LSO VALENTINE'S BAKE SALE

LSO's annual Valentine's Day Bake sale will be held Tuesday, February 14, on the third floor of King North in the staff lounge beginning at 9:30 a.m. There will be a variety of baked goods for sale at reasonable prices as well as coffee and tea. During the bake sale a fancy cake will be raffled. Mary Geyer will be sending a sign-up sheet to each King department and to the branch libraries asking for volunteers to make the baked goods.

People wishing to join LSO or to renew their membership will be able to do so during the bake sale. Dues are $5 per year.

GUATEMALAN WOMEN'S EXHIBIT IN GALLERY

Granddaughters of Corn: Guatemalan Women and Repression, an exhibition of photographs by Marilyn Anderson and Jonathan Garlock, will be on display in the Peal Gallery, King Library North, March 2-22, 1989. The exhibit focuses on the consequences of the repressive rule of the Guatemalan military regimes on the everyday lives of women. It combines large portraits of Guatemalan women with panels detailing the names and circumstances of hundreds of disappeared women. The photographs have also been published in a book by the same title by Curbstone Press in 1988.

Peal Gallery hours are 8-4:30 Monday-Friday; 8-12 noon on Saturday, March 4, and 2-5 p.m. on Sunday, March 5. The exhibit is jointly sponsored by the University of Kentucky Libraries and the Women Writers Conference and is free and open to the public. The 1989 Women Writers Conference will feature Latin American writers. For more information, please call Kate Black in Special Collections at 7-8634.

ABOVE AND BEYOND

UK' Development Council recently received the following letter from Raymond F. Davis of Lexington and Ft. Lauderdale, FL, a 1939 alumnus of the University of Kentucky:

Attached is a gift for the UK library -- I prefer that it be applied there because I enjoy so much using those facilities during the summer-fall while we are in our home there -- especially the North Wing. The personnel in that area are so accommodating -- so attentive to the needs of others...

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

GRADUATE STUDENT CONFERENCE AT NEWBERRY LIBRARY

The Center for Renaissance Studies at the Newberry Library in Chicago is planning its sixth Graduate Student Conference for June 16-17, 1989. The conference is interdisciplinary in scope and papers are invited in any area of medieval or Renaissance studies from graduate students in consortium universities. The deadline for abstracts is March 15, 1989; they should be sent to The Center for Renaissance Studies, The Newberry Library, 60 West Walton Street, Chicago, IL 60610.

NEH INSTITUTES FOR FACULTY

The National Endowment for the Humanities has announced its 1989 Institutes for college and university faculty. The institutes provide opportunities for intensive study of texts, historical periods, ideas, and issues central to undergraduate teaching in the humanities. This year's institutes include, among others, cover early American history, Buddhist thought, the French Revolution, literary translation, Joseph Haydn, the Southern novel, Ottoman history, and the visual arts.

The institutes are sponsored by colleges, universities, libraries, museums, or professional organizations and normally last four to eight weeks. Applicants should apply directly to the institutes. Participants selected receive stipends to cover travel, room and board.

Complete information is available in the Green Bean office, 204 King South.
