

Revamp Fraternity Row Plan Since Greeks Have Defaulted

Since a majority of the fraternities on campus don't seem much interested in the University's recently proposed Fraternity Row development, we think the project should be revamped to provide housing for independent students.

Only five groups turned in applications for a house in the eight-unit project and it's quite possible some of these may be forced to back out. University officials are currently investigating the applicants to see if they can meet necessary financial obligations.

Several Greek-letter groups have expressed a desire to participate in the development but most of them seem to feel that it would be too expensive. Another disadvantage cited by the fraternities is that they would never hold clear title to the houses and land, even after paying off the original cost on each individual house.

Bitter comment has been forthcoming from independents on campus ever since the idea was first announced. One outspoken resident of Scott Street

Barracks summed up a general feeling pretty well when he asserted,

"The fraternity boys have already got houses, even if some of them aren't the greatest little castles in the world. If the people who dreamed up this Fraternity Row deal think the Greeks are so bad off, they ought to try living over here in one of these fallen down fire traps for a semester or two. Then maybe they'd see about getting us independents some housing."

It might be possible to go ahead and build the eight houses as planned and then set them up as 48-man cooperative units. This alternative would mean that the money spent on architects' fees wouldn't be wasted. Another possibility would be for the University to revamp the program completely and erect another men's dormitory to go with the one already scheduled to begin construction the first of the year.

Whether or not Fraternity Row is or was a good idea is now beside the point. By defaulting and kicking their gift horse in the teeth, the Greeks have given the University a chance to do something to alleviate the long neglected and abused independent men's housing situation.

UK Students Outdo Their Elders Easily

One thing can be said for UK students no matter what their other faults. Without even half trying they can outdo their elders.

Only about a fourth of the student body took the trouble to go over to the Student Union Tuesday and cast their ballots in the campus' mock election. (This is far below the national average for presidential elections. At least half our elders generally manage to get to the polls.)

One lone vote decided whether or not California, Idaho, Oregon, Texas, and Washington were to become states. Three presidents—Thomas Jefferson, John Quincy Adams, and Rutherford B. Hayes—were elected by one-vote margins in the electoral college. In a democracy the individual does count for something, but only if he wants to be counted.

Let's hope the eligible UK students do a little better on November 4 than they did Tuesday.

Circulation Policy Explained

You say you didn't get your paper last week? Well, maybe we can explain the mysteries of the Kernel's circulation policy.

Our venerable flat-bed press starts to roll shortly after noon every Thursday. The first few hundred copies are bundled up and set aside for distribution at dawn Friday morning to the various women's dormitories.

The next batch of papers is sent over to the campus Post Office where they're stuffed into the individual mail boxes. From week to week, the number of papers sent to the Post Office gradually dwindles down until it hits a stabilizing point and we know just how many are being picked up. The Post Office employees don't put fresh papers into a box where last week's Kernel still sits gathering dust. We think it's a little pointless to waste news-

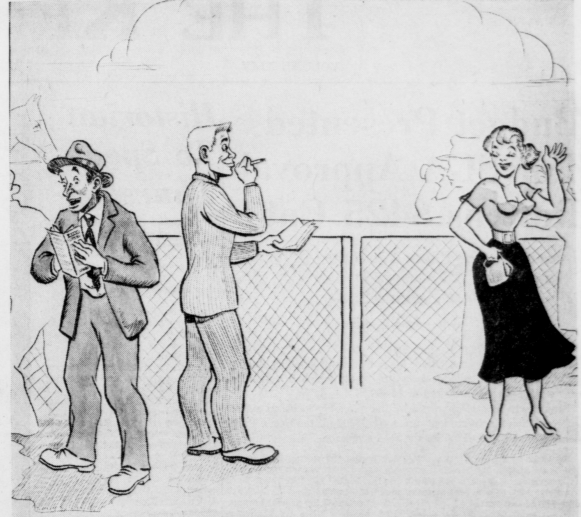

Students Cheers Were Surprising

Despite the crushing defeat we suffered down on the field, last Saturday's football game provided one very satisfactory thrill. The student stands, traditionally silent as the proverbial grave, came alive in a frenzy of cheering.

We were sort of fond of Suky's card section and hate to see it go, but the revived student spirit that burst forth last week is worth a dozen card sections. UK rosters, led by an invigorated group of cheerleaders, stood and roared the Wildcats out of every huddle. Even in the last quarter when the spectators on the other side of the field had given things up as a lost cause, the newly-loyal students were still backing their team.

The 'Cats will be away from home for three straight week-ends, returning to Spill Field November 8 for the Homecoming tilt with the Tulane Green Wave. This breathing spell can be put to good advantage. It will give the cheerleaders a chance to perfect their techniques and work out a few new yells. Friday before the game, Suky and the cheerleaders can teach these new yells to the students at a huge pep rally.

UK has long had championship athletic teams and it finally looks as though the school is getting a championship student body.

"Sam, what looks good to you in this race?"

Our Readers Speak: For More Participation

Dear Editor:

I was present at the pep rally which was held last Friday evening in front of the Coliseum. Needless to say it was a big step in the right direction. It was the first and the biggest rally I have attended since coming to the University. That isn't saying a whole lot though, as the student body could have made a better showing than they did.

There are about 5700 students in school at the present time. From the 2000 persons present at the rally, my estimation is that only one-fourth of the student body was there. It wouldn't have taken much time for the rest of the students to show up for 45 minutes and give a little added incentive to the group.

I would like to suggest that the pep organization that handled this rally not let it drop now. Let's go on to make this school not the coldest school in the South, but the most spirited. Let's fan the spark that came to the fore last Friday evening.

Kentucky Spark Fanner

Service building is not a heating plant for Scott Street Barracks as Miss Fryer so gleefully asserted in her column. Instead it is a drainage pipe system. Almost every aware individual on campus knows the true nature of this project. Why can't your columnist get on the ball and print information that's valid?

One Who Like Truth

Editor's Note: Thanks for the correction, but I'm afraid you and Miss Fryer are both wrong. According to the boys down at Maintenance and Operations, the controversial construction is actually the work of the Shelby Construction company making repairs on telephone equipment. M & O has nothing to do with the project.

print that way.

For the benefit of the sororities and fraternities, we carry a huge stack of papers upstairs to the central office of the Journalism building. That way each organization can send a representative over sometime Friday and pick up enough papers for the whole chapter.

Some 2000 copies are sent to the Alumni Association and they in turn send them out to our alumni readers. Additional bundles are taken to the laundries at the two housing units for married students.

Trying first one idea and then another over a period of years, this is the best system we've been able to work out. It isn't perfect by any means and if any of you have suggestions for improving it, we'd be glad to hear them.

Commends Athletes

I guess this ends my usual yearly letter to the Kernel. Keep up the good work.

Editor's Note: Thanks for the Profile tip and the pat on the back. We'll try to get over to the Engineering College in the near future. Don't quit with just one letter, though. Write again. Reader criticism helps us print what our subscribers want to read.

Dear Editor:

This is to say I am in my third year as clerk in the Physical Education Department Alumni Gym, and I wish to say that in my estimation we have the finest group of young men, by far, that have attended P. E. classes since my advent here.

Their department proclaims them to be of homes of refinement. I have heard the same opinion expressed by several members of the Physical Education Department faculty.

An Alum Comments

Dear Editor:

I am an alumnus who still manages to read the Kernel with a great deal of interest. Let me assure you that the usual fine job is being done.

I agree with your stand on cheering at football games . . . it is sure a disgraceful exhibition.

Why not write up some Engineering professor in your weekly Profile? All the men so far seem to be from Arts and Sciences. We like to read about our profs too. How about Prof. Brinkley Barnett or some other prof that has achieved a little distinction.

Dear Editor:

On the whole I find the Kernel a fair-to-middling paper, even though it is put out by a crew of amateurs. For the most part you people seem to do a good job. Last week, however, one of your columnists ran an item that I should think could have been checked for accuracy rather easily if anyone had bothered to take the time and effort.

Columnist Is Quite Exhausted But Pleased After Pep Rally

By KATHY FRYER

Wow! Talk about exhaustion! That must have been the track team leading the torchlight parade last week. Whoever it was, they seemed to think we had to be down on Main street a flat three minutes after starting.

Coming back up Lime, I slowed down a little to catch my breath and a husky blonde ran into me, ramming her teeth into my skull. She got up rather dazed but with molars intact.

Some people always did say I had a hole in my head.

On the whole, I thought the rally was a great improvement over the practically nonexistent cheering in the past, but wouldn't it be a lot better if the band led the parade next time?

Bob Fry may be the "orator and statesman" of the Wildcat squad as John Griggs said, but John didn't do himself, introducing the boys. Not only did he remember every home town and position, but he spiced up what could have been a very dull procedure. Watch out, Berle and Godfrey, Griggs can MC, too!

LSU's Coach Tinsley said in his French-flavored southern accent that he wasn't too surprised at being invited to our pep rally since his team had been so good to Kentucky in the past. Hmmmmmm, forgot all about that on Saturday afternoon, didn't he?

Sidelights of the Game: The black and brown dachshund that followed the hot dog boys through the stands . . . the "touchdown" No. 20 made after the final whistle . . . the band, the Wildcats' most iron-lunged roters, yelling at the capable but not so glamorous boy cheerleaders, "We want the girls."

If you're not an education major and have never been as far across Lime as the Education building, you've never been tantalized by the aroma of cooked food from the U-High cafeteria before and after lunch hour.

You've never listened to the clarinet-predominated high school band practice "Kiss of Fire" and snap through a rousing march. You don't trip over little tots on your way to class, and nobody mistakes you for a high school student. Nope, there's nothing like being an Education major!

Next to Impossible Department: Getting back through the counter crowd in the grill with two hamburgers in one hand and a milkshake in the other.

Driving down town from a football game in less than a half hour.

Seeing all the people at UK from your home town during one semester (unless you come from Skunk Holler, pop. 52).

The absentminded professor was dining at the dean's house. Someone asked, "Will you pass the nuts?"

"I suppose so," he mumbled sadly, "but I should flunk the whole lot of them."

"Did you get home all right from that party last night?"

"No trouble at all, except that just as I was turning up Rose street some fool stepped on my fingers."

Gala Carnival Tonight Includes Many Events

Carnival time has returned to the UK campus and is in full swing. The intramural field will be crowded with many side shows, skill contests, and feature events. Afterwards, there will be the annual dance in the Student Union Ballroom.

This weekend will be a gala festival for everyone as well as providing for scholarships given to deserving juniors. The climax of the carnival tonight will be the awards for the best booths and selection of a Carnival Queen. Last year the first and second places were won by Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Nu Fraternities, and Alpha Gamma Delta and Chi Omega Sororities. Don't miss this evening of fun and entertainment. It will be a very worthwhile occasion.

On the sidelines of the carnival, Kappa Sigma has announced the election of its new officers for the year. Bill Sander is the new president and Joe Kirchofer is the new vice-president. Lots of luck for the coming year in all that you undertake.

Anthropology Museum Reopened; Special Exhibits Now On Display

By Leslie Morris
The old Anthropology Museum will be reopened at 2 p.m. today, Prof. Raymond H. Thompson, recently appointed curator of the museum, said this week.

Prof. Thompson commented that while the program was in its formative stage, today marks the inauguration of a regional museum "that will try and present the prehistoric culture of Kentucky" in exhibits catering to laymen.

"At the same time," he added, "we will attempt to meet the teaching needs of various departments that can make use of the facilities."

The museum, which has been opened only by appointment in recent years, is housed in a building which was originally constructed as a library in 1907 with funds supplied by Andrew Carnegie. The building is located diagonally across from White Hall, will be open from 2 to 5 p.m. daily except Saturdays.

TO EACH HIS BONE—Deke and Prof. Raymond H. Thompson today will be reopening a huge bone in the Anthropology Museum which will be reopened at 2 p.m. today. The cooker is the property of Mrs. Lillian Tate, housemother of Dillard Hall. Sorry about the partisan campaign button Prof. Thompson is wearing, but we couldn't cut it out of the photo.

Thompson thinks it "probably our best exhibit right now," emphasizes the skeletal features of the different races of man.

Every month an exhibit of the month will be assembled. The current feature is a collection of bones of fossil elephants, extinct since the end of the Ice Age. A related group of fluted projectile points used to kill the mammals is also displayed.

Prof. Thompson expresses hope that within two years all the exhibits can be remodeled and modernized. He noted that the collection will gradually be enlarged, but "we have to accumulate—we have no budget."

For the present all exhibits will remain the same, Prof. Thompson said.

You Hear Strange Things About Catholics

Yes you can hear some strange things about Catholics.

You hear it said that Catholics believe all non Catholics are headed for Hell . . . that they believe non-Catholic marriages are invalid.

Some think Catholics believe the Pope is God . . . that he can do no wrong . . . that they owe him civil allegiance and that he should have the political power to rule America.

It is said that Catholics want religious freedom only for themselves . . . that they oppose public schools and separation of Church and State as evils which should be destroyed.

The claim is made that Catholics pay the priest for forgiveness of their sins . . . that they must buy their departed relatives and friends out of Purgatory . . . that they adore statues . . . are forbidden to read the Bible . . . use medals, candles and holy water as sure-fire protection against the loss of a job, lightning or being run down by an automobile.

But what is worse, some say, Catholics corrupt the true teachings of Jesus Christ with the addition of pagan superstitions and practices that are nothing less than the inventions of the devil.

If all these things—or any of them—were true, it would be a pity. For at least one out of every six Americans is a Catholic—and it would be a national tragedy if one-sixth of all Americans entertained such erroneous ideas.

The Knights of Columbus is an organization of 700,000 Catholic men of reason and intelligence. In our ranks will be found statesmen, scientists, historians, physicians, movie stars, lawyers, educators and others representing every cross-section of American life. And for each and all of them loyalty to the Catholic Faith is the act of a reasonable man.

We are deeply interested in the welfare of our Church and our Country. And we believe the interests of both will be served best when fair minded people know the Catholic Church as it is—not as it is sometimes mistaken to be.

If you have heard and believed any of these false claims, and want the truth, we will gladly send you a free booklet which explains many aspects of Catholic belief and practice concerning which people are commonly misinformed. Write and ask for Pamphlet No. 1-N.

LSU Defeats Kentucky 34-7 Hand Cats First SEC Loss

Louisiana State proved to be more than Kentucky could handle Saturday, and the Bayou Bengals walked off the field with an impressive 34-7 victory. The margin of victory was surprising, since the two teams were rated just about even before game-time.

LSU's first touchdown was as shocking as it was spectacular. Kentucky had taken the opening kickoff and marched to the LSU 15 yard line, where a fourth-down field goal attempt by Bob Bassitt went wide of its mark. Freshman Dick Shatto sparked the drive with his needle-threading passes.

The Wildcats seemed on their way to a victory. However, after Bassitt's unsuccessful field goal attempt, LSU took over on their own 20. On the first play, Norman Stevens, the brilliant LSU quarterback, tossed a pass to Al Doggett on the LSU 40 and the fleet back, dodging two would-be tacklers, scampered the remaining 60 yards to score with only three minutes gone in the ball game. Cliff Strainoff's kick was wide and LSU led 6-0.

Late in the first quarter, the passing of Stevens and the running of Will Rachal moved LSU into scoring position on the Kentucky 8. Stevens then flipped one to Jerry Marchand for a touchdown. Strainoff's kick was good and LSU led 13-0.

The Bengals threatened twice in the second quarter, but the Kentucky line stiffened to halt both threats. An intercepted pass put LSU on the Cat's 33 yard line, but after two line plays and a pass failed to click, Doggett was forced to kick.

LSU rared down to the Kentucky two late in the second quarter, but a gritty Kentucky line held for downs as the half ended.

First-half statistics showed LSU with 9 first downs to 7 for Kentucky. Stevens of LSU had completed 7 out of 11 passes for 157 yards while Shatto, the Cat quarter, had connected on 3 out of 9. Rushing yardage was about even, LSU with 67 yards to Kentucky's 88.

LSU took the second-half kickoff and drove 71 yards to score their third touchdown. Stevens was again a huge factor as he completed three passes during the drive. One of the best plays of the game came with LSU stalled on the Kentucky 25, fourth and one. The Bengals pulled a double-reverse on the bewildered Cat defense with Doggett carrying the ball to the 7. On the next play Rachal took a pitchout and scored. Strainoff kicked the point and LSU led 20-0 with 10:21 left in the third quarter.

LSU scored again the next time they got the ball. Steve Meilinger's short punt went out-of-bounds on the LSU 26. In fourteen plays the Louisianians marched 74 yards to score. A 15 yard penalty for a personal foul helped the drive. With a first down on the Cat 6, Marchand bulled over in two carries for the touchdown. Strainoff's kick was again good and LSU led 27-0 with 3:18 left in the third quarter.

Kentucky got a break near the end of the third quarter when Joe Koch recovered Strainoff's fumble on the LSU 26. Shatto carried the ball to the 10 and on the second play he passed to Meilinger in the end zone for the only Kentucky score of the game.

Bassitt's kick was good and LSU led 27-7 at the end of the third quarter.

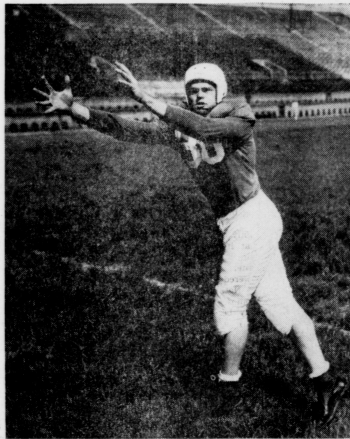

The invaders got their last touchdown on a drive that carried 46 yards. With Rachal leading the assault, LSU moved to the Kentucky 11 from which Gauthreaux cracked over the middle for the day's last scoring. Stringfield kicked his fourth extra point and LSU led 34-7.

The game ended with LSU the victor 34-7, but for a while it seemed as if Kentucky had another touchdown. With one second to go in the ball game, Stringfield tried to rub salt into Kentucky's wounds by attempting a field goal from the Cat 21. The kick was short and to the right. Dick Rushing, a Kentucky defensive man, picked up the ball behind the goal line and proceeded to make his way through the crowd of spectators who were making their way to the exits.

Rushing, with a bewildered LSU player not far behind, made his way to the Bengal goal line 166 yards away. Fans were surprised to see a big "13" go up on the Kentucky side of the scoreboard a few minutes later. However, a meeting with the officials nullified the score because the whistle had blown before Rushing reached his destination.

The final statistics showed LSU with 22 first downs to Kentucky's 14; 244 yards rushing to Kentucky's 198; and 229 yards passing to Kentucky's 112. Stevens completed 14 out of 22 passes for LSU; Shatto clicked on 10 out of 21 for 112 yards.

Harry Jones, stellar UK halfback, was injured early in the first quarter and will be out of action for three or four weeks with a knee injury.

Steve Meilinger

Player of the Week

Steve Meilinger Named For Standout Play

By STAN PORTMANN

A football player is tagged as a "star" when he performs his duties in an eye-catching way on the plays which attract the attention of the average fan. This same player becomes an All-American when he displays an equal ability and the same all-out performance on the less spectacular plays such as blocking assignments.

Such a player is Steve Meilinger. "The Player of the Week," who doesn't say we are winning or losing but, we're playing football, and then proceeds to prove that he is, indeed, playing football!

End Steve Meilinger was tagged for All-American honors while he was on the receiving end of Babe Parilli's passes. With Parilli gone and Meilinger tagged as the man to watch by the opposition, Meilinger just didn't figure to be as outstanding this season.

60 Minute Man
"All" Steve has done this year is snag 10 passes for 178 yards and scored two of Kentucky's five touchdowns. In the Mississippi game he converted to a halfback, threw passes and averaged eight yards a try on four rushes.

Steve has played almost every minute of offensive football and handles all the Wildcat punting chores. Steve's ability to get off the long kicks has been dimmed by a few that haven't travelled, thereby lowering his average, but his kicks have gone 822 yards for an average of 34.3 yards per try.

The real proof of Meilinger's All-American play is his zest for carrying out his less spectacular duties such as blocking, which he does with thorough enthusiasm.

Meilinger became a marked man this season due to his uncanny passing ability. He led the SEC last year in TD tosses caught and ranked 12th among the nation's pass receivers. This year, Steve is usually checked twice on the line and then a couple of halfbacks ride him downfield. In spite of a weak passing attack he has still managed to grab 10 aeriels and score two-fifths of the Kentucky TD's.

He's a Junior
Meilinger, only a Junior from Bethlehem, Pa., is 6 feet 2 inches tall, and a hard runner with exceptional speed despite his 212 pounds. He has the distinction of making All-State in two different states; was the captain of the All-Pennsylvania eleven in 1949 and made the All-Virginia team after transferring from Bethlehem (Pa.) High to Forks Union (Va.) Military Academy. Meilinger is the type of a football player that commands All-American recognition.

Shatto Stars
One of the bright spots in the otherwise drab Saturday afternoon for Wildcat fans, was the passing and running of Freshman Dick Shatto from Springfield, Ohio. Shatto made his first starting appearance as a Wildcat and had many fans wondering if, perhaps, he couldn't fill the shoes of the sadly missed Parilli.

Saturday, Shatto ran the Kentucky offense well and his passing and running constituted the only real threat to the defenses of LSU. He completed nine passes out of 21 attempts for 98 yards and the lone Wildcat TD. Despite being smeared for several losses while attempting to pass, his rushes carried for 42 yards in 14 attempts.

Shatto, who stands 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighs 190, was a sensation on the Springfield (Ohio) Senior High School eleven and was named honorary captain of the 1951 All-State squad. He also lettered in basketball and baseball at Springfield.

He was named the outstanding freshman prospect in the SEC for 1952 in a pressman poll by SEC coaches.

Dick Rushing is to be congratulated on his hero up play with the controversial field goal return. Although it had no effect on the outcome of the game, or the score, such a situation may arise when it could make a difference. The officials were at fault in blowing the ball dead, however, much confusion was the order of the day and the officials' explanation as to why they blew the ball dead on the 39 yard line was not clear.

I-M Touch Football League Enters Second Half Play

Sigma Alpha Epsilon handed the Phi Deltis their first loss of the season by edging them 7-6 Thursday night, Oct. 9. All scoring was done in the second period with PDT drawing first blood. Kittens Play Vandy B-Team Here Saturday

Kentucky's freshman football team will open its season at 8 p.m. Saturday when it entertains a strong Vanderbilt "B" team on Stoll Field. An undermanned group of freshman Wildcats is likely to be thrown into the fray against the polished Vandy squad who already hold an impressive 44-7 victory over the Tennessee "B" team. Kentucky's injury-riddled varsity will call on some of the more talented frosh in their clash with Mississippi State at Starksville, Miss., earlier in the afternoon.

Harvey Hodges, UK ticket sales manager, said that student identification cards would be honored for the game. Admission prices for non-students will be $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children. Two gates will be open on the north side of the stadium and one on the south side to accommodate students, Hodges said. Tickets will be sold only at the ticket windows in Memorial Coliseum.

Sports Sidelights

By TOM EASTERLING

After last week's response by the students in the cheering section, Sully has decided to do away with the card section for the rest of the year. Sully is now formulating plans for a giant pep rally to be held Friday evening before the Homecoming game with Tulane. Plans call for a bonfire and parade. Make your plans now to attend this rally.

The big question of the week is whether the officials at the LSU game knew what was happening on that last play. Herbie "The Finger" Hunt was the first person to talk to the officials about Dick Rushing's 108 yard punt return. Herbie contacted the official as soon as the play was over and asked him if the run would count. The official was only interested in getting the game ball for the LSU captain. Hunt said the official told him the ball was dead when it hit the ground in the end zone. Later, in their hotel room, the four officials got together and gave four other vague reasons as to why the run didn't count. The one they finally agreed upon was that the ball was blown dead on the Kentucky 30 yard line when one of the LSU players waved his hand at Rushing, thus stopping the forward progress of the ball.

For those who can't make the trip to the Mississippi State game there will be a B-team game with the Vanderbilt B-team on Stoll Field Saturday night. Some of the top prospects will see action in this game, so in order to get a look at some of UK's future varsity performers, get out to Stoll Field Saturday night.

Coach Scott Breckinridge has called a meeting for all prospective fencers for four o'clock Monday afternoon in Room 128 of the Student Union Building. This year, as in the past, Coach Breckinridge will build his team from students who have had no fencing experience. Only four lettermen are returning from last year's squad, so that leaves plenty of positions open for the new prospects.

Jay Wallace, one of Kentucky's top trackmen, passes on this bit of advice for the homecoming pep rally and Tulane game, "If you can't yell, bring a bell." A very good suggestion, Jay.

The Wildcat football team leaves the Coliseum for the Mississippi State game at 10:30 this morning. If you don't have a class the third hour, show up at the Coliseum and give the boys a good send-off. The team is expected to return to Lexington Saturday night about 8:30.

Hagan, Ramsey To Lead Cats Are Selected

Kentucky's basketball Wildcats, with two newly appointed team captains leading the way, began preparations for their 49th case season Wednesday afternoon.

Coach Adolph Rupp announced shortly before the practice session began that he had named seniors Cliff Hagan and Frank Ramsey to serve as team captains in alternate games during the coming hardwood campaign.

Coach Rupp spoke highly of both performers but stated that if either one were elected captain it would be an injustice to the other.

Fifteen candidates answered Coach Rupp's call to practice. Notably absent was Len Tsoropoulos, senior forward-center, who may be sidelined for two weeks with a groin injury.

The Wildcats will have the services of a near-veteran lineup with four men returning who were starters at season's end in their unsuccessful bid for a fourth NCAA crown.

The quartet—all-America center Cliff Hagan, guard Frank Ramsey, forward-guard Bill Evans, and Tsoropoulos—are expected to form four-fifths of the starting lineup that will face a 21-game schedule.

Leading candidate for the fifth spot will be Gayle Rose, junior guard, who lettered as a reserve last season. Another junior, Willie Rouse, also is rated in the race along with junior forward Gene Neff.

Twelve of the 16 varsity candidates who went through light shoot-outs and passing drills in the opening practice session are native Kentuckians and only three are seniors—Hagan, Ramsey, and Tsoropoulos.

Charles Hadden, 19, 5'11", 175 lbs., Lexington; Cliff Hagan, 22, 6'4", 200 lbs., Owensboro; Walt Kenney, 20, 6'2", 180 lbs., Paris; Gene Neff, 20, 6'2", 185 lbs., Eaton, Ohio; Houston Nutt, 19, 6'1", 185 lbs., Fortyrce, Ark.; Frank Ramsey, 21, 5'9", 185 lbs., Madisonville; Gayle Rose, 20, 6, 155 lbs., Paris; Willie Rouse, 20, 6, 160 lbs., Lexington; and Len Tsoropoulos, 22, 6'5", 200 lbs., Lynn, Mass.

Members of the team are: E. G. Adams, Jack D. Butler, Marion K. Hayden, Thurman R. Hopkins, Jack Millikan, Thomas H. Streeter, and Joe T. Turpin.

Dr. Robert Long will be the team's coach.

Last weekend the team participated in a practice judging contest at Michigan State College.

The team makes their trips in the new station wagon presented to the Animal Husbandry Department recently by Mr. V. V. Cook of Louisville.

Injury Riddled Wildcat Grid Team Faces Mississippi State Tomorrow

Smith And Gruner Turn In Uniforms After LSU Game

It will be an injury-ridden Kentucky squad which will meet Mississippi State tomorrow afternoon in Starksville.

For the Wildcats, the order of dress will be bandages for thirteen men. These men are doubtful starters and doubtful participants. Leading this parade of disabled will be Harry Jones, injured in last week's game with L.S.U. Jones may be out for the next two or three weeks.

Accompanying Jones on the sidelines with injuries will be Tom Pillion, and Allen Peleh. Optimism is one word that won't be found in Coach Bryant's vocabulary this week, yet he won't concede an inch or a point to the strong Maroon squad.

The big threat facing the Wildcats tomorrow will be the States' ace fullback Joe Fortunato. Fortunato has been switched from defense to offense this year and has been a power house where yardage was needed. In three games this year, the big back has amassed 314 yards, 165 of those coming last week in the 14-0 decision over a strong North Texas State eleven. In that game, Fortunato's 165 yards stacked up well with the 395 completed by the entire squad.

Aiding in the backfield will be State's triple threat quarterback, Jack Parker. Parker has improved with each game this year and should be ready to roll tomorrow.

In comparing the records of the two teams this year, the Maroons have won two games and lost one, a close decision to the powerful Tennessee Volunteers. State held Tennessee to a 7-7 tie until late in the last quarter when the Vols pushed over a desperation score and won 14-7. The wins have come at the hands of Arkansas State in a 41-14 rout, and last week, a 14-0 win over a strong defensive North Texas State.

Incentive needed for State in the game tomorrow will be at a minimum after Kentucky's 27-0 rout last year in Lexington. The game will also be Homecoming and the last home game this year.

The last time the Maroons defeated a Wildcat squad, was in 1944 when an All-Time great, Shorty McWilliams, put on a one man scoring rampage in a 26-0 win over Kentucky.

This will be the seventh meeting for the two teams with the Wildcats holding a 4-3 advantage in the series and State will be out to even up that series tomorrow.

Four freshmen who will, in all probability, be seeing lots of action tomorrow, in order to bolster the ailing Cat squad, are: Arvon Bivin, a guard moved up to the varsity; Bill Wheeler, who has been transferred to tackle, Bradley Mills and Howard Schellenberger, both defensive ends.

The Cats go into the game with a 1-2-1 record and will be trying to even the won-lost record in a game which might be the turning point in the season.

The squad will leave at 10:30 this morning by chartered plane and will have immediately after the game to return to Lexington at 8:30 Saturday night in order to see some of the Freshman game with Vanderbilt.

Added to the growing list of men who won't see action tomorrow on the rest of the season are Calvin Smith and Harold "Bunky" Gruner. Smith turned in their uniforms this past week.

Smith reported that the injury he received in the Vallenova game is still giving him trouble and that he feared it might be further aggravated if he continued to play.

Smith is six foot, one inch, 227 pound junior from Barbourville, Kentucky. He lettered last year for his stalwart and reliable relief performance and was counted on as a starter until he was hurt.

Gruner was dropped from the squad after a dispute with Coach Bryant. Allen who was standing in for Coach Bryant during his stay in the hospital with appendicitis.

Gruner came to Kentucky with a great high school record at Louisville Manual where he was All-State two years and captained the second as a result of receiving the most ballots. He was also named to the All-Southeastern team in his senior year. He has been referred to as one of the all-time greats from Louisville high school circles.

LOSE, THROAT, and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes. A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields - 10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group had smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each. At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat. The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
