Dean Holmes Gives Talks Against Drinking, 'Necking'

Dean of Women Sarah B. Holmes lashed out this week at the twin evils of drinking and "necking", in a series of informal talks delivered to girls living in UK's dormitories.

Meeting with the girls after the residence halls had closed for the night, the Dean emphasized the "distastefulness of necking" in front of the dormitories and warned the girls of the University's specific rules against the use of alcohol.

Speaking in Jewell Hall, senior women's dorm, Monday night, Mrs. Holmes told her audience that alcohol is a "crutch—one which should be discarded."

She told of one girl who had been called into her office because of coming into the dormitory intoxicated. Mrs. Holmes said the girl rationalized her action because of "a fight with her boyfriend."

"Is that girl going to go out and get drunk every time she has to face a problem?", the Dean asked.

Mrs. Holmes then hit at what she termed the "distasteful" way boys and girls "necked" in front of the dormitories, adding that public display of affection is no way to show love and devotion for someone.

Mrs. Holmes told of examples of this sort of behavior she has personally witnessed. She told of one occasion when her car was blocked in front of the women's dorms after a ball game. "While waiting to get out, I was heart-sick at some of the things I saw," she said.

Turning to Boyd and Patterson Halls Tuesday night, the Dean told the freshmen women living there that it may be difficult to distinguish love from physical attraction, and that real love requires sacrifice.

"Chastity", she emphasized, "does not mean only formal virginity."

She again warned the girls against drinking, saying that if they drink how to overcome moderately unpleasant events, what will they do when the future presents even bigger crises?

Mrs. Holmes closed her talk at Boyd Hall by reading from a Report of the Committee of Fifteen on the goals of education at UK. These goals, she said, include developing an inquiring mind, been well-trained in one's chosen vocation or field of study, and acquiring the ability to face crises and exercise self-control.

Light Bulbs To Be Sold By Jr. IFC

Seventy-one thousand light bulbs will be offered for sale Sunday by 380 pledges in a drive to raise money for the polio fund.

Junior IFC, in conjunction with the Lexington Junior Chamber of Commerce will begin at 5:30 p.m. Sunday and will sell packages of four light bulbs each for $1. Proceeds will go to the Fayette County March of Dimes.

Three trophies will be presented to the pledges and their fraternities for outstanding work by the Jaycees on a WLEX-TV program next week. The trophies will be presented to the largest percentage of pledges from a fraternity participating in the drive, the pledge selling the most light bulbs and the fraternity who sells the most light bulbs per man.

Members of the Junior IFC light bulb committee are, George Howard, president, Denis McDaniel, vice-president, Cecil Crouch and Frank McKee.

Housing Unit Construction To Begin

Permits were issued this week for nearly $3,000,000 worth of construction at UK.

The construction will consist of six new sorority houses and six married-student residence units.

The six sorority houses, making up Sorority Row, will cost $480,000. They will be constructed on Columbia Avenue.

The residence units will be located in Shawneetown and construction cost has been estimated at $1,972,700. Contracts for both projects have been awarded to Hargett Construction Co.

SORORITIES for which the six houses are being built are Kappa Alpha Theta, Delta Zeta, Zeta Tau Alpha, Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Gamma Delta, and Kappa Delta.

The houses will be primarily of brick and each will be part three-story and part one-story. The six houses will have a total of 217 rooms. Architect for the project was John T. Gillig.

The six residence units, will have quarters for 186 families. The brick constructions will have 516 rooms. Half of each building will be two-story and half one-story. Plans for the housing project were drawn by Brock and Johnson.

9 Students Involved In Recent Incident

A home-made bomb which exploded in Donovan Hall Monday night has led to the apprehension of nine UK students by University officials.

The bomb consisted of a quantity of black gunpowder enclosed in a cardboard cylinder, sealed with adhesive tape.

The missile exploded about 10:30 p.m. following the UK-Loyola basketball game.

Dean of Men Leslie L. Martin said nine youths, seven of them Donovan Hall residents, were implicated. The other two boys, both students, share an apartment in town.

There was no damage resulting from the explosion. The "Bomb" was placed under a large waste can on the third floor of the men's residence hall.

Dean Martin gave this account: "At about 10:30 Monday night, I was contacted by Samuel Dry, director of Donovan Hall and informed of the explosion.

"Mr. Seth Taylor, campus safety director was immediately notified, and he in turn contacted two members of the Lexington Fire Prevention Office, a Lt. Glass, and a Capt. Smith.

"An investigation was immediately begun, with the fire officials being given permission to search all rooms necessary in the hall.

"The investigation was culminated at about 9:30 Wednesday night, when six of the youths came to my apartment and confessed their part in the incident."

Martin said the investigation was greatly aided by officials at the Memorial Coliseum, who contributed ID card pictures of several suspects, residing in the immediate vicinity of the blast.

The pictures were used as a means to identify positively one of the boys who purchased the powder Saturday at a downtown business establishment.

The boy, according to Martin, was accompanied by the two non-dormitory residents, one of whom made the actual purchase of two pounds of gunpowder, since he was the only person in the crowd of age.

Following their purchase, Martin continued, the youth who lives in the dormitory returned to his room and began manufacturing the bomb, with the assistance of several others.

The dean said disciplinary action was planned against all nine youths. He said tentative plans called for a special meeting of the SGA Judiciary Committee at 4:00 p.m. Friday, to consider the case.

No action will be taken by police, since no damage resulted and no one was injured.

Martin expressed the opinion that the youths were essentially "good boys" who tried to "make a big firecracker for the thrill."

He said there was positively no connection between the latest ex-

Mills Announces Change In Registration Method

A change in registration procedure will be effected the second semester, Dr. Robert L. Mills, dean of admissions, has announced.

Instead of trying to move large groups through the registration line to classification during an hour period, smaller groups will be processed during a thirty-minute period.

Dr. Mills said that registration groups were getting so large that, after counting the number of cards, it seemed logical to set up registration on a half hour basis.

The dean of admissions attributed much of the crowd in the registration lines to students who come too early. He said there is no point in a student coming to register ahead of time. It only confuses those scheduled to register during the period.

Dr. Mills said the half hour group would be registered (that is, ready for classification) in 25-30 minutes. By coming early, the student only stands to gain 15 to 20 minutes at the most.

He advised that no student come more than five minutes early.

The new registration schedule will be printed in the class schedule book which should be available Jan. 15. Students may check with the dean of their college to obtain schedules.

Coldstream Farm Bought For Experiment Station

Coldstream Farm, one of central Kentucky's most historic tracts, will soon become a part of the University of Kentucky's Agricultural Experiment Station.

Announcement of the purchase of the 750-acre farm on the Georgetown Pike was made by Kentucky Gov. A. B. Chandler, Dec. 21.

Chandler told a meeting of farm leaders at the University that the state was acquiring Coldstream and an adjacent 372-acre farm for a total purchase price of $1,831,300.

Coldstream Farm is being bought from Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knight, who also own Almahurst Farm on the Harrodsburg Road. The adjacent tract is owned by Hugh A. Grant.

Chandler said the state was acquiring Coldstream "immediately, as a supplement to the Experiment Station Farm at the University." Dean Frank J. Welch of the College of Agriculture told the group the farm contained a large dairy barn, a swine barn, and two beef cattle barns. He said Coldstream was originally designed as a general livestock farm.

Dean Welch said the farm could be converted immediately for research work in both plant and animal fields with little capital outlay. "The farm is a beautiful and outstanding one, with many facilities for an experiment station farm program of work in which the University and the State of Kentucky can take just pride," he added.

President Frank G. Dickey said a faculty committee will be appointed to study the possible uses to which the 20-room mansion on the farm can be put. Coldstream also has two modern brick houses and several cottages.

Bill Ladd To Address Radio Department

Bill Ladd, columnist, radio and television editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal will address the UK radio majors at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 16. The talk will take place in Studio A, third floor of McVey Hall. Ladd's subject will be "Standards of Criticism."

Ladd is originally from Madison, Wis., but joined the Courier-Journal staff in 1927. His work on the most all phases of newspaper work. Since 1947 he has done a daily column called "The Almanac." This has taken him into almost every place in Kentucky.

In the early '40's he was made radio editor in addition to his other work. In 1956 the Kentucky Broadcasters Association presented a plaque to him "for his unselfish efforts in behalf of better radio and his unflinching aid to members of the K.B.A." Last year he was made a "Kentucky Mike"—one of an exclusive group of men whose work in behalf of radio has been recognized by the K.B.A.

Ladd's outside activity is the Boys Club of America. He was one of the first four winners of the Man and Boy Award, given to workers in Boy's Club activity. The other three holders at that time were Bing Crosby, Red Skelton, and band leader Paul LaValle.

Gibson, Barnett Get Scholarships

Roy Duvall Gibson, Taylorsville, and Randall Barnett, Harrodsburg, have been named among 20 seniors in agricultural colleges throughout the United States to receive $250 scholarships awarded by Charles Pfizer & Co., Inc.

The awards, offered for the first time in 1956, were established by the Pfizer Co. to encourage young people to choose extension work as a career, especially in the field of animal health.

Applicants were required to prepare an extension teaching plan. Both UK winners chose subjects relating to the dairy industry. Barnett drew up a plan for controlling mastitis. Gibson's program dealt with eradication of brucellosis.

Engineer Society Hears Speaker

The UK Electrical Engineering Society had as its guest speaker on Jan. 10, J. W. Christopher, engineer with Chance Vaught Aircraft, Inc., of Dallas, Texas. Christopher, a UK graduate, spoke on "Human Factors in Electronics Systems Designs."

Coffee Chat To Hold Last Meeting Jan. 14

Coffee Chat will hold its last program meeting of this semester Monday, Jan. 14 in the Music Room of the SUB.

The Student Union interest group, has selected the subject, Kentucky Mountains, the people, their customs and folklore. Programs are planned from the suggestions and interests of members. Dr. Thomas D. Clark, head of the UK History Department, will speak on the topic "Life in the Kentucky Mountains."

Dr. Clark is a resident of Lexington and has written several books on this topic, some of which are "Pills, Petticoats and Plows," "Exploring Kentucky" and "A History of Kentucky." He does his writing as a hobby. The meeting will be held at 4 p.m. and is open to students, faculty, and staff of the University.

Chicago Organist To Give Recital

Heinrich Fleischer, organist at the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel, University of Chicago, will present a recital at 8 p.m., tonight in Memorial Hall.

Dr. Fleischer's early training was received in his native town, Eisenach, Germany. He later studied in Weimar and Jena, and earned his doctorate at the University of Leipzig where he later taught.

Because of the political situation he fled the Eastern zone of Germany and came to the U. S. in 1949. He is now professor of organ and Lutheran church music at Valparaiso University, Ind., along with his duties at the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel.

Dr. Fleischer's program consists of "Magnificat anima Mea Dominum (quinti toni) by Samuel Scheidt, Prelude and Fugue in F Sharp Minor by Dietrich Buxtehude, Prelude and Fugue in E Minor by Johann Sebastian Bach, Chorale in A Minor by Cesar Frank and Toccato and Fugue in D Minor by Max Reger.

Othello Tryouts Set For Sunday

Tryouts for "Othello," the next production of the Guignol Theatre, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 13 in the Fine Arts Building.

The cast will contain 18 persons. Production date for the play has been set for March 6-9.

No rehearsals will be held during finals.

Radio Staff Announced

A new staff has been named by radio station WBKY for the spring semester. The change of the staff is due to the graduation of station manager Jim Belcher and other key staff members. The new personnel includes: Program Director, Donna Reed; Continuity Director, Laura Prior; Special Events, Jack Paul; News Director, Stan Logsdon; Sports Director, Jim Host; Roundtable Producer, Gil Levitch; Music Director, Ellis Harkleroad; Production Director of "The University Theater of the Air," Neil Voshell.

Some jobs which are still open are Traffic Manager and Record Librarian.

Social Calendar Data Due January 19th

All organizations including societies and fraternities which expect to hold social events and programs and all UK departments or colleges which will have conferences, meetings and speakers second semester must submit dates for these events by Saturday, Jan. 19, 1957, in the office of the Program Director, room 122, in the SUB.

Requests for these dates for the calendar of events for the second semester must be cleared because the calendar will be printed between semesters.

The University Social Committee will compile the calendar and it will be mailed to all organizations.

Any additional major events may not be added after Jan. 19, 1957.

All events must be cleared whether they are major events or not.

Names and addresses of chaperons who have verbally accepted the responsibility and the name and address of the student in charge of the event must be listed in room 122 of the SUB not later than 5 p.m. the Tuesday preceding the event.

The Student Union ballroom is in great demand and it would be advantageous for any groups interested to get reservations in before Saturday, Jan. 19, in room 121 of the SUB.

After Jan. 19, it will be "first come, first served."

EAT, DRINK, AND BE MARRIED

On a recent tour of seven million American colleges, I was struck by two outstanding facts: first, the great number of students who smoke Philip Morris; and second, the great number of students who are married.

The first phenomenon—the vast multitude of Philip Morris smokers—comes as no surprise, for what could be more intelligent than to smoke Philip Morris? After all, pleasure is what you smoke for, and pleasure is what Philip Morris delivers. Try one. Light up and see for yourself. . . . Or, if you like, don't light up. Just take a Philip Morris, unlighted, and puff a couple of times. Get that wonderful flavor? You bet you do! Even without lighting you can taste Philip Morris's fine natural tobacco. Also, you can make your package of Philip Morris last practically forever.

No, I say, it was not the great number of Philip Morris smokers that astounded me; it was the great number of married students. Latest statistics show that at some educational colleges, the proportion of married undergraduates runs as high as twenty per cent! And, what is even more startling, fully one-quarter of these marriages have been blessed with issue!

Now, to the young campus couple who are parents for the first time, the baby is likely to be a source of considerable worry. Therefore, let me devote today's column to a few helpful hints on the care of babies.

First of all, we will take up the matter of diet. In the past, babies were raised largely on table scraps. This, however, was outlawed by the Smoot-Hawley Act, and today babies are fed a scientific formula consisting of dextrose, maltose, distilled water, evaporated milk, and a twist of lemon peel.

After eating, the baby tends to grow sleepy. A lullaby is very useful to help it fall asleep. In case you don't know any lullabies, make one up. For example:

*Go to sleep, my little infant,
Goo-goo moo-moo poo-poo binfant.*

A baby sleeps best on its stomach, so place it that way in its crib. Then to make sure it will not turn itself over during the night, lay a soft but fairly heavy object on its back—another baby, for instance.

All you need is a little patience and a lot of love.

So, as you see, raising a baby is no great problem. All you need is a little patience and a lot of love. Also diapers, rompers, soakers, crib, mattress, sheets, bumpers, blankets, high chair, diapers, talcum, baby oil, fish liver oil, paregoric, diapers, safety pins, cotton, cotton covered toothpicks, bottles, dippers, nipples, diapers, bottle brushes, booties, diapers, nighties, wrappers, diapers, rattles, teething rings, pacifiers, diapers, and unlimited funds.

© Max Shulman, 1956

When Baby is fast asleep—the little angel!—why not relax and give yourself a treat? With Philip Morris, of course! Made in long size and regular by the sponsors of this column.

Sturgill Aids State Safety

Don Sturgill, Kentucky's acting safety commissioner, is beginning to look more and more like the man who just might reduce the flow of useless, needless accidents on the state's highways.

Sturgill, a young man with progressive ideas has, since he assumed his post in September, advanced a number of safety proposals, all of which are a definite improvement over Kentucky's archaic laws of the past.

His first major contribution to our future safety was the much-discussed "point system", which should serve as a deterrent, to say the least, to those who would drive carelessly. Nobody wants to lose his license—a possibility which is now very likely if one chooses not to obey the traffic laws.

Now Sturgill has proposed a number of other changes. Among these are ones which call for a yearly safety check of all motor vehicles, compulsory drivers training in high schools, vision and physical tests every four years upon reapplication for drivers licenses, and adoption of a uniform vehicle code, including a set of charges and penalties for violations as proposed by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

None of these proposals will appeal to the marginal character who likes to "live dangerously", but to those of us who prefer to find this danger on places other than highways, they appear as a boon.

Kentucky's traffic fatalities were 93 fewer in 1956 than 1955. The goal for 1957 is a further reduction of 100. With the possibility of more than 100 state troopers being added to the force this year, and with Don Sturgill and others of his kind furnishing the guiding hand, this goal appears to be definitely within reach—a cheering thought in a time when so much we hear is of the other variety.

Praise For Cats

In this world of a whole lot of verbal brickbats and not many bouquets, we think it's about time somebody tossed some roses towards the general vicinity of Memorial Coliseum, and the basketball players who practically live therein for about five months of the year.

When this season started, Coach Rupp, never noted for his optimism, gloomily assured UK rooters that this year's team would be the "worst in 15 years."

Now, with two months of the season gone, the Cats find themselves possessing a glossy 10-2 record, with two tournament championships, and a national rating of theirs, according to both major wire service polls.

Their two losses, as we all know, have both been by one-point margins, one of which was definitely of the uke variety. Yet they have accomplished this record without the benefit of a super-star, or at least no one in the Beard-Groza-Hagan-Ramsey category.

But they've had a lot of hustle, and a lot of, for lack of a better word, guts—and the combination of the two, plus the coaching of Rupp and Lancaster, has won ball games.

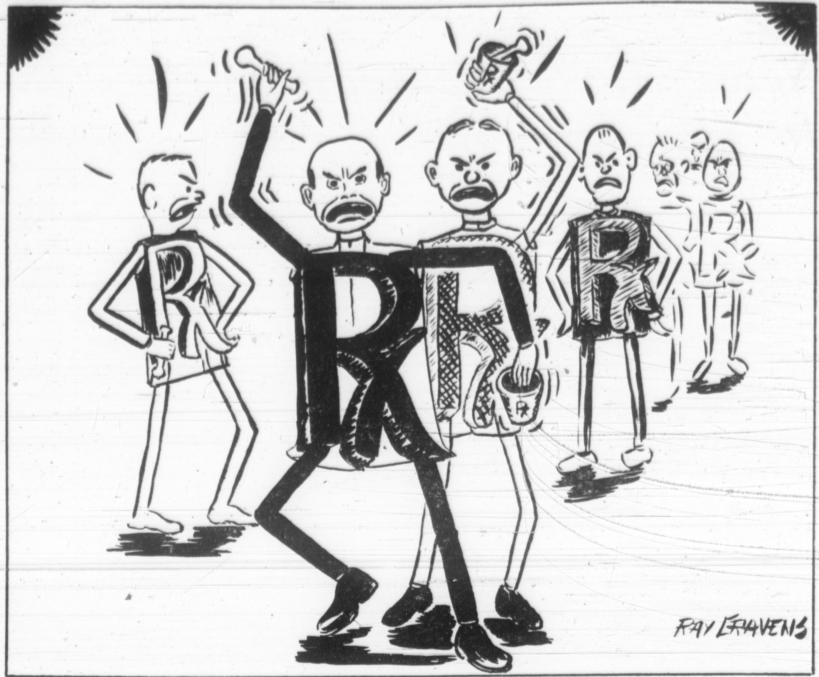

They might not win the NCAA championship this year (but don't sell them too short); they might not even win the SEC, with Vanderbilt and Auburn both having veteran, tough squads; but they've already done a lot more than many people expected at the first of the year.

Kentucky fans have been lulled into a false sense of security by the Cats' fabulous record during the past quarter of a century. The team this year, we think, deserves a little more than the customary "Oh, well, we're expected to win" attitude—they deserve a lot of praise; more, we're afraid, than they often get.

Letters From The Readers

Note On Virtue

To The Editor:

I noted in a recent issue that you ran a heated editorial decrying the fact that the girls on the campus were "too virtuous."

The writer of the editorial had not studied verbal criticism or etymology—which should be a normal procedure for most editorial writers.

Certainly a girl cannot be "too virtuous" just as she cannot be "a little pregnant" or "a little dead" . . . it's all or nothin'.

Looking at it from another viewpoint, it is certainly in poor taste to comment on the virtue of any woman student in a coeducational school and in the public print. Perhaps that is OK for bull sessions or the locker room but certainly not for most ethical newspapers.

A closer check by the copy-reader or the editor, himself, might have led to the use of the word "modesty." (I believe that is the word the writer meant to use.) Certainly the amount of clothing a girl wears has nothing to do with her virtue.

I imagine that some of the South Sea islanders have as much virtue as an Eskimo maiden. I know it would disturb me to have a sister or a daughter enrolled at the University and have her virtue questioned because of the amount of clothing she wears. Next time either check Mr. Webster and use a more appropriate word or keep that kind of talk for the stag parties or army barracks.

We all make mistakes, our class tried to "send the band to Boston" one year via the Kernel and we were all purged.

Bob Rankin

Just You Wait....

Dear Editor:

How could any one person having been through four years of high school and three and a half years of college be so naive as to believe that the new Pharmacy Building will affect only a few people. Tell me, how many colds have you had this winter? How many times have you walked into a Pharmacy to get something for a sore throat or cough? Sir, the new building will go a long way in preparing the future pharmacists to reach out and serve every person in this state, or any state. I dare say, you can't find one student on the campus who hasn't, at one time or other, asked the neighborhood druggist for advice or to recommend certain types of medicaments. I only hope that I live so long as to see the profession of pharmacy appreciated by the public as the profession of high standards that it is! Anything that affects this profession in any slight manner, affects the public at large.

Also, how could any group of "learned men" be so self-centered and egotistic as to think that merely being in their midst will cause others to forget everything else and bubble over with exuberance. Lexington will provide only a campus life, which is also important, for the students. It will not provide jobs for all the students that must work to provide for families. Not to mention that the experience of working in a Pharmacy is a very important phase in the education of the Pharmacist. It was not our doings that we should move into your illustrious presence, but I feel that we shall make our presence known. We feel that we shall do our share to improve the standards of the university, the state, the public in general, and ourselves, regardless of how much further we may have to walk to get to class! How lazy can you get? I'll venture to say the animals across from our future front door, in the Agricultural Experimental Station, aren't afraid of a little stroll at that "predawn hour of 8 a.m."

We'll see you at 8 a.m. in September of 1957. Keep an eye and ear open for us!

The Pharmacy Class of 1958

'We're Not Beggars'

To The Editor:

After reading the December 14 editorial, "Who Left Out A Back Door?", I find myself somewhat bewildered. Either the author intended to satirize the grandeur of the new pharmacy building or else he hurled deliberate sarcasm at the College of Pharmacy students. I hope the former was his intention but in either case I find the article a poor piece of journalism. If sarcasm was his intent I wish to defend the pharmacy students.

The editor states in his article that the appearance of the pharmacy building "will affect only a few people." Granted we have only a little over a hundred students, but quality always supersedes quantity. Even this being true his statement is incorrect. The entire University is affected by the colleges it contains. In reality the entire state of Kentucky is affected. At the College of Pharmacy there are men and women who are dedicating themselves to the health and welfare of their fellow Kentuckians.

To quote the editor once again, ". . . maybe the future pharmacists will be so happy to get to Lexington, they will accept any kind of building." It is no secret that our present building in Louisville is not the best. However we feel that when we move to Lexington we are getting the best. We are looking forward with pride to joining the Lexington campus, but we do not come as empty handed beggars. With us we bring a fine faculty, three national pharmaceutical fraternities, one honorary pharmaceutical fraternity, and an overwhelming 100 per cent membership in the student branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association. We feel that our joining the campus will not only benefit us but will add a certain amount of prestige to an already fine university.

We have no wish to dominate the campus, still we do not wish to be dominated. We do hope to get some recognition which has so long been denied us. For years we have been a part of UK in name only, the distance between Louisville and Lexington making our participation in events impractical. Next September this will no longer be the case and it is our hope that then the whole University will look with pride at its College of Pharmacy.

Bob Barnett

(Very obviously the skin of our future pharmacists is as thin as the outer walls of the capsules they read. Their interpretation of the editorial is one we didn't plan on.

So, boys, if you don't want a back door, then we'll just forget all about our plans to knock a hole in the wall for you. Or better yet, how about sealing all the entrances and entering by skylight. Then those of you who enjoy your early morning walk could really make an outing of it — nothing like scaling a wall for exercise.—Ed.)

New Year Brings Changes In Attitudes, Grill Hours

By PHIL McINTOSH

Welcome home, friends and neighbors, we trust you had a restful vacation and are ready for exams? We hope we didn't lose any readers through traffic accidents, too much New Year, or a bad attitude.

You must watch your attitude, you know. A bad attitude is un-American. We need people with good attitudes, especially those with a continuous Fourth-of-July spirit, those who set off firecrackers and home-made bombs in the men's dorms.

One little brain put powder in a toilet paper roll, wrapped it with masking tape, and set it off with a dynamite cap, shaking the very foundations of one of the men's dorms. True genius.

We have heard that the night grill will be opened at the STB the first of second semester, but have not been able to verify the story. As the story goes, the STB grill will be on a trial basis while SGA continues work on an idea such as that proposed for the Little Commons.

Have you ever heard someone say, "that's the rule," or "we must follow the rules," in spite of the fact that to be just in that particular situation one must forget the rules and make his own decision?

Too often, the rules and regulations to which we so strictly adhere, are the shelves on which we have laid the responsibility and confidence to judge for ourselves. Rather than do what we think is right and just, and take the blame if we are wrong, we will do an unjust thing and blame it on the rule.

And now, since that hectic last week is nearly upon us and the final rush is on, we have a poem. It is for those of you who have sometimes wondered where in the world you are going, and where is the world going.

LIFE?

Never stopping, never resting, Quickly eating, no digesting, Hatred, violence, war and strife, What a life!
Diplomats negotiating, Senators investigating, Never sure of each tomorrow: Only sorrow.

Work today and never tarry, Tomorrow? In the military! What will happen? Who can tell? Life is hell.

Always building and creating, Never time for contemplating, Not an hour to call your own; To be alone.

Nature is no longer needed, Beauty is no longer needed, Songs are just a tool for The vulgar fool.

No use for nonconformity, No individuality, Time is scarce and men are plenty, What a pity.

Ah, but if I work and worry, Never shirk and always hurry, Rest will come—with my last breath, Sweetest death.

Still, for men of reputation, Death will not be their salvation; Men will curse them for their deeds,

Or their creeds, But I have not time to worry, I must work and I must hurry; But my time to better use, But what's the use?

AND THAT'S IT!

The Roadrunner

Poetry Through The Ages

By JOHN MARCUS

Kentucky students are lovers of poetry! This was brought to my attention by the resounding acceptance of "Saint Nick in the Frat House." In the past two weeks, I have been showered with daggers, tear gas, and notes telling me to "go out and earn a living."

Since poetry is practically unexploited here at the prison, English classes excepted, (there is someone willing to accept English classes, isn't there?) we shall delve into this more thoroughly.

Poetry was founded in the stone age by A. B. Chaucer. Of course you have read his poem which begins,

"Whena geta to the state's shores a soota, I'll collecta all the loosa change a and a loota."

Next came the Victorian poets, with such noted fellows as Willy the Shake, and Milt the Stilt Milton. But a man named Slinger was the real gasser of the day. He invented his own form called "Slingerian Stanza's." He scrambled nine lines and got:

"A student of renown was Abner

Jones,

He came to school with football under arm,

He had strong muscle and tenacious bones,

Ab quarterbacked the team with gravelly tones,

Famous Stories Now On Display In J-Building

Many famous newspapers are now on display in the Journalism Building. These papers are in a glass case situated on the main floor near the front door.

Some of the stories which can be found are: "Courier-Journal," Jan. 23, 1937—Supply of Water May Be Rationed By City; Mayor Orders All Oil Stations Be Closed. "Ashland Daily Independent," June 6, 1944—INVASION! Gen. Eisenhower Announces Allied Troops Have Made Landing in France. "Lexington Herald," July 23, 1934—John Dillinger Is Shot to Death By Federal Agents at Chicago.

His tackling shook the stands with victim's groans,

When Ab sat down at lunch he couldn't hearya,

He dug into a stead with much feveria,

But now from Wildcat fans there's naught but moans,

Ab died of eating in the cafeteria.

Coming up through Alfred Tennisshoe, Browning (take your pick), we reach the poets of today, T. S. Idiot:

What's gayer than a broken steedle,

What's happier than the rain,

What could be more fun for people,

Than excruciating pain?

Last but not least, we have the nursery rhyme:

Sing a song of six-pence, pocket full of rye,

Do they sell mix here?

Until next week, beep beep.

Meet Miss Moffett

Miss Joan Moffett, staff secretary to SGA, sits at her desk in the office of the Dean of Men. Miss Moffett collects money for parking fines, writes permits, and sees over 100 students a week about "odds and ends".

SGA Secretary Once Worked For Waring

By ROBERT E. MILNE

The glamor and glitter of her past jobs sound like story book tales. Secret work for the government in Washington, social secretary and financial advisor to the Fred Waring Organization are only part of the experiences of Joan Moffett, staff secretary to the Student Government Association.

Miss Moffett has been SGA secretary for the past year and a half. From Winchester, she is a graduate of Kentucky Wesleyan College.

Miss Moffett refused to discuss her work with the government, saying that much of it was still classified.

Of her job with Fred Waring, however, she spoke freely. The five-foot, five-inch secretary enjoyed an expense account in many of the eastern cities and made weekly flights to New York City from Waring's headquarters in Stroudsburg, Pa.

Miss Moffett said she found her work at the University "quite" different from her job with Fred Waring.

"But don't get me wrong," she said. "I love it here, especially talking to all the boys. They're cute, most of them. But I miss New York. But New York doesn't have horses."

In her job as staff secretary here, Miss Moffett's chief duties are handling parking permits and fines.

What's the most common excuse she hears from students who have received tickets?

"The average plea is that the student didn't know he was anywhere near the campus. It's a complete mystery-how his car got there," she related.

"Some of the excuses actually bring tears to my eyes," she said, "but I imagine I'll become hardened."

Each week about 150 students come into her office in the Administration Building in quest of parking permits or to pay fines.

"It's surprising how many you see paying fines again and again," she said. "After a while you begin to wonder if someone isn't stealing their cars and planting them on the campus."

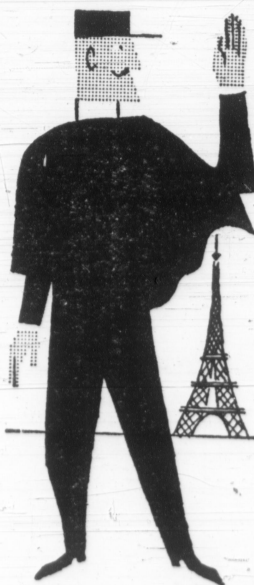

"The way I was taking money the last couple of weeks made me feel like a teller at a racetrack," Miss Moffett stated.

She also takes minutes for SGA's Judiciary Committee and interviews about 100 students a week for numerous reasons.

Matthews Named

To Law Committee

Dr. William L. Matthews, acting dean of the UK College of Law, has been appointed to the Advisory Committee of the Judicial Department of the Commonwealth by Lt.-Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield.

This committee, a branch of the Kentucky Legislative Research Commission, is composed of men who represent various segments of the legal profession. They will submit reports and recommendations after conducting a detailed study of the court system of the state.

Dr. Matthews has been associated with the University College of Law for ten years. Earlier this year, he was appointed to serve as acting dean in the absence of Dean Elvis J. Stahr, Jr.

Engineer Drafting Non-credit Course To Be Offered

A non-credit Engineering Drafting course will be offered by the College of Adult and Extension Education and the College of Engineering.

Work will begin at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 15, in the Engineering Annex on Scott Street and will continue with two hour periods on Tuesday and Thursday each week for the following 12 weeks.

The course will consist of 48 hours of instruction and practice in basic engineering lettering and drafting as applied to highway plans.

Certificates will be awarded to those successfully completing the course.

The course, which was requested by engineering companies in this area, is intended to give specific training in mechanical drawing to enable students to fill jobs that are now opening up due to the new highway program in Kentucky.

Mr. Glen E. Alderdice, College of Engineering, will be in charge of the instruction.

Students are graduated "With High Distinction," who attain a standing of 2.6 or higher for at least three years of residence work.

1957 Offers Florida Sun And Surf To Vacationing UK Students

The Yuletide is over for another year. Santa has bounded back up the chimneys and is vacationing on the beach at Fort Lauderdale. The reindeer sleeping off Christmas Eve and the New Year has been brought in with all due ceremony. But what does 1957 hold for UK students? In the not too distant future our crystal ball foretells of exams then graduation for some. After finals the migration to Florida will begin and a week of Southern sun and surf will be greedily enjoyed.

The spring semester promises beach parties, hayrides, and graduation. Premature suntans and no doubt young love will be on the agenda for many. But whatever 1957 holds in store our crystal ball tells us that it will be a successful year for all.

To turn back the hands of time for a moment we hear that there were some pretty good parties this past week. Friday the Phi Deltas had a house party and Saturday the PiKas, KAs, Farm House, AGR's, Sigma Chi's, and Alpha Sigma Phi's entertained after the Georgia Tech game. The Alpha Gams entertained the Deltas with a dessert and the Sig Eps were hosts to the ADPI's on Tuesday. Thursday night the Phi Deltas will feast at the Kappa house.

Jumping quickly to the present we see that quite a few parties are in the air and the weekend before exams too. Tonight the ZBT's seem to be regressing as they travel back to their childhood. Their Baby Party really should be something to see.

Other social events of the day are the KA House party, the Kappa Sig French Party (you can't top last year's), the Tri Delt House party, the Sigma Chi Honk Tonk party, the KD House dance, and the Phi Sigma Sigma Slumber party.

Saturday the Lambda Chi's will entertain with a house dance, the PiKA house party, the Phi Tau "Hobo" party, the Triangle Winter Formal, the Sigma Nu house party, and the TKE and Phi Delt house parties. If you have never been to Florida between semesters peek in the Delt windows tonight and you'll get the facts. I guess that's about as close as some of us will get this year.

Tuesday the Phi Deltas will play hosts to the Tri Deltas for dessert and that concludes another week in the social life of UK students.

We think it's wonderful that our students are so self confident. Even though exams are upon us we still have time to play. On second thought, maybe we are just trying to play Scarlet O'Hara and think about that tomorrow.

Listen girls, if you consider yourself to be beautiful and brainy this is for you. The search is on once again for the nation's most beautiful and brainy college girl in the coming fifth annual National College Queen Contest. Undergraduate girls, between the ages of 17 and 24 years, are eligible to enter. The Contest is conducted by the National Knitted Outerwear Foundation. We digress.

The purpose of the contest is to select and honor the most typical and outstanding college girl in the nation. Judgments will be based on 50% for beauty and 50% for brains. The entrants will submit an original essay of 250 words or less on, "What a College Education Means to Me." That shouldn't be hard for a girl. They will also submit an entry blank requesting information pertaining to scholarship.

The queen will receive speech and dramatic tutoring, a complete designer's wardrobe, luggage set, all expense vacation and modeling tour, choice of a grand tour of Europe during the summer of 1958 or a Hollywood screen test. And hasty an around the clock wardrobe of sweaters designed by the National Knitted Outerwear Foundation. And so it goes.

Dean Holmes Comments On Later Hours Proposal

By NORMA JEAN SHELTON

"I'm not necessarily for later hours because we extend the closing hours for special things, therefore, I see no reason for them," Dean Sarah B. Holmes said in regard to the SGA proposal for later hours in the women's residence halls.

She says, "I don't think one can determine later hours by other schools," and cited as an example a college or university in a large city where later hours are necessary because of transportation and distance required to travel to social functions. She added that the proposal had been referred to the House Presidents' Council and that the decision would be made by it.

"I think the whole system of hours, lights out, and closing of the halls should be examined occasionally," she asserted. She feels that dormitory rules should correspond to the situation at the University and be changed as the situation changes and the rules become out-moded.

A problem she would like to see alleviated is the crowded halls. She said the situation would be improved next fall since six sorority houses, all having a capacity of 40 girls, are scheduled to be completed.

She pointed out that the construction of Holmes Hall may not be finished by then because of the steel strike last summer. It has not been decided whether Holmes Hall will be a freshman or upperclassmen hall, she added. She said Jewell Hall might be converted into a freshman dormitory and Keeneland and Holmes Halls used as upperclassmen halls.

When queried as to her feeling about the new dormitory being called Holmes Hall she replied, "I feel highly honored and appreciative, so much so that I have never really been able to express my appreciation to the trustees and Dr. Donovan."

Another problem that has concerned her of late is the outstanding students at the University who feel there is not enough intellectual stimulus on the campus to keep them interested. However, she went on to say that she thought the students would find the same thing at any institution unless the students were selected on the basis of intellect.

Looking back to 1929 when she came to the University as assistant dean, she recalled that the day of her welcoming tea was the day of the stock market crash. She says, "We lost one-half of our girls in residence." She told of one girl who gave three different checks on three different banks for her room and board and the banks closed before the checks could be cleared. The girl was forced to leave school.

Dean Holmes who was named Kentucky Mother of the year in 1944 says, "There have been many social and economic changes since then."

Folk Dance School To Be Offered Next Semester

A special evening class in "Folk Dance Leadership for School and Community" will be offered the second semester by the University of Kentucky beginning Feb. 11.

The course is being made available for elementary teachers, church and community recreation leaders who are interested in learning how to lead simple folk dances and singing games. The two-hour class, offered for both graduate and undergraduate credit, will meet each Monday night from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Women's Physical Education Department building. Dr. M. G. Karsner, assistant professor of physical education, will be the instructor.

Fees for the evening class will be $11 for noncredit and undergraduate students, and $15 for graduate students. Additional information may be obtained by writing the UK College of Adult and Extension Education.

Home Economics Club Initiates New Members

Thirty-two initiates were honored at the annual Home Economics Club initiation banquet Tuesday night.

These new members of the Home Economics Club were Rosemary Allen, Martha Atkisson, Jennie Bell Arvin, Mary Robert Barger, Wilma Jean Basham, Betty Brown, Rebecca Carliss, Lula Clarkson, John Coffey, Virginia Colaric, Mary Lou Conder, Carol Francis, Frances Frye, Carolyn Geurin, Ann Hurt, Barbara Kirkland, Carrie Land, Marilyn Loving, Kate Mahood, Carolyn Moore, Carolyn Nethery, Droxie Newsom, Mable O'Neil, Billie Lou Reed, Betty Renaker, Judy Rollins, Martha Rave Sherfy, Mary Short, Janice Walsh, Linda Ward, Ernestine Williams, and Jean Webb.

Mattie Cooksey, vice president of the club, introduced the guest speaker, Dr. James Gladden of the UK Sociology Department. Membership into the club is based on points earned by each girl. In the fall, girls desiring to become Home Economics Club members work to gain the required number of points.

Points are given for working on various projects of the Home Economics Club.

'Hit And Run' Man Assails Dean Martin

Dean of Men Leslie L. Martin was struck by an unknown assailant in the men's dormitory quadrangle early Saturday morning, receiving a black eye and nose injuries.

The incident occurred when Dean Martin attempted to question the man, who was allegedly "looking for his cousin."

Martin gave this account: "He and Mrs. Martin, who live at Bowman Hall, were awakened about 1:15 a.m. by a disturbance in a student's room. Returning to his apartment after quieting the boys, he saw a suspicious man looking into the door of Breckinridge Hall.

As he approached him, the man went around the dormitory finally stopping in front of Bowman Hall. When Martin asked him if he could help him, the man replied that he was looking for his cousin. The assailant then named his cousin and the dean told him that he did not live there, and that he would have to look elsewhere.

At this the unidentified man struck Dr. Martin on the right side of the face and ran.

Dean Martin described the man as a neatly dressed Negro, age 21-25, in a black leather jacket with tan pants and about 6'1".

Police investigated but no arrests have been made.

Dickey Comments on Student Behavior At Ball Games

Dr. Frank G. Dickey commended UK students this week for their behavior at the Kentucky-Georgia Tech basketball game Saturday night.

The UK president said he had received complaints about shouting "Who's he?" when an opposing team's lineup was announced at University basketball games. He said, however, he questioned whether or not the cry came entirely from the student body.

Dr. Dickey mentioned "comments in local sports pages" concerning student behavior in addition to complaints from local people. He said several people had personally complained to him about the students' reception for opposing teams.

Dr. Dickey said UK students were "certainly to be commended" for taking the newspapers' suggestion to stop using the cry.

"The students have set an example," he said, "and I hope that others will take notice."

Kentucky was the home and burial place of at least three of the earliest inventors of steamboats—John Fitch, James Rumsey, and Edward West.

Kentuckian Contest Winner

37 ROTC Cadets Receive Awards

Thirty-seven UK Army ROTC cadets have been awarded Wreaths of Academic Achievement, an honor or insignia given to cadets who are in the top 10% of their ROTC classes. Colonel W. E. Grubbs, the Professor of Military Sciences and Tactics at UK, said the list was based on grades earned during the 1955-56 school year.

Seniors receiving the honor are: George H. Calvert Jr., James M. Deacon Jr., Wesley N. Sims, and Duane E. Williamson.

Juniors are: Robert A. Bates, Nicholas G. Berryman, Dwight W. Carpenter, Gerald D. Cyrus, Jerry

R. Field, Marvin C. Goff Jr., Judson R. Griffin, Ben A. Johnson, Frank N. King, Donald R. Mills, Dalaney L. O'Rourke, Clay C. Ross Jr., John J. Watson.

Sophomores are: Edward H. Asseff, Franklin P. Blair, John C. Bridwell, Paul D. Cooper, Olen P. Ely Jr., Glenn Franck, William J. Glover, James D. Green, Lee H. Hanson Jr., Armer G. Hisle, Elbert T. McAfee, William J. Moore, Gurney M. Norman, Thomas W. Riggs, James L. Sowell, William W. Sparkman, Merle E. Stepp, Ronnie W. Summers, Burke B. Terrell, Richard J. Witt.

Miss Jenness To Appear In Musicale

The University Musicale Series will present a recital by Phyllis Jenness, contralto, at 8 p.m. Monday, Jan. 14 in the Guignol Theatre.

Miss Jenness is a voice teacher, director of the Woman's Glee Club and choir director at Everybody's Church in Lexington.

She is a graduate of State Teachers College, Bridgewater, Mass., and has had advance vocal work in New York City where she was assistant to Grace Leslie, New York singing teacher. She has studied at Boston University and has coached in New York.

Her program consists of varied styles and periods of vocal literature and a featured group is composed of songs by Holst for voice and violin. Dr. Kenneth Wright of the Music Faculty will be the assisting artist. She will be accompanied by Ford Montgomery.

The program includes songs by Shakespeare, Das Marienleben, Die Krahe, Muth, Four Songs for Voice and Violin, The Daisies, Musical Zoo, and others.

Folk Festival To Be Jan. 25-26

The sixth annual Kentucky Folk Festival will be held Friday and Saturday Jan. 25-26, at UK under the auspices of the University and the Lexington Folk Dance Center.

The festival includes sections on folk dancing, singing, folk tales, and arts and crafts for adults and children. A dinner Friday night, Jan. 25, will officially open the program.

Jack Trecht, assistant agronomist in the UK College of Agriculture and Home Economics, is chairman of arrangements for the festival. Applications or additional information should be directed to Miss Jean Marie McConnell, University College of Adult and Extension Education.

President Of Brown Gives Blazer Lecture

"Man has always been in a position to destroy whatever civilization existed," Dr. Barnaby Keeney, president of Brown University said. "He has always destroyed man, but not mankind."

Dr. Keeney was discussing the use of the Atomic Bomb in World War II in the Blazer lecture held last Monday.

The educator stated that the use of the bomb was unnecessary. He said that Japan was already defeated.

In his talk on "The Uses and Abuses of History," Dr. Keeney stated that countries have always had an "ultimate weapon," but until the United States used the A-Bomb, the weapon had never been used, possibly because of fear of retaliation.

The Brown University president listed five types of history; the monographic history, which is taken from source material; narrative history; analytical history; synthesis, which is based on monographic history and analysis, and history written for a purpose such as the Old Testament.

Among the abuses of history, Dr. Keeney cited Marx's "Das Kapital" as an "honest" abuse, Hitler's "Mein Kampf" as a dishonest abuse, and the "Short History of the Communist Party," which he said was revised regularly to meet the needs of the party.

Dr. Keeney said "Few students will become historians, but all must comprehend the present and to understand the present they must understand the past."

Dr. Keeney said many historians make a system of history and then attempt to predict the future from that system. He said the behavior of man cannot be explained by a simple system.

Dr. Keeney was born in Oregon and received his B.A. degree from the University of North Carolina and his graduate degrees at Harvard. He taught history and served as Dean of the Graduate School of Brown before becoming president. He was a captain in the Army and was awarded the Purple Heart and the Bronze and Silver Stars.

5 ROTC Seniors Will Be Awarded RA Commissions

Five Army ROTC seniors successfully completed the examinations comparing them with ROTC seniors all over the country. The five will be awarded Regular Army Commissions instead of the Reserve Commissions usually given to ROTC graduates, the Department of the Army said.

George H. Calvert Jr., Paul G. Kyle, Hughes H. Rice Jr., Wesley N. Sims, and Duane E. Williamson are the UK ROTC seniors who will get the Regular Army Commissions when they graduate in June. The Department added that all five are Distinguished Military Students in UK's Army ROTC unit.

Calvert, executive officer of the UK Pershing Rifles and a member of the Army ROTC rifle team, was the outstanding cadet of his platoon at ROTC summer camp. When he graduates with a B.S. degree from the College of Commerce, he will be commissioned in Armor.

Kyle will have a Quartermaster Corps commission when he graduates from the College of Agriculture.

Rice was second best cadet in his company at summer camp. He will get an Armor commission when he receives his B.A. from the College of Arts and Sciences.

A PR man and captain of the Varsity and ROTC rifle teams, Sims received the awards of outstanding cadet during his sophomore and junior years. A law major, he will get his B.L. degree and an Infantry commission in June.

An Infantry commission will go to Williamson, who graduated from Henry Clay High School. He will receive his B.A. degree from the College of Arts and Sciences.

Air Force To Offer Wives' Orientation Course

"A Wives' Orientation Course" will be offered by the Air Science next semester, Col. Robert S. Larson, professor of Air Science, has announced.

The program, he said, is an informal series of classes designed to give the wives, fiancées, and parents, of AFROTC cadets and other military personnel a basic understanding of the life of the military wife.

Taught by wives of UK's Air Science Department faculty, the classes will explain Air Force customs, society, home life, benefits and allowances—in short, a broad outline of pertinent information which will aid wives of newly-commissioned officers who are anticipating service careers.

It will seek to point out to them the extremely important role the Air Force wife plays in her husband's—and therefore her own—enjoyment and happiness in his new job.

Twenty-one girls took advantage of the first course, which was opened last spring, said Col. Larson, and several have expressed appreciation for the opportunity which they thought was invaluable to them.

Col. Larson stressed the fact that all interested parties are invited to the classes. There will be no cost connected with the classes in any way, he added.

Before beginning the series of six meetings, Col. Larson said a "Get Acquainted" night is planned. The time and date will be announced later.

The classes will be held in Barker Hall at a time determined by popular wish at the first class. The series will begin about Feb. 28, Col. Larson said, and those interested may call UK 2148 or UK 2167.

Dr. Romanowitz Writes Trilogy On Engineering

Dr. H. Alex Romanowitz is the author of a trilogy of books on electronics released for distribution Jan. 8. He is the professor and head of the Department of Electrical Engineering at UK.

The series, which includes a textbook, a laboratory manual, and an instructor's handbook, has been designed as a complete course in electronics principles.

A basic course in electronics, at the college level, can be established with the aid of these publications in institutions previously unable to offer a course, the professor pointed out.

The books provide not only background material in physics to support the presentation of electrical theory, but also assistance to the instructor who has had no formal training in electronics. The 80-page instructors handbook contains solutions to the textbook problems, sample data on all experiments and specifications on the performance of experiments and the apparatus required.

In the laboratory manual are instructions to the student for the performance of 22 basic experiments in electrical engineering and electronics.

The 300-page textbook includes, in addition to a presentation of electronics fundamentals, material on electric circuits, fields, and instruments. The recently developed transistor and magnetic amplifier are given introductory treatment.

Colleges with physical science departments, technical institutes, non-electrical departments in engineering colleges, junior colleges and evening schools are in need of a text and associated manuals of this kind in the training of scientists and engineers, Dr. Romanowitz said.

Publisher of the trilogy is the Bradford Press of Lexington, and the books are available at the Bradford Press, 125 Eastin Road.

Dr. Romanowitz holds the E.E. degree and the M.S. degree in physics from the University of Cincinnati, and the Ph.D. in electrical engineering from the University of Michigan.

He joined the UK faculty in 1942 as assistant professor in electrical engineering. He became a full professor in 1946 and head of the Department of Electrical Engineering in 1952.

Earlier he taught at the University of Cincinnati and the Ohio Mechanics Institute. While teaching at the latter school, Dr. Romanowitz attended the College of Education at the University of Cincinnati and earned a certificate to teach physics and mathematics in high schools in Ohio.

Wildcats Invade Louisiana

By TOM WHITE

Coach Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats set out this weekend for Louisiana. First stop for the Kentucky cagers will be a Saturday evening game with LSU in Baton Rouge. On Monday night, Kentucky meets a dangerous Tulane squad in New Orleans.

LSU
Three holdovers feature Coach Harry Rabenhorst's Bayou Tigers this season led by Roger Sigler, 6-3, led the SEC in scoring last season with a 25.1 average in 20 games.
Also back for a last season are Troy Rushing, 6-3, and Don Merle, 6-0. Rushing averaged 12.3 points a game in 1956 and Merle pumped through 13.6 points a game last year.
LSU down through the years has been a power in the SEC, but this year lacks that all important asset, tried veterans. A hot Sigler could make for a very interesting game tomorrow night.

TULANE

Tulane has been a hot and cold ball club this season. Against Ohio State in a nationally televised game the Green Wave looked very good.

Coach Cliff Wells employs a ball control style of play with Tulane working for the "good shot." Against Ohio State, the Greenies closely resembled St. Louis when they played Kentucky earlier this season.

Cal Grosseup is the scoring leader for the Green Wave. Grosseup, 6-4, is a terrific shot maker who has averaged over 20 points per game this year.

Teaming with Grosseup at the other forward slot is 6-4, Stan Stumpf. Stumpf is also an excellent shot and good rebounder. 6-4, Tom Murphy, although rather short for a center, sets his share of rebounds, and tip-ins for Tulane.

Gary Stoll, 5-11, and Bill Jorgensen, 6-2, hold down the guard positions and both share the play-making for the Green Wave.
Reserves are still a problem for Coach Wells, but he, at least, has more available than last season when he finished the year with only seven players.

Many experts picked Tulane to finish third in the SEC behind Kentucky and Vanderbilt and so far this season the Greenies have proved capable of doing just that. Against LSU and Tulane the Wildcats enter into the SEC fight in earnest. Off their showing in the UKIT and Sugar Bowl tourneys Kentucky should take it all, but the SEC is stronger this year than in any other past season.

Vernon Hatton

Vernon Hatton, potential All-American guard of Kentucky's Wildcats, is not expected to be ready for duty before the first of February. Because of his recent appendectomy operation, Hatton will probably miss the Vanderbilt game in Nashville January 26th. This would be a big blow to Coach Rupp's cagers as Hatton was previously expected to be ready for Vandy.

KERNEL SPORTS

SEC Title Harder To Win Now; I-M Grid Problem May Be Solved

By SCOOP WHITE, Sports Editor

Remember a few seasons back when the Kentucky cagers looked forward to playing the SEC schedule. Times have changed haven't they?

The Wildcats, although still a basketball power, are no longer the annual shoo-in for the conference title. Basketball in the South has improved tremendously in the past five years, and this improvement is due to the influence Coach ADOLPH RUPP has had throughout this region.

This weekend the Cats begin their first of three crucial road trips through Dixie before returning home Jan. 30 for the Georgia game. LSU and Tulane provide the stiff competition tomorrow night and Monday night. Both are well coached, as mentors Harry Rabenhorst of the Tigers and Cliff Wells of the Green Wave are highly respected in the roundball sport.

Today, SEC basketball teams are a menace to the Wildcats. South-east coaches key their teams to such a high pitch that each season their best games are played against the Cats. Thus, Kentucky should be mentally prepared for each game.

This year's conference is better balanced than ever before. Besides Kentucky, top contenders should include VANDERBILT, Auburn, Tennessee, Alabama and possibly Mississippi State. Florida and Tulane could be sneakers.

Look back two years ago and you'll find it all started with GEORGIA TECH's stunning upset here over the Cats 59-58. Then in the same season, a second blow was inflicted at Atlanta. The mental barrier, which for so many seasons had separated the also-rans and the perennial champ, was broken. These two wins poured confidence into each SEC five from then on.

So a tough conference schedule lies in the title path of the present Wildcats cage squad. Without Vernon Hatton, the road looks rougher. But the Cats seem to have better team spirit than of a year ago. Their bench is getting stronger as the season progresses. EARL ADKINS, Ray Mills, and Bill Cassidy have received valuable experience in recent close games. While Hatton is gone, John Brewer is being seasoned into a dependable veteran.

The Cats are now where wins count the most, the SEC race. With a determined effort, keeping their present spirit, and proudly holding a look of confidence, KENTUCKY can still reign as the Southeast's champion.

An answer to UK's intramural football problem is in the near future. While attending a national meeting of physical education instructors, Dr. William McCubbin, I-M Director, asked around to see how other schools played intramural football. Finally, he found one that UK could use and still would not differ much from last year's rules, except for eliminating some unnecessary roughness.

It remains flag football, but the player uses THREE flags instead of two. The flags are snapped on a belt, one on each side and one in the back. When a substitution occurs, the players merely exchange the belt. Also, each flag has the number that the player wears so each can identify his own flags. Seven men are on each side instead of nine, three linemen and four backs. Teams on the line of scrimmage are FIVE yards apart.

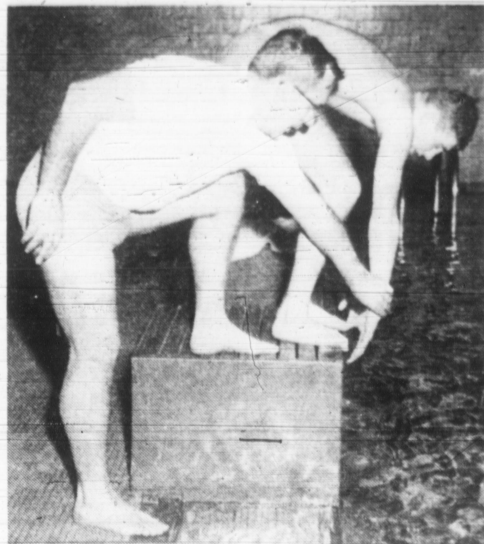

Now comes the new part of this game. If the ball carrier goes around end and the defensive man is set to make the stop on him, the offensive man cannot run over him, he must go around him to escape a penalty. The referees call it like the controversial charging-blocking decisions in basketball.

Dr. McCubbin got the idea from the University of Florida which has used this system successfully for two years. It stopped their injury problem. It might stop ours. A meeting of I-M managers will be held the first of next semester to decide upon this idea. Sounds good to me.

Dr. McCubbin

SPORT Magazine will feature the UKIT tournament in next winter's December Issue. Their photographer, George Heyer, took over 300 pictures of this year's meet, including 50 color shots. Tom Diskin, former Kernel sports editor, is writing the feature.

Mermen Open Season

By BOB SMITH

Kentucky's Catfish journey to Louisville tomorrow afternoon for their first swimming meet of the season against highly regarded U. of L. The Cardinals, undefeated over the last two years figure to make the water very rough for the undermanned Cats.

With only eight varsity swimmers, Kentucky Coach Algie Reece will be able to enter only one man in each individual event except the 440 yard freestyle race. Louisville defeated the Wildcats last year and Kentucky will not only be seeking revenge, but vast improvement over last year's frustrating campaign which netted them only a pair of victories over Vanderbilt and Cincinnati.

With SEC dash champion Roger Messick ineligible, last season's high point-man Dave Wild will spearhead the Catfish aquatic attack. Wild is entered in the 220 yard freestyle event, the 440 yard freestyle, and the 400 yard freestyle relay.

Sophomore Guy Hsieh will swim the fifty yard freestyle and another promising sophomore Bill Eaton will compete in the 100 yard freestyle dash. Eaton set a state backstroke record while in prep.

Johnny Cox Paces Cats

Johnny Cox leads all Kentucky basketball scorers for 12 games with a 17.4 average and 209 total points.

Guard Vernon Hatton has a better average, but the playmaker has seen action in ten games due to an appendectomy he underwent on December 31. Gerry Calvert is second in line through 12 games with 199 total points and a 16.4 average. Hatton is next in total points with 177.

Forward John Crigler holds a very slim lead over center Ed Beck for fourth spot among Wildcat scorers. Crigler has a 9.6 scoring average by scoring 116 points while the tall man of the squad has 114 total points and a 9.5 average.

In the personal foul department, Calvert leads the way with 43 followed by Beck who has 38, and Cox who has been charged with 30. Crigler has picked up 24 personals and Hatton committed 18 during his playing time.

Beck leads all rebounders with 167. Cox is the only other Cat over the one-hundred mark with a total of 113. Crigler has pulled off 98.

These statistics include the Loyola game played in the Coliseum Monday night which Kentucky won 81-62.

On the Kittens, center Don Mills is the leader in every category except personal fouls. Roger Newman vans that department. Mills has scored 139 points for a five game average of 27.8 and has handled 96 rebounds. Newman is second in scoring with a five game total of 85 points for a 17.0 average. Lowell Hughes, a freshman football standout, holds down third place among scorers with 78 points and a 15.6 average.

Bobby Shepherd is the team's number two rebounder with 83 and then comes Newman who has grabbed 56.

Hughes has committed only five personal fouls in five games to be the least fouling player on the squad.

The first step toward the establishment of a state-supported college in Kentucky occurred during the Revolutionary War when "Kentucky was a part of Virginia."

Kittens' Last Half Drive Nets Win

Kentucky's freshmen cagers pulled away in the last ten minutes to win their sixth straight game 94-64 over the Transylvania J.V.'s Wednesday night.

Coach Harry Lancaster's Kittens were held to a three point advantage at halftime 37-34 by Transy. Don Mills with 29 points and Lowell Hughes with 19 paced the unbeaten freshmen.

The Kittens hit 36 of 95 shots from the field for a 37.9 percentage and scored a season's high of 84.6 percent from the free throw lane by connecting on 22 of 26 gift tosses.

In addition to Mills and Hughes, Bobby Shepherd got 10 points, Warren Stephens 10 and Roger Newman 8 points. The Kittens next game is with the Georgetown school. The 200 yard breaststroke will feature Jim Ketzler, a product of Detroit, for Kentucky. The Motor City swimmer will also represent the Cats in the 200 yard butterfly event. Three letterman George King will swim the 100 yard backstroke for UK.

In the 440 yard freestyle-middle distance event, swimming for Kentucky in addition to Dave Wild, will be Lafayette High School product Casey Neuman, a valuable point getter in his sophomore year.

Kentucky's relay teams will be made up of Eaton, Hisle, Neuman and Wild in the 400 yard freestyle. In the only other relay event on the schedule, the 400 yard medley, King will swim the backstroke, Ketzler, breast stroke, Eaton, butterfly and Neuman, the anchorlap freestyle.

Crigler Hustles For Points

By DON LESSLEY

JOHN CRIGLER

"Starting this year has been my greatest delight of my basketball career, both in high school and college."

John Crigler scratched his head and continued to answer questions. "Last year the best man I saw in action was Carl Cain of Iowa, this year it was Guy Rodgers of Temple."

Crigler, a 6-3 junior from Hebron is the newest scoring sensation of the Wildcat cage group. "Who was the best I ever saw? Tom Gola of LaSalle by far, he was smooth."

John graduated from Hebron High, now Boone County, in 1954 after a successful season which ended with his selection as a second team All-State performer. He was selected "Star-of-Stars" in the annual Kentucky East-West games. He also participated in the Kentucky-Illinois and Kentucky-Ohio All-Star games.

Besides basketball, John also played baseball last season. He was credited with Kentucky's only SEC win of the campaign. He posted one win against no losses to be Kentucky's leading percentage hurler.

"I've thought about coaching, but while I'm in school I want to study something that can help me later. I'm in Commerce, taking a general business course and I think I can go into either business or coaching after I leave, right now I'm not sure."

Though Crigler has never been an outstanding player while in college, he scored only 25 points in ten games last season, he has always been able to hold his own. Last season he saw action mostly at guard and this year when he made the switch to forward the "experts" previewed him by saying, "He can't score as a starter." At first it looked like he might not with his offensive ability, and he even lost his starting assignment for a few games.

Then in the Sugar Bowl Tournament in New Orleans, John seemed to find himself as a scorer. He came off the bench against Houston and scored 18 points and regained his starting position.

In the first SEC game of the season John scorched the nets for 24 points, his career high, to lead the Cats to a win on their march to regain the conference title.

John has a younger brother, Louis, playing on the freshman squad. At times next season Kentucky could have a unique brother act in operation.

Ed Nickell Wins

Ed Nickell, ATO, defeated Richard Hicks, CE, in the finals of the intramural ping-pong tournament.

Nickell's victory coupled with previous wins in the tourney by other ATO's gave ATO 28 points in the race for the All Participation Trophy awarded late the second semester.

W.A.A. Sponsors Cage Clinic Here

A basketball clinic, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, will be held tomorrow in the women's gym from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for college and recreation leaders.

Members of the W.A.A. have worked hard to make this event a success. Jane Bell was in charge of arrangements, and the Invitation Committee was headed by Beverly Warren.

Two champions have been crowned. Keeneland Hall defeated Alpha Xi Delta 41-29 for the volleyball title. Marie Edwards' 14 points led the winners.

Joan Winkler, Keeneland Hall, captured the badminton singles tournament.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Frank R. Hoffman, B.S. in Liberal Arts, Hampden-Sydney College, '53

Meet an Assistant Manager—Hampden-Sydney, '53

Frank Hoffman is Assistant Manager of the telephone office at Newport News, Va. Frank's office has about 25,000 accounts, and handles $360,000 worth of business a month.

He joined the telephone company in 1953, only three years ago.

"My wife worked there first," says Frank, "while I was still in college. What she told me, along with what I learned from friends in the business, pretty well sold me on the telephone company as a place to find a career. And the interview clinched it. The job opportunities were too good to refuse."

"I began in the Commercial Department, which takes care of business contacts with customers. The training was continuous and excellent. One of the most rewarding jobs I had was working on revenue studies involving estimates of population and telephone growth. This experience is really useful in my present position as Assistant Manager.

"I supervise the personnel who handle customer contacts. And I assist in the handling of our public relations work in the community. In the Manager's absence, I take over."

"It's a great job, full of opportunities and satisfaction. I like working with people, and I like to see my work contributing to the betterment of the community and the company. Choosing a career in the telephone business was the best move I've ever made."

Frank Hoffman chose a career with The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia. Interesting career opportunities exist in other Bell Telephone Companies, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has more information about them.

Shear's Expedition Lands In Antarctica

Associate Professor James Shear and his 12 man expedition have landed safely at Cape Hallett, in Antarctica it was learned today.

The expedition which only last Friday was freed from the ice after being stranded since New Year's Eve is now in the process of setting up their base, which will be their home for the next 14 months.

It had been previously planned to establish their base at Camp Adare sometime around mid December, but due to the icy conditions both ice breakers became stranded in the ice.

The "North Wind" which carried Prof. Shear was found to have bent its propellers after sailing into the thick ice. The "Arneb" which was carrying all the supplies for the expedition and Prof. Shear's 12 associates had extensive damage to its propellers.

There was no damage to any of the supplies or injuries to any of the men.

It was also found that the Camp Adare area was unsuitable for the base due to the speed of the winds that swept that area, sometimes reaching a velocity of 75 m.p.h. Showing the spirit that the men of the Antarctica expedition have, they have officially renamed Camp Hallett to Camp Adare.

Law Day Program Set For May 3

Plans for the annual Law Day program have been agreed upon by the five man committee in charge of this event. The program has been scheduled for May 3.

Inaugurated in 1948 as an annual legal forum on a topic of live interest to students and practitioners, "Law Day" has been developed into a tradition of the College of Law. An entire day is set aside each spring for this event.

Plans for the Law Day program include a morning convocation at which time a prominent speaker will address Law College students and faculty members and outstanding students will be recognized, a luncheon and a demonstration trial in the early afternoon.

Also included in this year's program will be an explanation of the legal curriculum for all pre-law students who plan to enroll in the College of Law. This discussion is scheduled for 4 p.m.

The annual Student Bar Association dance will round out the events of the day.

Members of the Law Day planning committee are Joe Johnson, Marvin Suit, Grady Ruff, Louis Amato and Jim Cloar.

Social Work Jobs Open In YMCA

Bart Peak, YMCA director, has announced several opportunities open to people interested in YMCA social work.

The Emanuel Community Center of Cincinnati, O., wants a young man with experience in dealing with young people to work with boy's clubs and playground groups. They also want a young lady with experience to help in the Community Center social work.

The State YMCA wants a young man, preferably married and a college graduate, to go into YMCA work. The job will be open sometime in February.

The Henry B. Wright Fellowship will be offered by the Yale University Divinity School, beginning with the 1957-58 school year. The grant, consisting of $500, offered only to college seniors and graduate students, for professional training in leadership. Another $400 can be earned by YMCA work in New Haven during the school year.

It is now hoped that once the camp is established radio contact with Lexington will be possible. Radio towers are now being set up and work on them should be completed in about two or three weeks. This will be the only means of communication for Prof. Shear and his family.

"I received a radio cablegram from my husband just before Christmas," said Mrs. Shear, "But that was before the ice breakers became stranded in the ice."

With temperatures around 100 below zero and isolated from the world it looks like a long snow filled year for the thirteen men that are now building their home at "Camp Adare" for this geophysical year.

The Statute of Liberty was unveiled in New York Harbor on Oct. 25, 1885.

PENNY WISE*
POUND FOOLISH

"I'm sad to say," said Tootsie Brown,
"The weight I gain just gets me down.
Each bite, each drop of this or that,
Immediately turns to fat.
Some girls, I note, can eat and eat
And yet they still look trim and neat.
To aggravate the situation
I much dislike my fat's location.
I wouldn't so much want to change me,
If only I could rearrange me."
