THIRTY KITTENS RESPOND TO CALL

First Game Will Be Played With Georgetown December 16.

KATIE HENRY, CAPT.

Captain Katie Henry, of the Kittens, of the University announced yesterday that the prospects this year are brilliant for the basketeers as thirty girls responded to the first call for practice Monday.

The first game to be played this season will be with Georgetown which will be played here on the Gymnasium floor, Thursday night, December 16. At least half of the games scheduled for the season will be played on the local floor and the out of town games will include a trip to Tennessee when three contests will be staged.

There is so much good material out this year that it is possible that more than one team will be developed and inter-team contests be played during the season. Girls who reported for practice in addition to those already named are: Booth, West, Morris, McNamara, Fleischaker, Starr, Norman, Wilson, Black, Hanley, Jameson, Moses, Piper, Richardson, Morgan, Lovett, Craven, Long, Barber, Hieatt, Thorpe, Moore and Davidson.

STUDENT "Y" LEADERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

All Kentucky Colleges Represented at Conference in Berea.

Discussions of forces which hinder or help the work of the Y. M. C. A. on the college campus and the relation of the college to the inter-racial question, were the principal topics before the student Y. M. C. A. conference at Berea last week, attended by 180 delegates from virtually every college in Kentucky.

Prominent men who addressed the conference on Y. M. C. A. subjects were: Dr. E. M. Poteat, former president of Furman College; Dr. J. L. Kesler, Vanderbilt; President Hutchins, Berea; Fay Campbell, Yale and H. C. Gossard, Southern student secretary. The talks dealt with cabinet meetings, religious education, programs, life guidance, campus service, evangelism and finance.

Owens, Bart Peak, Watson, Raible, Server, Linkenber, Albright, Davis, Prewitt, Pirtle, Lisman, Perkinson, Baumgarten, Neff, Porter, Williams, Prather, Delaney, Heath P. W. Gregory, Geo. Four Leghorns, five Wyandottes and an Acona and an educational exhibit will represent the Poultry Department of the University at the Ohio Valley Fanciers' Show held in Louisville this week.

The ten birds from the Experiment Station will be entered in the open classes and compete with brothers and sisters from this and surrounding states. The Leghorns are two hens, one pullet and a cock, the Wyandottes are one cock, two cockrels and two pullets, and the Acona entry a cock.

A. S. Chapin, poultry extension specialist of the University, will be assistant superintendent of the show. J. H. Bardsley, also of the extension division, will have charge of the University exhibit.

STUDENTS FROM 24 STATES REPRESENTED

In Registration Statistics Given Out by Professor Gillis

Reports that a large percentage of the student body of the University this year was composed of students from other states and foreign countries were denied in a statement issued by Registrar Ezra L. Gillis. He declared that of the approximately 1,300 students only seventy-four have been registered from outside of Kentucky.

Figures given out by the registrar show that twenty-four States, including Kentucky, and two foreign countries—Russia and Australia, with one student each—are represented in the student body. One hundred and seven Kentucky counties have representation, no students being recorded from Adair, Allen, Clinton, Greenup, Jackson, Leslie, Lyon, Martin, Metcalf, Monroe, Owsley, Powell and Rowan counties.

The number of students from other states in the University this year, the books of the registrar show, are: Indiana, twelve; Ohio, twelve; Tennessee, five; Oklahoma, four; Virginia, four; Florida, four; North Carolina, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Texas and Georgia, three each; Alabama, California, Illinois and West Virginia, two each; and Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Mississippi and Washington one each.

L. SANDMAN SENDS STROLLER HISTORY

Leo J. Sandman, Louisville, who is remembered here for his prominence in student activities and Stroller fame, has sent the Strollers an interesting, chatty account of the history of the organization from 1911, the year of its beginning, to 1915, when the successful "Charley's Aunt" was presented. He has been among the first of the Stroller alumni to respond to the call for information and facts of the society's history. Mr. Sandman includes the programs of past plays with his article.

THOMPSON OVERLOOKED

Because of the modesty of a certain "Fats" Thompson, he was overlooked by the young reporter who wrote the story in a recent Kernel of the football stars who are leaving school at the end of this year. Thompson has been here four years, having made his coveted letter three of the four seasons in which he engaged in the sport of the gridiron.

The Numerals Are Off

Woman is not the greatest attraction on the campus after all. A number of Freshmen spent Saturday afternoon sandpapering the fountain, cannon and various buildings in preference to a Cadet Hop and it's fair "toddlers." The Sandpaper Social was given by members of the Senior class and only a select number of Freshmen were asked to attend. There were only six of those invited who did not attend. The results of the "Social" were very gratifying except for the absence of the unappreciative six. It is understood that a special entertainment was given Monday evening in honor of the six who were unable to attend on Saturday. The casualty list has not been made public. The numerals are off.

NEW BOOK WRITTEN BY PROFESSOR LELAND

"Taxation in Kentucky" is Study of Tax Reforms in This State.

JUST PUBLISHED

"Taxation in Kentucky," a new book written by Simeon E. Leland, assistant professor of Economics at the University of Kentucky, has just been published. This book is a study of taxation and tax reforms in Kentucky.

Besides dealing with taxation and tax reform, the author in this book, traces the evolution of the best centralized administrative system of the State. A model type of administrative organization is presented, which, if adopted would increase the efficiency of the Kentucky tax system in its administrative phases and would be in the interest of governmental economy. In addition to the general treatment of the tax system of the State and the subject of tax reform, special topical discussions are presented dealing with the more important problems of taxation and public finance with which the State will have to deal. These include discussions of the defective general property tax, the inheritance tax, the state income tax, and the relationship between State and Federal taxation. In addition to the special treatment of many topics, the book contains 33 tables, 2 charts, and 5 diagrams clarifying the discussions. It is the purpose of the book to present the more important tax problems of the State of Kentucky and to suggest the remedies therefor.

This book which is quite thorough and comprehensive in its study should be of great interest and value not only to all authorities on taxation, but to all who are interested in the subject. The book is to be sent out through the Extension Department of the University of Kentucky, from which copies may be obtained for a nominal sum.

NO KERNEL NEXT WEEK

Following its annual custom of not appearing the week before Christmas, there will be no Kernel published next week.

MEET SANTA CLAUS AT PATT HALL SUNDAY

If you happen to be near Patterson Hall at 6:30 next Sunday evening you may hear the sleigh bells and perhaps will catch a glimpse of Santa Claus himself, for it has been rumored that the jolly old gentleman who wears the wellknown red suit trimmed in white fur will bring cheer and gladness to the joint meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday, December 12.

Miss Simrall has promised to tell some Christmas stories that will surely bring a happy holiday thrill to all of her listeners. A Christmas tree, decorations and the candle-light room will all help to make you really believe that the holidays are fast approaching. The choir will give some special Christmas music and the chairman of the program committee has been giving hints of a delightful surprise. A social hour and "Christmasy" refreshments will follow the program.

Y. M. C. A. FINANCIAL DRIVE ENDS TODAY

Watson, Server and Prewitt Lead Blue and White Teams.

The annual financial campaign of the Y. M. C. A. started Tuesday, October 7. It had developed into a live contest between the White's headed by Burton Prewitt, and the Blue's, lead by James Server. Both teams are striving to make their side present the best showing at the close of the campaign today.

The latest report showed the White in the lead by less than one hundred dollars. The White's pledges amounted to $256; the Blue's $165. This $421 total is about a third of the amount which the Y. M. C. A. hopes to raise from the students for the work on the campus this year. The men working in this campaign met at a supper at the First Methodist church, Monday evening. After short speeches by Prof. O. S. Groner, of Transylvania, Dr. C. A. Shull, Prof. P. E. Karraker, General Watson, Colonel Prewitt and Colonel Server, the teams began work in earnest for the funds that makes it possible for the Association to promote its program during the coming year.

When you are asked to sign a card don't forget to add something on the "For Missions" line.

BASKETEER SQUAD IS CUT TO FOUR TEAMS

Coach Ruchheit has started cutting the squad of the Wildcat basketeers in order that the most promising material might be better developed. He has cut the prospects down to a squad of four teams. A number of the rejected men will go out for the gym class and fraternity teams and by next year they will be much more promising as players.

The football men reported for practice Monday afternoon. Among them was Fest, who starred on the team at Marietta two years ago. A holiday will be given the men at Christmas time but they will return early in order to be in first class condition for the game with Kentucky Wesleyan here, January 12.

EX-SERVICE MEN FILE DISCHARGES

Ex-service men desiring remission of their registration fee for the second semester should file their discharges with the Registrar at once. Don't fail to do this before you go home for the holidays as it will be too late when you return January 4.

"ADMIRABLE CRICHTON" TO BE STROLLER PLAY

Show May Be Taken to Surrounding Towns; Sixteen Parts.

EVANS IS MANAGER

"The Stroller play has been chosen!" How many Strollers have thrilled at the news imparted breathlessly from member to member, until the news was campus wide? The society met Tuesday afternoon and approved the selection of the 1920 production.

"The Admirable Crichton" considered the most dramatic of all Barrie plays and one of his most popular, was decided upon after careful consideration by the committee. The cast includes eight men and eight women, and has a male lead, that of Bill Crichton, the admirable butler whose ideas of social equality seem delightfully contrary to an American audience. Lady Mary, his eighteen year old mistress, pretty, spoiled and lazy, is the leading role for ambitious co-ed Strollers to work for.

Several copies of the play have been placed on the reserved shelf of the Library. Tryouts will begin after the holidays.

Herndon Evans, stage manager, announced that the play may be taken on the road. Kentucky alumni in Pineville have guaranteed a house if it is taken there. All members of the organization are urged to try for a part, in order that the play of 1920 may satisfy the standards of other Stroller achievements.

Committees to re-draft the Constitution and to compile the history of the Strollers, were appointed.

CADET HOP.

We are not anxious to start an argument or anything, but we would be interested in the mental process which leads to the conclusion that Cadet Hops are better off without the presence of ex-service men and upper classmen.

Ex-service men are excused from military science because they went through the mill during the war. Should they be "excused" from Cadet Hops for the same reason?

It is argued that the attendance of these men and upper classmen creates a crowded condition in the Armory. We do not believe that an experiment will bear out this contention.

THE PROBLEM OF ATHLETICS

The demand for winning teams at the University is growing insistent. Graduates, former students, faculty and undergraduates seem anxious that the Blue and White be represented by champion teams and a spirit of co-operation is beginning to be manifest that may bring a new strength. This strength will come with the sending in of better material in the way of new students, in which the University will have to compete with the strongest institutions of the South. There are advantages offered here not found elsewhere in the South. The need is for sons and daughters of Old Kentucky who will make this known and boost their Alma Mater in the dark days as in the happy ones.

Plans are being discussed in alumni clubs throughout the country and by friends of the University whereby greater successes may become possible. From everywhere come declarations of pride in the stand taken by the Athletic Council and the coaches for clean athletics. Paid football teams are threatening the very life of that sport. It is a happy situation that the Blue and White is untouched by such stigma, and that it may be a pioneer in the lifting of athletics to the highest plane. United, the alumni and former students can be of great assistance. The means is now being sought.

Mrs. R. C. (Ollie Crutckshank) Wilson, secretary of the class of '11, writes that the class of 1911 has always been keenly interested in the University. Everyone remembers our enthusiastic members and the names of Dick Webb, Irish, Johnny, Butch, Dope and others are almost immortal to us. Our class has made good in every line. All the girls, except one, are married.

William A. Johns, '17, vice president of Evansville College, in a letter to the Alumni Secretary has expressed his pleasure at the progressive work that is being done by the Association.

HEALTH TALKS

By Dr. P. K. Holmes.

One of the many advances in the marked progress of scientific medicine and surgery during the past decade is the discovery and study of the focal infections. Infection is the invasion of the body by microorganisms which produce and grow in the body and produce reactions within the tissues, giving rise to abnormal phenomena which are termed symptoms or signs. Such an invasion is often localized at one or more points for a variable length of time, giving rise to those known symptoms and signs typical of that disease. Experience however, has shown throughout years of careful investigation and study of compiled statistics that most of these localized infections finally invade the blood stream, are carried throughout the body and a general infection is started.

These foci are numerous but among the young adults of university age the most common are the teeth and tonsils. It is shown that the tonsil has a useful function in the early years of life but later becomes easily infected by one or more types of the bacteria causing the acute diseases. Such bacteria are everywhere and easily gain access to the mouth by inhalation of dust in cars, theatres, etc., or droplet infection from a sneeze or cough of an infected person.

The inflamed or diseased tonsil is common and because of its abnormal condition affords an ideal lodging place for such bacteria and thus a focus is started. The length of time before the infection becomes general varies with the individual, but once started it is often too late; the damage done is serious and cannot be undone. The more common general manifestations include heart and kidney disease, acute rheumatism, intestinal and lung affections. With the exception of acute rheumatic fever, these diseases very often do not appear until years later or even middle life. Therefore, it is easy for one who does not understand, to postpone removal of the infected tonsil until time and money permit, thus disregarding the economical principle and weighing future disability and unhappiness against the present short inconvenience and slight expense.

The absorption into the blood of poisons from the diseased tonsils causes many symptoms, common among which are general debility, feeling of tiredness, headaches, back aches, aching muscles, sore joints, nerve pains, loss of weight, loss of appetite, eye and ear disturbances, sore throats and frequent colds.

A person with a past history of tonsillitis could well bear in mind the old saying about "a stitch in time."

REMEMBERED THE DISCRIMINATING TASTE OF THE COLLEGE

STUDENT IN CARRYING WHITMAN'S.

In Selecting a University—

For a college education, there are five things to be taken into consideration:

1. The men at the head of the Institution.
2. The scholastic standing and ability of the Teaching Staff.
3. The location and advantages of environment.
4. Equipment, buildings, laboratories and libraries.
5. Cost.

In all these respects the University of Kentucky commends itself to those seeking a higher institution in which to carry on their education.

All Departments, including Liberal Arts, Sciences, Agriculture, Law, Education, Mining, Civil, Electrical and Mechanical Engineering.

The Government needs trained men and women; college training will bring the result.
