CKJF/CRC EXHIBIT TO OPEN AT LEXINGTON PUBLIC LIBRARY

The CKJF/CRC exhibit, Jewish Life In Central Kentucky: Shalom Y'All, opens December 10, 1989, at the Lexington Public Library, 140 E. Main Street, 2nd floor, with a program by Dr. Lee Shai Weissbach of the University of Louisville. His presentation, located in the Central Library Theatre at 2 p.m., will focus on the history of the Jewish community in Central Kentucky. A reception will be held after the program outside Conference Room A on the lower level.

The Jewish community is an active participant in Central Kentucky. This multi-panel exhibit illustrates the ways in which Jews have maintained and enriched their own cultural and religious lives while contributing to the growth and prosperity of Central Kentucky. The exhibit will be on display from December 10, 1989 through January 5, 1990.

The exhibit and program are made possible through the auspices of the Central Kentucky Jewish Federation, the Kentucky Humanities Council and the Lexington Public Library.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE: CAMPAIGN AT A GLANCE

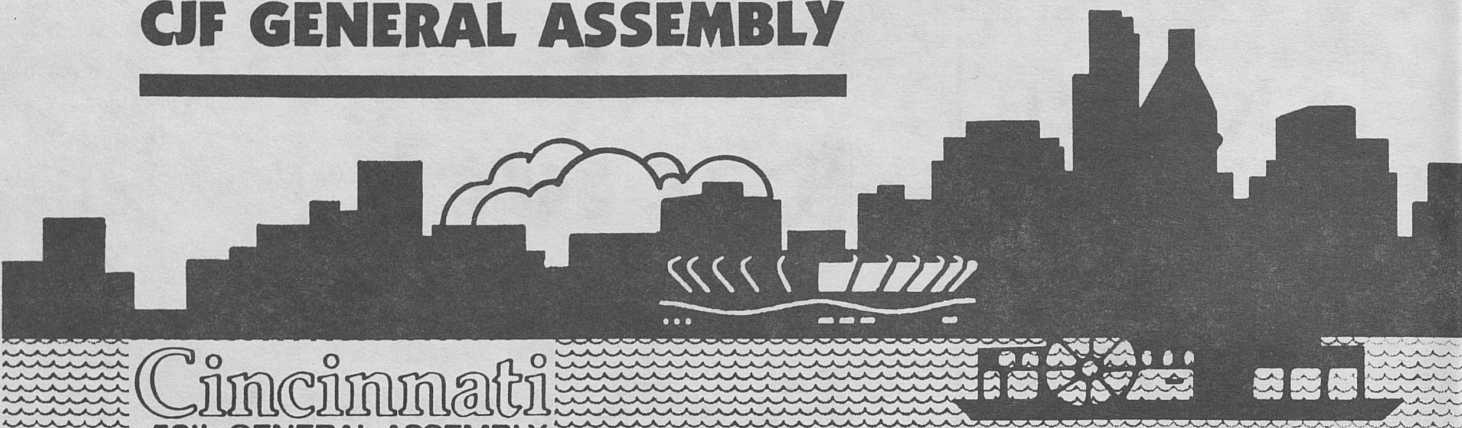

Among the purposes of CKJF in its Constitution is "to provide financial assistance and moral support to the State of Israel, Jewish people in all countries and selected charities." Most of our funds go to the United Jewish Appeal to fund social, welfare and educational projects in Israel and to aid needy Jews around the world. In addition, this year $25,291.80 has been given to 44 selected charities which are listed inside this bulletin.

Requests were received from many others. After careful consideration these 44 were recommended by the Allocations Committee chaired by Bob Baumann and approved by the CKJF board. The charities selected demonstrate our community's commitment to Jewish life and values.

Also, CKJF has responded with special donations to the Jewish Community in Charleston stricken by Hurricane Hugo and to Eastern Kentuckians stricken by floods. We can be proud.

Chairing the 1990 CKJF-UJA Campaign is Ellie Goldman; Women's Division chair and co-chair are Cheri Rose and Marilyn Gall; Men's Division chairs are Steve Caller, Art Salomon, and Alan Stein; Super Sunday chairs are Nancy Hoffman and Judy Levine; Israel Bonds chair is Charles Stern; Project Renewal chair is David Kaplan.

Zionism-New Directions
Your Role in Your Community

November 14-15, 1989
Hebrew Union College
Cincinnati, Ohio

In association with the General Assembly of the Council of Jewish Federations, a special conference will focus on Zionist activism in local communities. Top speakers will address conferees on the goals of the Zionist movement, the current situation in the Middle East, and Soviet Jewry.

Registration fee including lunch and dinner on November 14 and all materials is $50 per person.

For more information contact CKJF (252-7622).

WE NEED YOU!

CKJF is looking for a volunteer to edit the CKJF Bulletin. The Bulletin is published nine times a year; monthly during the school year and once during the summer. The editor is expected to write and edit articles and to proof the final copy. The CKJF office provides all information and takes care of typing and production. The duties of the editor take approximately five hours per issue.

Experience is not necessary, but the editor should be dependable and should be attentive to spelling and grammar. Please call Linda Ravvin at the CKJF office (252-7622) if you are interested in this position.

AND YOU!

The Central Kentucky Jewish Federation is looking for volunteers who would be willing to give some of their time to help out the office in various capacities on weekday mornings. We especially need people to assist with preparation of flyers, bulletins, etc., for mailing. NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY, WE WILL TRAIN!

If you can help out, please call the office (252-7622).

ISRAEL EXPERIENCE=JEWISH BONDING

EDITOR'S NOTE: Laurie Clewett, recipient of an Israel Scholarship from CKJF, wrote the following article detailing her recent experiences in Israel.

I have been active in Lexington's Jewish community since I was in the first grade, when my parents joined Temple Adath Israel. From that time until last year, I attended TAI Sunday School. My religious training at the Temple also included three years of Hebrew School and one year of preparation for my Bat Mitzvah, which I had under the guidance of Rabbi Leffler. I became involved in the Lexington Temple Youth Group (LEXTY) in my eighth grade year, and in ninth and tenth grades held the LEXTY offices of Membership Chairperson and Religious Vice President. Through LEXTY, I became involved in OVFTY (Ohio Valley Federation of Temple Youth), and have attended several of its conventions over the last two years.

During the summers of 1987 and 1988, I held the positions of Counselor in Training and Junior Counselor at CKJF's Jewish day camp - Camp Shalom.

Through this involvement in Lexington's Jewish community, I feel that I've built a basis for a strong Jewish identity, which has been confirmed and strengthened by my trip to Israel this summer.

This summer, with the help of CKJF, Temple Adath Israel, and Rabbi Jon Adland, I spent six of the most influential weeks of my life experiencing the wonders of Israel with forty other Jewish teenagers from around the country. Our group leaders discouraged us from using the word "tour" to describe our trip, since "touring" could not possibly encompass the intensity, emotions, and changes that most of us experienced throughout the weeks.

Each morning we would pile on to our bus and head to our first destination, where we would invariably be amazed by what we had done or seen there. Still recovering from the impact of that activity, we would continue the day with at least two or three more "once in a lifetime" experiences. Our trip focused largely on Israel's amazingly beautiful and diverse nature and geography, and included a combination of activities which could be offered no where else in the world.

Seeing history and the making of history in Jerusalem's Old and New Cities...praying with Jews of all nationalities and all types of Judaism at the Wailing Wall...sleeping on a beach by the Dead Sea...waking up at 3:00 a.m. to climb Masada's "snakepath" in order to be at the top by sunrise...standing in the midst of crashing waterfalls...hiking over rugged mountains and through shoulder-high water...crawling and climbing through caves, grottos, and chasms...singing "Hatikvah" in a stadium filled with fifty thousand other Jews from all over the world at the 1989 Maccabiah Games Opening Ceremonies...camping in the Negev Desert...playing on sand dunes...riding camels...learning about Bedouin, Nomad, and Druze...contributing to the rejuvenation of the worn, ancient land by planting trees with our own hands...these are only a few of the wonders we experienced.

Naturally, many of my views about Israel and Judaism changed as a result of this trip. I now have a much greater understanding of the importance of security. I now realize how new and fragile this unique state is, and that Israel must continually struggle to survive. Most importantly, my Jewish identity is much stronger. I now feel a strong, invisible bond that connects me to Jews all over the world and throughout history.

Pre-school Hanukkah Party
Sunday, December 17
3:30 - 5:00 p.m.
Temple Adath Israel

The party will take place in the Temple Adath Israel auditorium for all children ages two and a half through five. All parents are welcome; parents of children under three years old must accompany their children.

Each child is asked to bring a gift of value not to exceed $3 with his/her name on it. The fun filled afternoon will include games, crafts, and refreshments.

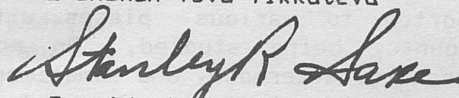

Pre-school holiday parties are sponsored by CKJF in cooperation with Ohavay Zion Synagogue and Temple Adath Israel. The parties are another ongoing project made possible by your support of the annual CKJF-UJA campaign. Pre-school holiday parties are being chaired this year by Sandy Adland, Elise Mandel, and Kathy Grossman as a sub-committee of CKJF Community Activities Committee. Watch your CKJF bulletin for information regarding upcoming pre-school holiday parties.

OOPS!

Editor's Note: The following Rosh Hashanah greeting was inadvertently omitted from the September bulletin.

YOUNG JUDAEA FOR YOUTH

Through its youth movement, Young Judaea/Hashachar with its summer camps, year-round clubs, leadership training seminars and Israel programs, Hadassah offers young people a varied program of Jewish identity within a Zionist framework. A peer-led movement, it has 8,000 members: Young Judaea, now in its 80th year, for boys and girls nine through high school; Hamagshimim (The Fulfillers) whose members are college age through 27 provide Zionist centers on college campuses and aliyah support groups. Members receive magazines appropriate to their age levels. Camp Tel Yehudah, the national senior leadership camp and five regional Young Judaea camps are summer extensions.

Locally, there are three active clubs: Bogrim (8th-12th grade), Tsufim (5th-7th grade), and Ofarim (3rd-4th grade). These groups each have about two meetings a month. In addition to local meetings, Young Judaeans can attend weekend conventions with other clubs from Kentucky, Ohio, and Michigan. The next convention will be held December 1-3, for all three age groups. For more information contact Sandy Mason (277-2593), Naomi Baer (277-3072) or Karen Bogatz (268-8104).

APPME STUDY MISSION

During the past 20 years American Professors for Peace in the Middle East has sponsored over 40 Study Missions to countries in the Middle East. More than 500 academicians have taken part in this program.

This is truly a Study Mission, not a sight-seeing tour although, in the course of the Mission, participants are transported to various places within the country being studied. On most days, morning, afternoon, and sometimes, evening briefing sessions are scheduled. Discussion meetings are arranged with leading academicians, high-level government officials, top echelon military personnel, and representatives from a wide variety of political entities.

Requirements for eligibility to participate in a Study Mission are membership in APPME and a desire to intensify one's knowledge and involvement in the Israel Arab issue. Preference will be given to those who have never been to Israel.

The next Mission will depart from JFK Airport, Monday, December 18, 1989, and will return Monday, January 1, 1990. The cost will be $2,000. (This amount may vary due to possible changes in air fare.)

For further information contact Alvin Goldman (269-6049).

WHERE THE MONEY WENT

The two graphs on the reverse side show "Where the Money Went." Figures represent collections and subsequent expenditures during 1988.

The first graph, 1988 Campaign Collections, shows the designated areas into which collections fall. Campaign expenses come from each area of campaign. Approximately 3.4% of all collections went back into the process of raising money.

The 1988 campaign was conducted under the expert leadership of Simone Salomon. Men's Campaign for that year was led by Steve Caller; Women's Campaign by Ellie Goldman, Cheri Rose, and Marilyn Gall; Super Sunday by Judy Baumann and Mark Wides; Israel Bonds Campaign by Charles Stern; and the Project Renewal Campaign by David Kaplan.

A full report of the 1989 CKJF-UJA Campaign will be released in the spring of 1990. The 1989 chairs are hard at work completing the solicitations for this campaign year and, indeed, the 1990 campaign has already begun with a Women's Division Board Meeting and solicitation a few weeks ago. The CKJF Board will be solicited at the November Board Meeting.

In addition to the money collected and disbursed by CKJF for campaign, UJA and local programs, we have other assets which remain as "reserve funds".

These are listed as follows as of December 31, 1988:

Bonds:

Ampal-American Israel Corporation	$ 4,800
City of Louisville	6,530
State of Israel	49,712
Joseph Wolf Endowment	16,372
Rosenberg Endowment Fund	12,949
Catastrophic Needs Fund	15,060

The second graph, 1988 Disbursements of Funds Collected (After Campaign Expenses), shows how funds collected in 1988, minus campaign expenses, were allocated.

The money going to United Jewish Appeal consists of 70 percent of the General Campaign, Project Renewal and Israel Only money. UJA in turn uses these funds to support the non-military needs of Israel and the needs of Jews throughout the world.

Money retained by Central Kentucky Jewish Federation is used within our local community for programs maintained by the Executive Committee, Community Relations Committee, Social Services Committee, Community Activities Committee, and Budget and Allocations Committee. In addition a major portion is disbursed by CKJF to other charities as listed below:

UJA at a Glance

What is the UJA/Federation Campaign?

Our annual United Jewish Appeal/Federation Campaign, comprised of 639 local and non-federated American Jewish communities which raise funds in partnership with the national United Jewish Appeal, is the primary fund-raising instrument for the support of humanitarian programs and social services for Jews in the United States, in Israel and in 33 other countries. Through our UJA/Federation Campaign, we strengthen our own community and work to establish a secure and vital future for Jewish life worldwide.

And Supports

United Israel Appeal, Inc./ Jewish Agency

The United Israel Appeal, Inc., the principal beneficiary agency of the United Jewish Appeal, channels assistance to the people of Israel from American Jewry through its operating agent, the Jewish Agency for Israel. UIA has provided funds for housing, immigration, absorption, rural settlement, education, youth care, and other social and humanitarian services.

The American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, Inc. (JDC)

Including ORT

Strengthens local Jewish communities by helping those in need through a wide range of health, rehabilitation, education and cultural services in Israel and 33 countries around the world. These include Jewish education for youngsters in Morocco, Tunisia and Syria; food parcels in Romania; clothing and meals in Hungary; medical supplies in Poland, and an extensive network of community centers and special programs for children and the aged in Israel.

Meet your global Jewish family.

You have a cousin in Zagreb.

Your contribution to the UJA/Federation Campaign helps make possible kosher meals, winter clothing, summer camps, homes for the elderly and much more for Jews of all ages in Eastern Europe.

You have family in Jerusalem.

They're among the 600,000 Israelis reached by your gift and others, helping all the generations — newcomers to Israel, kibbutzniks, Project Renewal families, disadvantaged teenagers and the elderly.

You have an uncle in Leningrad.

He has opportunities he never had before. We're providing the essentials for living a Jewish life in the Soviet Union. And if he leaves Russia, our Passage to Freedom Campaign will help him start a new life.

You have a grandmother nearby.

And, thanks to your local Jewish federation, she's treated like family at the Jewish medical center. The rest of the family benefits, too, with child care, job training and Jewish education.
