

Engine Trouble Delays TV Workshop

The television workshop for teachers and school officials interested in educational television didn't seem to get off the ground last Monday, the first day of classes. The 4-engine DC-6 that was to circle 23,000 feet over Eastern Indiana and transmit the television signal developed engine trouble and wasn't able to take off.

Mr. Ollie E. Bissmeyer, UK coordinator for the Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction, said the situation of not receiving the telecast gave the teachers a chance to observe how to conduct class when this difficulty arises.

Critics of the new system of educational television present the argument that many times the airplane will not be able to take off because of bad weather or technical difficulties. MPATI supposedly has the bad weather problem licked.

The MPATI officials said that if bad weather is forecast in Indiana, the airplane can fly to a southern state the night before the telecast and return the next morning to beam out the signal.

Advocates of educational television state that although the technical problems will have to be worked out, the advantages outweigh the possible technical difficulties. They say the telecasts will bring into the classroom the latest developments in each field of study and the best teachers can be brought to more than 500,000 students by the new MPATI project.

The workshop, held in the Taylor Education Building, receives programs on channels 72 and 76. The classes are prerecorded on video tape and transmitted through an antenna projecting from the bottom of the airplane.

Mr. Bissmeyer said that 36 students are enrolled in the workshop and 150 have registered to attend class and observe the project. He added that several college and high school classes have been attending the workshop on the day that a subject is telecast pertaining to their studies.

Mr. Bissmeyer stated the three hour morning telecasts are broken up into different phases concerning educational television. He said the instruction includes ways to equip schools for educational television, discussion by authorities on the proper use of the system, methods of preparing the pupil before and after the telecast, and the actual teaching of a class.

The airborne telecast covers a 150-200 mile radius. The signal includes parts of Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, and Kentucky. UK is approximately 170 miles from the origin of the signal.

The airborne system is used because of the great expense involved and the large number of conventional television transmitters needed to cover the same area that is now being covered by the transmission from the airplane.

Twenty universities are taking a major part in the development of the 8 million dollar project. Besides UK, the other participating Kentucky school is the University of Louisville. Alexandria Elementary School in Alexandria is also receiving the telecasts as a test project.

Mr. Bissmeyer and Mrs. Sherman E. Miller are coordinators for the summer workshop.

Three-Story Addition Approved For SUB

Approval has been granted to the University for a federal loan by the Community Facilities Administration in Washington to finance a three-story addition to the Student Union Building.

The loan of $1,350,000 will be added to $528,000 in University funds to double the size of the existing building. The new structure will extend behind the present building into the area now occupied by an intramural field.

The federal loan will be repaid out of student membership fees and by other income from the operation of the building.

Plans for the structure should be complete in August, and bids may be let in September. Construction for the project should start within 45 days after the bids are let.

Opera Cast Is Announced

The cast for Rogers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma." Guignol Theatre's 11th annual summer musical to be presented Aug. 1-5, was announced Wednesday by Wallace Briggs, director.

Members of the cast are Jane Lee Forrest, Aunt Eller; Gerald Coffey, Curley; Linda Woodall, Laurey; Len Wolfe, Ike Skidmore; Palmer Riddle, Fred; Wallace Briggs, Will Parker; Jim Slone, Jud Fry; Ann Huddleston, Ado Annie Carnes; and Wayland Rogers, Andrew Carnes.

Other members include Charles Dickens, Ali Hakin; Roberta Ryburn, Gertie Cummings; Bob Besh-ear, Slim; Lynn Alderson, Kate; Joan Lester, Sylvie; Linda Parker, Armina; Phyllis Haddix, Aggie, and Al Northcutt, Cord Elam.

Library Schedule

The Margaret I. King Library will observe the following schedule during the summer session. Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday, 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Sunday, 2 p.m.-5 p.m. The library will be closed July 4.

Dr. Frank D. Peterson, vice president for business administration, estimated that it would take 12 to 14 months to complete the project.

The building will contain a new cafeteria, and the old one will be dismantled and converted into a bookstore. The new cafeteria will be larger than the present one and will accommodate approximately 750 persons.

The cafeteria will be open to the general public. Women's Residence Hall No. 6, now under construction will be the central dining room for the girls who live in the dormitories.

A ramp is proposed to extend from the back of Barker Hall to the second floor of the new addition. This ramp will lead directly to the grill and the new cafeteria.

Dr. Peterson said present facilities have become far too small for the greatly increased student body.

An enlarged dance hall is planned, along with a 250-seat theater, a faculty dining room, additional offices for student organizations, game and social rooms, and a student art gallery.

FOREFATHERS COME THROUGH

Nine-score and five years ago our forefathers signed a great document declaring independence for the 13 colonies. Not only did this charter (the Declaration of Independence) make the colonies free and independent states, but it also established a new national holiday.

In keeping with this custom, the University will dismiss all classes

Tuesday. We hold this truth to be self-evident.

Due to the lack of foresight on 4 comes on Tuesday. Had the 4th comes on Tuesday. Had the Declaration of Independence been signed on July 3, UK would have had a long weekend, but as the situation now stands, classes will be held as usual on Monday.

"Mailman U.S.A."

Dr. Lawrence S. Thompson (left), director of libraries, received two copies of "Mailman U.S.A." from lettercarrier Charles W. Finnell at the Margaret I. King Library Monday. The National Association of Lettercarriers, Branch 361, Lexington, presented the book written by William C. Doherty, president of the association, to the library. It was written to inform the public about the lives and services of the American mailman.

New Coach Appointed To Head Track Team

By DAVE BRAUN
Kernel Sports Editor

Dr. Don Cash Seaton has resigned as Wildcat track coach, and former University freshman track coach, Ben Johnson, has been named to the position.

Johnson, 34-year-old Lexingtonian, succeeds Seaton who resigned in order to devote full time to his job as Director of the Physical Education Department at the University.

For 14 years Seaton tutored Wildcat track teams, which produced some of the top college track stars in the country.

Coaching the freshman team in 1958 and 1959, Johnson obtained an over-all record of 12-4. Prior to this time he had been a veteran of high school coaching.

Johnson, who graduated from Transylvania in 1950, coached track at Springfield, MMI, and Sheffield, Ill. His over-all record at the three schools was 19-5.

The new Wildcat track coach is married to the former Miss Juanita Robertson of Lexington. They have two children, Stephen, 7, and Kristine, 2.

Athletic Director Bernie Shively said that the University was very lucky to obtain a coach of the caliber of Johnson.

Shively went on to say that by adding this man as a full-time coach, the University track program should become vastly improved.

At present many of the other SEC schools employ full-time men as track coaches.

Baseballers Sign Pacts

Two Wildcat baseball players, one a sophomore and the other a senior, have signed major league baseball contracts this summer.

Charlie Lloyd, senior from Paducah, signed with the New York Yankees, and Jack Huber, sophomore from Cincinnati, signed with the Cincinnati Reds.

Lloyd, a pitcher, was instrumental in pacing last season's Wildcat squad to a second place finish in the SEC.

He will be sent by the Yankees to Greensboro, N.C., a class B team in the Carolina league.

Huber, also a pitcher, will report to Geneva, N.Y., a class D team in the New York-Pennsylvania league.

A journalism major, Huber plans

In 1930, Bill Terry collected 254 hits for the New York Giants. He hit 401 that season and is the last National Leaguer to reach that charmed figure.

to continue his college work during the off season.

The amount that either player received for signing was not disclosed.

Wives And Children Of Delegates Attend Engineering Convention

More than 2,713 persons are registered for the 69th annual meeting of the American Society for Engineering Education which ends this afternoon.

Of the total registration, 585 are wives, and 442 are children of the visiting engineering educators.

Delegates came from all parts of the United States, Alaska, and Canada to participate in the five-day meeting. One man from Auburn, Ala., brought his wife and six children, while another from State College, Pa., came with his wife and five daughters. Nine others brought at least four children with them.

The delegation from the University was 385. This figure includes 232 engineers, 91 wives, and 62 children.

The conference included over 150 sessions and events for the delegates. Dr. Eric A. Walker, president of Pennsylvania State University, received a Kentucky Colonel's commission for his work as president of the 10,000-member ASEE the past year.

Scherago Receives Research Grant

Dr. Morris Scherago, head of the Microbiology department, recently received a grant of $4,100 from the Heart Associations of Boyd County and McCracken County to study "Leukocytic Sensitivity in Rheumatic Fever."

Dr. Scherago has been working on the project for the past four years. Boyd County contributed $1,600 this year and has supported the project for the past four years.

McCracken County supported the project two years ago and renewed its support this year with a $2,500 grant.

The study of "Leukocytic Sensitivity in Rheumatic Fever" is in connection with a larger project, said Dr. Scherago. He said his work is to determine whether the white blood corpuscles in reproduction become sensitive to the bacteria associated with rheumatic fever.

Housing for the members and their families was arranged in all of the men's dormitories, Patterson Hall, and the ATO House. All hotels and motels in the Blue Grass area are participating.

A shuttle bus service was provided to transport people from one side of the campus to the other. The Donovan Hall Cafeteria was opened to relieve the pressure on the Student Union cafeteria.

A complete program was planned for the wives and children of the visiting educators. Highlights of the women's program was a tour of the horse farms, Ashland, the Hunt-Morgan House, Gratz Park, and Transylvania College on Tuesday.

On Tuesday evening, President and Mrs. Frank G. Dickey entertained the guests at Maxwell Place. On Thursday, the women were offered a choice between touring Berea College or traveling to Harrodsburg and returning to Lexington by way of Danville.

The teen-agers, grade school children and the pre-school children had special programs planned for them. The teenagers had several swimming parties, dances, and tours during the week. They toured the horse farms and participated in a field trip to Natural Bridge State Park.

The grade school children toured the various parts of the UK campus and visited the bird and animal forest. A kindergarten was provided in the Taylor Education Building for the younger children.
