Dollar Day Is Bargain Day

If you haven't contributed to the World Student Service Fund, Dollar Day is for you.

Today has been designated by the WSSF Committee as Dollar Day. From 10 a.m. until 3 p.m., students will be stationed at sidewalk tables at strategic spots on campus. If you're not wearing the ribbon which signifies that you are already a WSSF contributor, you may be asked to help UK reach its $2000 goal. These campus workers are equipped to explain WSSF to you. Ask them anything you'd like to know about how WSSF helps students overseas and displaced students here on our own campus.

After you've talked to the WSSF worker, we think you'll be convinced that you should dig deep in that pocket. Remember, you're not only helping that starving student overseas; you're giving—for your future.

Two-Party -- Not Two-Party

In this week's "Mailbox," there appears a letter headed "Two-Party System." Though he may be a little optimistic, the writer of this letter has some sound ideas concerning the Student Government Association.

We are sorry to hear that the SGA fall elections are to be held Dec. 6. Since next week is a holiday, that means we only have one Kernel in which to present candidates, platforms, and publicity about one of the most important events on campus; and one that should be publicized in time to arouse interest in electing good candidates.

We admit that we honestly don't know whether or not there can ever be a strong SGA on our campus. Many students complain that it doesn't wield much influence now.

We agree with Mr. Rogers that the continuation of the two-party system is the best hope for a truly representative SGA.

The Kernel will continue its policy of strict neutrality regarding student elections. But we are sincerely interested in seeing a good election in which every candidate must prove to the students that he deserves their vote. We'd like to publish a statement by each candidate telling what he would try to accomplish if he were elected. If students really KNOW who and what they're voting for, perhaps we'll see some of that long wished-for interest in SGA.

Well, What Do You Know?

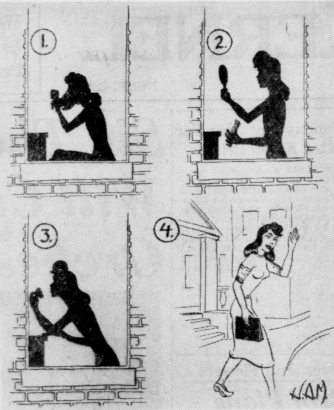

Now we don't believe for a minute that you will drop dead if you don't spare the time, say for a half a cigarette, to check yourself against the first of a series of questions on American history and the American way of life appearing on this editorial page of today's Kernel.

However, it just seems to make sense that you should give a little attention to some of these questions which we will present this week and in the following weeks. Who knows, the world situation being as it is, when most of us won't be right busy carrying out a big piece of new American history in our own right? Maybe a little self-orientation would be helpful.

We start off this week with some questions about the press and freedom of the press.

Maul The Vols!

After long editorial consultation the Kernel has decided to go on record as favoring a Kentucky victory over Tennessee. It is our firm conviction that this would be a fitting climax to the Happy Thanksgiving we strongly advocate.

The Mailbox

Two-Party System

Campus politics is confusing. It's even confusing to campus politicians. We definitely can't understand politicians, but perhaps the rest of us can get enough inside dope on the Student Government Association to lead our leaders.

There has been beaucoup criticism heaped upon SGA as an organization and upon its members in general. Weakness of the organization is a continual gripe. It is often called an administrative tool. Its members are accused of heeding to the slightest whim of the administration in spite of student desire or need. Members are called glory-seekers.

Where there is smoke there is fire—your SGA members would be the first to admit that there are and have been cases where each of these accusations apply. But everyone knows that the accusations are overstated. The organization does well under the circumstances, all the members desire to serve the student body and very few ask glory for their work. But there IS a problem.

The problem is "DO THE STUDENTS WANT A STRONG GOVERNMENT ENOUGH TO FIGHT FOR IT?"

The strength of SGA is not in its members but in the number of students who support its policies and projects. SGA is a perfect example of power being in numbers.

A two-party election last spring brought out a near record vote which caused the administration to take notice and interest in the elec-

Profainitease

By Bob Fain

We have come to the conclusion that life is not worth living. Now take teachers for instance. Please take one, because no one else wants us. As we were saying, take teachers. They're the most unpredictable creatures on the face of the young-earth. Why is it that during exams, a poor student practically vanishes, a poor student practically vanishes himself getting ready for the test. When it comes, he is prepared to the nth degree. After the test, he thinks he has made an "A." But he is wrong, as you well know. He has made an "E."

Now take the other kind of student—I will call no names—but we never studies and doesn't care what kind of grades he makes. The night before the test he goes down to the Main Spring or one of the other local resorts, and finishes off the night by sleeping. What happens? Next morning he takes the test and thinks he has failed. You're right, he has failed. Like we said, life ain't worth livin'. Come the revolution, things will be much better.

That face on my I-D card isn't me at all. Cause I saw the same on the Post Office wall.

Prof: What do you find the hardest thing to deal with? Playboy. An old pack of cards.

Two rabbits, a male and female, were being chased by a dog, when the male rabbit looked at the female rabbit and said, "Let's stop for a moment and outnumber them."

My lady, be wary of Cupid. And list to the lines of this verse. To let a fool kiss you is stupid. To let a kiss fool you is worse.

Science is still puzzled. Why is it, we want to know, that girl with a streamlined figure offers the most resistance?

Hear ye, hear ye! When you get back the papers on those Friday chemistry quizzes and the instructor makes unkind remarks about the accuracy of your mathematics, you may point out that Avogadro's number itself is inaccurate by about 300 quintillion atoms per gram atomic weight.

A patient teacher was trying to teach a young pupil how to read with expression.

"Where — are — you — going?" "Iry that again," said the teacher. "Read it as if you were talking, and not like a poem."

Disintegration Of Far East Japanese Christian Predicts

By Don Rogers

"No hope" and "disintegration" were predicted for Japan, Asia and Eastern Europe by Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa Wednesday night unless they have a "revolution" and adopt Christianity as a moral and political standard.

Dr. Kagawa overcame a difficult language barrier to hold the strict attention of nearly 6,000 students and townspeople in the Coliseum. Tentative arrangements included plans for half that number.

THE "NUMBER-TWO-MAN" of post-war Japan warmed toward his subject and his audience as he progressed to the correlation of progress and Christianity in Japan. He told how (in just 83 years) Japan has progressed from a nation of war

Six more days till vacation—Whee! Yes, sir, we will all welcome that well deserved rest (we hope well deserved), but whether our instructors think we have done any work or not, most of us believe we have.

OF COURSE, PLENTY OF UK STUDENTS will be down in Ole Tennessee to root for the Wildcats during vacation. From what I have heard, many parties have been planned for the same, and if I may comment, what gay parties they will be, especially if the Wildcat triumph over the Volunteers.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests
Number 6...THE TURTLE

"I should never have stuck my neck out!"

They had our slow-moving brother moving at too fast a pace with those quick-trick cigarette tests! A fast puff... a swift snuff... a quick inhale... a rapid exhale. Terrapin's head was spinning — didn't know if he was coming or going! But he slowed down to his own speed — decided there was no need to rush. After all, he figured, how could anyone possibly prove cigarette mildness so fast? And he was right, too! That's why we suggest: The sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a pack after pack, day after day basis. No snap judgments needed. After you've enjoyed Camels — and only Camels — for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste) we believe you'll know why...

More People Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

The Mail Must Go Through Miss Carrie Bean, UK's Postmistress, Has Served 37 Years In Same Capacity

By Paul Knapp

and Mary Shinnick

Miss Carrie Bean, UK's Postmistress, has had quite a job in the 37 years she has managed the University Post Office, but still claims she runs "just an ordinary post office."

Miss Bean remembers the "good old days" when she personally knew every student in school and could tell any student she met on or off campus whether he or she had any mail, and where it was from.

"University of Kentucky students haven't changed a bit in over a quarter of a century," she says. "Although styles and individuals come and go, students are just the same in 1950 as when I came to the University."

SOMETIMES SHE HAS to pause a moment to associate the right date with the right incident in the history of the Post Office, but she doesn't mind talking about them all at once she gets them straightened out chronologically.

When Miss Bean first came to the University, the Post Office was connected with the business office and the supply department in the Administration Building. There were 285 boxes and the faculty received their mail there.

IN 1917, THE BUSINESS office moved across the hall to form the comptroller department. She was left to manage the Book Store and Post Office. The mail was laid out on a table where it was picked up by the recipient.

Alumni Gym was the next home of the Post Office, still combined with the book store in 1922. It was here that frequent floods, due to the lack of a sufficient storm sewer, and a fire, causing considerable damage, drove them to new quarters in McVey Hall.

BY NOW THE POST OFFICE was connected with the government as well as the University and required more attention than in its earlier years. In 1930, Miss Bean gave up management of the Book Store and centered her attention on just the Post Office.

During the first year under the management of Miss Bean, the Post Office handled $8000 in business. Since then, she has increased this figure until last year she handled $296,247.28. This can be broken down into $49,963.88 in stamps sold, and $156,283.40 in money orders issued and cashed, COD's, and postal notes.

LAST YEAR THE incoming mail to the University, such as letters, magazines, and packages, was 789,298; the outgoing mail was 989,950. The campus mail, which is distributed from department to department by the Post Office, was 846,961. This makes a total of 3,713,783 items handled. These figures do not include the distribution of the Kernels to the dormitories and other students and organization boxes. This gives you some idea as to just what a tremendous job Miss Bean and her six other assistants have in managing the Post Office successfully.

THE LAST FEW years, the facilities have become very crowded and as Miss Bean says, "I don't even have room for an office where I can talk to someone privately." Even with approximately 4700 boxes, some dormitory students are asked to share their mail with a room mate.

As for the future of the Post Office, Controller Frank Peterson has recommended that increased space be given the Post Office when the new Journalism Building is completed. When the printing plant is removed, the Post Office could add the present space of the Book Store or some of the former plant space.

The Book Store is already equipped with government specified bars on the windows. The rest of the floor could be used by the Book Store.

UK'S POSTMISTRESS is often confronted with students who blame her for not receiving their expected mail, but she takes it in her stride and does her best to see that all mail is in the boxes by the prescribed times. But there is one complaint with which she can't force herself to sympathize. This came from a graduate student who came to her and vehemently "raked her up one side and down the other" for not delivering his mail for the past four years. He couldn't understand that it was because he hadn't applied for a Post Office box.

Although she no longer knows every student in the University, Miss Bean knows a great many of them. She feels that working with students as the connecting link between the home and school is the most interesting occupation she could have entered. She has spent 37 good years at the University and plans to spend a good many more.

"Your face is clean, but I don't know about your imagination."

"Oh, darling, I've missed you."

"No, what do you mean, Tarzan eyes?"

Story Behind The Structure

Patterson Hall Stands On Romantic Site; First Couple Wed In State Lived There

By Janet Payne

Had the present residents of Patterson Hall lived there when the building was new, they would have found Patterson Hall quite different from what it is today. Built in 1920, this, the first dormitory for women at UK, was named in honor of Walter K. Patterson, a member of the faculty of the college who discontinued his teaching for one year to supervise the construction of the building, and James K. Patterson, first president of the college.

Patterson Hall is placed on an historic site. The first couple to be married in Kentucky were John Maxwell and his bride. They were married in an old brick house near the property and then set up housekeeping in a cabin on the very place where Patterson Hall now stands. ORIGINALLY BUILT for about 125 persons with each room to be used by two girls, the dormitory now houses about 195 persons, two, three or four girls using each room. The cost of the ground, building and equipment was approximately $60,000.

The dining room has occupied two different places in Patterson Hall. It first was located where the large lounge is now. Later the dining room was moved up into the annex on the second floor and the old dining room was converted into a recreational hall. Still later when Boyd Hall was built, the dining room was moved from the annex to Boyd

She Helps Anyone

Oregon's Marilyn Harris Is UK's Danforth Fellow

By Nancy Gaskin

Marilyn Harris, a spunky-eyed girl with a cheerful grin, is the 1950-51 Danforth Fellow for UK. She is one of sixteen girls who received a Danforth Fellowship after she was graduated from college last June.

Danforth Fellows are chosen from colleges all over the United States. The girls selected are sent out to American colleges to further religious work among the students. There is a Danforth Associate at nearly every accredited college. His job is to look over the field and suggest girls who fulfill the somewhat elusive requirements and who want to do the work. Selection is based on the applicant's campus activities during her college years, and especially the religious activities. One of the main requirements of a Danforth Fellow is that she be frisky and socially at ease, because her work is almost exclusively with people.

"MR. DANFORTH FEELS that during their four or more years in college most students get so involved in studies and social life that they get out of touch with religion," Marilyn said. Mr. Danforth was convinced that college students had a great need for religious education, because they will be the leaders of the future.

Marilyn, and the other Danforth Fellows, are not tied down to a set routine in carrying out the general program. Except for a broad theme, each Fellow develops her own job on her own campus. Marilyn works with both campus organizations and with individual students. Her work is primarily, though not always, with religious organizations. However, her work may cover all student life and it is not restricted to any particular organization, group, or religion. For instance, she might help out in an advisory capacity or a scholarship committee in some denominational group, or listen to the problems of a single student.

BUT MARILYN IS not limited to the UK campus alone, nor are the other Danforth Fellows. She will be visiting other Kentucky campuses to help out during their respective Religious Emphasis Weeks. Pearl Parker, who was UK's Danforth Fellow during 1947-48, visited local high schools as a part of her work. A fellowship is a full-time, one-year job. Although Marilyn has an internship in the Y-Lantern of the SUB, she has no particular working hours—daytime, nighttime, it makes no difference, as long as she can be of help.

THE SIXTEEN GIRLS chosen annually for Danforth Fellowships are those who have just been graduated from college the year before. Marilyn graduated from Oregon State College last June, where she majored in general science and minored in education. She lives in Eugene, Oregon.

The summer after graduation the selected girls undergo a five-week training period. The next fall they are sent out to colleges all over the United States, other than the one from which they were graduated, to begin their work.

WHEN THE DANFORTH Foundation began the Fellowships in 1940, it was originally intended to include young men in the program too. But World War II eliminated the men temporarily, and at present young women will probably carry on the program without the aid of men.

The Danforth Foundation was begun by Mr. William H. Danforth, owner and president of the Purina-Pabon Food Mills of St. Louis, Mo. The Fellowships are a fairly recent addition to the Danforth program.

SINCE 1929 THE Foundation has supported two summer camps, in conjunction with other organizations, for high-school and college youth. One of them, Camp Minivan, which is called the American Youth Foundation Camp for Leadership Training, sends four-two men who have just completed their junior year, and two who have completed their freshman year.

The Foundation also sponsors a leadership-training camp for college faculty members.

Mr. Danforth, now 80, is a very active and liberal man. He is the son of Kentucky parents, which accounts for his interest in this state. He is on the board of trustees of Berea College, and he built the chapel at Berea, with his own funds.

and the annex was changed into bedrooms.

TODAY'S RESIDENTS of Patterson Hall would never complain about the amount of supervision if they had lived in the dormitory when it was home to President Henry Stiles Barker and his wife, the dean of women, and the house director, President H. S. Barker, the second president of the college, was living in Patterson Hall because the first president, James K. Patterson, was still occupying the presidential residence.

Freshmen may at first complain about the crowded conditions, but Pat's friendly atmosphere soon finds a welcome place in the hearts of each.

COPIES, THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

After The Program

Opinions Are Offered, But None Agree On Laughton

Last Friday the Kernel's "crack" interviewing team of Coffman and Coyte ran into a full scale foul-up in trying to interview Charles Laughton after his performance at the Coliseum. It seems that they were perfectly willing to talk to Mr. Laughton, but his split-second schedule made it impossible for him to talk to them. The team did, however, go out and garner some reactions to Mr. Laughton's readings, which they herewith present.

COYLE: The pleasure I felt from watching Laughton's act came from seeing a truly big-time performer in action. There's something about watching a top man in his field go through his paces, that can't be imitated anywhere, whether the man be tops in acting, sports, surgery, or what have you. There is a confidence and fluidity of style that comes only from the ability of the performer and his long experience. Laughton was the consummate technician, a pleasure to watch. In watching I was reminded of the tremendous background of acting, rehearsing, memorizing that he had to produce Laughton's effortless readings, and my respect for him raised about 1000 percent. The reactions of others weren't quite as favorable in some respects, as mine. Here are two of them.

WALLACE BRIGGS, director of Gungul Theatre: First of all, I was pleased at the attendance. I think what many people came to see Laughton, the Hollywood star,

Papers Read By Faculty

Nine UK faculty members will read papers at the annual meeting of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association in Knoxville, Nov. 22-25. The papers which are to be read at the meeting were selected either through competition with other papers, or by invitation from the association.

The faculty members and their papers are Gordon E. Biglow—"A Defense of 'Conventional' Methods in Freshman Composition"; Lawrence E. Bowling—"An Analysis of 'The Tempest'"; Louis J. Budd—"W. D. Howells' Debt to Tolstoy"; Betty J. Eilertson—"Value of a Survey Course in the Liberal Arts Curriculum"; Maurice A. Hatch—"Roger Aecham: Italianate Englishman"; W. H. Jansen—"Poik: Collector Versus Poik Scholar"; Robert Ryland—"Unusual Ideas of the Marnus de Gode"; Herman E. Solvey—"Elizabeth Maddox Roberts: A Critical Appraisal"; and Paul K. Whitaker—"The Marriage Problem in Sudermann's Life."

COFFMAN: Laughton's act is a personally inspired man in person that the movies or radio have been unable to put across. I thoroughly enjoyed his program which I thought was very well rounded. From "Ladies in Waiting" to the Geytysburg Address it was an education with a lot of fun mixed in between the more serious works. I liked best of all his selections from Shakespeare and Thomas Wolfe. I also enjoyed his side comments.

In its place, neat spring flowers and Kentucky blue grass will grow and beautify the campus. Many of the students have expressed the desire that the old bookstore site be converted into a useful parking lot for their automobiles.

Several of the professors that were observed at the Kappa Psi Dance recently were Dr. Ewen Gillis, Dr. Abraham Slesser, Prof. Charles Leavitt, and Prof. James Miles.

MR. GARNETT SHUFFETT, who graduated from the College of Pharmacy in June, 1949, opened a new apothecary shop in Lebanon on Nov. 4. Mr. Robert Bronner, sophomore student, will wed Miss Cathleen Schulman on Thanksgiving Day.

Phi Beta To Hold Induction Program

UK, alumni, and Transylvania chapters of Phi Beta, national honor society, will induct patrons and patronesses at its Patron Party Program in the SUB Music Room at 5 p.m. Sunday.

After the induction ceremonies a program will be presented. Patrons and Phyllis Dean, UK housewife, will be presented. Patrons will be presented. Patrons will be presented.

GRANT C. KNIGHT, distinguished professor of English: I was impressed by Laughton's ability to capture the audience at the outset of the program. I didn't think that he had a first-rate voice, but he kept excellent command of his audience by the force of his personality.

The reading from Dickens was the best part of the program, while the reading from Shakespeare and Thomas Wolfe, he put a great deal of feeling into the Biblical story of the fiery furnace.

The weakest part of the program was his reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. He was trying too hard to build up to a climax for his program. The result was rather pretentious.

Thompson Visits Classes

Marshall Thompson, star of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, will be the guest of several University classes today, and in the afternoon will match the Wildcat's final preparation for the North Dakota game.

In addition to visiting several drama and journalism classes, he will be interviewed by Miss Conille Henderson's radio arts class. Questions directed at him will concern acting for radio and motion pictures as a profession, and the chances and preparation necessary for acting in both media.

Dr. Donovan believes that the expected shortage can be avoided if almost 60,000 students are persuaded to enter engineering schools annually. More than half of the students who enter engineering do not complete the course.

The smaller enrollment in engineering schools is due to the decrease in veterans entering under the G.I. Bill and the popular belief among high school graduates that the engineering field is overcrowded, Dr. Donovan said.

Student Opinion

Wild Views Are Presented In Discussion About Wildcat

By Martha Lee Bach and Claire Ann Graves

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: What is your opinion of the wildcat as the University mascot?

JEAN NASH—"We'd feel awfully silly we had a billy-goat instead of a wildcat for a long time so I think it's OK."

BAMBI PARKER—"I think that we should have two of them because only one looks terribly handsome."

HAROLD ROSE—"It's a great thing that we have a wildcat. I'd like to meet the guy that caught him."

MARY TO RIDLEY—"It's very appropriate, especially since we're called Wildcats."

ART ASBURY—"I don't like it because it's not native to Kentucky."

MARLYN OVERHELL—"I think he's cute but he does need a bath!"

RAY CLARK—"It's a great idea. Stay out of spirit."

TOMMY WHISMAN—"We should have cologne as our mascot instead of the wildcat because it would give the Ole South effect."

ED WARD—"It's as good as any, I suppose."

DON FAIRCHILD—"Best idea we could have. In fact, I think that it's a darn good idea."

MARY SIMPSON—"It's wonderful. It's simply perfect for Kentucky."

ANN ODGEN—"I, like most people, think that it's cute."

ED FOSSETT—"I think she's perfect, because a wildcat always fights to the last breath."

LORRAINE HARIA—"It's a good idea, but I don't think half the people know she's there."

Wild Views Are Presented In Discussion About Wildcat

By Martha Lee Bach and Claire Ann Graves

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: What is your opinion of the wildcat as the University mascot?

JEAN NASH—"We'd feel awfully silly we had a billy-goat instead of a wildcat for a long time so I think it's OK."

BAMBI PARKER—"I think that we should have two of them because only one looks terribly handsome."

HAROLD ROSE—"It's a great thing that we have a wildcat. I'd like to meet the guy that caught him."

MARY TO RIDLEY—"It's very appropriate, especially since we're called Wildcats."

ART ASBURY—"I don't like it because it's not native to Kentucky."

MARLYN OVERHELL—"I think he's cute but he does need a bath!"

RAY CLARK—"It's a great idea. Stay out of spirit."

TOMMY WHISMAN—"We should have cologne as our mascot instead of the wildcat because it would give the Ole South effect."

ED WARD—"It's as good as any, I suppose."

DON FAIRCHILD—"Best idea we could have. In fact, I think that it's a darn good idea."

MARY SIMPSON—"It's wonderful. It's simply perfect for Kentucky."

ANN ODGEN—"I, like most people, think that it's cute."

SAE's Win I-M Grid Crown

Fraternity Team Scores Touchdown In Last Quarter

A five-yard touchdown pass early in the fourth quarter gave the SAE's a 6-0 victory over the Men's Dorm and the 1950 Intramural football crown Wednesday night under the ODE's auspices.

Taliback C. M. Newton fired to Carroll Jacobs as the fullback streaked into the end zone third down.

The SAE's had taken over at midfield after the Dorm failed to score fourth down. Newton hit Wingback Bob Creger down the middle to the 20-yard line. End Frank Bassett took another Newton heave on the five to set up the tally. Here the third quarter ended.

Two pass plays went away. Then Newton, who had engineered the SAE's through eight previous victories, faked to Jacobs in the flat, let him get behind the deep defender, and lobbed over the clincher. The conversion was not good.

The Dorm intercepted a Newton pass on the SAE 20-yard line with two minutes left. Newton's interception Dorn plays failed to gain a yard. The SAE's took the ball and let time run out before they got off a play.

The Dorm through two interceptions kept the SAE's in a hole during much of the first half. Passer Fred Lawson and the deceptive Dorn at-tack moved in close, but could never find the scoring touch.

The SAE's rolled undefeated to the fraternity crown by trouncing the DTD's 20-0 in the fraternity finals. The Dets, who were the defending champions, could not halt the high scoring combine which has amassed a total of 154 points against 14 scored by opponents.

Only three tournament games were played by the new champions, who were given a bye in first round play. They started their bid to the kings row by blasting the Sigma Nu, 12-0, and K.A.A., 14-0, respectively.

Repeating their feats of '49, the Men's Dorm rolled to the Independent League title by defeating the DTD's 4-0 Monday night.

The Dorms boasted a perfect score of seven wins against no losses going into the scrap with the SAE's.

Slowed by a muddy field and a state Rebel defense, the DTD's claimed their league crown when Fred Lawson's pass to John Carpenter scored the touchdown early in the evening. Lawson found Carpenter in the Rebel end zone with a 15 yard toss in the fourth quarter.

Parilli's Passes Pump Rating

Babe Parilli is climbing the ladder to All-America fame.

He is climbing it with his good right arm.

Last weekend he reached one of the most difficult rungs of the ladder—the 18 touchdown passes in one season mark that Charlie Conroy of Ole Miss passed on in 1947.

That is where Conroy stopped. Parilli is expected to leave the rung for a higher perch Saturday.

four extra point tries and Kentucky led 27-0 at the half.

Move 80 Yards

After being in danger the early part of the quarter, Bryan's boys finally stopped a threat on their 20-yard line. Kentucky's ground attack, penalties against Mississippi, and 21 yards through the air moved them the necessary 80 yards to the goal line for their fifth touchdown. Again Gain kicked the extra point.

The remainder of the scoring was done in the final count, each team getting 14 points. Kentucky rolled 14 yards for their sixth touchdown, clinching the trip with a Parilli-to-Pucci pass for the score.

WAA News

By Anne Boyd

Alpha Gamma Delta will carry off the winners trophy in badminton at the annual WAA banquet this spring. Wanda Meir, dark haired wonder with a racket, matched off with the first place honors in this single elimination badminton tournament.

Latest news... bowling results through the week of Nov. 11th, Division I—Delta Zeta, Chi Omega, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Division II—Boyd Hall, Alpha Xi Delta, Tau Alpha Pi. One more round is left in the tournament play.

WAA has really been making a name for themselves in their hockey play. This past Saturday, University of Kentucky Women's Athletic Association hockey teams took part in a Hockey Clinic held in Louisville, Ky.

As part of the program, several hockey contests were held among the eight schools from this state and others that were present. UK won the first game, 4-1, walking off with a victory of 1-0. Fourteen women made the trip, all of which were eligible—for it required past attendance of three-fourths of the WAA hockey practices. Louise Borie made the one goal with the support of her team mates—Dot Honaker, WAA president; Phyl Klockner, Ruth Halverson, and Alice Fisher.

This was not the only trip for the WAA. The team went to Cincinnati this past Tuesday, Nov. 14th. This time they did not bring home the "olive branch", losing to the University of Cincinnati 2-1. Everyone enjoyed themselves and a better field hockey game couldn't be found

Cross Country Runners May Win Turkey

By Don Armstrong

Track-minded University athletes will have a more practical idea in mind on Wednesday, Nov. 22, than "Run for the Roses."

Object in mind will be a turkey in the annual cross-country race which awards the winner with something to eat on Thanksgiving. After breaking the tape at the end of the one and one-half mile race around the campus, the victor will have a fobber to gobble at the next day's repast.

For the price of a quarter per cent as an individual, or as a team, any one so desiring may enter before the deadline date of 5 o'clock on the afternoon of November 20. A team may consist of any number of members. Probation students are not eligible.

The winner and runner-up in the team competition will receive a cup plus participation trophy points. Runners placing from first through fifth will get medals plus some kind of loaf. First and second placing individuals will also be credited with participation points.

Besides the turkey for the victor, a live goose will be presented to the runner who comes in second, a duck will be awarded to the third, a chicken for the fourth, and a chicken for the fifth place finisher.

Even the guy who finishes in the last place will be taken care of. He will get a "real live goose egg" and a medal for his Herculean effort, according to plans.

Runners will meet at 11:30 a.m. on the 22nd at the intra-mural field for the start of the race. The run will cover a prescribed course around the campus, returning to the starting place at the finish.

Rifle Team Wins Match

By Don Armstrong

In two postal matches last week, the UK Ground Forces ROTC Rifle Team defeated ROTC rifle teams from the University of Mississippi and St. Bonaventure College. The scores were UK 1800, Mississippi 1701, and St. Bonaventure 1805.

In a postal match, each school fires for a week at home and then sends the five highest individual scores to the other school at the end of the week. The total scores are compared and the school with the highest score wins the match.

Excellence without Extravagance

The Blue Print

By BOB GORHAM
KERNEL SPORTS EDITOR

The bowl situation, as far as Kentucky is concerned, cleared this week to the point where it is almost safe now to do a little predicting.

A remark and an announcement helped clarify the picture. The remark was made by Athletic Director Bernie Shively in regard to the Presidential Cup game Dec. 9, for which Kentucky had been considered.

"We could not consider playing in the new Presidential Cup game because they require commitment so early," Shively said.

The announcement was a little squib from Knoxville which said that Fred Digby, general manager of the Sugar Bowl organization, has requested press box reservations for the Kentucky-Tennessee game.

Putting two and two together, we arrive at the not-too-world-shaking conclusion that the winner of this game will get the invitation to New Orleans come Jan. 1. And since we aren't interested in the Cup bowl, it is a cinch we would like the Sugar Bowl—after we beat Tennessee!

Several things detract from other bowl possibilities. We aren't eligible for the Rose Bowl, of course, and an appearance in the Cotton Bowl against the Texas Longhorns, who will probably be the best team, has a drawback in that we open our 1951 schedule in the same spot against the same team.

The Orange Bowl committee already has said that they would welcome the Cats back, but the Southeastern Conference champ generally goes to the Sugar Bowl. We already own a share of the SEC title and have only to beat the Vols or to have Georgia Tech, the only team that can tie us, lose one of their remaining games to clinch the crown.

Netters Shaping Up For Opening Game

By E. T. Kirk

Coach Harry Lancaster is busy smoothing off the rough edges and molding his raw freshman recruits from a dozen different cage backgrounds into the Wildcat scheme of things for the opener against Campbellville Jr. College at Paris, Monday, Nov. 27.

Lancaster says it'll probably be Dick Prater (Pikeville) and Gayle Rose (Paris) at guards, Randy Whaley (Dubois) at center, and Gene Neff (Gaston, Ohio) and either Billy Massey (Somerset) or Billy Evans (Here) at forwards.

"Prater is an exceptional shot. He hit eight out of thirteen in a scrimmage last Monday," Lancaster said. The Courier-Journal named Prater the outstanding high school cager in Kentucky last March.

Coach Lancaster, "the man behind the man" whose freshman quint has lost but one game in two years, believes that the six foot, eight inch Whaley is coming around after a slow start.

"Rose is a dribbler and we don't like too much dribbling, but he's got a lot of promise," Lancaster said. Voted third in the Courier All-State poll, Rose will play before the home town crowd at Paris.

Neff has looked impressive in pre-season drills. Evans, the state tennis champ, and Massey, who scored 54 points in one game last season, have been and on.

The hard-work Kittens will play a 14-game schedule.

North Dakota Cats' Next Foe

Kentucky Choice By Wide Margin Over Sioux Eleven

The North Dakota Sioux will furnish the opposition for the undefeated Kentucky Wildcats in their 10th game of the season Saturday afternoon on Stoll Field.

The Wildcats are generally regarded as a breather for the Cats, who are unbeaten in nine straight and currently rank fifth in the national polls.

The game which will keep the Blue and White gridders sharp for their important tilt with Tennessee Nov. 25, will afford Quarterback Babe Parilli a golden opportunity to wreck some more Southeastern Conference records.

To date, the Babe has hung up two new marks—338 yards through the air and five touchdown passes in one game—both established against Cincinnati.

And he is tied for another record, having flipped 18 scoring passes to deadkick Charlie Conroy's old mark set in 1947. Any touchdown tosses he connects on during the remainder of the season will be a new record.

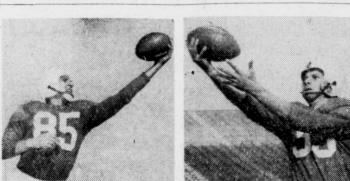

He is hard on the heels of another standard, the 1,393 yards gained passing by Frankie Sinkwich of Georgia. Going into Saturday's game, Parilli has 1,259, leaving him only 134 yards shy of this peak.

Al Bruno, the Cats' most adept pass receiver, is not too far behind an SEC record established only this year by Bucky Curtis of Vanderbilt. Curtis' new mark is nine scoring receptions and Bruno has gathered in six, including three in one game.

A good day against North Dakota and Tennessee might carry him to the top.

Little information is available on the Kodaks, except that they have a 5-1-2 record this season and finished second in their league.

This is their first season under Coach Frank Zazula, who switched the Sioux offense to the split 'T after the boys had had a single win last year.

AL BRUNO, left, and BENNY ZARANKA, are the starting ends on Kentucky's bowl-bound football team. Both are able pass receivers and are currently 1-2 in pass receptions. Both boys are double-duty athletes. Bruno being a member of the track team and a former member of the national championship basketball squad. Zaranka is the regular centerfielder and one of the hardest hitters on the SEC Western Division championship baseball team.

Dinner Set To Honor Grid Squad

Tickets for the dinner honoring the football squad should be ordered now, according to Miss Helen King, alumni secretary. The dinner is to be given at 6:30 p.m., Nov. 27, in the Bluegrass Room of the Student Union Building, and is being sponsored by the Alumni Association.

All members of the current Wildcat varsity and freshman squads and their coaches will attend the dinner as guests. Only 600 reservations can be accepted for the event.

The Jerome Lederer trophy, annual award to a UK grid athlete selected by his teammates as the squad's most valuable member, will be presented at the dinner, Miss King said.

Arrangements for obtaining a speaker now are under way, she said, and announcement of the speaker will be made within a few days.
