Book Hogs

A professor mentioned to one of his classes the other day that a student had "borrowed" a much-sought-after book from the library and kept it for the entire quarter.

While at the main desk of the library this week I saw a girl start to return such a book but then, upon finding that someone else had it on reserve and that she could not take it back out herself, snatched it back out of the librarian's hands saying that she'd keep it and pay the fine when she was ready to turn it in.

When there are only a few copies of a book and 50 or 60 students are expected to share them, it's the duty of each individual to see that the copy is returned to the University library when it is due.

It isn't fair to a large class for an instructor to assign a book of so few copies that everyone cannot take advantage of the assignment. Conversely, fair play on the part of each individual in the class can make a few copies adequate for a large number of students.

There is no way in which the members of the library staff can force a student to return a book when it is due. On the other hand, two cents a day is entirely too high a fine to impose upon delinquent students who keep out a much desired book for some time.

A special, heavy fine should be levied against students who purposefully and selfishly keep a book which their fellow class members are waiting for and have on reserve. This fine could be levied in fairness if the library would send out a notice to the student that the book was due and the special fine would be levied if it were not brought in on time.

Men See 'Plushy' Quarters

By Jerald Finch
Exclamations of wonder and awe greeted representatives from the men's Rose Street barracks when they descended upon the Jewell Annex recently and set up lounge headquarters in the "plushy" reception room following an invitation extended by one of the Jewell residents.

Upon invitation of Jean Kelly in the "Editor's Letters" column of the past Kernel, the Vets established the Annex as their base of operations for the day, leaving the premises only for classes, show, and an intramural basketball game. From 10:00 a.m. until 10:30 p.m., the invaders exhaled in their luxurious surroundings—kings for a day.

Daunted at the sight of carpeted floors, "Roman Jim" Montgomery asked if he should remove his shoes, but he soon became acclimated to the new terrain. Ed Carter regaled himself by bouncing on the overstuffed sofas and chairs. Clarence Reynolds, who is taking an engineering thermo class, asked to see the publicized oil burning stove, and kept the first myth of the Annex was exploded. The same type of coal, smoke-erupting volcanoes serve as heaters as grace the men's barracks.

The Morgan brothers, Joe and Casey, reported seeing the seven chests of barracks' life: window draperies, floor lamps, two large closets of drawers in the rooms,

"My future's in the telephone business"

I've been in the telephone business a little more than two years.
"And what busy years they've been!"
The Bell System has added more than 6,000,000 new telephones, erected some 1200 buildings, buried thousands of miles of cable and made great strides in extending and improving telephone service in rural areas.
Telephone service has been extended to automobiles, trucks and trains, and a new system for transmitting telephone conversations and television programs by microwaves put in operation.
At Bell Telephone Laboratories they're working on new electronic devices which will bring still wider horizons of electrical communications within view.
"I've had a part in this post-war progress."
There's a future in telephony.

The Spice Of Life

By Helen Borr and Pat Quinn
Overheard: "I've been to the Derby six times, but I have yet to see the big race. Guess I'll try again this year."

We hear that John Thawley and his newly acquired SAE pin have parted company. Is it true?

We forgot to mention last week that Bill Overholtz and Helen Ostead announced their engagement at the Dell Orchard Formal.

Congratulations to Jean Rehm, the new Sweetheart of Sigma Chi. John Allen was pulling for her all the way.

And speaking of John Allen, he said Bill Henaker added a light touch to the Best Dressed Contest. Congratulations are also in order for Kentucky's best dressed Libby Reynolds and Charlie Pritchett.

It must have been quite a blow for the boy who wanted to move in when he saw a Room for Rent sign blighting from a window at Lydia Nixon house. The housemother looked it to him gently.

Finest: Jean Harrell and Douglas Brown; Jean Powell and Ray Turner; Ginny Stephens and Craig Riddle.

Is Vaughn Monroe really coming to joyland soon?
What's this about serenades having to be on the social calendar?
One boy who would like to be a resident roommate with Vera Hicks is Bob Uiterback. She doesn't seem to think so.

Turk Daugherty and Betty Malone have broken up. They just didn't see eye to eye.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, the Kernel:
As one of the faculty who has sometimes missed outstanding events presented on the campus and in the community, I have been moved to wonder that there is no organized plan followed to schedule and print a weekly or daily calendar which will show in advance University sponsored or authorized educational and entertainment programs—all printed in one column or upon one placard and displayed upon University bulletin boards.

It is the practice in many schools to supply the bulletin boards with such a weekly placard, showing what events are open to the public each day, whether admission is charged, and the like. Scheduled are not only lectures, musical entertainment, dramatic offerings, exhibits, and contests, but also athletic events and at least the major social convocations.

Couldn't the Kernel publish a weekly box of column to aid in curing the defects written about, or organize a move to have weekly placards printed and placed upon campus bulletin boards?

It might well be that programs of this sort could include those of outstanding importance and merit which will be offered in the city at large.

The present haphazard publicity system requires that one search at what is almost random among the printed pages of the Kernel and of the local daily newspapers in order to ferret out the information desired. Furthermore, there is no systematic and concentrated summarizing of coming events of this sort, printed all in one place—and available for reference at will.

Spring Has Sprung

By Stanley J. Schill
Spring is sprouting, the grass is riz, I wonder where all that there snow is?

The bluegrass really ready to blossom forth, or is this just another false alarm?

Robins are already in the vicinity, but, say the old timers, don't get your hopes up. This, they say, happens every year. Comes the end of April and we'll all be pulling the "orig handles" out of those mothballs into which we so carefully packed them this week.

Signs of Spring
The sun is shining, and the bluegrass is blowing. Overcasts have been discarded in favor of sweaters, and the campus is already dotted with those scenes that the college magazines love to play up.

Even the steepest expression on the statue of Dr. Patterson seems to almost break out in smiles as he surveys over the coeds sitting around at his feet.

Wolves Are Howling
The girls have emerged from their fur cocoons, and the men once again hope that queer look in their eyes that always seems to appear around this time of the year. The poets call it a "woolfish gleam," brought about by the change in the female form from a bundle of fur to, well, er, uh, um . . . something nice.

Time To Leaf
All this sounds very optimistic, and these are only the thoughts running through most peoples' minds as they wander over the campus in the bright sunshine. The spring lethargy is upon us. It's too nice a day to rush to classes, so let us all, let's take our time and government has added to the demand for trained librarians. There are government library positions now open in Japan which offer 25 per cent additional pay for overseas work.

"The main reason so few students become librarians," Dr. Dettly explained, "is that it has not been presented to them early enough in their college careers and also there is a misnomer of the duties."
The work has been subdivided into smaller fields of operation and as a result specialization has entered the profession. Majors in subject fields such as chemistry, physics, pre-medicine, etc., are especially needed in library work. Reference librarians, reader's advisors, subject specialists, children's and young people's librarians, cataloguers, classifiers, and administrators are only a few of the fields in which there is a great demand, according to Dr. Dettly.
"Men as well as women are needed in library work and there is equal opportunity for both," Dr. Dettly asserted.
The library training agency at the University is the only one in Kentucky that has been accredited by the American Library Association.

(Continued from Page One) tee. In order that the individual might be working with his particular interest, Crockett asked members to designate what committees they were interested in. The president of SGA has the power to appoint any member of the student body to an SGA committee. Crockett plans to appoint heads of the various campus organizations to these committees. He believes he will get people who are vitally interested in campus affairs and who will work to further SGA's services to the student body. "I think it would be an ideal situation to draw the Assemblymen from the heads of the organizations on campus, rather than through the elections from the various colleges of the University," he said. Crockett was chosen president in the recent spring election. A pre-law senior from Maxwell, he was selected to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" last fall. He is past president of Keys, sophomore men's leadership honorary, vice-president of Lances, Junior leadership society, and a member of Lamp and Cross, senior leadership society. A member of the YMCA and former co-chairman of the WSSP drive on campus, he was chosen most popular man on campus at the ODK-Kentuckian dance. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

UK Diamond Squad Splits With Georgia, Vanderbilt

By Kent Hollingsworth
 The Kentucky baseball team went to last two during the past week. They split in the two-game series with Georgia and Vanderbilt. Against the Bulldogs here last weekend, the Cats took the first, on Friday, 12-10, and lost the second, 26-2, one of the worst defeats ever suffered by a UK team in recent years.

Monday at Nashville, the felines lost in a ten-inning game 10-8, but came back the following afternoon as Walt Jones pitched a brilliant two-hitter to take the final contest 7-0.

UK 7, Vandy 0
 In the second inning of the final Vandy game, Cliff Barker grabbed hold of one of B. J. Adcock's high and outside hand ones, to send a towering home run over the right field fence and put the Wildcats out in front to stay.

Both safeties allowed by Jones were scratch hits. J. P. Moore sent a roller over second base that Slough missed only by inches, and Adcock's pop fly hit the ground right between Henge, Slough and Barker.

Score by innings:

R. H. E.
Kentucky	021 000 002 7 12 0
Vanderbilt	000 000 000 0 2 3
Batteries:	Adcock, Broyles (7) and Reagen.

Vandy 10, UK 9
 Vandy's Darlyle "Daisy" May hit a stinging single off Ralph Beard's glove in the last half of the 10th inning to score the fleet-footed J. P. Moore from second and take a close game from the Wildcats by the score of 10 to 9.

Beard, plagued by hay fever, drove in three runs for the Wildcats with a triple and two singles, and stole home in the first inning. Jay Cummings broke into a lineup with four hits in five appearances at the plate.

Big Walt Hirsch, Bobby Lawrence, and B. J. Adcock hit triples, and Adcock and Stephens connected for doubles for the only extra base blows of the game. Ben Zaranka was the losing pitcher.

INTRAMURALS

By W. T. Perkins
 The intramural double-elimination softball tournament got underway Wednesday as the Scott Street barracks and the Sigma Nu teams won their first games of the 24-team playoff tourney.

Line-score of games were:

R. H. E.

Sigma Nu	200 10 0 3 5

Batteries: S.S.B. Schuffli and Schmitz; K.S.S. Brandenburg and Whitehead.

GOLF

By Tom Underwood Jr.
 The Wildcats links squad went South this week to participate in the Southern Intercollegiate tournament at Atlanta, Ga. A 26-hole round Wednesday decided the team championship and qualified the participants for match play being held through Saturday, 9:15 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. The squads were: Duke Lewis, Ray Colton and Jack Ashby made the trip.

The local linkmen were not very gracious hosts to Southeastern Conference guests last week. They overwhelmed Tennessee, 131-41, Friday, and followed with a 11-7 win from Georgia Tech on Saturday.

Lewis, Kentucky's undefeated No. 2 man, averaged 75 1/2 strokes as he won from both Tennessee and Georgia Tech opponents. Owens won each of his individual matches and averaged 72.

Lear won against Tennessee but was defeated by Georgian Dick Swan, who fired a one-over-par 73. Colton was tied by his Georgia Tech opponent after winning his individual match in the Tennessee engagement.

Lynx Trackmen To Vie With UT Vols Saturday

By Winfield Leathers
 Coach Don Cash Seaton and his field men (21 strong) leave at noon today by bus for Knoxville, Tenn., where they will meet the Volunteers in a dual meet tomorrow afternoon. This is the last outing for the Kentuckians until the Southeastern Conference meet at Birmingham, Ala. May 14 and 15.

The Kentucky Kittens, the freshman barbers, have two more meets left on their schedule. The first is slated for May 6 or 7 when Louisville Male travels to Lexington for a dual affair and the second is set for May 19 when Louisville Manual comes to Stoll Field.

In the meet a year with the Tennessee Volunteers the Wildcats were snipped in the final event, the mile relay, for a Volunteer victory. The final score was 59 1/2 to 57 1/2.

Undeclared thus far this season, the Wildcats coped their third straight dual meet last Saturday by routing the Tennessee Poly Eagles of Cookeville, Tenn., 103-80, on Stoll Field. Lending the point-profile Kentuckians was John Chumley, who scored 16 points by winning the 100-yard dash and javelin throw and placing second in the shot put and discus throw.

Captain George Kirchner collected 11 1/2 points, and Dale Barnstable of each competing in a final round robin for the trophy. Games to date include: KAT 24-KKG 3; Boyd Hall 18-AGD 3; Barracks 9-AXD 3; ADP 16-DZO; Boyd Hall 15; Chi O 6; AGD 12-Chi O 11; Jewell Hall over DZ (forfeit); Tri Delt 21; Sayre Hall 16.

Dogs Walk Cats, 26-2
 The Georgia Bulldogs pounding back from the previous day's defeat, drubbed out a 26-2 victory over the Wildcats, by virtue of a fantastic 15-run scoring spree in the seventh inning.

Eli Maricich stemmed a home run over the center field fence with the bases cluttered with three Georgians, to lead the attack; first-base man "Chubby" Jenkins and catcher Roberts also hit for four losses in the seventh frame.

The next home games for UK baseball team will be Friday and Saturday, May 7 and 8, against Georgia Tech and these contests will be held at Stoll Field. The following week Tennessee comes here for a pair of diamond hits.

Today's Games
 Today's schedule is (rear of gym) AGR vs. ASP at 4 p.m.; Hornets vs. Triangles at 5 p.m. On football field, PSK vs. DTD at 4 p.m. and PIT vs. ZBT at 5 o'clock.

Each team must submit a roster of 15 players to Director McCubbin for the tournament before their first game of the playoffs.

Schedule Of Tourney
 Bracket 1: Trippers vs. Scott St. Barracks; SN vs. SAE; KS vs. DX; winner of PKA and SX plays Kinlead Hall; winner of LXA and TK meet AT. The PKA-SX and the LXA-TK hills were slated to be played yesterday.

I PROMISED . . . I promised several fellow fellows that I would let them know when some Van Heusen shirt came in. Well, I'm taking this medium to announce their arrival. Again pastel shades are in the color chart lead. These shirts are in pale blue, green, and tan with a very neat spread collar and straight cuff. I seldom mention price in this column, but these sell for $3.95 and that, brother, is reasonable these days! KEEP A COOL HEAD . . . Wear a new, smart Malloy straw hat!

LARGE EVENING . . . Enjoyed attending Triangle fraternity's spring formal . . . a swell bunch. Saw lots of sharp-looking outfits. Thanks for the invitation.

MY OPINION . . . With all modesty, may I crow a wee bit? When I first started this article, I picked Charles Pritchett (Sigma Nu), as my first best dressed man of the week. Now Pritchett lives up to my prediction (and expectations) by winning the Best Dressed Student Contest. May I also go a little commercial and mention the fact that he wore a custom made suit and we here at our shop designed and made it for him? A top notch grade of grey flannel, single breasted, peaked lapels, two side vents, and hand-stitched edges throughout. He knows clothes and wears them well. Why? . . . because he is neat. Congratulations "Stuff" and his outfit.

So long for now,

DISKINTUCKY • SPORTS ROUNDUP

— Tom Diskin, Sports Editor —

In 148 days the Kentucky Wildcats will start the 1948 football season here on Still Field in a game with Xavier.

The University has made plans to increase at a cost of $650,000 the seating capacity of McLean Stadium (Still Field) from its present 19,626 to 30,000 for the coming season, and to $3,026 for the 1949 campaign.

Time is running out if this program is to be finished on schedule. Construction on the stadium should begin as soon as possible to help relieve the pressing need of additional seats at the football games here this fall.

Last season, some 24,000 persons were squeezed into the stadium by temporary stands and wooden bleachers. The demand for tickets to the Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee games far exceeded the supply. The Mississippi, Vanderbilt, and Villanova contests were almost certain to be sellouts. It is imperative that McLean Stadium be enlarged to at least 30,000 in the near future.

Vanderbilt To Expand

Throughout the country, colleges are spending millions of dollars for new athletic structures. First let's look at Vandy.

Over $1,000,000 has been raised in Nashville for a fieldhouse at Vanderbilt University. Present plans call for a seating capacity for the fieldhouse of some 10,000 to 14,000 persons and all of Vandy's home basketball games will be played there when it is completed.

Last winter, the Commodores were forced to hold their games in Nashville at the old Classification Hall, which seated only 1,219 spectators. This gym was located several miles from the campus and, as a result, the student attendance at the cage contests was very small.

Adjoining this fieldhouse will be a new football stadium. Present plans are to seat approximately 50,000 persons and will replace Vanderbilt's old Dudley Field, which has a capacity of only 21,000. Dudley Field needs to be reconstructed at a cost of $100,000 as it is not waterproof and rebuilt with steel within five years, or be replaced with new structure. The Commodore athletic officials are anxious to build a large stadium as Nashville, with over 200,000 population, is a red-hot football town and supports a gridiron very enthusiastically.

Birmingham's Legion Field

In Birmingham, the new Legion Field for football at a nominal fee. The municipality takes 10% of the gross gate. This stadium was built in 1927 at a cost of $375,000. It has recently been enlarged to a capacity of 28,000, which set the city back some $750,000 or almost twice the original cost of the plant.

In Nashville, where the annual Dixie Bowl contest is held, was the scene of 30 high school games in 1947, while Auburn played one contest there. Alabama used it for three battles; also a Negro college held one of its games on this gridiron last season. The high schools were charged $250 per game, while the colleges paid according to the gate receipts.

Tennessee Spent $1,500,000

The University of Tennessee has made Shields-Watkins Stadium a horseshoe-shaped structure which will now hold 46,000 for the coming 1948 season. A total of $1,500,000 was spent for this new construction, which also included offices for the athletic association and a 166-room men's dormitory. The 46,000 capacity is an increase of some 12,567 seats.

Chattanooga Too

The University of Chattanooga is spending $400,000 on Chamberlain Field which will increase seating capacity there from 6,200 to 16,000.

At Gainesville, the University of Florida, whom Kentucky meets here on November 13 in the first grid battle between the two schools, will complete late this year a $1,500,000 auditorium and gymnasium. In addition the institution plans to spend over $100,000 on new tennis courts and swimming pool improvements.

Michigan State, at East Lansing, is in the final stages of enlarging its Mackin Field from 27,252 to over 51,000 in preparation for the football game with the University of Ray Durham's tennis team invades Knoxville tomorrow afternoon for a match with the Tennessee Volunteers in quest of their first victory of the season against Southeastern Conference competition.

The Cats dropped their second game in a row Saturday on the Downing courts to Georgia Tech, 9-0, and then fell by the same score to University of Cincinnati Wednesday.

Every one of Kentucky's five matches have been decided by shut-out scores, the Cats whitewashing Tech, Cincinnati, and Vanderbilt.

Included on Thomas Field is a new baseball diamond, which is said to be one of the best in the South. In addition, it contains a quarter-mile cinder track, five variety football fields, four intramural grids, 20 surfaced tennis courts, and "ample facilities" for softball. Alabama also plans a new fieldhouse in the for 15 years, at Bama; near future.

Wildcat Baseball Team To Meet Georgia Tech Today In Atlanta

The University baseball team, improving by leaps and bounds with each passing game, left for Atlanta, Ga. last night where they will meet the formidable Georgia Tech nine Friday and Saturday afternoon.

Against Tennessee, the Engineers of Atlanta swept both games of a two-game series by scores of 9-1 and 10-8. Against Vanderbilt, the Georgians won two more games, by the identical scores of 8-6 and 8-6 in early games this year.

Facing the pitching staff is Henry Kalb, who is also a powerful batsman. Dick McMullen or J. B. Thompson will probably start the other game against the Cats.

Kalb is a sophomore hurler. As a freshman before the war he won four and lost two for Georgia Tech. Tennessee this season, he set down the Vols with only three hits, winning 9-1 in high school. Kalb was a baseball and basketball letterman. After graduating from North Fulton High (Ga.), he went to Tech, but was forced to give up the cage game because of an ankle injury.

While in service, Kalb played with Roy Weatherly's baseball team at Fort Benning, La., while in Japan. He ex-paratrooper played in one of the fast league leagues, then studied with major league stars.

McCoy Hitting 346

Following him is Second Baseman Low Hook, with a .320 mark. Henry Schoening, a Louisville boy, is next with .318. He is also the captain of the Tech nine and plays first base.

Center Fielder Hank Lanford is currently hitting .296, while Catcher Red Childress has the same average as Lanford.

Stough and Beard Lead Cats
Shortstop John Stough and Second Baseman Ralph Beard are the top hitters for Kentucky '48 for this season. Stough, with a home run and two doubles in his collection, has chipped the homeplate for 458 this season, while Beard is close behind with a 440 mark, which includes a pair of triples and two doubles in his hits.

Kentucky takes into Atlanta a record of 27 wins and 4 losses. Both victories of UK have been won by Hurter Wah Wah Jones, one against Georgia and another last Tuesday over the Vandy nine.
