KENTUCKIAN WILL BE OUT ON SATURDAY

1916 Annual Will Be Most Attractive Ever Published By State

MANY NEW FEATURES

The 1916 Kentuckian, bigger and better than ever, will be ready for distribution on Saturday of this week. This is said to be the best annual ever got out at the University, the increase in its quality and general make-up being due to the fact that the student body has taken more interest in it than ever before in the history of the institution. More than 500 copies were sold before the book went to press, which is a considerable increase over the sales of any previous year. The annual is dedicated to Dr. J. K. Patterson, President Emeritus of the University.

A number of new features have been added which make the book very attractive. The art work is of a higher quality than ever before, due to the fact that there are a larger number of artists in the University, which gives considerable material to choose from. The art work has been made especially good by suggestions from the printers and engravers. Contrary to the usual custom the type is not plain, but of a very artistic design.

This masterpiece of college annals is bound in semi-flexible straight-grained leather. On the cover of the year-book is stamped the picture of a famous Kentuckian who is dear to the hearts of all natives of the State.

The increase in the quality of work, the addition of new features, and the excellent success of the book is due to the very capable staff which worked long and faithfully to get out an annual that will make the 1916 class be remembered for years to come. It is conceded by all to be the best work of literature and art that the students of the University have ever published and one which will cause the coming classes to work unusually hard to equal.

The Kentuckian staff this year is composed of Herbert Graham, editor; R. A. Foster, John Marsh, Franklin Corn, Miss Rebecca Smith, Miss Nata Lee Woodruff, L. J. Heyman, James McConnell, E. A. Blackburn and G. C. Wilson, associate editors; Paul Gerhard and Herbert Felix, art editors; Frank Street, junior editor, and R. E. Cullen, business manager.

The staff is to be congratulated upon producing this most excellent year book, especially Mr. Graham, upon whom the responsibility of the annual rested. The University is indeed fortunate in having a man of Mr. Graham's ability and talent and his many friends are congratulating him upon the success of the Kentuckian. Mr. Cullen, the capable business manager, is also in line for congratulations, as

HIGH SCHOOL CONTEST IS DECIDED SUCCESS

Louisville Wins Silver Loving Cup In Field Meet

INTEREST IS KEEN

The annual Inter-scholastic Tournament, among the various high schools of the State, which was held at the University Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week, was a decided success from beginning to end and was conceded by qualified judges to be the best ever held here.

Lexington carried off the honors in the finals in reading, declamations and music, while Louisville won the field meet. By this victory they secured permanent possession of the silver loving cup offered to the team securing the largest number of points in the field meet. Lexington was second with thirty points, and Bellevue was third with three points less.

More than 100 high school students were in Lexington for the contest. During their stay they were guests of the University, and were given automobile trips to points of interest in the Blue Grass. The high school students seemed well pleased with the University and several of those who will graduate this year, expressed their intention of attending this institution next year.

The tournament began Thursday evening in chapel where the finals in reading, and piano and violin solos were held. The Lexington High School representatives scored seventeen points out of a possible twenty-seven. They won two firsts, two seconds and one third in the three events.

Friday evening the Lexington High students again carried off the honors, being victors in three events. Gold medals were awarded to the members of the vocal quartette, to the orchestra, and to Miss Iva Dagley, of the girls' vocal quartette. In the contest Louisville secured one first place and Walton one, William Rouse, of Walton, being winner of the boys' solo event.

The program, consisting of vocal solos, declamations and orchestral selections, was quite unique and thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience which thronged the chapel. The speech made by John Curtis Harwood, of Louisville, on "Once a Kentuckian. Always a Kentuckian," elicited special praise.

The tournament closed with a field meet on Stoll Field Saturday afternoon, in which the Louisville boys

It was due to him that the sales exceeded any previous mark.

A shipment of half the books will arrive Saturday and the last shipment will reach here Monday. They will be ready for distribution immediately.

ANNUAL 'MOVING DAY' IN CHAPEL TOMORROW

"Moving Day," the last opportunity afforded seniors for telling the dignified professors just what they think of them, will be held in chapel tomorrow morning. "Take-offs" on all the most important instructors in the University by various seniors will be the feature of the program.

The observance of "Moving Day" was to be held last Friday, but was postponed because of the senior examinations, and the seniors have had an extra week in which to practice their parts. It was confidentially assured a Kernel representative that this would be the best program ever presented on this annual occasion.

"Moving Day," which is an annual event, is in charge of the senior class, the members of which occupy the rostrum. The members of each of the other classes sit together and move up to the place occupied this year by the next class above them. Class yells and cheers of various kinds are given and this chapel day is conceded by many to be the best of the year.

CADETS ARE ASKED TO EXPLAIN ABSENCE

125 Are Summoned Before Discipline Committee Monday Afternoon

About 125 members of the battalion were called before the Discipline Committee in chapel Monday afternoon to explain why they were absent from drill for the annual Tap Day exercises. Their explanation for their non-appearance was that it was due to a misunderstanding and not a pre-arranged agreement. The testimony of about eighty students was heard.

In their testimony, the students declared that they were under the impression that Arbor Day was an annual holiday and that under the circumstances they did not feel obliged to appear for a fraternal function, such as the Lamp and Cross Tap Day exercises.

Professor C. W. Mathews, chairman of the Discipline Committee, stated Monday afternoon that he thought the matter would be settled amicably.

DR. PRYOR'S RESEARCH WORK IS PRAISED

Receives Letters Commending Work on Ossification of Bones

INVITED TO ILLINOIS

Dr. J. W. Pryor, Professor of Anatomy and Physiology, who has been doing extensive research work on the ossification of bones, has acquired national reputation as an authority on that subject. Every mail is bringing him requests to speak before medical classes and medical societies; also letters from various parts of the country thanking him for his very valuable addition to the science of medicine.

Dr. Pryor is very modest and refuses to give himself due credit for his long and faithful research work which has lately been crowned with success. It was with reluctance that he submitted for examination two of his latest letters relevant to his work. One communication was from Dr. A. C. Eycleshymer, dean of the College of Medicine at the University of Illinois, requesting him to deliver a series of lectures before the graduate faculty and students of the institution sometime during the summer.

The other letter was from Dr. C. B. Davenport, of the Department of Experimental Evolution, a division of the Carnegie Institute at Washington. Mr. Davenport stated that he had recently had occasion to make use of Dr. Pryor's work and asked permission to refer to it in the revision of his book on "Heredity."

The history of Dr. Pryor's research work, together with his picture, was published in a recent issue of the Lexington Herald.

BOHANNON WRITES ARTICLE ON KY.

The current issue of the "Industrial and Agricultural Outlook Along the C. & O. Railway Lines," contains a lengthy article by Charles D. Bohannon, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, on the subject of "The Agricultural Development of Kentucky." It is written to give a sketch of agricultural conditions in the State with reference to advantages held out to newcomers from other States and is profusely illustrated.

The climate of the State Mr. Bohannon describes as having a peculiar advantage, being midway between the cold of the North and the hot, scorching summers of the South. The average temperature is about 55 degrees Fahrenheit. The five so-called natural divisions, the Mountain Range, the Knobs, The Blue Grass, the Pennyroyal and the Jackson Purchase, are each described in detail by Mr. Bohannon.

A summary of his article appeared in a recent issue of the Lexington Herald.

GLEE CLUB GIVES FIRST PERFORMANCE

Large and Appreciative Audience Hears Excellent Program

MISS BENNETT SINGS

A large and appreciative audience was present in the chapel Monday evening to hear the initial performance of the University Glee Club. The twenty-two members rendered a most delightful program, and although the club is a male organization, Miss Elsie Bennett, of the Lexington College of Music, rendered several charming selections. The first appearance of the Glee Club made was a decided success and was greatly enjoyed by the music-loving audience.

The members of the Glee Club, who later expect to give a number of other performances, are:

STATION IS VICTOR IN EGG CONTEST

For the past several years Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana, has held an annual egg show. Eggs are sent to this exhibit from all parts of America and from most of the Experiment Stations. This year is the first time that the Kentucky Station has competed and it is gratifying that the eggs from the poultry yards here won first premium for white eggs and sweepstakes for white and brown eggs shown by any Experiment Station. Dean J. H. Skinner, of Purdue, in conveying this information to the local authorities states that "we have a very fine exhibit of eggs, the most extensive that we have had up to this time."

HERALD PUBLISHES ARBOR DAY ADDRESS

The full text of William Shinnick's Arbor Day address which he made as representative of the Junior Class, was published in last Sunday's edition of the Lexington Herald. The Herald had the following to say about Mr. Shinnick:

"Herewith is given the text of the brief Arbor Day address made by William Shinnick, of Shelbyville, Ky., junior in the State University and representative of the class of 1917 in that institution, in which Mr. Shinnick accepted the spade from the outgoing class in an utterance so finished in rhetoric, so graceful in sentiment, and so appropriate to the occasion, that the Herald takes pleasure in acceding to a request from his classmates to reproduce the little gem, even though over the young orator's blushing protest."

PROHIBITION MEETING TO BE HELD HERE

College Drys To Meet In Lexington Latter Part Of This Year

BRYAN WILL SPEAK

Lexington has been selected as the next meeting place of the Inter-collegiate Prohibition Association, which will convene here December 28 to 31 of this year. The association has members in more than 300 colleges and universities, including the University of Kentucky. Columbus, Baltimore and Louisville were after the convention, but Lexington was selected because of its being a greater college center than any of the others.

It is due more to the untiring efforts of Joe M. Robinson, and Clifford T. Dotson, representatives of this University, that the meeting has been secured for Lexington, and the University is to be congratulated upon having such able men.

The Board of Commerce will furnish the Woodland Park Auditorium for a meeting place and rooms will be provided the secretaries by the University Club. The program for the convention will include addresses by some of the most prominent prohibition advocates of the country and it is planned to have such men as Hobson, Bryan and Jordan present.

CROMWELL GOES TO CALIFORNIA

Henry F. Cromwell, of Cynthiana, a senior in the Industrial Chemistry Department, left Tuesday morning for California, where he has accepted a lucrative position for the summer. Besides being a good student, Mr. Cromwell has been a leader in college social circles, having been a member of the Phi Delta Theta, Mystic Thirteen, and Lamp and Cross fraternities. He was also captain of "D" Company this year.

WRITES HISTORY OF EXPERIMENT STATION

A full-page story on the history and the work of the Kentucky Experiment Station was published in Sunday's Lexington Herald. The story carried with it half-tone cuts of the Experiment Station and of the food laboratory. It was written by Kenneth Doris, formerly a student in the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. Mr. Doris quit college this year to take a position on the reporter staff of the Herald and has written many interesting stories concerning the University.

DEPAUW TEAM MEETS KENTUCKY TODAY

Northerners Reputed To Have Strong Bunch To Play Twice

Baseball games are scheduled to be played on Stoll Field this afternoon, Friday and Saturday.

Today and tomorrow the University of Kentucky will meet DePauw University and the games are expected to be close. The start is scheduled for 3:30.

The recently-planned series of interclass baseball games will begin Saturday afternoon. The various teams have already begun practice and all evidence points to a show of class. The juniors will meet the seniors in the first game starting at 2:30, following which the freshmen will cross bats with the sophomores. A later date will be set for the game between the winners.

STUDENTS' FORUM

In a recent issue of The Kentucky Kernel an editorial appeared taking the cadets to task for the failure of about half their number to report for drill in honor of the Arbor Day and Tap exercises at the University.

It seems that the attitude of the cadets has been woefully misunderstood or misrepresented. It is but justice that in some way they be allowed to answer the charges preferred against them.

It is most unfair to brand this act as insubordination or to charge these men with lack of loyalty to their Alma Mater. Throughout the entire year the cadets have faithfully drilled on every occasion, whenever a game was to be advertised or the honor of the school in any way was at stake. At such times, they have responded to a man.

Those who were present at the inaugural ceremonies at Frankfort, or who even read the newspapers know the result. They know whether or not this was an occasion on which loyalty was tested. One man could have ruined a platoon, a dozen could have disgraced a company.

It later developed that the cadets would be required to take part in the Arbor Day exercises. They were called out to stand at parade rest, while the Tap ceremonies were carried out. It seems unfair to the cadets to have half of their holiday spoiled for the gratification of a very small portion of the student body.

This is not the first instance that the cadets have failed to drill on a special occasion. But never have they failed, when anything of importance depended upon it. The question has been asked: "Would the students have dared not to appear at the order of Lieutenant Underwood?" The roll books are evidence that they would and did. Fully half the battalion did not report on Thanksgiving Day, 1915. No punishment of any kind was imposed upon them. Lieutenant Underwood stated upon this occasion that he had no authority to compel the cadets to drill upon a holiday. We would like an answer to this question: "Has a commissioned officer in the United States army less authority than a student who holds a commission in a cadet battalion?" The year's work was over. The battalion was inspected and dismissed by an army officer. They had stood their final examination and passed. No student is required to attend any class in which he has stood a successful examination and on which he has received credit.

It is to be regretted that any one is so blind to justice, so selfish to gain his own end, that he is willing to sacrifice three hundred men to add a little pomp and pageantry to an organization of ten or fifteen. It is sad indeed that a Kentuckian when fairly defeated, should seek a malicious revenge.

Good-bye, 1916.

Our years draws near to its close, and in this, the last issue of the Kernel, we feel that we can do no less than bid a fond and regretful farewell to the members of the class of 1916. Through four years of storm and stress, of struggle and glorious achievement, they have kept ever before them the ideal of duty to their University and of friendship to their fellow workers. No good movement has ever failed to receive their support, no good tradition has been allowed to die away while they had power to uphold it. We do not know of a finer or more unselfish act than that of the class of 1916 in establishing a loan fund to aid poor students who are forced to earn their way through the University. It is sincerely to be hoped that succeeding classes will continue this good work.

Time and space do not permit of a resume of the accomplishments of the class which is so soon to leave, but we can say that we do not believe that a more brilliant and faithful class ever trod the greenward of old Kentucky's campus. Four years of work and play they had with us, four years of association with the University of God's Country, and four years with each other garnering sweet memories to store up in the ebony box of Time for the longer years which are to come.

We who are left behind want the class of '16 to know that they are not unappreciated, that they are not unloved, and that their spirit will remain with us when their earthly selves are far away. The Kernel and all who know them, we feel sure, unite in hoping that they, "who have so successfully sailed their barks over the placid lake of college life, will meet the waves of the broad sea of world life in the same grand spirit, and at the end sail out into the purple sunset to meet the brighter dawn which lies beyond the depths of night as bravely and as happily as they met the dawn of this bright spring morning."

Hail to you, 1916; hail and farewell! The rainbow years of youth with us were not your loss, we feel, and certainly they were our gain. Success in all good things be yours!

The Kentucky Colonel Says:

One of the best college papers the Kernel receives in its exchanges is the "Silver and Gold," published by the students of the University of Colorado. The following are clipped from its Wit and Humor column of a recent issue:

VISITORS' DAY

Mechanical Hall was thrown open last Friday afternoon for the annual visitors' day, and many friends of the college accepted the invitation to inspect the shops, laboratories and drawing rooms.

The wood-working shop, machine shop, blacksmith shop and foundry were very interesting to the visitors. Probably the greatest drawing card was the automobile testing laboratory, where a horse-power test was run on a new Cadillac Eight. The car is placed on a revolving drum, which registers the force exerted upon it through a system of balances, and from the readings taken the horse-power of the machine is calculated.

MAXSON ADDRESSES CHEMICAL SOCIETY

Dr. R. N. Maxson, professor of Inorganic Chemistry, addressed the third meeting of the Lexington Chemical Society which was held at Scovell Hall last Thursday afternoon. Dr. Maxson's subject was "Note on the Occurrence of Fallium." Practically the entire membership of the society was present and a number of visitors were also in attendance.

STROLLER MEETING.

The Stroller meeting for the purpose of electing officers and making plans for the ensuing year, which was to be held Tuesday, has been postponed until this afternoon at 4 o'clock. All members are requested to be present in the Stroller room at that hour.

PLANS FOR SILVER JUBILEE ARE FORMED

Celebration To Be Given By College of Mechanical Engineering

INVITATIONS ARE SENT

Plans for the Silver Jubilee, which will be given on the campus May 30 by the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, are rapidly nearing completion. The titanic celebration will be quite unique and the interesting program will be divided in three parts.

The first part, beginning at 10 a. m., will consist of the dedication of the restoration of a portion of the original track of the Lexington and Ohio Railroad. The following invitations for this dedication have been sent out to railroad officials, alumni and friends of the University: You are cordially invited to attend the dedication of a monument to American Railroad Development erected by the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering of the University of Kentucky Tuesday, May 30th, 10 a. m. 1916.

Please reply.

The monument will consist of a restoration of a portion of the original track of the Lexington and Ohio Railroad, the first railroad built west of the Allegheny Mountains. About twenty-five feet of this original track will be set on a concrete base on the campus of the University, in front of Mechanical Hall. A bronze tablet will be set in the base, containing the following inscription:

"This restoration of a portion of the original track of the Lexington and Ohio (now Louisville and Nashville) Railroad laid at Lexington in 1831, is dedicated to those men of forethought and courage who were pioneers in railroad development in America.

Erected Anno Domini MCMXVI."

This dedication will be held in connection with the celebration of the Silver Jubilee of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering of the University of Kentucky. The first part of the Jubilee will be presided over by Dean Anderson. The official dedicatory program will consist of three speeches. "The Development of Railroads and the Locomotive," by Dr. D. F. Crawford, Superintendent of Motive Power, Pennsylvania Lines West. "The Railroad Builder," Major James Poyntz Nelson, member of the Valuation Committee, Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad. Dedication speech, Judge Samuel M. Wilson, of Lexington. After the regular program short responses will be made by a few of the visiting railroad officials.

The second part of the Jubilee, beginning at 11:30 a. m., will be presided over by President Barker. Speeches will be made by Dr. Joseph H. Kastle and Professor Henry Anderson of the University of Michigan. A bronze table commemorating the occasion will be presented to the college by Mr. J. Irvine Lyle, and will be accepted by Dr. James K. Patterson.

The third part of the Jubilee will consist of a buffet luncheon served in

MINERS OF STATE HOLD BIG SESSION

Kentucky Mining Institute Holds Fifth Annual Meeting Here

The fifth annual meeting of the Kentucky Mining Institute opened at the College of Mines and Metallurgy Friday and closed Saturday afternoon with the holding of the First Aid Contest on Stoll Field, which has formed an interesting part of the yearly meeting for two years.

An election of officers held Saturday resulted in the following being chosen: J. D. Butler, president; I. P. Tashof, secretary and treasurer, and K. U. Meguire, first vice president.

The meeting of the Mining Institute was called to order in the lecture room of the Physics Building Friday morning by President F. P. Wright. In the absence of President Barker, Dean F. Paul Anderson delivered the welcome address to the miners. President Wright responded to his welcome.

Morning and afternoon sessions were held in the Physics Building, where interesting papers pertaining to coal mining were read. An evening session was held at the Phoenix Hotel, which was featured by interesting addresses.

With the exception of the election of officers for the ensuing year, the First Aid Meet held on Stoll Field was the most important feature of Saturday's program. This was well attended and the miners secured useful information.

The Mining Institute passed resolutions of appreciation to the Physics Department and the University in general for its assistance in the meeting.

POWELL WINS IN THESIS CONTEST

In a contest in the College of Civil Engineering which was held last Wednesday, Henry Powell was awarded first prize and J. R. Henderson, second prize. Each student that entered the contest selected a subject for his thesis from a list of ten subjects made out by the departmental professors. Mr. Powell took as his subject, "Technical Education vs. Practical Education," and Mr. Henderson discussed "The Possibilities of Re-inforced Concrete."

The theses were limited to 2000 words each. The papers winning the first and second prize will be published in the next edition of The Transit.

Mechanical Hall to the visiting alumni and their friends at 1 p. m.

The Alumni Committee in charge of the Silver Jubilee is composed of: Frank Battalle, '08, chairman; W. E. Freeman, '04; P. P. Johnston, '09; L. K. Frankel, '00; George Carey, J. P. Johnston, '00; Perry Cassidy, '11; C. L. Straus, '08, and Dr. Joseph H. Kastle, honorary member.

An interesting history of the "First Railroad of the West," by Mrs. Maude Warren Lafferty, is being printed in pamphlet form and will be distributed as a souvenir. This history is unusually well written and in a charming way tells of the conception and development of the Lexington and Ohio Railroad.

This will allow them one week before commencement to clean up loose ends and recuperate before going out to fight the big game of life.

DEAN ANDERSON'S ADDRESS POSTPONED

Professor F. Paul Anderson, dean of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, who was scheduled to address the members of the Blue Grass Federation of Labor at Labor Hall last Friday night, was unable to be present and his talk was postponed to a later date.

Dean C. J. Norwood, of the College of Mines and Metallurgy, will address the union at its meeting tomorrow night. Although these meetings are primarily for the laboring men, the students of the University are cordially invited to attend.

JOINT SESSION OF LITERARY SOCIETIES

Meeting of All Societies Held at Patterson Hall Saturday Night

DEBATE FEATURE

A joint session of all the literary societies on the campus, together with the Agricultural Society, was held at Patterson Hall last Saturday evening. The program was presented by the Patterson, Union, Philosophian, Horace-Mann and the Henry Clay societies. Miss Marie Becker, of the Philo-sophian Society, presided.

The program consisted of a humorous debate and music. The meeting was opened with a vocal solo by Miss Suzanne Beltz, accompanied by Miss June Sale.

The subject for debate was: "Resolved that Women Should Have an Equal Representation in the Operation of Pari-Mutuel Machines." The affirmative speakers were Miss Nelle Crawford and G. B. Nance and they upheld their side in an excellent manner. The negative speakers were J. F. Gregory and Herbert Felix, who equally well expounded the subject. The affirmative side won, the audience acting as judges.

A much enjoyed mandolin solo was played by Miss Neville, accompanied by Miss Stella Pennington. After the regular program had been disposed of, the meeting was changed into a social session, delicious refreshments being served. The meeting was a decided success and it is likely to become an annual affair.

KENTUCKY IS FIFTH IN S. I. A. A. MEET

Louisiana State University was the winner in the S. I. A. A. track meet held at Nashville last Friday and Saturday. Kentucky was represented by three men.

Out of seven teams Kentucky defeated only two, Florida and Sewanee running behind. Grabfelder, for Kentucky, won in the preliminaries held Friday in the 100-yard dash and 220, making the distance in 10 1-5 seconds and 23 1-5 seconds respectively. In the finals for the 100-yard dash Grabfelder ran third.

Marshall, in the hurdles, and Hodges, in the high jump, were eliminated in the preliminaries.

SHAKESPEARE PAGEANT IS GREAT SUCCESS

English Club Production of Plays and Dances Held on Campus

PARTS WELL PLAYED

The Shakespearean pageant, held yesterday afternoon on the campus, was a great success. The English Club of the University was in charge of the event, and although rainy weather caused a postponement Tuesday afternoon a large crowd was present to see the plays of the Bard of Avon performed in truly Elizabethan surroundings.

To all of the young actors who portrayed the characters in the play much praise is due, but the managers of the affair, Miss Rebecca Smith, president of the English Club; Professors Dantzier and Farquhar, Miss Frances Jewell and Miss Christine Hopkins deserve the greater part of the credit for the splendid performance. All the arrangements for staging and costuming were entirely in their hands and they were carried out correctly to the last detail.

The scene of the plays was the greensward near Limestone street and just in front of the old Chemistry Building.

Each scene was in charge of a separate chairman with Professor Farquhar supervising "Midsummer's Night's Dream"; Professor Dantzier, "Winter's Tale"; Miss Rebecca Smith, "Tempest," and Miss Christine Hopkins, "As You Like It." Among the prominent characters were Misses Rebecca Smith, Dew Flanery, Josephine and Jane Farrell, Mary Sayre Williams and Christine Hopkins, and "Babe" Lawson, Wayne Haffler, "Bill" Shinnick, Franklin Corn, Henry Powell, Waverley Briggs, Herbert Felix, Ray Gilbert, Boone Simpson and C. F. Richey.

Dan Roberts and Miss Helen Burkholder sang a number of Shakespearean lyrics and a May Pole dance by twenty fair co-eds was a feature.

HISTORY CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

The last meeting of the History Club this year was held in the Education Building Monday night with the entire membership present. Dr. J. K. Patterson, President Emeritus of the University, addressed the meeting on "Historical Research." An election of officers for the ensuing year was held, after which the meeting was converted into a social session and delicious refreshments served.

The following officers were chosen for next year: Frank Crum, president; Carrie Blair, vice president; Mary Stagg, secretary; J. M. Scott, treasurer, and M. U. Condit, publicity agent.

O. M. Edwards, president of the senior class, was called to his home in Caseyville Saturday by the death of his mother.
