twas once believed that the first visitor on New Year's Day would bring either good luck or bad look the rest of the year. It was particularly lucky if that visitor happened to be a tall dark-haired man.

The song, "Auld Lang Syne," playing in the background, is sung at the stroke of midnight in almost every English-speaking country in the world to bring in the new year.

ten new year.

Early variations of the song were sung prior to 1700 and inspired the author to produce the modern rendition. An old Scotch tune, "Auld Lang Syne" literally means "old long ago," or simply, "the good old days." Here are the lyrics:

Should auld acquaintance be forgot and never brought to mind? Should auld acquaintance be forgot and days of auld lang and days of aud lang syne? For auld lang syne, my dear, for auld lang syne, we'll take a cup of kindness yet, for auld lang syne.

Should auld acquaintance be forgot and never brought to mind? Should auld acquaintance be forgot and days of auld lang syne? And here's a hand, my trusty friend And gie's a hand o' thine We'll tak' a cup o' kindness yete! For auld lang syne.

THE BOARD

Student representation on hold

Board of trustees tables Wethington's proposal to add four more members to presidential search committee

The UK Board of Trustees tabled a proposal to increase the number of representatives on the presidential search committee. The move was considered wise by some members, disturbing to others. "Increasing the committee from 10 to 14 would outreach the limits of manageability," said Daniel Reedy, board member and professor of Spanish and Italian. "It would be difficult in terms of logistics to get 14 people together for meetings."

Reedy recommended the tabling of the proposal for further study.

Other board members, including Alice Stevens Sparks, share Reedy's fear. Sparks called an increase "unworkable".

Despite the opposition, some board members voiced support for the proposal.

Jimmy Glenn, Std president and student trustee, spoke in favor of the proposal at the meeting, urging the board not to table it.

"I have a feeling that tabling the proposal would not address the matter," Glenn said.

Others agree.

"There are 20,000 undergraduates and 6,000 graduate students on this campus. The student body ought to be represented," said Russ Williams, staff trustee.

UK President Charles Wethington recommended the committee wethington recommended the committee be expanded from 10 members to 14 nembers to also include another student representative, an alumni representative, and two additional board members and to replace the community college representative with a staff member.

The committee on committees will study Wethington's proposal as well as the recommendations from SGA and the University sense to try to create a new proposal. If nothing can be compromised, the urrent 10-member committee will be used.

Wethington's proposal maintains the needed 50 50 balance between board members and representatives of the University

New vaccine makes UK ahead of the pack

Last month, horses across the U.S. received an early Christmas present thanks to Tom Chambers and Robert Holland, two researchers from UK's veterinary schence department of Agriculture licensed the first intranasal equine influenza vaccine, not yet available on the market, which Chambers and Holland had developed in cooperation with University of Pittsburgh virologists Patricia Whitaker-Dowling and Julius Younger.

"This is not a conventional design," Chambers said. "There's no history for equine intranasal flu vaccines for equine intranasal flu vaccine in the more consistent of the control of the c

In addition to being the first intransal vaccine, this new medication was created in a unique fashion. While most vaccines are created from viruses that have been "killed," this vaccine was created from a live virus which Chambers and Holland isolated from a sick horse. Other researchers have been working on intransal flu vaccines, but most of them still have some time before producing anything.

"This vaccine is about two years up on the competition," Chambers said. Understand the competition, "Chambers said the competition," the production will be the said with the was additionally licensed by the FDA in mid-November of last year, is being distributed by the Heska Corporation under the name Flu Avert I.N. There is the possibility that within the next five years the vaccine could take the disease from the top of the list of equine respiratory diseases to the bottom, he said.

"The most important aspect of this (vaccine development) is that there is fi-nally an equine flu vaccine that works," Chambers said.

LEX MILES

Episode #4 "The Abominable Tow-Man"

00258 AC 401 001 13 00260 ACC 201 001 23

Students are being transported all around Lexington without using cars. It happens quickly, efficiently, for only $50 a semester...and no one gets towed. There is only one possible explanation: LexTran.

Your ride is out there ...

$50 Getaround Passes · Bike Racks on Buses · Night Service · 80¢ a Ride Wheelchair Accessible · No Parking Hassles · Convenient Schedules More Locations · Shorter Waits · No Road Rage · Keep the Air Clean Get to Class-Rain or Snow · Sleep Later · An End to Parking Tickets As We Know Them · You No Longer Have to Fear the "Abominable Tow-Man"

going to be real good. -Tony Atkins, Georgia Tech guard

Kudos

"Kentucky is an excellent team. Kentucky is as good as any team I've seen, and they'll get better."

Logic

"People say they're not a super team, but how many super teams are there?"

Final word

"I think Kentucky will be there in the end."

Has UK turned around their season?
Five straight wins seem to say so. An upset of fifth-ranked Michigan State and a 30-point thrashing of archrival Louisville seem to say so.

A man of Cremins' intelligence wouldn't forget that his team has seen No. I-ranked Stanford, would bet super team. Teople say they're not are there? I think Kentucky will be there in the end," Cremins responded.

For Kentucky to even be mentioned in the same breath as Arizona, Stanford, Command the rest of the national title contenders, some miraculous changes must have taken place. Actually, the changes aren't that miraculous, but they we definitely been for the better:

The smaller lineup. When Wayne Turner graduated, his departure left a void of experienced ball-handlers. Sau Sunday and Tayshaun Prince—showed they were better off as secondary ball-handlers.

Say 'Hello' to Lexington's latest record label

Listen up: Hello Records brings a new style of doing business to the record industry and a committed record label to Lexington

Robert Quan

There's something serious brewing in an unassuming office building on the corner of Limestone and Vine streets. Formed in the fall of 1997, Hello Music, a music label based in Lexington, seems to be solidifying itself as a real force in the biz.

Hello Records released their first offerings — a couple of E.P.s from Lexington bands The .357s and Pleasureville, in the spring of 1998.

and Pleasureville, in the spring of 1998.

"Those E.P.s were used to acquire worldwide distribution and get things rolling." said Stefan Jefferies, president of Hello Music.

Excited people make exciting music and it's apparent that Jefferies has a passion for what he does. Jefferies speaks with a certain intensity as he discusses fielo Record's business plan and breaks down their complex business structure.

With booking offices in Tampa, Fla., and a hip hop/jazz cohort in the Bronx called True Villain Records, Jefferies formed a larger parent company called Global Mu-sic to oversee his numerous pro-jects. Global Music also oversees their expanding Internet presence, for which Jefferies has expansive

As a label, Hello Music provides its bands with broad exposure through GMG Distribution and GMC Entertainment, while still giving the hands on attention that only an independent label can provide, Jefferies said.

Hello Music is no slouch about promoting their bands, either, According to a press release, they send each of their band's promotional packages to the CMJ Top 300 radio stations, retail outlets across the United States and select publications for review.

"We have a different style of doing business with our bands, said Jefferies. "That's why bands like LA.'s Tounge decided to sign with us instead of Geffen or any of the other major's that have been after these guys."

hrst, said Jetteries.

In addition to the complete artistic freedom, Hello Music cuts a very healthy deal with their bands. Where at a major label artists usually receive 5-10% of the profits, Hello Music offers a 50-50 share of the profits from record sales and merchandise.

"Any band you talk to will say that they'd like to make a living playing music," Jefferies said. "We give them the opportunity to do that."
