SGA Approves Year's Budget

Legislature Plans To Buy War Bonds With $2000 Fund

By NORMA WEATHERSPOON
War bonds will be purchased with $2,000, which has been lying idle in the Student Government association's surplus fund for approximately four years.

After debate, which lasted for more than an hour, the legislators passed the following budget:
War bonds $2,000.00
Student directories 275.00
Printing 140.00
Postage 30.00
War chest 50.00
Stenographic service 50.00
Kentuckian appropriation 670.00
Kentuckian pages for SGA 30.00
Social committee and YM-YWCA 700.00
Student Loan fund 120.00
Miscellaneous 236.50

Surplus Remains
A surplus of $1,000 remains in the treasury for emergencies. This budget has been sent to Dr. Donovan for his approval or rejection.

Ag Students Show Calves In Louisville

Students in the Agriculture college have calves at the Fat Cattle show in Louisville. This year they will compete with other contestants for the Grand Champion Sire of Kentucky.

Open House Held For Soldiers

An informal open house will be held from 2 to 8 p. m. Sunday in the Student Union building for the soldiers stationed at the Phoenix hotel.

First Night "Claudia" Curtain Rises 8:30 Monday At Guignol

Franken Comedy To Run For Week; No Matinee Set

"Claudia," Rose Franken's comedy of young married life, will open at 8:30 Monday night in the Guignol theater for a week's run. No matinee is scheduled for Saturday because of the Kentucky-West Virginia football game.

It has been found that a meal which can be purchased at the cafeteria at the University high school for 25 cents, costs 45 cents at the University cafeteria.

Other matters which the Welfare committee plans to investigate later are the men's dormitories and the closing of the grill and library during convocation periods.

Members absent from the meeting were Alex Hall, George Gilbert, Margaret Erskine, Jack Ackelson, Jerry Eastham, William Schick, and Kenneth Vanlandingham.

Former Ed 'Sea-sonal,' Now A Gob

Jim Caldwell, former editor of The Kernel who is graduated from the University in 1941, is now an apprentice seaman at the Great Lakes Naval Training school.

Visiting here this week, Caldwell was completely "sea-sonal" in his bell bottom trousers, middy blouse, and navy tan.

"I found myself on the floor in the middle of the night three times," our sailor said. "Thump, thump, and 85%," he echoed through the barracks nightly as the landmen attempt to master the hammock art.

The play concerns the transition of this child-like character into a mature young woman who can no longer depend wholly on others to take her over the bumps of life.

YWCA TO HOLD SERVICES FOR NEW MEMBERS

Recognition Set In Bluegrass Room At 8 P. M. Tuesday

Candlelight recognition services for all new members of YWCA will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Bluegrass room of the Union building.

Only New Students To Be Admitted

Lt. Col. John E. Brunsman, professor of Military Science and Tactics, has announced that the Enlisted Reserve Corps will be closed to freshmen after December 31, 1942.

Funkhouser Holds Open Class Today

"The Jungle negro" is the subject to be discussed by Dr. W. D. Funkhouser at 10 o'clock today in the third open class of the current series.

The open-class plan, inaugurated last year, permits students to "sample" interesting lectures in classes for which they are not enrolled.

Research Club To Hold Lectures

"A view of the Modern Biological Sciences" is the general topic of discussion for lectures to be given before the Biological Research club during the quarter.

Sweater Swing Held Tuesday

The second sweater swing of the quarter will be held from 4 to 6 p. m. Tuesday in the Bluegrass room of the Union building.

Put On Your Glad Rags Boys; The Climax Occurs Tomorrow

Look Your Best, Stand The Test, You're The Guest
"May I have your second no-break?" may sound incongruous coming from a dainty co-ed but that's what you can expect at the annual Sadie Hawkins dance Saturday night.

The new-you-know-what-it's-like dance will be held from 8 until 12 in the Bluegrass room of the Union building.

Girls, be sure to call for your date early (remember how it feels to get asked at the last minute). Don't forget that all-important corsage!

Boys, be ready on time (don't be mean and try to get even with the girls for all the waiting they've caused you). Appreciate all the little things your escorts do for you.

ACTION IS DEEMED NECESSARY TO SAVE TRAVELING FACILITIES

At a meeting on Wednesday, November 4, the Faculty of the University voted to limit the Thanksgiving holiday to one day, Thursday, November 26. Classes will meet as usual on Friday and Saturday, November 27 and 28.

This action was deemed necessary in view of the efforts of the government to limit the use of transportation facilities to travel essential to the war effort.

While the University will not be in session on Thanksgiving Day, students are urged to cooperate in the solution of the transportation problem by remaining in Lexington.

President Donovan will appoint a committee of faculty members and students to consider the adjustments that should be made in the Christmas holiday in the light of the above change.

In connection with the one-day recess at Thanksgiving, the attention of the faculty and students is called to the following rule relating to absences from class before and after a holiday: "Any student absent from class on the day immediately preceding or following a holiday shall have a penalty of one quarter hour and one quality point added to his requirements for graduation unless excused by the committee on Scholarship and Attendance."

We Have Failed, You Must Not

Students, you are going to have to shell out a little more than we planned for the war chest, because we had counted on The Kernel contributing $100 and The Kentuckian giving about $50.

But this week a very courteous note was sent by the controller to the director of publications saying in part:

"This is a laudable attitude on the part of those administering the affairs of The Kernel and The Kentuckian. It shows a good spirit. To make a contribution is another question which cannot be legally done by the Board of Trustees to say nothing of those administering the affairs of The Kernel and The Kentuckian."

The rest of the letter was stating that it was in regard to the request of the publications for the contributions, and the signature:

We have always said that it is a wonderful thing to know where one stands in regard to one's finances, but in this case we of The Kernel are in the dark. We can't speak for The Kentuckian. The Board of Trustees can't say we can use the money, which we are sure we have; we can't say we can use it; apparently the controller can't say we can use it, at least he did not mention the fact.

We used to run proudly in the cars of The Kernel that we were 100 per cent student owned and operated. Well, we found out that neither was correct, so it appears that we will have to discount taking a note among the student body to see if the money can be used.

Maybe we are bankrupt, and they have refrained from telling us because they thought the shock might be too great. But no. That can't be so, because we get our checks every month, and they haven't stopped payment on them.

There are men, women, and children dying for the want of food, clothing, and shelter. There are soldiers, sailors, and marines dying because we are not getting supplies to our allies. One dollar makes a lot of difference in the morale of a starving woman, and even more difference to one who is watching her child starve. It makes a difference to the Russian on the front to know that his wife and children are getting enough to eat and to wear.

It gives them courage to fight, knowing that their loved ones are being cared for by the allies across the seas. The prisoner in the camp will try to make opportunities to get away, to try sabotage, if he has been aided by his countrymen.

Somewhere in the world there is a human being dying for every dollar that The Kernel did not contribute to the fund to help the ill and heart sick. One hundred men, women and children will die of starvation, exposure, lack of medical supplies, bullet wounds, bombs, and bayonet thrusts because the red tape of officialdom—what officialdom we know not—has prevented our giving any money.

Red tape—stitched and knotted in the best official manner—shall be their shroud.

No students, it is up to you. Do not let us betray our trust. We must give the most that we can to the drive. Remember, it is 29 sick children in one, and there will be no more like drives on the campus.

If our men can fight, we can give.

In Which Our Bombastic Notes End

THE FREE LANCE

In concluding our series on the more bombastic demagogues who man the American political battlefield, we do not wish to leave the impression that the populace is the unfortunate, but innocent, victim of a few unscrupulous conspirators against the public weal.

If that were the case, we would find very few such rabble-rousers in a democracy; but the contrary is patently true. For every Third-class citizenry as a good, old-fashioned Red scare. Its most brilliant propagandist application to date, of course, has been in Germany, but the devotees of this particular brand of mob appeal are not lacking even at this critical time. The venerable cult of Red-baiting in the United States has appeared to suffer very little from the fact that "Red" Russia has been fighting our battle for nearly a year and a half with almost microscopic support. Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, William Pelley, and a few other petty Fascists have been arrested while those in high places, a thousand times more harmful to the war effort, remain immune.

Martin Dies and his band of snoopers known as the Committee for the Investigation of Un-American Activities should rank as the number one "Un-American" organization in the country, though there is but feeble hope that such will be the case or, indeed, that an "Un-American" activity will ever be defined. The committee has received somewhat less publicity of late, presumably because no suitable liberals have been found for smear purposes, but the latest appropriation is doubtless being poured down the sewer at the same rate as the other $500,000 within the past four years.

It may be that the only possibility for a man like Dies is to have him live up to his most appropriate name, but we are convinced that the only permanent cure is avoidance of the Dies mentality among the voting population.

A STREET SCENE DURING HOLLAND'S INVASION

Musical Mutterings

By Charlie Gardner

On last Friday night, your columnist had an interview with one of the country's leading colored saxists, Louis Jordan, who brought his five-piece combination to the Dixieland Club, Lexington's finest colored nightery, for a one-night engagement.

Jordan, who played in the well-known old Chick Webb orchestra, is an all-around reed man, giving out on alto, tenor, and soprano saxes, and also clarinet. He isn't outstanding on any certain one of these instruments but an expert on each. He has an individual style that isn't copied, and cannot be copied because he himself can make a horn talk the way his does. Jordan is well-known by all musicians as one of the top saxists of today. He started not so long ago and is now on his way to fame by having a combination of five men, including himself, that really astutes the Public, no matter what type of a popular music lover he may be.

Jordan's outfit is composed of Arnold Thomas sounding the piano, Dallas Bartley slapping the bass fiddle, Eddie Byrd beating the drums, and Eddie Roane footing the trumpet. The whole crew has been together now for two and a half years without a break. Thomas hails from Atlantic City and, before joining Jordan, was a music teacher at a high school in that town. He is a boogie-woogie specialist and can really pound out the "88."

Jordan was playing drums with the Alabama State Collegians when Jordan called him into his musical threshold to be the hideman. Byrd is a fine showman and has a lot of fine licks along with a terrific beat. Bartley left the King Pollack band in Chicago to take over the bull fiddle duties. Dallas does not have the "slap-stick comedy" style as is found with so many bassists of today, but instead, he produces a fine tone that sets the entire rhythmic section off with the groove touch.

His home is in Springfield, Mo. Roane decided to leave Eddie Durham's band to go with Jordan, taking his trumpet with him and leaving his home in Hartford, Conn. Roane blows open something like Roy Eldridge, trumpeter with Gene Krupa, but is not an imitator. He has a very high range and does excellent work with mutes also.

UK Is A Wonderful Place, But So Is The Air Corps

Printed here is a letter written by Jim Craig, somewhere in New Guinea, to Mr. E. G. Sulzer, director of the public relations department.

As he would like to hear from the students at the University, here is his address:

2nd Lt. James W. Craig, Jr.
71st Bomb Sq., 38th Group
APO 922, c/o Postmaster
San Francisco, California

Dear Mr. Sulzer:

Seems quite some time since I was at the University last year but I haven't forgotten any of you, or any of the enjoyable times I had while there. Wish I were there now.

I quit U. K. in June 1941 after two years there. I joined the Air Corps in October of 1941 and received my wings and commission on June 11 of this year. I did some boxing during the intramurals of 1939 and 1940. Never was much good, though.

I often think of those grand days at the University. I don't think I could have enjoyed myself more at any other college. I always talked

It's Confoozin', But Amoozin'

TIME OUT—By Tommy Moore

Ooooooh, what a muddle. Everybody's running around doing the wrong thing this week. The positions of the eds and coeds have been reversed insofar as is practicable and the resulting confusion is hard to write home about. It is just as hard to remember which way one is supposed to act as it is to get used to acting that way.

The whole thing can be laid at the doorstep of Al Capp, but these UK belles have added a few innovations which even the talented artist did not originate. Some lucky male gets a phone call and those nearby break into a series of ads and also calculated to express their envy. Now we know what the girls go through, and many have been those who wished that the week would end so they could once more get a date.

One pair of lassies ran out of money Monday night and had to watch their dates do the eating while they covered the situation as best they could.

Hallow'een parties brought out some of the costumes prematurely, but Kappa Epsilon Blanton kept things going in style as Daisy Mae.

At least nobody has heard of an LFI Abner doing the ostrich act, and here's a bet that that record is still clean when Saturday night rolls around. Funny thing about these UK boys, they just don't seem to fit that part of the game. How many have been hiding out in front of the Union in a red coat? (The latter is quoted by the permission of Bob Bradley, copyright holder.)

Somebody said something about some guy complaining of being smothered by attention and writing a letter to the editor about it. Maybe so, but that is the first complaint of that sort we have ever heard, and what kind of man or mouse thinks thusly?

Down in Atlanta last year the Georgia Tech boys spent the afternoon kidding the jock people about not wearing shoes, carrying the jock moonshine, and the old shooting iron, but if they could only be here this week they might have something to say out of the other side of their mouths. But what about that bunch of UK boys who are going to Atlanta early in order to go on a lay ride with the girls of Agnes Scott.

Well, it finally happened. After a lot of haranguing about reading The Kernel in class one fine student got the bounce ten minutes after a period started last Tuesday. Let that be a lesson to those loosed by a lecture.

Lexington and vicinity is home-combed with places of interest for the sightseer, but very few students take advantage of the opportunity to see places of historical interest, the homes of Kentucky's rascals, and the natural beauty of this locality.

The previous paragraph does not include the traveling trio who furnished the inspiration for the dean's letter to all fraternities last week. It seems that three willing pledges disturbed some peaceful farmer at 3 a.m. and sat by his fire while learning the way back to Lexington after their big brothers had abandoned them somewhere in the Sahara. Resulting letter was a caution about the possibilities or probabilities of getting a load of buckshot from a righteous individual who might sometime mistake the intention of such a group.

Taking the Guignol production, "Claudia," on the road is a worthwhile bit of entertainment endeavor for the soldiers of Kentucky military posts. Opening night here at the University promises to be a big affair as usual. Monday night is the first presentation, don't forget.

Bill Goslowe was forced to drop out of school after his round of pneumonia and has returned to his home where he will recuperate until opening of the next quarter. His collection of gossip notes will be sorely missed by The Kernel, but those things will happen.

You can help save 29,000 hours a day

ONE second saved in each of the 106 million telephone calls made every day would add up to well over 29,000 hours—would help greatly to keep lines open for vital military and war production calls.

A single second is that important. So answer promptly, giving your location and name, and keep your conversation brief. When making a call, be sure you have the right number—use the directory—call information only when it's really necessary. And please don't use Long Distance to defense areas unless your call is urgent.

The Bell System has a big job to do. By saving seconds you may make room for a vital war-time call.

This Lovely Co-ed

This lovely co-ed, Miss Daisy Mae Scragg, visiting Dogpatch "queen", is assisting the local gals this week in the strange and fascinating technique of wowing "Dogpatch Style".

Although seldom, if ever, caught wearing shoes when in Dogpatch, she has advised campus beauties that in view of existing customs prevailing at the University they should by all means wear shoes, especially in damp weather.

Miss Scragg, after making repeated "test-hops" and "trial-runs", recommends to all co-eds that for speed, beauty, and "pick-up", Connie shoes surpass the field. (An she ain't kiddin' either!)

'Cats In Atlanta To Tangle With Georgia Techmen

By BAXTER MELTON
KERNEL SPORTS EDITOR

ence victory, this weekend, when the 'Cats tangle with Georgia Tech on Atlanta's Grant field at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Derailing the Rambler's Wreck is a difficult problem for Coach Al Kirwan's grid pupils, since the Engineers have triumphed in six successive games and are currently ranked as the third best team in the country. Wins over Notre Dame, Navy and Duke are included on the Tech list. Opening with a 15-0 victory over Auburn, the Engineers started the grid world the next weekend by edging the Irish, 13-6; walloped Chattanooga, 30-12; routed Davidson, 23-0; ran over Navy, 21-0; and disposed of one-mighty Duke last week by 26-7.

ATO'S, SAE'S MARK UP WINS IN INTRAMURALS

First-Round Play Is Completed As Semi-Finals Set

The ATO's and the SAE's advanced one notch in the touch football tournament "Tuesday as first-round play was completed; the ATO's by downing a highly-regarded Phi Tau team, and the SAE's by edging out the Delts 24-18 in a thrill-packed game climaxed by Lee Roy Hughes' snagging of a touchdown pass in the fading seconds to break an 18-18 deadlock.

COLONEL Of The Week

SADIE HAWKINS

"And no two ways about that, either"

This week's "Colonel of the Week" goes to Sadie Hawkins, president of the national organization of Grabas Grabas Men. She is also a member of the Mortified Board and the track team.

In recognition of her sterling example and inspired leadership, this entire week has been proclaimed "her" week.

To show our appreciation of Sadie Hawkins and the wonderful work she has done we wish to invite the girl chosen as the Daisy Mae of the Sadie Hawkins dance Saturday night to drop the unfortunate "male critter" she caught in with her to enjoy two of our delicious meals.

Engineer's Offense
Headlining the Engineer offense are Ralph Plaster, veteran fullback, R. J. Jordan, end, Clint Castleberry, fresh half, and Eddie Prokop, soph back. Plaster has caused much trouble in previous Cat-Tech frays, and scored 24 points for Tech this year. Jordan has snagged four touchdowns passes this season, including two against Duke last Saturday. Castleberry is the sensational first-year griddler who has set tongues to wagging all over the conference. Some may remember him as a member of the strong Boys' high team of Atlanta last season. Prokop, just another fresh year, has blossomed into a major threat this season.

'Cat Wounds Healed
To offset this and the other Engineers, Kentucky will present a lineup that will be at its best shape since the opener with Georgia. The list of injuries, both major and minor, that have been handicapping the team are cured. Gene Meeks, hard-running seatback who has been out for several weeks, is ready again, and Randall Hammer, sidelined with a broken shoulder, is available once more. Chief item of interest concerning the 'Cat injury list revolves around Phil Cutchin, triple-threat halfback, who is ready to go again after laying out of the Georgia Washington contest with hurts suffered in the "Bama scrap Charley Bill Walker and Jay Rhodemyre, centers, are also back in shape. Cutchin's return to the starting backfield is expected to add considerable punch there, since Kentucky's attack in the GW clash has been noticeably slowed by the Murray half's absence.

KERNEL SPORTS

The Sporting Way

By BAXTER MELTON

Campus grid interest is centered on the 'Cats' clash with Tech in Atlanta Saturday, but many local fans are expected to trek to the Fort Knox-Iowa Pre-Flight game in Louisville. The Seahawks rule as heavy favorites, but the Kentuckians are expected to produce a few surprises for the visitors.

Of chief interest to University students is the fact that Carl "Hoot" Combs, former 'Cat back, is regarded as the greatest offensive threat of the Knox eleven. Advance stories on Saturday's tilt picture Hoot's passing to Bill Stanton, former Arizona griddler, as Knox's biggest reason to hope for victory.

Kuhn Scores Near Top
Charley Kuhn, 'Cat right half, went into second place in the southeastern conference scoring race this week by tallying 15 points against George Washington last week. In scoring two touchdowns and three extra points against the Colonials, "Automatic" Charley ran his point-total to 52, only 14 behind the 66 held by Georgia's great Frankie Sinkwich. Kuhn's total includes six touchdowns and 16 conversions.

Triplet Takes Honor
Pete Triplett, who got his first starting role last week against George Washington when Charley Bill Walker and Jay Rhodemyre were injured, was named on the All-SEC sophomore team this week. According to the dispatch, Triplett was named because of his "impressive performance against GW."

Bumper Crop Of Upsets
Seasons may come and seasons may go, but this grid campaign has produced its share of upsets. Probably the greatest of the year and one to rank in all-time figures was the 28-0 drubbing given Iowa's Pre-Fighters by Notre Dame. Georgia Tech's 13-6 win over Notre Dame in an early season start was also regarded as a major surprise. Only last week Wisconsin, enjoying merely a so-so season, ran over Ohio State, ranked as the nation's top eleven.

Kentucky itself caused some eyebrows to be lifted in the opener against Georgia, but has failed to show that power again, with the possible exception of the Vanderbilt game.

Monkermania
There seems to be a prevalent opinion that weird, odd-sounding names go with winning football teams like ham with eggs. Look at Fordham, Notre Dame or Minnesota, say these people, who point out names that end in -insky, -osky or -izki.

Georgia Tops Nation
Georgia went to the top of national grid ratings this week, following Ohio State's defeat by Wisconsin—Wisconsin took over second place, Georgia Tech holds third. Notre Dame is fourth and Boston College fifth. The Buckeyes dropped to sixth. Three Kentucky foes, Georgia, Alabama, and Georgia Tech, are included in the first 10, so those annual cries of Kentucky scheduling weak foes should be hushed.

Georgia's taking first place enables it to regain the slot it held in pre-season ratings.

Rickey To Brooklyn
Campus baseball fans were interested to hear of Branch Rickey's appointment to Brooklyn's executive chair. Rickey's success at St. Louis, his development of the farm system and various promotional ideas, carried him the place. Next summer's baseball activity is expected to see many of the smaller minor loops fold up, chiefly because of lack of young players.

Tom Ewing has been working in Bill Moseley's place at blocking back this week. But Moseley will probably start.

The probable starting lineups:

Kentucky	Georgia Tech
Seagle	Mc
Johnson	Marshall
Cutchen	Anderson
Walker	J. P. Jordan
Beek	McIntosh
Wood	Harley
Parr	Ward
Wendley	Reiss
Herbert	Steen
Curbin	Castley
Smith	McHugh
Hurst	Plaster

Starting Lineups
Kentucky's starting lineup is expected to be the same as in previous games this season with the possible exception of right end and right tackle. Alan Parr may get the call at end instead of Charley Ehlen, and Bill Griffin may take Clark Wood's place. Bob Herbert will probably return to his slot at full, with Johnny Hurst in reserve.
