

Varsity Holds First Contact Work of Year

Coch Wynne Issues Call for All Eligible Students to Report for Practice At Once

Several Regulars Missing From Team Squad Will Be Strengthened At Conclusion of Basketball Season

Although the first year men still show a deficiency in the knowledge of fundamentals, Coach Cret Wynne planned to put the 44 candidates who reported for spring football practice last week through their first scrimmage in this afternoon's practice session.

Last week's work-out went off smoother than was previously expected and if the present good weather prevails much is expected to be accomplished in the next six or seven weeks.

Only 38 players came out for the opening of the spring training last Thursday, and since then only six new candidates have announced their intentions of coming out for the squad. This does not mean many as had been expected to report, and Coach Wynne wishes that it be known that all eligible students who wish to come out for the team will receive all possible attention from the coaching staff.

Several members of last year's varsity and freshmen squads are playing on the basketball teams and will not be available until the basketball season has ended. These men are expected to strengthen the squad when they report sometime early in March.

Those who have reported so far are: Garland, Lenoxy, Phillips, R. Phillips, Linden, Brown, Snyder, Murphy, Kaylor, Hinkbein, Parda, Ramsey, Besse, Stafford, D. Davis, Willet, Simpson, Hewling, Karnaes, Kinkaid, V. Robinson, Skages, Washington, Jackowski, Holland, Spickard, Marker, Lackman, Hall, Shepard, Ellington, Snider, Karchek, Tognoni, Vires, Camp, Byrnes, Frite, Colborn, Alcorn, Nicholas, Boles, and T. Robinson.

New Sour Mash To Be Ready Next Week

Featuring candid camera shots taken at basketball games, the Opening night, and various spots on the campus, and dedicated to Valentine Day and Washington's birthday, "Sour Mash," monthly publication, will make its February publication on the campus newspaper appearance on the middle of next week. The definite date of publication will be announced Friday.

Beginning with this issue of the "Sour Mash," a national advertising firm will conduct a "Best Gag of the Month" contest, for which prizes will be offered.

Biological, Diagon, cartoons, gags, the Mash Barrel, Personal Files, and other regular departments will be included.

DR. CLARK REVIEWS WORKS OF LINCOLN

Mary Todd Lincoln, President Lincoln's wife, was responsible in large measure for his greatness because she continually spurred him on to greater heights, Dr. Thomas D. Clark of the University's department of history, told members of the Optimist club Friday at their weekly luncheon meeting at the Lafayette hotel.

EX-PROFESSOR DIES IN SOUTH CAROLINA

A report of the death Sunday of Dr. Arthur Cary Flesham, former professor in the department of pedagogy, was received here today.

U-HIGH WINS DEBATES

The University high school debating team defeated Mr. Stearns' large school Thursday. Friday afternoon they defeated the Bryan State high school team on the same subject. "Resolved: That All Electric Utilities Should Be Governmentally Owned and Operated."

"Invitation To A Murder" Opens For Guignol Run

"Invitation to a Murder" is a pretty difficult vehicle to effectively put on the stage, even for such stout and dauntless show people as those who spend their time at the Guignol theatre, and who, from time to time, supply this region with first-rate drama.

In any play in which murder has been done and in which the plot narrows down to an attempt to disclose the identity of the murderer, timing is a requisite, especially in the Big Scene. Unfortunately, Guignol's "Invitation to a Murder" lacks this ingredient to a certain degree, but the lack of it does not hamper the play very much.

It does not hamper it because the piece is earnestly done. The players, with but one or two exceptions, have been marvellously cast. The general effect is sharp and realistic, and if the details seem at times somewhat blurred and superficial, it is the fault of the playwright and not of the players.

Walden Greenwell is superbly cast as the doctor-trotter, the powerful Lorinda Channing. Although he seems to us to be a bit unintelligent at times, his stage manner is generally excellent, his facial expressions plastic enough to take in the wide range from greed to terror to shock again.

As the ruler of the Channing family, Lorinda, Mary Lyons, gets just about all out of the part that is possible. Good diction, so necessary to a good role, is hers, and she makes the most of it. Her presence on the stage from the first mysterious, eerie, faintly suggestive of the tomb from whence she rises.

Frank Fowler will be welcomed back from California. He has already taken up his duties as advisory director, filled so ably during his absence by Lolo Robinson, Junior S. Campbell and John L. Davis, the stage, as is usually the case with Guignol stages, is perfectly handled, and the properties are excellent. Playing time is 35 minutes, and nothing else that could be said could keep murder mystery addicts away.

University Team Debates Marquette

Argue In Non-decision Roosevelt's Proposed Supreme Court Change

The University debating team, led by Prof. W. S. Bunting, engaged members of the Marquette University team in a non-decision and a split-team debate in McVey hall Friday.

Non-decision debating was on the subject, "Resolved: That Congress Should Enact Legislation Providing Maximum Hours and Minimum Wages for Labor in Industry." The Marquette team, composed of Chester Nibler and Robert Jones, took the affirmative side, while the University team, represented by Edgar W. C. Clark and John L. Davis, juniors in the College of Law, spoke for the University.

The split-team debate was on the subject, "Resolved: That This House Approves President Roosevelt's Proposed Change in the Federal Judiciary." George Fesko, University senior, and Chester Nibler, Marquette, took the affirmative, and Campbell Miller, University, and Robert Jones, Marquette, upheld the negative in this debate.

EXTENSION CLASSES RESUMED

Extension classes will be resumed today in Covington, when Dr. W. D. Funchess will meet with the class in anthropology in the Covington public library. Classes in Louisville under Professor Caldwell of the department of sociology; Dr. Heinz of the department of hygiene, and Professor Clark, of the department of history, will be continued within two weeks.

BACTERIOLOGISTS TO MEET

The University bacteriologist society will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in Kashe hall. The program will consist of papers by the members of the society who were present at the convention of the Society of American Bacteriologists in Indianapolis during the Christmas holidays.

NEW GEOLOGY LAB PLANNED

The basement of Natural Science hall is undergoing renovation in preparation for use as a laboratory for the department of geology. The laboratory will consist of one large room with a combination of approximately 300 shelves and drawers for the scores of field students who laboratories on the second and third floors.

BIRD COURSE OFFERED

A special short course in Bird Taxonomy will begin Tuesday, Feb. 16, and continue through six weeks. Joe Spears, acting curator of the Museum, announced yesterday. Offering of the course will be held each Tuesday and Thursday nights. Mr. Spears desires all the specimens now kept in the Museum of call 832-Z.

Military Ball Tickets Are On Sale

Tickets for the Military Ball, to be held Feb. 27 in the Alumni gym, are now on sale and may be obtained from any member of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity. Admission will be $1.50 per couple or stag in advance sale at the door the night of the dance.

LOOK TO SPONSOR SPEECH CONTEST

Any Male Student Invited to Enter Oratorical Contest With Choice of Subject Left to Entrant

The annual University of Kentucky oratorical contest sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa, men's national leadership fraternity, will be held at 7:30 o'clock on Friday, February 19, in Room 111 of McVey hall. The contest is open to all undergraduate men students of the University.

The winner of the event will represent the University in the Kentucky inter-collegiate contest, and will compete against representatives from Asbury, Berea, Centre, Georgetown, Transylvania, Eastern, Western, and Morehead. The winner of the state contest will go to the inter-state contest to be held at Northwestern university the third Friday in April.

Speeches of the contestants should be limited to 2,000 words, not more than 200 of which may be quoted. The subject may be any one which the contestant thinks suitable to the times.

Contestants will be judged by three faculty members who will be chosen sometime before the contest.

O. D. K. will offer a prize to the winner of the contest. Last year's winner was Ben Ragland, a student in the College of Engineering.

UK Radio Studios To Admit Visitors

Starting this week guests will be admitted to the University radio studios in the Art Center to witness the broadcast of Bill Cross and his orchestra on Friday afternoon from 1:15 to 1:30 p. m. The students who could like to witness this broadcast should be at the studio at 1:05 p. m., ten minutes before the broadcast begins. Capacity attendance of 50 will be admitted to the studio for the broadcast.

Bill Cross and his program of popular dance melodies is a weekly feature of the University studios and is broadcast over station WHAS in Louisville.

RELATIONS CLUB WILL MEET

A review of Grover Clark's "A Place in the Sun," dealing with the background and problems arising out of imperialism, will be given by Ladore Frisel, a major in political science, at the first meeting this semester of the International Relations club at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Women's building.

A discussion on imperialism will follow the talk, and all students interested in international relations are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

POST OFFICE IS LOAFER'S HEAVEN

Thousands loaf in pool rooms, hotel lobbies, benches, ten-cent stores and on park benches, in every section of the country, but our own University post office is a haven for the scores of idling students who daily make their refuge from the classroom. At all times of the day, they may be seen, slumped on their backbones, lolling in the ecstasy of their ease.

Those who sleep, those who read, those who sleep, those who gossip, those who while at passing coeds, and those who loaf, are all to be found in a lot of them may be divided into two distinct classes called the casual and chronic loafers. The chronic loafers begin to

All-Campus Hop Set For Friday

The second All-Campus dance of this semester will be held in the Alumni gymnasium from 8 until 10:30 o'clock Friday night, Feb. 19. Dean T. J. Jones announced yesterday.

Robert Crawford Charms Audience At Vesper Service

Entertaining Baritone Gives Excellent Selection of Numbers By DAVE SALVENDY

Rendering a series of numbers whose charm lay not alone in the excellent way in which they were sung but in the fact that they were short, not too heavy, and of the type that everyone enjoys. Robert Crawford, baritone, presented the weekly vesper program Sunday afternoon in Memorial hall. He was accompanied by John Shelby Richardson.

Mr. Crawford's program consisted of our songs, two of which were sung in English and two in French. With the exception of the first group, which consisted of one number, "Vision Fugitive" from "Herodiade," by Massenet, all of the numbers were of a light vein and received enthusiastic applause from the audience.

One could hardly place one number of the program as more outstanding than the other, but there were few which, by the applause of those present, seemed to be most enjoyed. These included "Deux histoires pour enfants," by Stravinsky, consisting of two Russian folk songs sung in French, "The Company Sergeant Major," by Sanderling, "The Pipes O'Gordon's Men," by Hammond, and the final number, "The Green Eyed Dragon," by Charles. A special arrangement by David Guyon of the song "What I Do With a Drunken Sailor?"

Users for the concert were Richard Butler and Robert Brown, representing Omicron Delta Kappa. Next Sunday's vesper concert will be given by the University men's glee club with Catherine Brown, mezzo-soprano, as guest soloist.

Third Series of Dancing Classes To Start Feb. 17

Lelia Bush Hamilton will begin her third series of ballroom dancing classes for men and women students on Wednesday, Feb. 17, registering from 4 to 5:30 o'clock in the "Y" rooms of the Armory.

LOCAL ARTISTS' WORK ON DISPLAY AT CENER

An exhibit of 43 pictures of Lexington and neighboring towns opened Monday morning at the Art Center on the University campus. The exhibit is under the auspices of the Brush and Pencel club of the University. Pictures on exhibit include work in water colors, oil paintings, pastels, and charcoal. The pictures will be on exhibit until March 6.

Artists whose pictures are being shown are Sallie Johnson, Hildegarde Hamilton, Alma Stratton, Clyde Poushee, G. N. Randolph, William H. Craig, E. W. Rannels, Frank Fowler, Kate Pendleton, Gladys McAddams, Harriet McDonald, Doris Rannels, Theresa Newhoff, C. R. Barnhart, Irene Kuller, Lucille Hagan, Almon E. Drake Jr., Katherine McGinnis, and Frank Long.

CLUB TO HEAR RANNELS

Prof. Edward W. Rannels, head of the art department, will be the speaker at the German club meeting which will be held at 7:30 o'clock next Monday in the Art Center. Dr. Rannels, who has an extensive collection of German pictures, will discuss the possibilities from Cincinnati especially for this meeting.

There have been many protests made and solutions offered to the problem of perpetual loafing in the post office. Some suggestions along such lines seem to be futile. Like Stepin Fetchit and Old Dutch, loafers are necessary to induce the cant to be changed, so we might as well let these Stepin Fetchits have their own way in loafing, sitting, and spitting.

WHAS BANQUET TO BE STAGED HERE THURSDAY

Crede Harris, Station Chief, To Deliver Principal Address at Testimonial in the Commons

RADIO'S VALIANCE WILL BE ACCLAIMED

Musical Entertainment to Be Presented by Campus Artists

Crede Harris, general manager of WHAS, Louisville, will be the principal speaker at a testimonial banquet Thursday, Feb. 18 at 6:30 o'clock in the Commons. The occasion is the retirement of the services rendered by the station staff in the recent flood.

In speaking on "WHAS and the Flood," Mr. Harris will tell of the valiant work done by members of the staff in broadcasting the intermittent bulletins of distress from the stricken area in Louisville. Other members of the WHAS staff will make short talks.

Will Cross, head of the University announcing staff, will be master of ceremonies of the musical program during the banquet. The Mid-Week Ensemble, under the direction of Mr. Cross, will play several selections. Soloists who will sing are: Fred Knight, Mary Lee, McKenna, Nancy Todd, Harlowe Dean, and Gentry Shelton.

Admission to the banquet, will be $1 per person. No more than 300 tickets will be sold due to the size of the Commons. Tickets may be secured from the publicity bureau in the Administration building or from Mr. Brewer's office in the Experiment station.

500 Present for First College Nite

Kernel Inaugurated Affairs Meets with Approval of Students

Approximately 500 University students were on hand for the first College Nite, sponsored by The Kernel and held at the Kentucky Hotel on Friday night.

Features of the program included vells led by cheerleader McDowell, dance by the "I. O. C." and a series of pictures taken at the Kentucky-Washington and Lee game at Butler and River Row, representing the student to administer the regular matinee price instead of the evening price. Coupons must be presented before 8 p. m. for this to be in effect.

Fellowship Group To Study Countries

The Y. W. C. A. World Fellowship group will have the first of a series of suppers at which they will discuss various countries at 6 o'clock tonight in the Woman's building.

Dr. Edward W. Rannels, head of the department of German, will be the guest speaker at the meeting, and will discuss the possibilities of the experiences and observations there during the past year.

Other countries which the group will study during the semester at similar dinner meetings will be China, India, England, and Spain.

3,265 Students Enroll, Setting New Record For Feb.-June Registration

Seniors Must File Degree Petitions

Seniors who entered the second semester and who expect to complete their work for graduation, either in June or in August, are requested to make application for a degree on Monday, Feb. 22. This applies to all graduate students completing work in June or in August.

As the commencement lists are being prepared, it is very important to file an application at this time. No student will be considered who has not filed an application. These should be filed in room 9 of the Administration building.

VOLS NOSE OUT 'CATS ON COUNT

Rupmen's Attempt to Hold Ball Proves Fatal When Tennessee Scores To Win 26-24

An unsuccessful attempt of Kentucky's Wildcats to "freeze" the ball in the waning minutes of the game led to their defeat by Tennessee's basketballers 26 to 24 in a Southeastern Conference struggle played before 200 cheering fans at Knoxville, Saturday night.

The victory averaged a previous 42 to 26 triumph that the Rupmen had handed the Volunteers earlier in the season.

Both teams played slow and cautious ball throughout the first half which ended with Coach Gullion's Vols leading 14 to 12. The Wildcats came back with a rush in the last period and gradually pulled away from the Tennessee five. With six minutes remaining in the game, the Wildcats apparently had the game won as they led 24 to 18. It was at this point that Kentucky elected to play safe by freezing the ball.

With three minutes remaining and Kentucky leading 24 to 23, Marshall broke into the clear and made a looper to win the game. Rice ended the scoring by making the winning shot.

The Wildcats' foul just before the final whistle blasted Kentucky's last chance of victory.

Under the College Nite plan, a special coupon is printed each Friday in the Kernel, which, when presented at the ticket window, entitles the student to admission for the regular matinee price instead of the evening price. Coupons must be presented before 8 p. m. for this to be in effect.

Officials Attribute New High Mark to Additional N. Y. A. Assistance

All-time high spring semester registration record was set yesterday afternoon when 3,265 students had enrolled for this term's work at 4 o'clock officials in the registrar's office announced. The previous record was 3,169, which was set in the spring of the 1930-31 school year.

The 1931 record was exceeded Saturday afternoon, and last day registrations swelled the total to the new high mark.

This semester's enrollment is only 191 short of the all-time record of any semester, which is 3,456, the total received during the first semester of this school year.

Registration officials had not expected a record or near-record enrollment this term, because of the effect of the flood upon approximately one-fourth of the territory from which the University normally draws students.

Efforts of the National Youth Administration in extending aid to flood area students and the part payment tuition plan initiated last year, which enables students to pay their tuition over a period of time, were measures which helped effect the total enrollment, it was said.

Convocation Planned For Next Tuesday

Ameen Rihani, a native of Syria, author, lecturer and interpreter of the Near East, will be the first convocation speaker of the new semester, when he will address the faculty and student body next Tuesday in Memorial hall.

Mr. Rihani, previous to his convocation speech, will appear at the Sunday morning session of the First Methodist Church young people's class, and on the evening program of the Maxwell Presbyterian church. He will also address the International Affairs class on Tuesday night following the talk in Memorial hall.

Kampus Kernels

Pitkin club will meet at noon tomorrow at the Maxwell Presbyterian church.

All members of Keys please be present at the Phi Delta Theta house tonight at the Phi Delta Theta house.

The Y. M. C. A. Senior Cabinet will meet at 7:15 o'clock tonight. All members please be there.

Team captains of all fraternity and independent basketball teams must report today at the Intramural office for tournament scheduling. Games start Wednesday evening.

Lamp and Cross will hold a very important meeting at 7:30 o'clock Monday night, Feb. 22, at the Phi Kappa Tau house. It is necessary that all members be there.

The Bacteriologist club will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Women's building. Reviews of papers given at the annual meeting of the American Society of Bacteriologists will be made.

There will be a business meeting of Sigma Pi Sigma at 4 p. m. Wednesday in room 200 of the Physics building.

The Dairy club will hold a meeting at 7 o'clock Thursday night, Feb. 18, in the Dairy club building.

The University debaters will hold a meeting from 2 until 4 p. m. Thursday, Feb. 18, in room 22, McVey hall.

A general open house will be held at the Women's building between 4 and 6 o'clock Friday afternoon. A student orchestra will play. All independent boys will be special guests.

Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, will meet at 8 p. m. today in the Women's building. It has been changed from Thursday due to the Pan Politikon meeting.

RITCHER APPOINTED HEAD OF NEW JOB

A laboratory to study the crow-borer, which is threatening Kentucky's strawberry industry, will be discussed today at the Intramural Experiment Station announced yesterday.

Dr. P. O. Ritcher, entomologist at the Experiment Station, will be sent to Princeton to be in charge of the research. Dr. Ritcher has had extensive experience with fruit pests and diseases and helped perfect the nicotine-oil spray which may prove of great value to fruit and vegetable growers.

FARM BUREAU TO MEET

Jefferson W. Harris, of the University's department of animal husbandry, will discuss the possibilities of a horse show for Lexington at the first of a series of monthly lunch meetings of the Fayette Farm bureau, Saturday, Feb. 20, at the Lafayette hotel.

AN APPEAL: HELL WEEK

Our appeal of last week to the separate fraternities and to the Administration concerning hell week seems so far to have gone unheeded.

The Inter-fraternity Council is composed of a representative of each Greek-letter society on the campus. It meets regularly to discuss and enact bills which are presumed to be for the utmost good of each house and for the system as a whole.

Now, this organization has the power to declare an end to hell week, to prohibit it from the campus, and it has the power to suspend member fraternities which do not cooperate to the fullest extent.

Our appeal, therefore, goes to the Inter-fraternity Council. This group should realize that unless the ancient custom is outlawed, there soon will be no fraternities to sponsor it.

The Council can prove its worth by so doing.

GERMANY'S NAZI NO. 2

The number one has suddenly become of no greater importance than the number two, exemplified in Germany by Hermann Goring, a Nazi, of stocky build and piercing determination.

Among his duties are those of Aviation Minister, Prime Minister of Prussia, President of the Reichstag, Chief of Police, and Chief German Hunter. The first of these gives him the power of direction over the 2,600 all-metal pursuit planes and tri-motored bombers, considered the "Reich's deadliest weapon."

As a member of the triumvirate governing "die Deutschland," Goring is equally as important as Hitler himself, although less publicized.

Joseph Goebbels is the third party of the trio. Formerly recognized as the so-called power behind the throne, Goebbels has a minimum of executive potency in comparison to Goring. However, both are in line for the place now being filled by Hitler.

Last month Goring visited Mussolini in Rome, apparently attempting a Fascist alliance between the two countries. It may well be noted that the only difference in the policies of the two most famous dictators lies in the color of their shirts—a very superficial tenet.

In view of the ailing condition of Der Fuhrer, we may observe with interest the progress of his heir apparent.

THE HONORARY RACKET

Declaring that "honorary societies are in many cases only mutual admiration groups," Dean J. A. Park of Ohio State University told the National Association of Deans recently that some college honorary societies are "rackets."

Dean Park may be a bit vituperative in calling them "rackets"—the college honorary societies are probably more like minor grafts. But they are undoubtedly grafts in many instances.

A glance at Baird's Manual indicates that every college student should be able to make at least one honorary in something. It may be military proficiency, or service, or activity in any of a dozen extra-curricular fields. Few of them have rigid requirements.

Fundamentally, it's just good business. The national officers adopt a quasi-alloof attitude until the prospective member feels that a bid is an honor; but the national officers snap like trout at liver at every initiation payment.

They all started because somebody had business initiative. And they continue because human vanity has little sales resistance. Every one likes honor, and the feeling of quiet dignity that goes with a key.—The Michigan State News.

THIS WORD - TIGHT!

Many words in the English language have come to mean a number of things. Now, take this word, "tight":

—Back in the period of classical literature, it meant neat.

—a state of inebriation, also known as intoxication.

—reluctant to part with one's money, scotch.

—one of a pair, worn by acrobats.

—a human condition during exciting moments, tense.

—compressed, squeezed together from either side.

—a spot, which places the responsibility for the "next move" upon an indicated individual or party.

—an editorial nemesis which means that the business manager has the paper jammed with ads. It means that things you meant to run aren't printed because they won't fit "open" spots; and things you hadn't meant to run are printed because they fit. (That's how this got in).—The University of Washington Daily.

CUTTIN' UP THE CAMPUS

CAMPUSOUNDS:

At the basketball game—"Listen, you dope, I know your girl friend's sitting over there in back, but if you'd just look in front of you for a little while, you'd see a very interesting basketball game being played—or are they playing basketball?"

In the Post Office—"Oh, look, a Valentine! Gosh, I'm touched!"

At a bull-session—"You can come in, honey. We're all through talking about you!"

In Patterson Hall—"He sent me a comic Valentine, but I know he loves me. He's just bashful!"

Over a coke—"Ah, c'mon, give me a kiss, babe. Your boy friend won't care. He's kissing the gal I came with!"

In the Browning Room—"He's such a subtle guy I know that this Valentine must mean something, but all I can get from it is that roses are red and violets are blue and he loves me!"

In White Hall—"I was afraid, at first, that I had hurt his feelings, but I might have known that after any guy gets through running around with that gal, he hasn't any feelings left!"

In the Kerne office—"Boy, has she got technique! She's so good that she has three fraternity brothers thinking that the other two are just good friends of hers!"

DON'T LOOK NOW, BUT—you're NOT my Valentine!

THEO-RIES:

VALENTINE'S DAY is a golden opportunity for some mercenary coeds to check up on their love-lives and their S. A.!!

They give themselves 10 per cent for every Valentine they get—20 per cent for every box of CANDY, and 20 per cent for every bunch of FLOWERS, and then they compare final scores! Gee, coeds are heartless, Bismark!

3. Letters from the love-life at home.
4. The dormitory gals you eat, live, and study with.
5. A young man's fancy.

DON'T YOU FEEL FUNNY—

When you drink a glass of Coca-Cola—only it isn't Coca-Cola!

When you open a pretty Valentine—only it isn't pretty?

When he whispers sweet nothings into your ear—only it's your bad car?

This Campus and That World

By RALPH E. JOHNSON

ONE OF LIFE'S greatest mysteries is referred to in the Bible in the Tower of Babel story. It was an attempt by early people to explain how the tongues of different nations varied. While I have never heard it said, it appears that the word "babble" as we have it today must have come from the Biblical "Babel."

Only the relative speed with which this vast continent of ours was settled prevented this land from the fate of "Babel," and even then there must have been the hand of fate in the background, for certainly the Germans had a firm hold on sections of this land, as did the French, Spanish and English. The same fate must have had fun when it occurred that this home of the free and brave should not be absorbed into the American Indian customs and—the word of the land. And it is only the rapidly accelerating speed of the world that is preventing another "Tower of Babel" tragedy here in this almost too broad country of ours. Had our fates decreed that we should forever be hauled about in covered wagons over almost impassable trails, then the great barriers of the land would have been to it that the German, English, French and Spanish influences would have developed into a babble of tongues.

Language Barriers

Only the hardy would remain in the East by the Appalachian mountains, and the winters there and their tongue would have been strange to the easy-going, less-hardy brothers of the South. To the immense West there would have been another weird sounding people protected from the East by the Appalachian mountains. They in turn would have been hemmed in by rivers of the great Mississippi valley. A sort of plainsman would have sprung up on the other side of the Father of Waters, only to be prevented from contacting his far western brothers by the strenuous climb over the Rockies. And lastly, in the seaside valley of California we would have had another different speech. That that would have happened should be quite evident to all who have traveled at all; and who hasn't known persons from different sections of the country?

High and deep in the hills of old Kentucky there is a tribe of people of purest Anglo-Saxon blood and heritage. Theirs is a language that is reported to have withstood the test of time and is as ancient as many ways as Chaucer. To the rank "furriner" it is next impossible to understand them as they talk. Scholars have spent years in the study of that dialect. Comedians have made a bastard tongue of it for stage effects.

Similarly the Ozarks have produced a characteristic vocabulary, which in turn is readily adapted to comic stage.

Hill-Billy Talk

Not as popular today as the "hill-billy," but formerly more so, was the "down-east" talk from Maine, which was typed as "farm" talk. The prairie boys of the wide-open West have been made fun of for their drawl. The Ozarks were always good for a laugh if for no other reason than the way they said "Harvard" with that broad drawl "ah" and don't you forget dear old New York City with its "Tolly-toid" street.

Using the formula for comedy, all comedy is based on incongruity. It will be noticed that these dialects and colloquisms are funny because they are different than those things you and I have been used to—differences in pronunciation, usage, emphasis.

The ablest theory as to the origin of languages that has been advanced today is the theory of imitation of sounds. That is logical, is it not? To prove it to yourself think of some words that sound like the object they represent. For instance, the rooster is known as "cock-a-doodle-doo." The words gurgle, gargle, bubble, burble, etc. are all words describing in articulate sound the natural sound they represent.

"Burrp"—A Sound Word

Now think of words recently added to the vocabulary and see if you can't pick out some that will find their basis in sounds. Of course, most of the words added today are compounded from well established roots, pre-fixes, etc. But there are such words. How about "Burrp"?

And most of slang has its excuse for being in the imitation of sounds. Slang either imitates another word or words, such as gosh, for God; darn, for damn. Just because slang contributes new and good words to the language each year it has reason enough for being.

Which brings us right down to one of my sorest points—pronunciation! Because of typographical limitations it will be rather difficult to illustrate just what I mean, but most of you will know. I favor a simplified sort of pronunciation wherein every syllable will receive as nearly equal emphasis as possible. The English attempt not to do this and such awful words as Gloucester, Worcester, Leicester result. The slick way they handle a word like secretary, or dictionary is proof that they are tongue lazy. The evident pride with which some persons use "either" or "neither" with its 14 different pronunciations always makes me ill. It is such a display of something or other. Not only is the long "i" sound harsh, it's harder to say.

Long "A" More Pleasant

It sounds contradictory for me to turn right around and say "tomato" with a long "a", when so many to the credulous attractions. In short, I believe the campus gives the Alphas a wink of approval.

The nightcap featured the Alpha Sign and the music of Sigma Chi Johnny Burkhardt, captured on late notice when Dick Barrie's band encountered highway trouble. The Transylvania Park band covered all the University's fascinating amusements who kept the moments from being anything but dull. Anger swept over the ASAs when the orchestra entoned the "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." Under the circumstances it was musical slander. Old timers can recall a similar situation at a Phi Delk dance when Johnny Hamp innocently started the Sigma Chi love call and immediately the tooters were attacked by a wave of Philidelts threatening the destruction of saxophones, brass, and heads. Needless to say, Hamp never passed the fifth measure of the title. However, the Alphas chose to remedy their dilemma with impatience.

Acceptable music, a collection of men gals, right size crowd, and much prize glassware were made for an excellent dance and gets this column's smack on the back.

Banner Banalities

Doss Reid, off on an excursion in Georgia, telegraphed Miami Maddox (etc collect) to the effect, "Consider yourself proposed to." I understand someone will be prevailed upon to relieve Jane Goodwin and return to the constant Lena Peck, he will discover to his astonishment, that he no longer bats first in Lena's line-up. Mama and papa have gone, leaving KA Billy Dennison and friend Gamble Dick one apartment and a bottomless bin of ideas. . . . Alumni News

ROBERT K. SALYERS, Secretary

The Naughty Seven
When the occasion of the June reunion for classes ending in '2 and '7 rolls around, the class of '07 will be well represented and found trying to retain their record of "high" established at the June reunion of '32, according to Howell "Doodles" Spears, Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington, a life member of the Association and reunion secretary.

At the reunion of the "Naughty Seven" in '32 there were 33 of the 71 living members of the class present. Only two of the class members have been lost by death since graduation.

At the present writing, information has been received from 38 members relative to their attending the June reunion. Of these, 30 have written that they will attend or hope to attend. Thirty-three have not yet been heard from.

The whereabouts of three of the "Naughty Seven" are not known. They are Mrs. Fred Link, nee Josie McCann Alexander, Paris, Kentucky; Daniel J. Dodd, Garrettsville, Missouri; and Sadie S. Martin, Vassala, Kentucky. Any information, as to the change of address of these three, sent to "Doodles" Spears, or the Alumni Office will be greatly appreciated.

With such a favorable response from 38 of the 71 members it seems that the "Naughty Seven" is well on its way to establishing a new "high" in attendance at the coming June reunion.

A Letter
William Frank Lebus, Jr., '36, is attending the University of Heidelberg as a result of his having been appointed to the James H. Hamilton scholarship which affords a year's study in Heidelberg. Following are excerpts from letters to his relatives at Cynthiana, Kentucky.

"I am in the quaint old city of Heidelberg, a lovely city of about 80,000 inhabitants. Upon the evening of arrival the 550th Anniversary Feast began with the beautiful illumination of the castle and bridge. When I arrived at Heidelberg I was placed in the Studentheim. Everything is being done for our entertainment, including tea dances where delicious tea is served. "My first Sunday I went to the old Heidelberg Church which is about 500 years old. It is cool here all Summer—you wear a sweater and coat."

"At the Olympics we saw Hitler. I should like to go to Berlin at another time when it is at its normal stage. Upon my return to Heidelberg I took to my bicycle and with a companion went to Karlsruhe, Friedrichshaven, Linden, and Oberammergau. We saw the costumes worn by the characters on the stage. The next stop was Munich, a beautiful city.

"In the vicinity of Munich we saw the castle of Ludwig II, King of Bavaria. It is located on top of a mountain which we had to climb pushing our bicycles. The furniture, paintings, etc., are there just as when Ludwig lived.

"I take my meals with a private family and it is really fine. Nearly every afternoon we take a walk to some point of interest. Frau Von Dalmer and her two sons come with us. In the mountains is an open air theatre where plays are given.

"One day we visited the prison which prior to 1914 was used to punish students. The university had its own court. Bismarck's son spent quite a time there.

"School work really began November 1. As you probably know the students do not recite. A professor barges in to the class room when the bell rings and the students beat the desks with their fists to give him a hearty welcome; then he enters right on the subject and speaks for 45 minutes and then barges out."

Mr. Lebus' address is 53 Borsstrasse, Heidelberg, Germany.

Barbara Stanwyck says: "Luckies make a hit with my throat"

"When talking pictures arrived, my stage experience on Broadway gave me my chance on the screen. Taking care of my throat became serious business with me, so I changed to Luckies—a light smoke. Of course I smoke other cigarettes now and then but sooner or later I come back to Luckies. They make a hit with my throat and also with my taste."

Barbara Stanwyck
RKO RADIO PICTURES' STAR NOW APPEARING IN "THE PLOUGH AND THE STARS"

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Stanwyck verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

Seeing Sport Stuff

By J. B. FAULCONER

SEVEN YEARS AGO, Adolph Rupp came to Lexington as head basketball coach of the University. Since that time Coach Rupp has established himself as one of the most outstanding coaches of the United States. His teams up to date have won 113 games, while losing only 22. The quintets, able to accomplish this feat, are: Tennessee, three times; New York U., twice; Creighton, twice; Michigan State, twice; Notre Dame, twice; Vanderbilt, twice; South Carolina; Ohio State; North Carolina; Clemson; Georgia; Tulane; Alabama; Florida; and Maryland.

Under Mr. Rupp many outstanding line players have been developed. Probably the standout of the group is Leroy Edwards, the sophomore center, who single-handedly defeated many opponents. This first year varsity man was placed on the 1934-35 All-American five and on the All-Southern quint. Against Creighton, Edwards scored 34 points in 34 minutes to establish a record for high scoring honors in a major basketball game. It was regrettable that Big Ed did not complete his college career.

Demotsey, All-American; Sale, All-American for two seasons; Bronston, Spicer, Yates, Davis, Johnson, and Lawrence are others who have put the University in the national basketball spotlight.

The Ruppmen have won one Southeastern Conference tournament and were finalists in one Southern loop tournament.

This year the Blue and White basketballers have played good ball and have experienced some tough breaks. Michigan State nosed out the Cats, at East Lansing, by one point. Alabama won by three markers and Tennessee by two over the Wildcats.

Coch Rupp ends his seventh Kentucky campaign this year. A Phog Allen coached pupil, mentor Rupp has made the State of Kentucky basketball conscious.

The Wildest gridders held their first session of spring football practice Thursday afternoon. Their first practice was brief and devoted mainly to fundamentals. Coach Chet Wynne said that sessions would be held daily for the next six weeks.

Notable absentees were: the graduates—Gene Meyers, Bert Johnson, Stanley Nevers, Lexie Potter Bob Prichard, Joe Huddleston, and Joe Orr. Also Bob Davis, Walter Hodge, Joe Hagan, and "Cub" Curtis were missing because of their basketball capacities.

Decisive victories over Auburn, Vanderbilt, and Sewanee enabled Georgia Tech's lanky quintet to take a commanding lead in the Southeastern basketball conference. With less than two weeks from the Big 13 tournament Georgia Tech is the only undefeated team, having won seven games.

Tennessee, last year's tournament champs, went into a tie for second place with Mississippi by virtue of wins over Alabama and Kentucky. Mississippi State dropped to fourth place after losing to Mississippi and an upset game to Tulane.

Kentucky dropped two close games to conference foes. Coach Hank Crisp's Alabama Red Elephants toppled the Cats for their first victory over the Rupp-coached five. The charges of Adolph Rupp then journeyed to Tennessee where the Volunteers came from behind in the last minute to nose them out. These losses put the University cagers at the bottom of the eight teams which will be invited to the conference tournament. One more loss would probably ruin the chances of the Wildcats to play in this tourney. This week Vanderbilt comes here to engage the Cats in Kentucky's last conference engagement.

Six teams appear likely to get the first invitations; these quintets are: Georgia Tech, Mississippi, Tennessee, Mississippi State, Auburn, and Georgia. Kentucky and Louisiana State, the other teams 500 ball or better, are on the border line.

Here's aroma for you

... a picture of Chesterfield tobacco just as it comes out of the 1000-pound wooden hogsheads after ageing for three years.

If you could be there when these hundreds of hogsheads are opened up... if you could see this mild ripe tobacco, prime and ready to be made into Chesterfield Cigarettes... see the golden color of the leaf... and get a whiff of that delightful aroma... you'd say...

"Delicious... makes me think of fruit cake."

Mild, ripe home-grown and aromatic Turkish tobaccos... aged three years... make Chesterfield an outstanding cigarette... give them a more pleasing taste and aroma.
