Litkenhous Begins Duties This Week

Dr. Edward E. Litkenhous, newly appointed consultant of the Kentucky Spindletop Research Center, has already begun his duties on a part-time basis.

Director of the University Research and Industrial Relations, Dr. Merl Baker, said Dr. Litkenhous, will assume the responsibilities of his new position later this week.

Dr. Baker said that Litkenhous, inventor of the Litkenhous sports rating system, "will work with UK departments in research and development."

Dr. Litkenhous, a native of Louisville and former University of Louisville professor, was appointed Friday by the Board of Trustees to the position and granted a $10,650 salary for the current fiscal year.

The research consultant's job will curtail serving in varying capacities. Dr. Baker said "We can use him at this stage in whatever capacity he can serve."

"One reason he is so valuable is his experience with the National Science Foundation and will be valuable working with science laboratories in cooperative research programs."

University President Frank G. Dickey, commended Litkenhous saying, "We consider him to be a very imminent person in the field of research, and his contacts with government agencies, businesses, and industries will make him helpful in research at the University."

"We have had a good number of persons under consideration, and on the campus for interviews, but Litkenhous represents what we think is the best person for the position."

His major job will be to direct development of the Industrial Research Institute being organized at Spindletop Farm. Completion of the research institute's $750,000 Administration Building on a section of the 425-acre farm is scheduled for next spring.

SC Election Is Expected For Early In December

The Student Congress election is expected to be held the first or second week in December, according to Bob Wainscott, acting SC president.

Wainscott said a committee was presently formulating election rules to be approved by SC.

The acting president added that this committee and the two other functioning committees failed to have a report prepared for the scheduled meeting last night.

Wainscott said he called the meeting off because there was no business on the agenda. He added that he saw "no need to drag 10 or 15 people over (to Lafferty Hall) for nothing."

The other two committees having no report were the Homecoming and Directory committees.

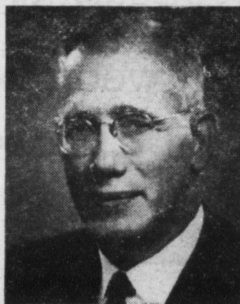

Although the meeting had to be canceled, Wainscott said "things are moving." He blamed the committees' inaction on "red tape."

Wainscott said SC would continue to function under the new constitution that was partly approved by the University Faculty recently.

Each section of the constitution was approved except the part concerning student representation on the Faculty. The constitution called for three student representatives instead of one as the old constitution provided.

Wainscott said the Faculty thought the representative section of the constitution was "OK." He added that the Faculty didn't have the authority to grant the students more representatives.

Wainscott said the Faculty was studying the matter.

Tri-Delt Pledges Win Sig Chi Derby Trophy

Beverly Wetendorf Crowned Queen

Delta Delta Delta sorority pledges captured the all-participation trophy, and Beverly Wetendorf, Kappa Kappa Gamma pledge, was named queen of the 11th annual Sigma Chi Derby Saturday.

Tri-Delt pledges won the rotating Sigma Chi Derby Trophy by scoring the highest number of total points in the derby's eight events. Pledge teams from all ten campus sororities were in competition for the trophy.

Beverly Wetendorf, freshman, Prospect Heights, Ill., was selected queen of the 1961 Derby from among 20 contestants, two from each sorority.

Judging the beauty contest were Dr. Richard Gilliam, professor of law, Mrs. Allene Kennedy, Sigma Chi housemother, and Tom Porter, Sigma Chi chapter adviser.

Miss Wetendorf received an individual trophy, and a rotating trophy to be retained by her sorority until next year's derby.

Jim Stubblefield, Sig president and master of ceremonies, estimated that about 500 people attended the event, held on the intramural field behind the SUB.

Well-pleased with the attendance and response, Stubblefield commented that "this was the best derby we've had here in five years."

Sorority pledges who just ten days ago were formally presented in Memorial Hall wearing white floor-length gowns Saturday were wearing men's suits, being squirted with pressurized whipped cream, and diving into a pool of flour and water.

The first event, an egg toss, was won by Kappa Delta pledges, who tossed their raw egg to each other without breaking it over a distance of 40 feet.

The pie-eating contest was won by Tri-Delt pledge Martha Greenwood, Hopkinsville.

The Flag Chase, an event in which participants tried to capture red flags carried by Sigma

Wyatt And Robsion Discuss Candidates, Campaign At SUB

An enflamed John Robsion struck at the Democratic record and Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt coolly parried his thrusts as they debated presidential campaign issues yesterday afternoon at the SUB.

During the heated debate, Robsion and Wyatt agreed only that "the country is passing through the most critical and important period in the world."

Other issues such as the "maturity of Sen. John Kennedy and the 'leadership' qualities of Vice President Richard Nixon were discussed with, as in most debates, no conclusion being reached.

Speaking first, Robsion told students that "greater government" seemed to be the main difference between the presidential candidates and if greater government was to come, young people of today would be those paying for it. He stated that two out of every five dollars would go for that purpose.

He also said that since peace was the success and war the failure of diplomacy, "It seems that war goes with Democrats, and peace goes with the Republicans."

He illustrated his assertion, pointing out that under five Democratic administrations the nation was at war and under five Republican administrations, it was at peace.

Answering the Republican,

Wyatt retorted, "If a Republican was in when Pearl Harbor was bombed would he have said, 'I won't fight?'"

Robsion angrily countered with, "Maybe we should look to the events that preceded the bombing . . ." The rest of his reply trailed off.

Wyatt in his introduction quoted from U.S. News and World Report, the London Times, and several political columnists, pointing out the loss of U.S. prestige under the Republican administration.

He said that the country suffered its greatest blow when President Eisenhower's life was threatened before his Japanese visit fell through while he was trying to be "soft" with the Communists. . . .

Wyatt, turning to Nixon's qualifications, cited a press conference at the White House at which Eisenhower stated, "No one makes decisions but me." Wyatt read the President's reply to a press representative who asked what decisions Nixon had made and quoted him as saying, "If you give me a week I might think of one, I don't know."

Robsion suggested that Eisenhower had been "kidding" when he made the statement.

Wyatt agreed that the words of political figures were often misconstrued, but that in this instance it was the opinion of the

U.N. 15 Years Old

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—The United Nations observed its 15th birthday today amid some of the hardest going of its history.

At U.N. headquarters, Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold said the organization is still far from its charter aims. He pleaded with the world not to weaken in its united efforts to overcome difficulties and strengthen the structure for peace.

The blue and white banner of the U.N. flew at isolated posts throughout the Congo and U.N. forces trying to bring order there paraded in Leopoldville. But there, too, the U.N. was under sharp opposition. Only about 200 Congolese watched the Leopoldville observance. Rampaging Congolese army troops frightened others away.

Prestige Polls Investigated

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—House secrecy investigators moved today to determine whether the government is suppressing opinion polls reportedly showing a decline in U.S. prestige abroad.

The inquiry was ordered by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the House Government Information Subcommittee.

A subcommittee aide said the group is asking the U.S. information agency whether results of any prestige polls are available and if so why they haven't been made public.

Language Laboratory Adds New Facilities

By ANN EVANS
Kernel Staff Writer

If you have the energy to climb up three flights of stairs you can see and try out the newly renovated electronic language laboratory on the third floor of Miller Hall.

A console and 17 new booths, along with the 13 others that were in use last year, provide the up-to-date facilities for learning a foreign language.

When the lab was opened two years ago by the Junior League of Lexington and the University, it was one of the first of its kind in the country. The League contributed $6,000 and many hours of work in supervising students and distributing and filing records.

The new laboratory, when completed and operational, will contain $20,000 worth of electronic equipment.

Each of the 30 acoustical booths is equipped with two turntables, a microphone, and earphones. Records or tapes are used in recording. A student listens to individual discs on one turntable and at pauses on the master record he repeats what he has heard. Both his voice and that of the instructor are recorded on a second disc so that the student may hear his mistakes. Records may be stopped at any time to repeat a part of the lesson.

After the instructor listens to the disc it is erased and used again.

With the new console one tape may be used for several or all of the booths. The instructor can communicate through his microphone to the whole class or to individual booths, and he can listen to any compartment without the student knowing it.

The tapes contain lessons in grammar, vocabulary, and pronunciation, and are used in conjunction with regular classroom lectures.

Junior League members work in the laboratory three days a week, while the other days are covered by students.

Thirteen additional booths will be added to the present lab when the University receives the funds from the state.

Chi pledges defending themselves with cans of whipped cream, was won by Tri-Delt pledge Carolyn Mansfield.

Chi Omega pledges, taking careful aim at the head of Sig pledge Jim Maggard, won the Tomato Throw.

Diving into a small pool of flour and water to retrieve a banner bearing their sorority letters, the KD's won the Sorority Grab.

The Mystery Event, kept secret until the last minute, required that pledges leave the I-M field area and return in 15 minutes, fully-dressed in a man's suit, including shoes and socks, tie, and tie-clasp.

By raiding the nearby Sigma Nu house, ADPI pledges won the event by returning in a scant nine minutes.

Sorority pledges received extra points by capturing black derbies won by Sig pledges and actives on campus Saturday morning.

Commenting on the chase, Sig pledge Frank Goetz said, "I never felt so popular—about six of them caught me right in the grill. I couldn't have beaten them off with a stick."

The winning Tri-Delt team had a total of 20 points to win the derby. ADPI's and Alpha Gams tied for second place with 18 points each, and the DZ's placed third with 14 points.

A Welcome Addition

The University's FM radio station, WBKY, has added 45 hours to its weekly broadcasting schedule. The new schedule was initiated last Wednesday, its continuation dependent on the response from listeners.

By Sunday so many favorable responses had been received by the station that its supervisors were able to announce that it is almost a certainty the new schedule will remain in effect.

The additional broadcasting hours brought about an innovation in WBKY's programming—seven hours a day of uninterrupted "easy listenin'" type music. This is broadcast from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 1 to 4 p.m. Sundays. The station's regular programming begins at 4 p.m. and continues until 11 o'clock.

Considering the decadent cacophony broadcast by Lexington's other radio stations, it is certain that WBKY's enterprises will be gratefully welcomed by local listeners whose tastes are above those of the set with overactive adrenal glands.

In addition to providing esthetic pleasure, the station's daily seven hours of uninterrupted music offer many opportunities for practical application. The program is ideal for use as background music in the University's eating places, offices, and housing units.

And, since an FM receiver can be bought for as little as $25, there is little reason why students who like to listen to tranquil music while studying or relaxing cannot do so, and perhaps enjoy the station's broadcasts of classical music, jazz, operas, plays, poetry, and the like, too.

We applaud WBKY's latest effort to improve the quality and broaden the scope of radio programming, and wish it equal success in its future enterprises.

Fall Step Cleaning

Every year at this time, even though our bones and joints vehemently protest, we look forward happily to the coming of winter.

Our joyous anticipation is not based on any great affection for cold, snowball fighting and sled riding, or even the so-called beauty a frosted window pane on a moonlit or a glistening snowfall seen through night. The simple truth of it all is that we know we will finally be able to get to classes in McVey Hall without having to push, prod, and stomp our way through the mass of loung-ers who clog the north steps of the building during fair weather.

We have campaigned in years past for some administrative action toward clearing these steps of the crowds of leisurely souls who make it so difficult to enter and leave McVey, but we have long since despaired of ever finding solace for our gripes and now merely wait for the first wintry gusts to do what no one else can or will do—clear the steps of their annoying obstruction.

And from the feeling of the morning air it won't be long now.

What School Spirit?

After viewing the apparent re-birth of school spirit visible at the Louisiana State game, we felt that University students would maintain their enthusiasm for the rest of the season.

We must, however, revise our opinion after watching the lethargic performance of the fans at Saturday's game with Georgia. Once Kentucky fell behind, the spirit of the crowd visibly diminished until spectators began filtering out before the end of the third quarter.

It has often been said that no one likes a loser, and we could concur in this belief had Kentucky been so far behind that victory was impossible. Victory was not out of reach when students started trooping out of the stadium, but it might just as well have been.

There is a difference between losing and merely being behind, but it is clear that University football spectators are not aware of it. That the team was in contention until the final gun is not important; what does matter is that students cannot expect a winning team effort until they are ready to support the team.

No one likes a loser, and from Saturday's display of apathy, UK fans would like a winner very little more.

THE READERS' FORUM

Mirror Of Campus Opinion

Reader's Rebuttal

To The Editor:

The following comments are not written in choleric about dusk, nor any other kind of about dusk for that matter. Because of my brave heart and innate courage I shall try to express my still pertinent comments as clearly as possible, with reference to Mr. Robert White's letter to the editor of Oct. 21.

1. The illustrious "instructor" White seems to be unsure of Dr. Gifford Blyton's rank. It seems to me that anyone with a doctorate degree is certainly worthy of being referred to by his correct title.

If it is the opinion of Dr. Blyton that Vice President Nixon is the better speaker, then his opinion is open to comment. Dr. Blyton's opinion is in no way detrimental to the news staff nor the University, so if we must criticize his remarks, let us criticize them in private. There was no reference of any kind in Dr. Blyton's article to the democratic system of election. Think of the leaders we might obtain if we gave the choice over to "instructors" of English.

2. The choice of a President for such a large institution is certainly never left to the decision of a group of amateurs. What right then have we to criticize the English of a man in President Dickey's position. I am sure that if his English were so incorrect he would not hold the position which he now does.

There are many people, even professors, who express "adolescent glee" over more trivial matters than last week's football victory. Some people are even interested in the "dreary page of 'pinnings' and sorority offices etc." What reflection does this have on President Dickey's English?

3. Perhaps the Lexington papers do not measure up to the New York Times, but does this fact necessarily reflect upon the "stupid Blue Grassers?" Remember, Mr. White, most of the staff and faculty of this University consider themselves residents of the Blue Grass area. Shall we also consider Miss Elizabeth Arden as a member of the "stupid Blue Grass" class?

It also seems to me that the New York Times contains more than four pages of the "romantic palpitations" of its readers. Shall the Kernel then be considered on the level of the Times?

4. I am sure that everyone agrees that the young lady on the cover of Tuesday's issue does have a very attractive back. Is there something wrong?

P.S.—Dr. Moreland also has a rank. Why should we leave this to the editor to insert?

JUDY JOHNSON

Lack Of Ethics

To The Editor:

If the editorial in Tuesday's paper, "The Religious Question," is an example of the quality of the editorials of the past or future, it isn't any wonder the students do not think much of the Kernel. An editor of a school paper should have more knowledge and ethics than to write an editorial like this. If we the students are supposed to read this for factual information, it is a complete waste of time. If we are to read an editorial by the editor to get a laugh, then by all means read it. Ethics have been stressed a lot lately but it seems the editor was looking and listening to someone else.

The editor should sign his name if he has the courage to.

LOUIS C. MILLER

(The editor's name is prominently displayed at the top of the masthead every day.—THE EDITOR).

Kernels

The University's FM radio station, WBKY, is billing itself as "the high-fidelity voice of the University of Kentucky" in its latest self-promotion slogan.

Does this make the Kernel the low fidelity or the ultrafidelity voice of UK? Perhaps we should put out a stereo edition on Thursdays to meet the competition.

Washington press corps that Eisenhower was not kidding; he simply made a "blunt statement."

Robson then quoted Eisenhower's statement endorsing Nixon as the man who had been trained and "preened" for the presidency. In speaking of Sen. Kennedy's leadership qualities, Robson pointed to the fact that not one piece of major legislation bears his name.

"If he cannot lead in a Senate with a Democratic majority, how can you say he is a leader?" the Republican asked.

Wyatt calmly remarked that it took a long time to pass bills, and that Kennedy would "meet them when he has time."

Health Center Lists Patient Increase

The Student Health Service has had an unusual increase in the number of patients this fall.

Respiratory and mononucleosis infections account for a large percentage of the students at the dispensary, states Dr. Richardson K. Noback, director of the Student Health Service.

The health record of every entering student is checked by the Student Health Service. Any student whose record is incomplete is requested to give additional information at the dispensary.

No charge for services is made to part time or full time students.

All new students who have not taken either their smallpox, tetanus, typhoid, and polio shots have been sent cards asking them to report to the dispensary at their earliest convenience.

Students pay only the initial cost of the inoculation.

The Student Health Service is in the Health Building on the drive immediately south of the Administration Building.

Regular hours at the dispensary are from 8:30-11:30 a.m. Monday

New week-end sick call hours are from 4-5 p.m. Saturday and 10-11 a.m., 4-5 p.m. Sunday.

'Research' Is Difficult To Define

By NORRIS JOHNSON

What is research?

Every self-respecting professor is engaged in it; educators encourage it, and we are told our national defense depends on it. Yet no one can adequately define it or agree on its purposes.

This, in a nutshell, is the finding of an inquiry conducted by Dr. Frank Kodman Jr., associate professor of psychology. Dr. Kodman's paper covering the study, in which he collaborated with Arthur B. Fein, psychology graduate student, will be published in Science Education.

Most respondents to the questionnaire agreed on a general definition of research. Dr. Kodman said. Ninety-seven percent indicated that research involved the attainment of knowledge, truth, or both. The others called research "classification of data" or "establishing cause and effect relationships."

Another 32 percent cited analysis and interpretation of data as the purposes of research, and the rest were divided among "formulation of laws," "application," and "prediction."

"The questionnaires were mailed to 600 staff and faculty members asking for a definition of research in 50 words or less," Dr. Kodman said. He received answers to 117 queries.

"There was much dependence on status phrases such as "research is a critical process" or "acquisition of truth" rather than an honest effort to define the term," he said.

Dr. Kodman emphasized that he was not against professors doing research. "I think every teacher should be engaged in some research in his field.

"But we have become enamored with research—it has become a sort of religion," he explained, "yet we cannot say exactly what constitutes research and what does not."

He said that since research consumes more of a teacher's time than any activity other than teaching, some effort should be made to ascertain just what can be classified as research.

Dr. Kodman concluded his paper by saying that a researcher should have to present some tangible evidence of his research to his peers. He listed tangible evidence as scientific publications, experimental results, or theoretical formulations.

The Dope Sheet

By Scottie Helt

After posting its best season in four years in 1959-60, the Wildcat swimming team may be relegated to an also-ran role in the tough Southeastern Conference in 1960-61.

Coach Algie Reece, Catfish chief for 11 years now, is singing the blues because of the loss of seven men from last year's squad which compiled a 6-7 record and achieved a third-place finish in the SEC Championships. The Catfish also took the Kentucky State Intercollegiate swim crown.

Returning from that potent team are only five lettermen. Prospects are that Reece will have but two newcomers to join his ranks.

Top loss is that of the squad's top scorer last year, freestyler Paul Shapiro. The 1960 graduate accumulated 132 1/2 points while splashing to 17 individual wins.

Others lost due to graduation, scholastic ineligibility, illness and dropouts include freestylers John Sargent, Bill Eaton, Bill Desmond and Tony Webster; breaststroke and butterfly man Dave Allen; and backstroker Mike Durbin.

Leading the returnees is breaststroker and butterfly expert Tom Cambron, the team's second leading scorer last season with 106 points and 10 individual wins.

Diver and freestyler Milt Minor, third leading scorer last season, will be available for only limited action this year, while Ted Bondor and Skip Bailer—both latecomers to last year's squad—will be ready at the outset.

The only new faces of promise are junior Bob Mason and sophomore Chad Wright.

Don Cash Seaton, Wildcat cross country coach, has appointed Danny Jasper, senior from Somerset, 1960 cross country captain. Jasper is a civil engineering major and has an overall standing of 3.4.

There is one major rule change for collegiate basketball this season. This change involves the place the ball is put into play after a time-out.

After a timeout, the ball must be put into play from the nearest spot it was declared dead unless an infraction or the end of a period is involved.

This change was made to prevent teams from gaining an advantage by calling a time-out while the ball was in the back court in order to resume play with a throw-in from midcourt.

Collier Expects Trouble From Seminoles

Kentucky, disappointed by the Georgia loss, can expect more trouble this week from Florida State.

Coach Blanton Collier at yesterday's Quarterback Club meeting, described the Seminoles as an upcoming team.

"We might run into a buzz saw this week because Florida State has an upcoming team with a fine young coach who knows our system," Collier said.

Florida State Coach Bill Peterson supposedly picked up the essentials of Kentucky's system from attending Cleveland Brown practice sessions.

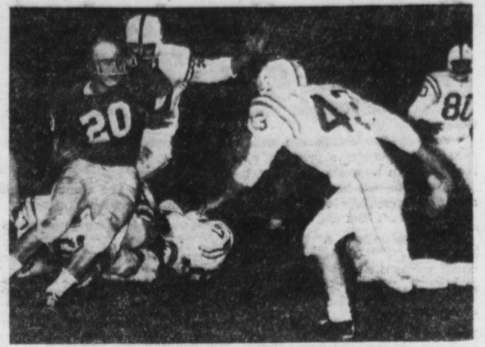

Florida State is one of the top teams in the nation in giving up points. The team has given up only 24 points in six games.

Collier cited three reasons for the Georgia loss. One was trying to do too much with the wild card substituting rule, a second was Kentucky's own mistakes, and a third was the failure of the backfield to execute offensive details properly.

The Kentucky coach praised the defensive play of Jimmy Poynter. Poynter was credited with 17 individual tackles.

Lloyd Hodge, Calvin Bird, and Charlie Sturgeon are still injured, but are expected to see action Saturday.

Gary Steward, who scored a touchdown Saturday, and Bill Ransdell, impressive defensively, ran at the halfback positions in practice yesterday.

Another Bulldog Gain

Georgia Halback Bill Jackson picks up yardage in Saturday's 17-13 defeat of the Wildcats. It was on the ground that the 'Dogs rolled up the majority of their gains. Wildcats John Mutchler (50) and Jimmy Poynter (43) move in for the tackle.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:

DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Early to bed and early to rise is an excellent way to avoid people.

Dear Dr. Frood: What should I look for first when I look for a wife?

Searching

DEAR SEARCHING: Her husband.

Dear Dr. Frood: Our son has been in college three months, and we haven't heard a word from him. Not even a post card. I don't want him to think I am too demanding or overprotective, but frankly I am worried. What should I do?

Worried Mother

DEAR WORRIED: Why worry after only three months in college? He's still learning how to write.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am six foot five, 225 pounds, handsome, tanned, muscled, a good athlete. But I can't get along with girls because I can never think of anything to say. What do you suggest?

Brawny

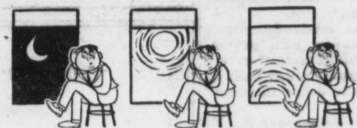

DEAR BRAWNY: "Me Tarzan, you Jane."

Dear Dr. Frood: Don't you agree that every college man has the right, in fact, the duty, to stand up and speak out for the things he believes in? Tomorrow I am going straight to the college president and tell him, politely but firmly, what is wrong here—the inferior teaching, the second-rate accommodations, the bad food. My friends think I am wrong to do this. What do you think?

Determined

DEAR DETERMINED: I applaud your spirit, young man! Had I been able, I would have commended you in a more personal letter. However, you forgot to leave a forwarding address.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am puzzled by the Lucky Strike slogan: "Remember how great cigarettes used to taste? Luckies still do." I've been sitting here for hours, thinking, thinking, thinking, but for the life of me I can't remember. What should I do about this?

Forgetful

DEAR FORGETFUL: I suggest you lean back, relax, and light up a Lucky Strike. I'm sure it will all come back to you—who you are, what you were, where you lived, everything.

FROOD FAD SWEEPS COLLEGES! They laughed when Dr. Frood started the new college craze of enjoying a Lucky while hanging from a coat rack. But now everybody is doing it! Smoking Luckies, that is. Today college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. Reason: With or without coat rack, Luckies deliver the greatest taste in smoking today.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

Mistakes Cost Wildcats Fourth SEC Defeat

By SCOTTIE HELT

The Stoll Field Playhouse presented its 1960 production of "Comedy of Errors" Saturday night, but when the curtain rang down, it was no laughing matter for the Wildcats.

Coach Blanton Collier's squad came up with every known "boo-boo" in the book, thus costing it a 17-13 loss to an almost as sloppy Georgia Bulldog 11.

A pair of Wildcat fumbles, two pass interceptions, a bad pass from center, 65 yards in penalties, and a lax pass defense at the goal line cost the Cats their fourth defeat of the year—all in loop play. They've won two games—one in the SEC.

The Wildcats lost little time in scoring as sophomore Halfback Gary Steward scored his first varsity TD from three yards out after only four minutes and 35 seconds had been played. Clarke Mayfield booted the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

A Bulldog fumble by Bill Godfrey on the second play of the game had been gathered in by Steward on the Wildcat 18-yard line to set up the quick-opening score.

Jerry Woolum engineered the 18-yard touchdown drive in six plays. All-America quarterback candidate Francis Tarkenton came right back to engineer a drive of his own, moving the 'Dogs 78 yards in 12 plays to knot the score at 7-7.

The talented signal caller mixed his plays well in the long drive, but had seemingly been stopped by a tough Kentucky defense on the Cats' eight-yard line. But, on fourth down, Bill McKenny was all alone behind the Kentucky secondary, and Tarkenton hit him for the tally.

"Mr. Automatic," Durward Pennington, kicked the extra point.

Minutes later, a bad center pass to John Rampulla, attempting to punt from his own 25 on fourth down, enabled the Bulldog defenders to upend the kicker on the 13-yard line and Georgia was knocking at the door again.

Kentucky's defense stiffened enough to keep the Georgians from its goal line, but Pennington's 24-yard, fourth down field goal was good, and the 'Dogs led, 10-7.

Pennington tried another fielder in the second quarter, but missed.

With Jerry Eisaman directing a pass-dominated attack, the Cats threatened in the waning minutes of the half. Completions to Dave goal was NB 2839 28282 3939 2828 on the Georgia 14, but Tarkenton pulled a third straight Eisaman pass out of the air to stop the drive.

An Eisaman fumble, early in the third period, gave Georgia another scoring opportunity with Pennington attempting a fielder from the 24. The boot, however, was short.

Still unable to keep possession, the Wildcats again lost the ball three plays later on an interception. This time the Bulldogs moved in with it.

Again, it was McKenny who broke behind the Wildcat defenders and gathered in a 36-yard pass from Tarkenton for the score.

Pennington kicked the PAT for a 17-7 Georgia lead.

Backed up deep in its own territory most of the night—mainly due to the booming kicks of brilliant Bobby Walden—the Wildcat offense finally started clicking in the final quarter.

Midway in the final period, Woolum teamed with Gash for a beautiful 65-yard scoring pass play that tightened the count to 17-13.

A mixup in signals by the Wildcat bench cost Kentucky a five-yard penalty on the try for an extra point and the two-point pass attempt fell incomplete.

The issue was still in doubt down to the last second, however, as Woolum and Eisaman attempted to move the Cats from their own 15 to the Georgia 19 on the last 14 plays of the game.

Once again though, penalties, missed assignments, and this time a new deterrent—the clock—stopped the Cats.

Lodge Urges Stronger U.N.

DETROIT, Oct. 24 (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican nominee for vice president and former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, declared today that the U.N. "must be made still stronger."

But he also said it already had proved itself stronger than Premier Nikita Khrushchev of the Soviet Union, who, Lodge said, met humiliating defeat when he came to the United States recently "determined to destroy the secretary general and the United Nations."
