Student Body Is Dismissed."

Authorities at Alabama Polytechnic Institute announced last night that the entire student body has been summarily dismissed from school because of "outside aid on tests." The seven page report added, "The Committee for Investigation and Expulsion" have obtained irrefutable proof that every student here has used illegal and unauthorized procedure during examinations.

Evidence has been conclusive that cheating is rampant at Auburn, and only by making an example of the student body can the integrity and honor of the school be upheld. The Committee ended its report saying — we therefore recommend immediate dismissal from school of all guilty persons." This, in a word, is everybody.

In interviews with affected students mixed reactions were prevalent. Claude "Nietzche" Norris, captain of the polo team and son of polo coach Nimrod Norris, thought the action unfair. He said, "They didn't even give us a chance to let our herein platers know we would have a chance of address. We of the polo team have been given a raw deal." Young Norris accentuated his remarks by breaking his mallet over a polo's head. Coach Norris remarked, "These boys of mine are among the finest in the school, I am sure that when the truth is known, their character and morals will be admired."

A Home Economics major admitted using Betty Crocker and Pillsbury's Best biscuit recipes on quizzes. "Mass confessions, indignants denials, heated arguments, and fistfights have made Auburn a place of bedlam."

Inate parents have vowed to stand by their children. Already a Citizens Society for the Protection and Care of Illiterate Children has been organized. The Society composed of Mothers and Fathers of Auburn students has sent petitions to the most influential men in America: Frank Costello and Frank "Greasy Thumb" Guzik. Costello and Guzik have promised to intercede.

Appeals to Harry Vaughn, Ralph Kiser, Norman Rockwell, Father Devine and Paul Robinson have also been drawn up. In a letter to the Society, former members of the Parents and Parade Board expressed extreme regret for "this unhappy incident."

Meanwhile back on the campus, a political committee of students has misappropriated 2,000 copies of "I've Got Myself To Blame," which the student body will sing on the president's lawn every evening until something is done.

Smoker devotees have found the doors to the upper emporiums closed because the Committee report contained the revelation, "There is substantial evidence that numerous students have been using weighted cue sticks." Platsman publication and distribution has been discontinued since the report brought to light the fact that the books are copied from other papers.

Special Symposium Planned By Kentucky Law Journal

The Kentucky Law Journal is planning a special symposium on procedural reform to appear in the fall issue in connection with the program for the reform of the code of civil procedure now being undertaken by the civil code committee and the Bar of Kentucky.

This issue, according to Mr. W. F. Whiteside, faculty editor, will contain articles presenting different points of views by nationally known authorities in the field of legal procedure. It will also contain articles by Kentucky lawyers and members of the code committee, and notes and comments on various aspects of procedure by members of the editorial board.

"It is hoped the articles with different viewpoints will aid lawyers in interpreting various changes in our court procedure," Mr. Whiteside said.

William S. Tribell, Middleboro, Ky., has been named by the law faculty as the only new member of

Freshmen Become Orientated With College 'Alibi-ography'

To aid freshmen in becoming quickly orientated to university life, a psychology instructor at Hunter College has compiled an "Alibi-ography" for college students.

With this information, the freshman should never be void of a ready explanation for all academic failures and misfortunes.

Here, according to the instructor, is what to say:

"When you are given an objective test, 'It doesn't let you express yourself.'"

"When you are given an essay test, 'It's so vague. You don't know what's expected.'"

"When you are given many minor tests, 'Why not have a few big ones? This keeps you on edge all the time.'"

"When you are given a few major tests, 'Too much depends on each one.'"

"When you are given no tests, 'It's not fair. How can he possibly judge what we know?'"

"When every part of the subject is taken up in class, 'Oh, he just follows the book.'"

"When you are asked to study a part of the subject by yourself, 'Why, we never even discussed it!'"

"When the course is in lecture form: 'We never got a chance to say anything!'"

"When the course consists of informal lecture and discussion, 'He just sits there. Who wants to hear the students? They don't know how to teach the course.'"

"When detailed material is presented, 'What's the use? You forget it all after the exam anyway.'"

"When general principles are presented, 'What did we learn? We knew all that before we took the course.'"

The American Association of University Women will meet Thursday at 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Albert Wilson Server to plan the following year's work.

Warren Lutz Finds Cat-O-Nine-Tails Useful In Directing 'Marching 100'

By Paul Knapp

Parking his baton in his back pocket and wielding a cat-o-nine-tails, Warren Lutz, director of UK's 'Marching 100,' is finding out how sharp a marching band can get. UK will see the answer at the half of the Georgia Tech game this coming October 6.

In the meantime it's practice for perfection for the bandmen.

On Sunday, September 10, the 57 left-overs from graduation and Uncle Sam assembled at the Fine Arts Building and took off for Camp Daniel Boone some place in the bends of the Kentucky River.

And since there, they commenced a five-day concentration on music and precision drill. Reveille sounded daily at 6:30 a. m. Then, at all things to mar a musician's dignity, calisthenics, resulting in many sprains and groans than a wrestling show on TV.

Warren Lutz
He Leads The 'Marching 100'

Kentucky. Jim Everole, UK's contribution to the infantry, has written quite a few and promised to write many more while not busy at Camp Rucker. A new arrangement of "On, On, O' O' K" has been written by Bob Griffin, band director at Manual High in Louisville. Also, Tucker Bagarty, now teaching at Winchester, has made his musical contributions to the half-time extravaganza.

A newcomer in Graduate School, Dave Livingston, and Fred Hines, a senior from Owensboro, just about complete the list of arrangers for the "Marching 100."

in pitiful condition on Thursday morning and the rest, soon followed in the beaten path.

In the course of the week's activities the problem of welcoming more than 60 new freshmen musicians to the ranks was discussed. It was decided that they would be labeled "Unguis." This is an ancient word handed down from Indian folklore.

URING THE PAST WEEK you may have noticed these "Unguis" memorizing their music while going to classes on the campus. Don't be alarmed if within the next few weeks you see an overclassman putting one through his skills in conspicuous places. All this will be brought to a fitting climax on the way to the Florida game, which will be the annual trip for the "Marching 100."

The band uniforms have undergone a renovation along with the style of marching. The old pom-poms have been replaced with wet-rip plumes resembling feather dusters. Blue spats will keep the white trousers from dragging in the usual mud. And white scarfs will be worn as accents to further sharpen up the appearance of the outfit.

Warren Lutz rather sums up the future of UK's Marching 100 when he tells us, "If everything turns out as planned, the band will be something entirely new in the way of marching bands, with an emphasis on precision of movement and entertaining shows, both musically and visually. We hope to field a band that will compare favorably with any in the country, and be spoken of in national circles just like our outstanding athletic teams."

Five Assistant Coaches Begin First Year At UK

By Staff Partmann
With every successful head coach there must be an equally successful staff of assistants...

During Paul Bear Bryant's five-plus seasons as head of the Kentucky Wildcats he has built up a staff of extremely capable assistants. Here follows the roster of assistant coaches of this 1951 season...

CARNEY LASIE, Alabama '33, is the man directly responsible for the rocky and rugged Wildcat forward wall which placed first in the nation in total defense in 1949 and second in the same category last year.

Lasie lettered at 'Bama in '30-'31-'32 and played on that powerful Crimson Tide team of '32 that routed and roared through the south and into the Rose Bowl...

In 1934 Lasie became head coach of Brysonville, Arkansas High School where he led his eleven to three straight state titles...

After discharge in 1945 as a lieutenant commander Carney joined Bryant as an assistant at Maryland for that much talked about season of 1945 and came to Kentucky when Bryant was named head coach of the Wildcats in 1946.

ERMAI ALLEN, Kentucky '42, is among the most illustrious of alumni footballers. At the age of 31 he has behind him a career as a collegiate star, pro-footballer, and is now gaining a respectable reputation as a coach.

Upon return to the University as a graduate student following discharge, Allen became the center of S.E.C. controversy in a hotly argued eligibility case.

BILL MCBURBIN, Kentucky '40, is possibly the busiest man on the campus with his many duties. Besides being a part-time assistant on the coaching staff, a position he has held for six seasons...

J. B. LANGLEY, Chattanooga '43, has an outstanding background as a college football player, professional baseball player, and high school grid coach.

VIC BRADFORD, Alabama '39, has spent seven years with the Washington Senators baseball club. As a football coach he has obtained a coaching record of 44-14-3 at Bremen and Rockmart, Georgia High Schools.

At the completion of an undefeated season at Rockmart, Langley was voted "High School Coach of the Year" in Georgia.

The first truly national schedule of televised college football games opens Saturday, September 29, officials of the Television Committee of National Collegiate Athletic Association announced in New York September 3.

Games will be telecast each Saturday during the nine weeks from September 29 to November 24 inclusive.

The full NBC network will carry three of the nation's top games - Notre Dame-SMI, October 13; Illinois-Wisconsin, October 13; and Michigan-Ohio State, November 24.

Noted as a hard worker, McClendon will be a great help in the grooming of defensive ends. He played as an end at Mac for three years of World War II duty with the Navy.

In 1949 he once again followed Coach Gilman, this time to the University of Cincinnati. He became a Wildcat coach in time for the 1951 spring practice.

JIM OWENS, Oklahoma '50, was an All-American end and co-captain of the national champion Oklahoma Sooners.

PAUL DREZEL, Miami, Ohio '41, was named to the Little All-American team as center during his senior year at Miami.

Zaranka Success In Pro Season

By Bill Podkolski

From the time he was eight years old and playing baseball with the Midget Cubs in East Chicago, Ind., Ben Zaranka, former UK football and baseball star, had the ambition to play in the major leagues.

Benny Zaranka

Preparing a reputation for himself as an athlete began when Benny was chosen as an All-State selection at the pro ranks, the high school in his professional baseball career immediately after leaving UK in June, signing with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Ben was sent to the Salt Lake City team, a Class B farm team of the Phillies and is determined to climb the ladder to the major leagues as did Tony Lazzeri, now Yankee second-baseman, who began his career with the same Philadelphia Phillies.

There's nothing in the world like playing ball, it's wonderful," was Zaranka's reply when asked how he liked pro-ball. "There's only one real rough spot with playing in the minors," he said "and that's the traveling through deserts and mountains to the ground out cities by bus."

HIS FIRST GAME at Great Falls, Mont., found Ben in left field and according to scouts, he was the fastest outfielder in the Pioneer League. Later they switched him to right field because of his strong pegging arm and ability to stop or cut down runners.

Zaranka's hitting wasn't anything sensational and started out slow, going twelve times without a hit. But after that first hit he got one in the next 18 consecutive games, ending his hitting average at .286, with 10 doubles, six triples and one home run in 62 games.

He regards his first hit as a rookie one of his biggest thrills, but the biggest was his first homer of the year. "I traveled 375 feet," he boasts, "and hitting a homer in our park is a thrill for anyone because it's one of the biggest in any league, including the majors."

WHEN COMPARING PRO-BALL with that of college Zaranka explained, "There's no comparison between playing every day and the difference in coaching. Beside you really have to work or lose a job."

Ben and his wife, formerly Betty Larzak of Lexington, expect to return to the Blue Grass soon where Zaranka will continue his studies at the University.

Lane Accepts Coaching Job

By Bill Podkolski

Roger Layne, reserve center on the basketball team and a June graduate, has accepted a position as basketball coach at Bridgeport High School in Bridgeport, Ill.

He recently visited that town and was very much enthused about the physical education plant there. His team will have access to two gymnasiums, both well equipped, he said.

Layne learned that he will have about 75 boys aspiring for his starting squad. The student body numbers approximately 300.

Along with his duties as head basketball coach, the popular Wildcat will teach two history courses and some physical education classes.

Setting out on his first coaching venture, Layne said he will let his squad determine the type of game he will teach. His first love is the running game he is used to playing at UK and he will attempt to install it there. But, he says, if his personnel do not fit a more dribbling style.

He will have some rebuilding to do as two of last year's starters have graduated. Last year's team won eight of its last ten games.

Yessin Coach At Georgetown

By Bill Podkolski

Humsey Yessin, student manager during the reign of the Fabulous Four, has accepted the position of basketball and baseball coach at Georgetown College. In addition to his coaching duties, Yessin will teach in the physical education department.

A native of Harlan, Yessin came to UK in 1944. He was a member of the state high school champions from his home town that year.

His traveling companion from Harlan, Wah Wah Jones, had more success making the Wildcat basketball team, but Yessin took a job as a student manager.

COACH ADOLPH RUTP recognized the basketball ability of the popular manager and groomed him for coaching assignments. Since his graduation from the University Yessin has coached opponents for many important games.

Yessin was outstanding as a member of the Wildcat basketball nine. He also played with Versailles in the Blue Grass League.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE at Georgetown begins Oct. 18. Charlie Pennington, one of the top scorers in the state will be back to give Yessin a nucleus for his first coaching assignment.

The signing of Yessin gives Georgetown two UK grads as head coaches. Leo Yantis, a former Wildcat football player, is head football coach. Yessin is 23 years old and unmarried.

Bat 1000 This Week?

1. The first modern World Series was played in 1871. Boston, of the American League, defeated Pittsburgh, of the National League, five games to three. The series attracted little attention, drawing only a trifle over 100,000 fans for the eight games.

2. Odds are 35 to 1 against either or 12; 11 to 1 against either 3 or 10; 8 to 1 against either 5 or 9; 6 to 1 against 6 or 8; 5 to 1 against 7. Various students of the game claim that the dice used in gambling houses are weighted in about 80 to 90% of the cases. An honest man ain't got a chance.

3. Dempsey won the title from Jess Willard in 1919 in Toledo, Ohio. Dempsey floored his opponent seven times at the first round, but lost unmercifully in the second and third rounds and Ward's hands were in the towel before the fourth round began.

4. If you missed this one, you may send your application for admission to the University of Tennessee on the next mail. The answer is "Bear" Bryant, UK football coach.

5. The Four Horsemen were Harry Shuldrer, Don Miller, James Crowley, and Elmer Layden. They played together for the first time in 1922 and for the last time in the Rose Bowl, Jan. 1, 1925. While at Notre Dame, the team won 27 games, lost 2, and tied 1.

6. The Helms Athletic Foundation and a group of associated basketball authorities selected the University of Kentucky as national champions in 1950. That same year, Forrest Sale, Wildcat great, was selected by the same organization as player of the year. The season record of UK that year was 20 won and 3 lost.

The method of scoring used in this quiz is as follows: nine right, you should not have tried; one right, E; two right, D; three right, C; four right, B; five right, A; and six right, A.

SGA To Continue Publishing Directory

The Student Government Association has voted to continue the publication of the Student Directory. At their first meeting Monday night, the teacher-rating program was also continued for its second semester. Jerry Bass is chairman of the program.

Officers of SGA, elected last year, are: Robert Smith, Law, president; James A. P. Science, secretary; and Bill Wilson, Engineering, treasurer.

Kentucky Installs Hall Of Fame To Honor 'All Time' Athletes

By Bill Podkolski

Off the Avenue of Champions, a Hall of Fame is being established. In the West end of the Coliseum, down the hall which passes the coaches' offices, the athletic director's office, the sports publicity office, and the ticket office, pictures of Kentucky's all-time greats are being posted.

Individual pictures of every UK athlete who has been named either All-America or All-Conference will be displayed. As yet, all pictures have not been acquired and mounted, but about 25 are already on display.

The project is the idea of the athletic department, publicity, and a number of Wildcat followers.

THE LARGE GROUP PICTURE OF THE 1948 BASKETBALL TEAM still occupies its original position and the individual pictures are extended on both sides in single rows. On one side of the group picture appears a photo of Vito "Babe" Parrilli, Kentucky's present All-American quarterback. Beside him is Bob Gain, one of the most outstanding tailbacks to ever play in the SEC.

Basketball players are outnumbered by other sports combined. All-American honors for Cat basketballers began back in 1921 when Basil Brewer, 1942; Jack Tinsdale, 1945, 1946; 1946; Kenton Campbell, 1946; Wallace Jones, 1946; 1947; 1948; 1949; Joe Holland, 1947; Kenneth Rollins, 1947; 1948; Jim Line, 1950; Frank Ramsey, 1951; Bobby Watson, 1951; and Walt Hirsch, 1951.

Among the players who will never be forgotten and whose exploits are always up for comparison with present day stars is Paul McBraver, All-American, 1930. He is one of the most successful basketball coaches in America. He now directs Eastern Kentucky State College teams.

ANOTHER BASKETBALL WHOM NAME ALWAYS COMES UP in discussions of the best is Edin Johnson. Johnson's knowledge of basketball learned at UK is now being used as he coaches the Morehead Eagles.

The years of the "Fabulous Four" are pictured: Ralph Beard, All-American, 1947 and 1948, and Edin Johnson, All-American, 1947, 1948 and 1949, were the members of that era to gain national acclaim.

The latest members of Kentucky basketball teams to be named to All-Star honors are Walt Hirsch, All-Conference, 1951; Frank Ramsey, All-Conference, 1951; and Bobby Watson, All-Conference, 1951.

ONLY ONE WILDCAT BASEBALL PLAYER HAS BEEN NAMED to the mythical All-American team. Dominic Fucci, catcher, and a present member of the New York Yankee organization, was named All-American in 1949.

A complete list of names of those who have been named either All-America or All-Conference will be displayed in the Coliseum.

Track stars whose feats drew conference recognition are William Gess, who in 1928 ran the one-half mile in 1:55.3; Dave Rogers, who ran the mile in 4:16.3 and the 800 in 1:54; Warren Clare, a low-hurdler in 1924; James Brady, who recorded a 22-foot broad jump in 1926 and a 12-foot, three-and-one-half-inch pole vault in 1925.

Six members of Kentucky's 1951 athletic teams signed professional contracts during the summer. Of this group, three are completing baseball seasons while three are beginning with the play for pay grid boys.

Bob Gain, All-American tackle, rejected an offer from the Green Bay Packers football team and signed to play in a Canadian League. Gain played in the annual College All Stars - Professional Champion game in Chicago and gave his usual impressive performance.

WALT YOWARSKY, winner of the outstanding player award in the Sugar Bowl game, signed to play with the Washington Redskins. He also played in the all-star classic.

The Philadelphia Eagles claimed the glue-fingered Al Bruno. He has been seeing a lot of action in exhibition games.

The New York Yankees signed C. M. Newton, Wildcat mound ace and reserve basketball player, and Don Fucci, All-American catcher and the most valuable player on the 1951 grid team. Newton finished the season with Muskegon, a Class A team. Fucci played with Newark, Ohio, a Class D Yankee farm, until the club folded for financial reasons. He was assigned to another farm club.

Ben Zaranka, centerfielder for the Orange and Sugar Bowl teams, signed with the Philadelphia Phillies organization. He was farmed to Salt Lake City, a Class B team.

BASEBALL PLAYERS OTHER THAN FUCCI, whose pictures will appear are: Frank Ramsey, All-Conference, 1951; Walt Hirsch, All-District III, 1950; Ben Zaranka, All-District III, 1949; 1950; and John Owens, 1950 Southeastern Conference Individual "Cot" championship, is the only player to receive individual honors in that sport.

New Program Of Study, Appointments Highlight Summer

UK's campus was busy with activity during the eight week summer session. New programs of study were inaugurated, new appointments were made, new people came to the University and a new building was completed. These things and many others took place between the beginning of summer school in June and its closing in August.

A unique educational experiment, entitled "Perspectives on Contemporary Life," was unveiled June 20 with the opening of the UK summer session.

Involving courses offered by seven departments of the College of Arts and Sciences, the plan called for shorter, but more intensive, periods of study for each class.

Instead of registering for the required number of courses and attending all of them daily for eight weeks, the length of the summer term, students took just one course at a time. By devoting his entire time to one course, the student was able to complete it in two and a half weeks, finish a second course in a like period of time, and spend the final two and a half weeks of the term at a third course.

STUDENTS ENROLLED for the special series of classes were thus able to complete three courses, a normal load of nine semester hours, during the summer session.

At long last the University legalized the 8 o'clock cup of coffee. The special program regularly met in the cafeteria where students sipped coffee and discussed lectures heard at 8 o'clock. The discussion groups were composed of five or six people who were taking different courses.

Most people connected with "Perspectives" thought the coffee hour was indeed valuable. It brought a closer relationship between professors and students, and it was a stimulus for independent thinking about current problems.

A FOUR-WEEK SEMINAR in moral and spiritual education was a highlight of the UK summer session program for classroom teaching.

The seminar, designed to acquaint teachers with practical methods for emphasizing moral and spiritual values in the public schools, began June 18. It was offered by the College of Education.

DEAN ELVIS J. STAHR of the UK College of Law was appointed to the newly created position of Special Assistant to the Secretary of the Army for Reserve Forces.

The Department of the Army made the announcement in Washington, D.C., June 18.

ordinate and review the programs for all Army Reserve Forces, including the Organized Reserve Corps, the National Guard and the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

The University granted leave of absence to Dean Stahr. He has been dean of the College of Law for the past three years.

THE UK DEPARTMENT of Journalism was made a school by action of the University Board of Trustees. Dr. L. Niel Plummer, head of the department, was appointed director of the school, which will continue to operate within the framework of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Several reasons were forwarded for the change. One was that enrollment in journalism at UK is among the top 10 of approved schools of journalism in the nation. Others were that the department has gained national recognition through its professional program; completion of the new journalism building has afforded an excellent opportunity to create a school of journalism; and creation of the school gives a more accurate description of the University's program in journalism.

The initial program of the summer concert series was held June 29 at the Guilden Theater. Earle Spicer, New York baritone, gave a program of traditional English ballads, selections from Gilbert and Sullivan, Shakespeare, and American ballads and folk songs.

Among various others were James Hooper, candidate for a master's degree in the Department of Music, who presented a piano recital, a part of his requirements for his degree. July 18, Nathaniel Patch, pianist, appeared at Memorial Hall. Mr. Patch, an associate professor of piano in the Music Department, has been teaching at UK since 1948. Prior to that he was on the faculty of the George Peabody College in Nashville.

KENTUCKY'S OUTSTANDING citizen of the year, Dr. Thomas Poe Cooper, Dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics for the past 33 years retired July 1, at the age of 70, making way for a younger dean at UK. Dr. Frank J. Welch, former Dean of Agriculture at Mississippi State College, took over duties as the new Dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics and Director of the Experiment Station and Extension of the University athletic teams is not the most important thing to Dr. Donovan. The biggest satisfaction he has received out of his job is the education of thousands of young people in the 10 years of his regime.

UK WAS SELECTED as one of 20 orientation centers for newly arrived foreign students. From July 29 to September 9, eight professors instructed over 40 of these students in American customs, under the direction of Dr. G. K. Brady, Professor Emeritus.

Half of the students were Japanese, sponsored by the Army. The others were of other nationalities, sponsored by the State Department. After completion of the course, the students were sent to various universities for scholastic work.

DR. RICHARD F. TUTTILL, professor of geography at UK, was appointed registrar of the University July 21 by the executive committee of the Board of Trustees. He succeeds Dr. Lee Spronies, who has resigned to accept a position of educational administration at the University of Georgia.

TWENTY-THREE MONTH OLD "Randy" Gernert was President H. L. Donovan this summer and the issuing publicly brought to the attention of many the fact that Junior Citizen Certificates for campus babies do exist. This had not been publicized too much before, although more than 600 children have received since the war such a certificate saying they were born while their father was a student at the University of Kentucky or "was a member of the staff of the University of Kentucky."

The idea for the Junior Citizen Certificate came to Dr. Donovan while he and Mrs. Donovan were riding on a train to Michigan shortly after World War II. Dr. Donovan recalls that he and his wife were dismissing ways not only to honor babies born to the many veteran students beginning to enroll at the University, but also to build spirit among the many married students themselves.

Later the plan was extended to include children born to staff members. About 90 per cent of the certificates have been given to students and about 10 per cent to faculty members.

THE OFFICE of Information checks the daily papers and other local sources for announcements of births to students and faculty members. Many parents come in personally to the president's office to announce the new arrival.

A letter of congratulations and a data sheet blank are then sent by Dr. Donovan to the parents. When the data sheet is returned Dr. Donovan sends the Junior Citizen Certificate.

It seems that Randy neglected to tell his birth to the proper UK authorities while still living with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Gernert, in Cooperstown, and thus did not receive his certificate. But after receiving the following letter President Donovan dispatched his certificate post-haste.

"You see, ever since I was six weeks old my Dada, my Mama, and I have lived in Cooperstown, first on Hilltop and then later on Brewer Drive. While I was there I made many little friends, and one of their possessions in which they took great pride to exhibit was their Junior Citizen card."

I must confess it made me a bit jealous not to have one of these to show in return, but now I have an even greater reason for wanting one, that reason being that his dad had just hung "a great, big Junior Citizen Certificate which I notes that he is one of the "Campus babies" and I would like to be a Child of the University of a big man like Dada and have sort

First Institute Of Politics Held To Aid Understanding Two Party System

By Beatrice Van Horne

The first UK Institute of Politics, sponsored by the UK Department of Political Science and made possible by the Lexington Herald-Leader, opened July 9 and closed July 27.

The purpose was to further interest in the nature of democratic politics which has been stirred by contemporary events domestic and foreign, and to aid in the clarification and understanding of government under the two party system.

The institute was held in conjunction with the course, "Perspectives in Contemporary Life," inaugurated by the College of Arts and Sciences for the first time during the 1951 summer session.

According to Dr. Army Vandenberg, head of the Department of Political Science, the purpose of the Institute was to bring together prominent scholars in the field of geographical factors in Perspectives and Politics.

Dr. E. E. Schattschneider, professor of political science, Consultant by the Lexington Herald-Leader, headed the second program of the institute July 19 with the topic "The Need for Political Leadership and Responsibility."

Dr. Schattschneider has written several books and articles, among them "Politics, Pressures and the Party" and "Party Government."

DR. JASPER B. SHANNON, UK professor of political science, delivered two talks to the institute July 13. In the lecture "What is Propaganda?" Dr. Shannon said there is a subtle assumption that propaganda is something evil. This, he said, dates back to experience with propaganda during World War I.

His second topic was "The War of Ideologies" in which he stated that the very essence of democracy is the belief that in his mind and spirit, man is free from authority. Dr. Shannon has recently published his book, "Presidential Politics in Kentucky," co-written with Miss Ruth McQueen.

The following lectures included Dr. Euno E. Krasche of the History Department who felt that the American public today needs some pointers in the art of viewing foreign affairs, and outlined rules to further his suggestions.

CONGRESSMAN Patrick J. Hillings, California Republican, delivered the address, "The Responsibility of the Minority Party in the Legislative Process." Later he led a discussion on "What is the Effect of Nominating Systems on Party Politics?"

Prof. Quincy Wright of the University of Chicago resumed the Institute program with an address July 19, "American Politics and American Foreign Policy."

Former president of the American Political Science Association and of the American Association of University Professors, Prof. Wright is now a consultant to the Department of State.

In an address July 19, the institute heard a description of foreign policy formulation by Richard Friedman of the State Department's division of public liaison.

A successful foreign policy can be formulated, Friedman said, only through a two-way flow of the very essence of democracy and the people. The State Department is constantly engaged in making public opinion analyses in an effort to determine what the people want and the extent to which they are supporting policies already formulated, he said.

AMONG THE PRACTICAL politicians featured during the Institute were Congressman Patrick J. Hillings of California and Senator Paul H. Douglas of Illinois.

Following each of the speeches there was an open forum period during which the topic of the period was discussed.

Fall Drills In 'Valley' Prove Big Success

The 1951 Wildcat football squad swung into their pre-season training camp on September 1. The man responsible for one of the best Kentucky teams in the history of the sport at UK may have started a practice that will be a common event in years to come.

Trying something to offset the difficulties of a considerably weaker team than the Sugar Bowl champions of Jan. 1, Paul (Bear) Bryant ordered his training camp moved out of town. Throughout the summer months rumors had Bryant and his boys traveling the entire state looking for a suitable site for the block and tackle grid.

The first day of September found the temperature ranging somewhere in the middle 80s on the football field at Millersburg Military Academy in Millersburg, Ky., a quiet town of some 800 inhabitants situated about 23 miles from Lexington.

The Entrance to Millersburg Military Institute where the varsity football team held fall practice. "Death Valley" is situated behind the buildings and down a 45 degree hill.

New Rival Within State Not Needed, Shively Says

Athletic Director Bernie Shively sees no reason to alter the athletic policy of the University which prevents UK athletic teams from meeting other schools in Kentucky.

On Saturday, September 15 the boys in blue and white ran circles around the outclasses Eagles to the tune of 72-13. Perhaps this was indicative of the training routine at "death valley."

Eastern, Western, Murray, and Morehead are members of the Ohio Valley Conference.

Now, he said, he feels the state backs Kentucky whole-heartedly and the undivided support is a great asset. He said Kentucky backs Western when it plays out-of-state strong teams.

Shively said with every team mentioned playing a tough schedule within its conference, an interstate tournament would only tax the stamina of the players.

Cats, Jackets Play Big Games In SEC's Opening Grid Round

It's country cousin week for most of the Southeastern Conference football teams this week. Only defending champion Kentucky, Georgia Tech, and Georgia meet comparative foes.

Florida, the conference dark horse, plays the Citadel at Gainesville. The Citadel gave the Gators a rough time last year before bowing 7-3 but Bob Woodruff's boys should have it easier tomorrow.

Mississippi State is said to be "rebuilding." They won't have to construct much to beat their initial foe, Arkansas State. The game will be played at State College, Miss.

Georgia reaches over into the neighboring Southern Conference for its first foe, George Washington University, not too well thought of in Dixie, will provide opposition for Coach Wally Butts' forces.

Dance Group Plans Tryouts

Tau Sigma, modern dance group, will have its annual tryouts beginning Monday from 6:00 to 7:15 p.m. at the Women's Gym. Students who are trying out are required to attend four preparatory lessons before the new Tau Sigma members are chosen.

Previous dance experience is not necessary for a student to try out, according to Janice Stille, who will be in charge of Tau Sigma. The four preparatory lessons will be sufficient to give the student a basic background in modern dance techniques and enable the Tau Sigma group to judge native ability and potentialities, she said.

A business meeting of all active members of Tau Sigma will be held Monday following the first preparatory lesson.

Jest Knappin'

Hail to all first-year freshmen, hope of the new year and generations yet unborn. Being one of the numbered thousands on this campus who are never taken seriously, there is no need for me to even try to tell you the narrow path of the true scholar. I can at least warn you in true gentlemanly fashion that there are those who have advice of their own to offer to the unsuspecting frosh so freely to attract the audience of mama. Forewarned is forearmed.

"Enough of this!" If you took the first seriously, don't read the rest or your resistance might suffer considerably. Read on with awe, for they sure are awful.

Then there's the Sultan who kept his harem three miles from where he lived. Every day he sent his man servant to get him a girl. The Sultan lived to be eighty-seven, but the servant died when he was only thirty.

'How To Stay In College,' From A Short Story Bar

"How to Stay in College" is the title of this sound advice compiled by Robert Tyson, Department of Psychology and Philosophy, Hunter College, New York. The manuscript was found on the floor of a Short Street bar while searching for filler material for this week's Kernel.

(1) Being the professor newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. Demonstrate fier' interest and gives him timely items to mention to the class. If you can't find clippings dealing with his subject being any clippings at random. He thinks everything deal, with his subject.

(2) Look alert. Takes notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.

(3) Nod frequently and murmur "How true?" To you, in your exaggerated. To him, it's quite objective.

(4) Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.) If you're going to all the trouble of making a good impression, you might as well let him know who you are, especially in a large class.

(5) Laugh at his jokes. You can tell. If he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.

(6) Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.

(7) If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do mumble in psychology class and psychology in math class, match the books for size and color.

(8) Ask any questions you think he can answer. Contrarily, avoid anything that you have found the answer to a question he couldn't answer, and in your stronger brother's second-grade reader at that.

(9) Call attention to his writing Practices an exorbitant amount of experience connected with you. If you know he's written a book or an article ask in class if he wrote it. As to whether or not you want to come to the class. In all this, well, it's controversial and up to the individual.
