

Banquet To Honor Dr. Rankin Tonight

June
30.
1941

A banquet honoring Dr. Fred W. Rankin, president-elect of the American Medical Association, will be held at 6:30 tonight at the Lexington Country Club by the Fayette County Medical Society. Dr. Charles McKinlay, president of the society, will preside.

Prominent guests attending the dinner will include Dr. Arthur McCormack, state health commissioner and member of the house of delegates of the A. M. A.; Dr. Elmer Henderson of Louisville, member of the board of trustees of the A. M. A.; Dr. Duffy Hancock of Louisville, member of the house of delegates of the A. M. A.; Dr. Irvin Abell of Louisville, former president of the association, and Dr. Shoulders of Nashville, Tenn., speaker of the association's house of delegates.

Dr. Rankin will take office as president at the association's meeting next summer.
