PATTERSON HALL HAS A NEW READING ROOM

Faculty Invited to Unique "Book Party" Given Tonight

The rat-tat-tat of the hammer and the n-n-n of the carpenter's saw that disturbed quiet hours at Patterson Hall last week have transformed the right parlor into a reading room. The shelves and French doors were put in with funds provided by the board. Money realized from the sale of three Liberty Bonds, one bought by the Hall girls during the war, one bought with the proceeds of the Mardi Gras carnival two years ago and one owned by the Philosophian Literary Society has furnished this room with a handsome divan, two large chairs and gold cloth hangings.

Above the book shelves on each side of the grate hangs an alco gravure picture, on the left a section of Hyposyle Hall in the temple of Denderah, built by Rameses II, on the right a section of Hyposyle Hall in the temple of Karnak built by the son of Rameses II, gifts of Miss A. E. Crane who picked them up while in Egypt.

Two floor lamps are being made by students in the College of Engineering. Shades for these are being fashioned by students in the Art Department. Everything handy and all complete except the books!

Of course books are necessary to the efficiency of a reading room. A reading room without books would be as foolish as a greenhouse without plants or a University without professors. The girls are unfortunate in that the funds were exhausted before they got our books, but they are especially fortunate in having a faculty composed of men and women who have exquisite taste in literature, so a party has been arranged for Friday evening of this week to which each faculty member is invited to appear in costume representing a book which book he, or she will present as a gift to the reading room. All girls will also appear in "book costumes." President

COACH JIM PARKS TAKES CHARGE OF SQUAD

A Large Squad of Twirlers And Receivers out for Positions

Followers of the diamond have some thing of real interest to look forward to, this week as baseball coach Jim Park arrived Thursday and took up his duties.

The catchers and pitchers have been hard at it for some time working indoors and with the arrival of Coach Park, the men trying for the other positions will be given a tryout.

There is a great deal of good material out for the varsity squad and from all indications, Coach Parks should be able to develop a crack nine. Monday afternoon about a dozen players warmed up on Stoll Field for the first outdoor practice of this season, under the guidance of Paul Cooper who with Bud Slomer is directing the men until the arrival of Coach Park.

JUNIORS ATTENTION!

The names of all Juniors who have not paid their class dues by April 15, will be turned into the Student Council. A. B. students pay Otis Jones, John Albright, Fannie Summers Tarleton, Anna Louise Connor, Kitty Conroy. Agricultural students pay William Finn. Law and Engineering students pay J. Shouse.

NEW FOOTBALL RULES MAY BE SHORT LIVED

"Bo" McMillan and Coach Moran of Centre Give Encouragement

Football players who may have worried over the new rules of the game recently adopted by the football rules committee, thinking they would practically have to learn the game all over can take heart if they have confidence in "Bo" McMillan and Coach Moran of Centre College. "Bo" says, that the rules will not stick more than a year or two and Coach Moran says they will not make any great difference in the game anyway.

The rules are reprinted here for the benefit of those interested:

"Goal from touchdown. When a touchdown has been made, the side scoring the touchdown has possession of the ball anywhere on or outside the five-yard line for a scrimmage, from which by any legal play, as from any ordinary scrimmage, pass, kick or run they may score a field goal or touchdown and that the score of any character shall net them one point.

"If the attacking side makes a foul or illegal or incomplete pass or other play they lose their chance for the one point following a touchdown.

"If the defending side offends the rules, the score of one point shall be awarded to the attacking team."

Changes also were made in rules governing the shift play and clipping. The new shift rule reads:

"In all shift plays 'both feet stationary on the ground' is interpreted to mean a sufficient momentary pause as to admit the official seeing that the play is legal and that the ball is not snapped while the men are in motion. It is the intention of the rule that when a man shifts to a new position he shall come to a full stop so that all momentum is lost and make a new start from the position at rest where the ball is put in play."

The clipping rule follows:

"Clipping is throwing the body from behind across the leg or legs (below the knees) of a player not carrying the ball and shall be ruled as unnecessary roughness. Note—This rule is not meant to apply to the line plunging."

UNIVERSITY RIFLE TEAM WINS OVER V. P. I.

The University rifle team won the match over V. P. I. by a small five point lead. J. W. Phillips, a sophomore in Company C made the highest score of any cadet firing. His scores averaged 95 per cent and he was an important factor which enabled the team to win. ## LITTLE THEATRE SEASON OPENS WITH FOUR PLAYS

Dramatized by Students in Miss Jewell's English Class

Four one-act plays given in the Little Theatre Monday and Tuesday nights, dramatized by members of Miss Frances Jewell's play-writing class and directed and played by students, amply demonstrated the talent of University folk.

The first play, "Roses, Ruses and Romance," dramatized by Dorothea Murphy from the play by O. Henry was acted by John H. Warren, William Moore and Dorothea Murphy. Professor Carl Lampert gave several enjoyable selections during the intermission before the second play.

"Butterflies," dramatized by Carlisle Chenault from Rose Sidney's story, was well acted by Anne Hickman, John Vogel, Wilna Brown, Sue Chenault, Al Sturgis, Willy Sams, Charles Long and John Albright.

The third play was "Three Asunder," or "Till Death Do Us Part," written and directed by Arthur Hodges. The cast included Albert Hukle, Ida Kenney Risque, John Williams and William Hickerson. Attractive costumes and stage settings were designed by the Art Department.

Henry Taylor took the lead in the last play, "The American," supported by Jenette Lampert, Joe Wadsworth, Frances Green, F. T. Munford, Leslie Morton, Aubrey Smith, Clifford Hadon, Bryant Gover and Raymond Wilkey. This clever play was dramatized by Frances Marsh from the story by Frances Hart.

Monday evening's performance opened the Little Theatre season on the campus. The next program will be given March 27 and 28.

Season tickets for the plays may be secured from Miss Frances Jewell or Marguerite McLaughlin. The prices are $1.50 to students and $2.00 to outsiders. Since the Little Theatre receives no subsidy from the University and its entire expenses are met by the sale of tickets, the staff is very anxious to have a large sale of tickets.

DR. P. P. BOYD SPEAKS TO MATHEMATICS CLUB

Dr. P. P. Boyd was the speaker at the regular meeting of the White Mathematics Club, Thursday afternoon at 3:45. The next meeting of the club will be held March 23 Mr. Augustus Sisk will speak on "Negative Numbers."

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Mrs. I. D. Best, prominent in city Y. W. C. A. work spoke to the Y. W. C. A. girls in Patterson Hall last Sunday evening on "What Makes Life Successful" Lula Blakey, member of the Alpha Xi Delta fraternity, which had charge of the program, conducted the meeting.

The successful life, according to Mrs. Best is a life of service. The road culminating in success is a road that winds uphill all the way and is beset by many difficulties. A refreshing thought, after all the adverse criticism youth has been receiving, was brought out by Mrs. Best when she said that despite some surface faults the young people of today seemed to her to be thinking more seriously of their part in the world's work than ever before; that they seemed eager to serve.

It was just the other day
In a fortune telling place,
A pretty maiden read my mind
And then she slapped my face.

Wife: "Darling, darling."
Husband: "Yes, my dear."
Wife: "Don't be foolish, Charles I was calling Toodles."—London Mail.

Dr. McVey Speaker

The next two years will be a critical period in the history of the University and financial and other problems will demand the utmost loyalty and support of all alumni and friends. President McVey told the Lexington Alumni Club at a luncheon last Saturday, March 11, at the Lafayette hotel. Dr. McVey paid a tribute to the eleven alumni in the House and to J. W. Stoll, '82, the University graduate in the State Senate.

Professor Carl A. Lampert gave two violin solos, accompanied by Mrs. L. M. Solot, and the president, W. C. Weston, '13, was in the chair. Lester O'Bannon, '15 Captain Joseph E. Torrence, '16, and Ed Dabney, '20, were named as a sub committee on activities to have charge of the monthly programs. The next meeting will be at 12:30 o'clock, Saturday, April 8.

President McVey spoke on "The Present Situation," reviewing the action of the house of representatives in increasing the University appropriation $120,000 over the budget report and speaking on the debt of gratitude which the University and alumni owe to Hon. J. W. Stoll in the senate, eleven alumni who are members of the house, and Herbert Graham, secretary of the Alumni Association, for their constant efforts in behalf of the institution since the opening of the Legislature. Their service has been notable and they have worked early and late in the face of great disadvantages and difficulties, he said.

Problems inside the university are at a minimum, and the State is to be congratulated on the whole attitude of students and faculty, Dr. McVey said. "The University has a spirit, a purpose and fundamentals which will be victorious and it will endure long after the life of the present generation," he said. "Our part is that of pioneers building for the future and to give it loyalty, sympathy, courage, strength and the benefit of the doubt in controversies until we know the truth. We must catch the spirit of learning, science and literature to have a conception of what a university is. The State can come to the front only through education, and the university is one of the great agencies by which Kentucky will realize a larger place in the nation."

Evolutionists Win Fight in Kentucky; Restrictive Bill Beaten by one Vote.

The Anti-Evolutionists lost their Legislative fight in Kentucky today when the House of Representatives turned down their bill by a vote of 42 to 41. This marked the close of a contest that began January 23, following an address by William J. Bryan, before the Legislature, in which he attacked evolution as synonymous with atheism.

Preachers speaking on the bill today called it un-American and the forerunner of an era of intolerance. Supporters of the measure, which was entitled an "act to prohibit the teaching of Darwinism, atheism, agnosticism and evolution as pertaining to the origin of man," said that these teachings were breaking down religious faith and that Prussianism and Darwinism were closely akin.

President Frank L. McVey, of the University of Kentucky, called to speak to the House of Representatives, said that the University had taught the same fundamental things for half a century. He denied that there was a single atheist in the faculty.

The Declaration of Independence and the Federal and State Constitutions were invoked in arguments on both sides of the question. The Bible and text books on geology and zoology were quoted freely against evolution.

"But for laws we already have I fear that some one would be burned at the stake today," said Representative George C. Wagoner, a preacher, as he referred to "Shadows of the dark ages hanging over us."

A representative, a high official in the Masonic Lodge of Kentucky, whose vote against the bill made it a tie, called the pastor of his church by telephone while the roll call was in progress for final advice as to how to vote. The representative from "Bloody" Breathitt County cast the deciding vote against the bill.

Charges were made that there was a million dollar fund behind a National movement akin to the bill. Publicity and advertisements appearing locally have been traced to Chicago. "New York Times."

"Back the University"

"Your letter of February 23 came in time and I had the pleasure of reading it to our Denver Alumni Chapter at its meeting on March 2nd, J. A. Brittain, '18, the president, said in a letter to the alumni office. "On the above date we had a very nice dinner and get-together at the University Club. Every one present was very much pleased with the idea of President McVey's visit to Denver. We want you folks to know (who are back in Old Kentucky) that we have in Denver a live and enthusiastic Alumni Chapter. We will back everything that is good for the University with all the strength at our command. We will be only too glad to have you advise us from time to time just what is happening."

"Duck" Writes the News

The University contingent at Owensboro is well and prospering "as well as could be expected in these dark days of the Republican administration," Greecan "Duck" Pedley, '16, reports. Needless to say, Duck is a Democrat; he is managing editor of the Owensboro Inquirer.

"Broddie Payne got several letters from people down here as the result of the work done by y. t. in the columns of the Owensboro Inquirer," says "Duck." "The Rotary Club, of which I am a member, acted on the matter and wrote letters to house and senate members. Personally, I am somewhat disappointed that the appropriation was not larger but suppose it is good considering the bad year financially and all the other stones that always lie in the path of beneficial legislation applied to our Alma Mater.

"The Kernel is improving. Squirrel Food particularly, I think, is more attractive, even though this must be said at the expense of our old buddy, Bill Shinnick.

"My Buddy Memo is working here now which is pleasant for us both. He has a young son who will shortly be ready to don the Blue and White of the Wildcats. There is also a young Judge Penick coming on."

The "Nemo" he refers to is no other than G. N. McCarty, '16, who is with Ballard and Ballard Company, residence 509 West Ninth street. Mrs. McCarty was Anita Crabbe, ex-18. And "Judge" Penick is E. S. Penick, '16 attorney at Elkton, Ky.

Alumni in Schenectady
 On a trip with Dean Paul Anderson

the first of the month to Schenectady, N. Y., where both were speakers at a joint meeting of various engineering societies, Thornton Lewis, '13, vice president of the York Heating and Ventilating Company, saw several alumni, he states.

"We ran in to several of the alumni, among them Keith Adamson, '05, major in the ordnance department, U. S. Army, who I understand is very highly thought of in the service and who has charge of some very important work at the Waterfleet Arsenal near Schenectady, but whose headquarters are at Washington. We also met a young man Wm. Knoell David, Lexington, of the class of 1919; and lastly greatly enjoyed meeting Bryan Shanklin, class of '11. Shanklin is one of the big men in the research laboratory conducted by the General Electric Company at Schenectady, and works a great deal with Dr. Steinmetz and Dr. W. R. Whitney, who is director of this laboratory."

At the opening of his letter, Mr. Lewis states: "I have been following in the newspapers and also through the Kernel the fine work which you and others of the alumni have been doing in Kentucky to further the interest of the University. Here in Philadelphia we have been doing what little we can and have written a number of letters to various members of the Legislature."

William David, '19, is in the sighting department of the General Electric Company at Schenectady, and his home at 29 Livingston avenue. Mrs. David was Mary Josephine Thomas, '18.

George Gryan Shanklin, '11 is a native of Lexington and is in the consulting engineering department of the General Electric Company at Schenectady. His residence address is 7 Ardsley Road.

Keith Frazee Adamson, '05, is of Maysville. Before entering the army in 1917, he was assistant professor of mechanical engineering at the Case School of Applied Science at Cleveland, and previous to that was instructor in mechanical engineering at the University of Pennsylvania. His present address is 1324 Park Road, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Alumni at Tournament

Lee Hunt, '13, who is teaching mathematics and is physical director at the Ashland, Ky., high school, was in charge of the girls' team which won the State Championship in the high school tournament last week in the University gymnasium. The Ashland girls outclassed their opponents and won in a walk.

Garnett J. McKinney, '21, who is teaching mathematics and is physical director at the Versailles high school, was in charge of the girls' team from Versailles at the tournament.

John Brooks Juet, '21, better known as "Tubby," was at the tournament with his girls' team, which had the misfortune to draw Ashland for its final game.

Lucille Dean, '20, physical education for the girls at the Paducah high school had her hopefuls at the tournament, who reached the semi-finals. She remained over Sunday before returning.

Captain John W. McDonald, '15, U. S. Cavalry, and Mrs. McDonald announce the birth of a son, John W. Jr., at Colbenz, Germany, on February 18, 1922. In 1916 Captain McDonald was seed analyst with the Ross Seed Company, Louisville, entering the army in 1917 where he won a commission, later being promoted to his present rank. His address is Provost Marshal's Department, A. F. G. A. P. O. No. 927, Colbenz, Germany.

Frazier Gains Prominence

A feature of the debate on evolution before the House of Representatives last week was the speech of Representative Emery L. Frazier, ex-'22, in defense of the University and "freedom as guaranteed by the constitutions of the United States and of Kentucky." Mr. Frazier is known as "the boy orator" of the lower house. He has been mentioned repeatedly as a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals in the next state election. He should be one of the strongest candidates in the field.

Elam Renders Service

The Kentucky School News published weekly at Frankfort, by S. S. Elam, '18, has been a valuable aid to the University in its recent "truth" campaign. Mr. Elam was a student at the University long before the war but returned in 1918 to complete the work for his degree. His paper circulates largely among the teachers and county and city school superintendents. Its influence on legislation has been marked.

The offices to be filled are president, vice-president, Secretary-treasurer and two members of the executive committee.

E. L. Lambert, B. S. in Ag., '17, writes: "I am not a member of the Association at the present time, but would like to be. Please inform me just what to do, and I will be glad to conform." Mr. Lambert is with the Davey Tree Expert Company, and his address is 310 Mercantile Library Building, Cincinnati, O.

GALLEY SEVEN

Says Elizabeth Davidson, '20, assistant principal of the high school at Beaver Dam, Ky.: "Am enclosing a check which I hope will help out just a little bit. We in our part of the state are proud of the University and hope it will continue its good work. We know the Kernel is going to get better all the time and wish it success."

Honestly, that was it). His present address is apartado 150, Tamps, Mexico (Potrero, Camp). "Am enjoying the weather here though tonight I have the steam heat turned on in my room," he says. "Last night was too warm—having a 'norther' now. Business is slow here now many of the companies being at a standstill."

"WOE WORTH THE CHASE!"

The evolution fight is over for the time being at least, and the bitterness excited thereby will probably pass as new issues demand public attention. The incident has not been unpleasant one. A fine old English phrase is that which describes a contract as a "meeting of minds". That was exactly what was missing in the "Monkey controversy." The opponents of evolution argue perhaps too dogmatically from an arbitrary system of theology which to them is as sacred as the revealed word of God. This theology is rejected in whole or in part by the new school of religious and scientific thinkers. Both sects read the same Bible and pray to the same God, but both get different concepts of life and religion. The evolutionist takes as a fundamental premise certain scientific conclusions which are not even known to the great majority of his opponents. Neither has convinced the other, because neither has found a common ground upon which to base his argument. The old school hurls the epithets "atheist" and "agnostic" at the evolutionist who answers by contemptuously referring to his enemies as "bigots" and "hypocrites." There would be an element of humor in the situation were it not for the blighting effect on higher education in Kentucky.

Kentucky is not alone in this revival of the medieval spirit. A few days ago a state senator in one of the proudest of the New England states introduced a law which sought to compel the citizens of that state to attend church every Sunday. The state had fallen away from the godliness of its early days according to the minister-legislator who sponsored the bill, and it was time that the state should go back to the good old days of the Puritan Fathers. While he did not mention witchcraft, it is to be presumed that his next move will be to suppress that iniquitous practice. It may be that the bill was a joke, because when it was called up for consideration in the committee there was not a single vote for it. Its author was absent that day. At any rate it is interesting to know that we have such distinguished company in our attempt to regulate the scientific and religious opinions of our citizens.

These two states have stood together before. The "First" born and fairest daughter of the Old Dominion" was the first state in the American Union which gave full manhood suffrage. At one blow the new state did away with all the privileges of rank and wealth. She did more even than this. She sent to the national forum men who profoundly influenced the character of the new nation. Men like Clay, Breckenridge and Crittendon helped to make the American Government a democratic one in fact and not in theory only. In this work we found no better friends than our simple, hard-fisted and keen thinking Yankees. While Clay was thrilling with renewed hope the hearts of the Grecian patriots and encouraging Bolivar and his companions to resist the power of a decadent Spain, Webster was preaching the doctrine of a greater America, and Whittier was singing of universal freedom for all men regardless of race or color. But when it comes to education we must give our new-found rival the palm because she harbors one of the oldest and greatest of all American Universities. All this consoles us in our trip to Utopia by way of religio-legislative enactment.

These two states might well head the procession alone, but there is still another contender in the person of the Empire State. A bill has just been introduced into the lower house of the New York General Assembly which seeks to define by law just what shall be the proper method of dancing. The New York Times of Sunday March 12 gives a series of pictures illustrating the proper manner of holding, and the proper distance to keep between the partners. It is needless to say that the correct air space between partners is about one foot. All such steps as the "shimmy," and the "cat walk" are barred while cheek dancing is sternly forbidden. The dancers must keep an erect and dignified posture at all times, and remember that the correct dancer never gets out of step. The paper fails to tell what steps have been taken to control the thoughts and the conversation of the dancers, but no doubt it is the fault of the reporter that such essential was left out.

The late Senator Blackburn loved to tell the following incident which illustrates very well the question in point: One day while he was making his race for senator, he overheard one of his adherents loudly denouncing the opposing candidate, and promising better times when Blackburn should be elected. One of the on-lookers was not of the same opinion and asked the old man what he was going to do with the law of supply and demand which regulated the prosperity of the country.

"O that's an easy one," said the old man, "when Joe Blackburn is elected, he is going to have that law repealed."

In addition to being president of Cotner University Reverend Harmon is president of the National Board of Education of the Disciples of Christ and is an able speaker. Mrs. Harmon is also a speaker of some note, being actively interested in women's clubs and missionary societies of her state. There are three children in the family, one of whom is a missionary in China. The mission where she is located was until recently supported by Transylvania College.

Doctor Harmon was elected to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Dr. R. H. Crossfield in June of last year. Dr. Thomas B. McCartney has been acting as head of the three institutions until a president could be elected. Doctor Crossfield was recently elected president of William Woods College at Fulton, Missouri.

TRACK TEAM TO MEET
LOUISVILLE MARCH 18

Strong Schedule Planned in Every Phase of the Cinder
Path Meets

A squad of track stars fleet of foot and scant of attire showed up on Stoll Field Monday afternoon for a brisk workout in preparation for the first event of the season, the annual meet of the Louisville Amateur Athletic Association which will be held at Louisville Saturday March 18 at 7 p. m. in the Armory.

The squad will leave for Louisville Saturday morning with Coach Buchheit in charge. The men who will probably make the trip are: Clare, Snyder, Nantz, Porter, Wilhelm or Boyd of the relay team and Daddison who will enter in the shot put. Besides the relay Clare, Snyder and Porter will enter other events, Clare participating in the hurdles and sprints, Snyder in the 440 yard run open, and Porter in the mile event.

The practice of Monday afternoon on Stoll Field was the first outdoor practice of the season. The men have been working hard indoors for some time and are in excellent condition. It has been reported that some of the best athletics in the country will compete in Saturday's meet. The Wildcats realize that there will be keen competition and are working with a will and are fast whipping into form under the skillful guidance of Coach Buchheit.

Reports have been received that Centre and Louisville will enter strong teams. The Illinois Athletic Club is considering entering Murchison in the sprints, Knourneck in the pole vault and Joie Ray in the distance events. Connel a miler from Georgetown University at Washington, is also scheduled to participate. Yale may also be represented, it being reported that three men are entered from that college.

If the men above mentioned contend in the Louisville event, Kentucky will be opposed by some of the best athletes in the country and will be given a hard struggle in the contest for the honors. This, however, is just what the speed merchants desire, and they are rarin' to go.

Coach Buchheit reports that the track schedule has been completed with the exception of the Vanderbilt meet which has not been definitely decided upon. The track schedule is as follows:

ENGINEERING NEWS

Although several hundred miles distant, the sermon delivered by William Jennings Bryan at the Parkway Presbyterian Church at Pittsburg, Pa. was heard clearly and distinctly by a small but appreciative audience at the University Radio room Sunday evening.

The apparatus for transmitting Mr. Bryan's sermon to all sections of the country was installed at the church by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. J. E. Wilkins, president of the Radio Club was in charge of the apparatus that reproduced the message here.

LAW COLLEGE NEWS

The Henry Clay Law Society, presided over by P. E. Ashby president, held a smoker at its meeting last Thursday night. Judge Lafferty, who was a member of the Kentucky Legislature during the Goebel murder fiasco and who was afterward Prosecuting Attorney and judge of the Harrison County Court, regaled the gathering with stories of Kentucky politics.

The meeting was a decided success and the next of its kind is eagerly looked forward to by the "embryo" lawyers.

"Pat" Vincent, who was operated on for appendicitis Saturday is convalescing at St. Joseph's Hospital. He will probably be out of school for two weeks but in the meantime the boys are making his enforced confinement pleasant by frequent visits.

Berl Boyd, our representative in the Legislature gave us a "formal" visit Monday morning. The "gentleman from Graves" announced that he would be back to grace our halls next week and prepare for the next edition of the Law Journal.

Broadus Hickerson, captain of the U. of K. track team of '16 and a veteran of the World War, communicated the joyful news that he was going to wrest the weight honors from Fest and Davidson this spring. "Hick" was a shot-putter and hammer man of note in the old day.

Five of the six members of the U. of K. debating team are from the Law Department. They are: Fielder, Johnson, R. L. Hayes, S. B. Neal and C. M. C. Porter.

At a meeting of the mock legislative assembly of the University Thursday, February 9, the body was reorganized and officers were elected for the second semester: Speaker of the House, A. V. McRee; Secretary, J. C. Merz; Sergeant at Arms, H. T. Allen; Chaplain, James Wilhelm.

At the meeting at the fifth hour Thursday March 16, the following bills were introduced: for discussion:

1. A plan for a cooperative store and restaurant.
2. Prohibition of freshmen entering the poolrooms during the first semester of their first year in the University.

Institute For Leaders Held
At Patterson Hall

The institute for training of leadership of young girls was held at Patterson Hall last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday under the leadership of Miss Margaret West of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A. Miss West has charge of the younger girls' club under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. and for the last month she has been working in Kentucky.

FREE FLU-PNEUMONIA
VACCINE FURNISHED

University Dispensary Will Administer This Preventative To Students

The purpose of the Dispensary is not merely that of a curative agent for colds; not merely that (to paraphrase) a stitch in time saves a scar; but a clearing house for advice such as a resident physician can give; a "How to Live" sermon, a practice of the principles of preventive medicine in an individual and community sense.

The Department of Hygiene has ordered a supply of flu-pneumonia vaccine which will be furnished students free of charge. It is not too late to take this, and the dictates of common sense should automatically argue the individual student to request the vaccine.

There is nothing miraculous claimed for this vaccine, no exaggerated promises, simply the fact that Kentucky physicians and health officers generally use and commend it. The probability of severe influenza is lessened, the imminence of pneumonia often made a negative quantity, and individual profits thereby.

The administration is by hypodermic in the arm, and the "reaction" seldom worthy of notice, comparatively few "sore arms" resulting. The time interval as a prophylactic agent is seven days, less when complaint of oncoming or actual symptoms.

Arrangements will be made at Dispensary as to hours for giving and time interval.

DR. E. N. ESTES GIVES
LECTURE AT Y. M. C. A.

Takes as His Subject, "Medicine as a Like Work."

Dr. E. N. Estes, practicing physician of Lexington, was the speaker at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last Sunday evening. His subject was, "Medicine as a Life Work."

Doctor Estes said every young man ought to make up his mind as to what he intended to do in life and then to prepare and work toward that end. He stated that the day had come when a physician could make a fair living out of his profession. This has not always been so with doctors.

Doctor Estes said that he believed God called men to be doctors and that he was positive that he himself had been called by God to take up this profession. "Medicine stands second to none in helping people in their spiritual lives. The doctor is admitted to the sick room when the minister is barred and a doctor who is not a thorough Christian man is short of being most efficient in his work."

THE WOMAN PAYS

"And you'll love me ever and ever," he sighed as he snuggled closer within her encircling arms.

"Yes, dearest, and I shall build you the cutest little bungalow somewhere below Camden, just big enough for you and me," she said as she kissed him.

"This is a wonderful country," she mused, "and to think that perhaps some day I shall be President of it all."

"I know you will, my love," he assured her, "but tell me more of our bungalow."

She spoke earnestly of their Jersey love-nest-to-be. The first floor had received her minute description and she commenced upon the second when her mother's angry voice broke in from the top of the stairs: "Henry, let her build that second floor tomorrow night. It's half past twelve."

Henry's friend rushed for her hat and passed out into the night.

AGRICULTURE NOTES

The animal husbandry department of the College of Agriculture has just received two purebred Shorthorn steers from W. J. and B. A. Thomas of Shelbyville, Ky. One of these steers was purchased by the department and the other was presented by B. A. Thomas. Both steers are sired by Harvestown Grandee, the Thomas herd bull that is attracting so much attention as a Shorthorn sire. One will show as a junior yearling and the other as a junior calf. These steers will be fitted by the animal husbandry department and exhibited at the State Fair and International Livestock Exposition.

PLANS ARE MADE FOR IMPROVING NEW DORM

Those Applying for Rooms
Must Move In At Once

The dormitory men met last Thursday evening to discuss plans for improving the new dorm; having the mail distributed through the dorm, a telephone put in, the repairing of the hot water system and the installing of drinking fountains.

Dean Melcher was present and discussed general topics relating to the dormitory men. He said that if the ex-service men who had applied for rooms did not move in at once the rooms would be let out. Dean Melcher suggested that perhaps some ladies would be kind enough to come over to the dorm and decorate the reception room with pictures and curtains.

Will Hutcherson was elected chairman of the committee and Patrick Vincent, J. L. Hays, H. V. McClure, G. W. Baumgarten and George Aken were appointed members of the committee.

Another dormitory meeting was held Monday night, at which time sealed bids for distributing the mail through the building were handed in and that of C. O. Warren was accepted. Committees were appointed to help the men on the fourth floor to change their rooms to the third floor, get the men on their respective floors to nominate sixteen men from which President McVey will select eight to act as a student council for the new dormitory.

Bart Peak, Y. M. C. A. secretary, suggested the forming of a discussion group to meet once a week and study social problems. Tuesday night was decided upon as the time for these discussion groups.

Local Insurance Man Talks to Delta
Sigma Pi.

The members of Eta Chapter of the international fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi were hosts of Mr. W. C. Wilson of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company at their regular business meeting Tuesday evening, March 14. Mr. Wilson spoke at length of the expanding insurance field in America.

Although England is still the leading insurance field of the world, America has made great strides in the last few years. There is no field of economics which offers more opportunity for scientific and careful study than the field of insurance. Insurance rates and risks based on mathematical calculations as complex and definite as those of the great engineering projects. With such men as Mr. Wilson in the field and with the increased interest on the part of the Universities this country well expect to equal any other nation in the number and size of our companies in a few years. The Department of Economics of the University offers as one of the best courses the study of insurance.

DR. LIPSCOMB IS NEW
RESIDENT PHYSICIAN

Asks Students To Notify Him Immediately In Case of Illness

Dr. W. N. Lipscomb, successor of Doctor McClain, has arrived at the University to take up his duties in the Dispensary as resident physician. Doctor Lipscomb comes to the University from Georgetown where he has been director of the Scott County Health Department for a year and a half. He resigned his position there to accept the offer of the University.

Doctor Lipscomb is a graduate of the Medical Department of the University of Texas where he was editor of the "University Medical," a scientific and scholastic publication. He also attended A. & M. College in Texas, and Southwestern University at Georgetown. Since graduating Doctor Lipscomb has done lecture and practice work along medical lines. He was a lieutenant in the Medical Corps during the war and was discharged with the rank of captain in the Medical Reserve. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta and Phi Chi, national medical fraternities.

Dr. Lipscomb is very much pleased with conditions here and plans to make of the Dispensary a place that will be of even more benefit, if possible, to the students than formerly. He wishes all the students to come to him immediately in case of any illness and every attention will be given them. He is a man of varied and wide experience and the University is fortunate in having such a man in the Dispensary.

Arrangements for placing sixty-five more former service men in training at the University of Kentucky have been completed by the executive committee of the Board of Trustees. The University already has 120 men taking vocational training.

The American University Union, has invited the colleges of the United States to send representatives to Columbia University for a conference on English to be held at that institution in June. One of the English professors will probably be chosen to attend.

Announcement has been made of the receipt of $5,000 from the Kentucky Jockey Club for the purpose of continuing investigation of abortion in mares. The money will be given to the Agricultural Experiment Station, which has made an exhaustive study of the subject. This is the second donation of $5,000 made by the Jockey Club to the University.

Dr. W. N. Lipscomb, former director of the Scott County Board of Health at Georgetown, was chosen to succeed Dr. A. G. Ireland as resident physician for men. Doctor Lipscomb, who is 23 years old, is a graduate of the University of Texas in medicine.

Prof. Homer R. Jackson, a graduate of the University of Iowa, was appointed extension agent in the poultry department at the Experiment Station. The resignation of Professor R. H. Ridgell, chemist in the fertilizer department at the Experiment Station, was accepted by the executive committee.

CAMPUS CHATTER

The tour to the various towns in Kentucky which the Strollers were intending to make during the Easter holidays has been postponed, due to the fact that Lent will be Easter week and the managements of various opera houses in the towns contemplated have notified the Strollers that on account of Lent they would not be able to play as full houses as they desired. The additional facts that as Easter will be the spring holiday of the University students, and that so many notable theatrical events are scheduled for Lexington the closing days of March, the Strollers will probably not play "The Thirteenth Chair" until well in April.

An interesting problem that has presented itself to the Athletic Council of the University and which that body is attempting to solve is that of providing additional space to take care of the public that is clamoring more and more every year for entrance to the basket ball games. The present quarters are so inadequate in seating capacity that the Athletic Council feels that it has lost heavily throughout the season just closing by not being able to provide for such crowds. It is estimated that it has lost several thousand dollars in the season just closed this way.

The senior class in Journalism has been assigned as one of their class papers in criticism a review of the great Skinner play, "Blood and Sand," to be given at the auditorium Saturday matinee and night. This assignment is made to emphasize the instruction in dramatic criticism.

Dean Anderson left Monday night for Pittsburg where he is acting during a year's leave of absence as head of the American Association of Engineers. Dean Anderson spent several busy days checking upon work being done in the Engineering College, and while here told several friends he expected to return permanently to the University in August.

The Athletic authorities of the University are contemplating extensive additions to the seating capacity of Stoll field by the building on the north side a stand to take care of the spectators for the spring zase ball games. Considerably more than a hundred feet of stand will probably be built.

Horace Mann Literary Society held its regular meeting Thursday evening, the chief feature being the address made by Professor J. L. Douglas of the Education Department. Professor Douglas made a most interesting and instructive talk, taking "Literature" as his subject.

Clara Traylor gave a very delightful reading.

The program for this week will consist of a paper dealing with the psychology of children's lies by Virginia Foreman. Common beverages will be discussed by Charles Hubbard and the program will be concluded with some musical selections given by Miram Kincheole at the mandolin and Elsie Rache at the guitar.

"The Present Status of Chemistry" was the subject of an address by Dr. Harrison E. Howe, editor of the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, at the 77th meeting of the Lexington section of the American Chemical Society, held in the Chemistry lecture room Wednesday afternoon at 3:30.

Plans completed for a series of afternoon parades by the University Battalion make it possible to hold the first parade of the series early in April. According to present arrangements of the Military Department two parades will be held each month on the University campus at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

In consideration of the extra drill service the Military Department is granting excuses from classes in military work at the next meeting of the Company.

Dr. J. T. C. Noe, head of the Department of Education at the University who sailed last week for a European tour, will probably represent the University at the seven hundredth anniversary of the founding of the University of Naples. President Frank L. McVey has received an invitation GALLEY FOUR to have a representative of the University attend the ceremonies. He will communicate with Professor Noe, who is on a six month's leave of absence during which time he will visit England, France, Switzerland and Italy before returning in the summer.

Word has been received by officials of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station from Havana, Cuba, that the last issue of "Agricultura Zoologica", an agricultural publication of the Cuban government, contained the reprint of an article by E. S. Good, head of the station animal husbandry department dealing with infectious absorption in mares. The Cuban publication is among the most recent of a large number of agricultural journals to reproduce articles dealing with the effective work done in Kentucky to control the disease, it is said.

Dr. P. K. Holmes, head of the Department of Health and Hygiene at the University, will attend the annual convention of the Middle West Physical Education Association in Des Moines, Iowa, the first week in April. He is a member of the executive committee and chairman of the College Men's Section, for which he is arranging the program.

Miss Maybelle Cornell, head of the Department of Home Economics of the University, gave a delightful talk before The Business and Professional Woman's Club of the City Y. W. C. A. Friday evening. Miss Cornell talked on the subject, "Design in Dress as Adapted to the Business and Professional Woman." The lecture was one of the most interesting in the series being given at the club meeting. Chart in form and color were used to illustrate the many points presented by the speaker. She emphasized a phase of the practical often lost sight of, namely, that the truly practical, in the last analysis possesses the chief elements of beauty. Miss Cornell is one of the most valued members of the club.

"The University of Kentucky stands for truth, the highest religious ideals and the building of men and women as tolerant high-minded citizens of the state," President McVey declared in an address to the members of the Lexington Alumni Club at the luncheon at the Lafayette Hotel Saturday. He commended very highly the work of the alumni association and its secretary, Herbert Graham, in their untiring efforts to secure an increased appropriation for the University.

"The Gift of the Magi" written by O. Henry and dramatized by Frances Marsh will be given before the Woman's Club in Mt. Sterling, Friday, March 17. The characters in the play will be taken by Kitty Conroy, Sue Chenault and John Williams.

Friday is "University of Kentucky Day" at the Club in Mt. Sterling and several faculty members and students of the University will take part in the program.

Dean Melcher conducted the devotional at the regular freshmen chapel Tuesday and then turned the meeting over to Walter Ferguson, president of the freshmen class for the purpose of making the plans for the freshman dance which is to be given at the Armory next Saturday afternoon.

KENTUCKY LEADS IN STANDARDIZATION OF PURE POULTRY FLOCKS

Organization of Club Has Helped Industry in Fifty-Six Counties of State

IS U. OF K. PROJECT

College of Agriculture is Breeding for Increased Egg Production

The County standardization of poultry breeds in Kentucky has proved of great value; not only has it resulted in marked improvement in the average quality of fowls, but it has increased the interest in poultry keeping and has brought about numerous active County Poultry Associations.

This movement was started in 1914 and from a small beginning, with two counties enrolled, now extends over 56 counties of the state. This standardization, or community breeding, as the name implies, means the selection of one breed of poultry for one specified section of the state. In this way cooperation is assured, better product results, better facilities for breeding and selling are made certain, and more interest among breeders creates a better strain of birds.

It has been found that the care of the average farm flock is usually proportioned to the quality of the stock. In other words the average mongrel flock receives but little consideration, while most of the standardized flocks are given considerable care and attention. Because of this fact, it was thought that if the Kentucky farmers could be induced to keep standard-bred poultry, they would soon become interested in the proper housing, feeding and management of the flock. This is just what has happened and today Kentucky is leading the country in this line of poultry work.

Methods of Establishing the Work.

After the county agricultural organization has met and adopted a county breed, some local bank or business house is asked to back the proposition. The eggs are then purchased and sold to the farmer. He either pays cash, or returns to the bank, in the fall, one pullet for each setting of eggs. In this way the poorer farmer is given a good opportunity for making a start in the work. After this plan has been established in a county for two or three years, usually enough eggs can then be produced to supply the demand. It might be mentioned here that farmers whose flocks have been culled by a representative of the poultry department of the University, or by the county agent, are given preference in orders for hatching eggs.

As a result of this work the "Southern eggs" that used to sell at three to four cents below the market, now go on the market on the basis as "Western firsts".

One of the outstanding advantages of this standardization work has been the resulting county poultry associations. It has been found that counties which have taken an active interest in the standardization plan have also become quite interested in all poultry problems and have organized county poultry associations in order to group together the poultry specialists of the community.

Conclusion.

In general, the Standardization Plan consists of organizing a community or a county into an organization in order to produce a uniform product in both eggs and poultry. Those who cooperate in this standardization work gain financially in two ways. First, in the cheaper methods of marketing, since the association can advertise its breed and thus save the cost of individual advertising, and, secondly, in that a uniform, standardized product will bring higher prices. It has been found that those farmers, who have standardized their flocks, have become interested in securing breeding cockerels from the bred-to-lay strains. The demand this season was far in excess of the supply. The poultry department of the University is breeding for egg production, at the college farm, and four breeds which have been chosen by the various counties are: Banded and White Plymouth Rocks, White Wyandotter, and S. C. Reds. The surplus cockerels are sold to the farmers of the state for a nominal sum. It is hoped that a large number of the poultry men in the state will soon be producing breeding cockerels from laying strains to meet the growing demand. Other states may well take note of this method of standardization, in which Kentucky is now heading the list.

FRITZ KREISLER

Fritz Kreisler, master violinist and master musician, who will come to Lexington for a concert at Woodland Auditorium Monday night, March 20, repudiates the charge that the concerto has been doomed because of its properties of display which it is said by some are no longer a successful means of holding modern audiences. The ultra moderns are seeking to cry out of court the older and time-honored forms in music and among these is the concerto with its movements, the first long and elaborately developed, the second songful, and the third merry, usually in a dondo form. One reason Kreisler gives for the failing approval is that concert-goers have today grown restless and they do not wish to listen to long compositions.

The Kreisler concert is the fifth and last of the Artist Concert Series for the season of 1921-1922 and season tickets may be used. Tickets are now on sale at the Lexington College of Music, telephone 639-X.

SOUSA'S BAND

John Philip Sousa with his famous band has made twenty-nine years of prodigious travel through Europe and one tour around the globe, lasting more than a year. Having directed his wonderful organization in concert, it might seem that Sousa, who will appear, matinee and night, at Woodland Auditorium Thursday, March 23, would be weary of concert giving and travel of every sort.

So as the concert giving is concerned, Mr. Sousa does not lag or languish in the least. On the contrary, the Sousa concerts which are distinctive the world over, a type apart from all others, are things of his own creation, ever of pride to himself.

The Sousa concerts are not included in the Artist Concert Series and tickets for the band concerts are now on sale at Lexington College of Music, telephone 639-X. Where students wish to attend the matinee and will buy seats in a block of 20 the matinee price will be reduced to 55 cents.

Blue Devils and won the title in the high school tournament, which was held in the University gymnasium here last Friday and Saturday. The last game of the tournament between Lexington and Frankfort ended in a 55 to 7 victory for the Blue Devils. Incidentally the winning team was invited to participate in the national interscholastic basketball tournament which will be held at Chicago University April 5 to 8.

This invitation was accepted at a meeting of the athletic Council held Wednesday afternoon. This announcement was made by Prof. Charles E. Skinner, principal of the high school. Word has not been received from the girls team at Ashland as to what they intend to do.
