They Have Earned Their "L" For Loyalty

Alumni of the University should be very proud of the fact that with the opening of the September 1951 school year the fourth annual, four-year, $2,800, all-expense scholarship will be initiated.

This achievement has been made possible by a large group of contributors, each giving in greater or lesser degree so that another student might enjoy the privileges of four good years at Kentucky.

Don't let this good work lag; it is our way of saying "thank you" to Alma Mater for the privileges we enjoyed, and it is a living testimonial of our belief in higher education and in our young citizens.

You Can't Budget Love!

Seers and Sages, from time immemorial, have tried to measure the depth and the richness of unselfish love, without success.

True love can't be evaluated in material measurements because it involves unselfish devotion, and the real affection all of us have for Alma Mater cannot be estimated except as we express it in aggressive action.

We know that American citizens are being called upon to give to an ever-increasing number of good causes, so large a number, in fact, that each of us must choose a few from many — a few which reflect our most important interests and ideals and which promote the good we believe in the most.

With these facts in mind I am urging you, who have already demonstrated your affection for and loyalty to Alma Mater, to make it your individual business to sell to other alumni the urgency and importance of active membership in the Alumni Association, so that all of us, working together, may bring about a united group, large enough and strong enough to materially implement the program of the University of Kentucky, and, through it, the progress of the Commonwealth.

Liberal education is the foundation of a truly great democracy. Your University is the cornerstone of higher education in Kentucky, and you, its alumni, MUST support its program if it is to fulfill its destiny.

ACTIVE MEMBERSHIP IN THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION IS YOUR WAY OF DEMONSTRATING YOUR BELIEF IN THE GREAT EDUCATIONAL STRUCTURE OF WHICH YOU ARE A PART. HELP US TO URGE OTHERS, NOT SO ENLIGHTENED AS YOU, TO JOIN THE FOLD.

Sincerely and gratefully,

Executive Secretary

UK Alumni Elect Cox, Parrish For '51

State Senator Louis Cox, of Frankfort, is the new president of the UK Alumni Association for the 1951-'52 fiscal year, and Douglas Parrish, Paris, Ky., farmer and tobacco warehouseman, is the newly elected vice president of the association.

Chosen by mail ballot to active members of the association, the two new officers were inducted into office at the annual banquet and business meeting of the organization held on the campus on May 31.

Senator Cox succeeds Judge Edwin R. Denney, of Mt. Vernon, and Mr. Parrish, former Kentucky football and track star, succeeds George P. Hillen, Louisville businessman.

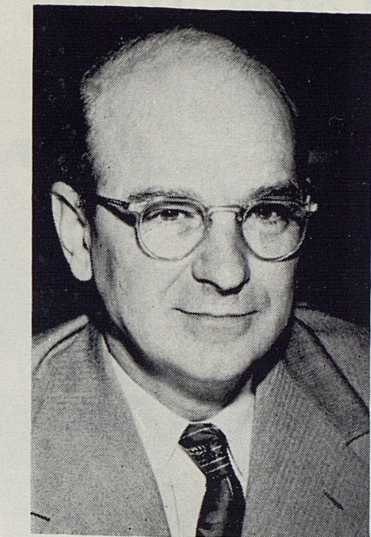

Three new members of the Alumni Association's executive committee, elected with Cox and Parrish in recent balloting, were also announced at the dinner. They are: Homer L. Baker, Louisville cement company executive; James Shropshire, Lexington farmer, and Judge Brady Stewart of Paducah and Frankfort, recently elected to the Court of Appeals Bench. They will serve three-year terms.

As President pro tem of the Senate, Cox serves as acting Governor when Governor Lawrence Wetherby is out of the state. Cox has been a partner in a Frankfort law firm since 1935. He first was elected to the Senate in 1941, but resigned before expiration of his term to become an Army officer. Elected again in 1945, he was re-elected in 1949.

Prior to 1935 he was law clerk for the Court of Appeals and secretary of the Public Service Commission. He attended U. of K. from 1925 to 1928 and has served two terms on the alumni executive committee.

THE COVER . . . .

Alma Mater proudly presents three of her Law School graduates who are on the Kentucky Court of Appeals bench. From left to right: Judge Brady Stewart, Paducah, LL.B. '22, A.B. '24, a member of the alumni executive committee; Judge James W. Cammack, Jr., Owenton, LL.B. '24, M.A. '29, Ph.D. '37, Chief Justice of the court; and Judge Bert T. Combs, Manchester, LL.B. '37. In addition, Beverly Waddill, Madisonville attorney and University alumnus has been appointed commissioner for the court.

Baker, sales manager for a Louisville manufacturing company, attended U. of K. in the mid-20's and has served previously on the alumni executive committee.

Shropshire was graduated in 1929, spent 12 years as director of U. of K. student publications, and during the war was an Army officer.

Judge Stewart received his law degree at U. of K. in 1922, has served five terms as McCracken County judge, and recently became a member of the Court of Appeals.

Present at the alumni banquet were approximately 300 graduates and former students, among them several from the class of 1899 who were celebrating the 52nd anniversary of their graduation. Members of the class of 1901 were presented certificates of membership in the school's Half-Century Club at commencement on June 1.

Guy A. Huguelet, Lexington, member of the university's board of trustees, spoke at the dinner.

Harry L. Hinton, '39, Certified Public Accountant, has opened offices at 135 Southwest 15th Ave., in Miami, Fla.

Class Of '51 Names Permanent Officers

Six of the seven colleges of the University held class elections this spring to name permanent officers of their respective classes. The purpose of these elections is to have class representatives available to the Alumni Association for reunions and other events of interest to individual graduates.

Officers chosen, and the colleges they represent, are as follows:

ARTS AND SCIENCES: Edward M. Coffman, Hopkinsville, president, and Clara Early, Williamsburg, secretary-treasurer.

COMMERCE: Richard Pigman, Lexington, president, and Betsy Billiter, Winchester, secretary-treasurer.

EDUCATION: Wilbur Jamerson, Henderson, president, and Anne Boyd, Huntington, W. Va., secretary-treasurer.

AGRICULTURE AND HOME ECONOMICS: Lenville Hall, Leeco, Ky., president, and Dorothy Seath, Lexington, secretary-treasurer.

ENGINEERING: James Alvin Howard, Lexington, president; Adolph Paul Rasmussen, Chicago, Ill., vice president; Clarence W. White, Jr., Memphis, Tenn., treasurer; and Eugene John Breiding, Boonton, N. J., secretary.

PHARMACY: John B. Peak, Louisville, president; Robert D. Hardy, Russellville, vice president, R. H. Stone, Louisville, treasurer, and Robert H. Benton, Irvine, secretary.

Fayette Co. Alumni Form Organization

The Fayette county alumni of the University met at Keeneland Race Course on May 15 for the purpose of forming a local alumni group. Approximately 450 graduates and former students attended and elected Hilary J. Boone, Jr., Lexington insurance man, to the presidency.

Other officers chosen by written ballot of those present included: Emmet

Alumni Ass'n Serves Coke, Coffee, During May Exams

While exams were being held on the campus the last week in May, the Alumni Association held open house for four days in the Music Room of the Student Union, and served coffee and cokes to the students and faculty members.

Milward, Lexington mortician, vice president, Anne Law Lyons, secretary, and Nat Hall, treasurer.

The organization meeting was preceded by a burgoo supper, at which President H. L. Donovan, Dr. Leo Chamberlain, Frank D. Peterson, and Adolph Rupp and Paul Bryant were special guests.

Speakers included Dr. Donovan and the coaches. Elvis J. Stahr, dean of the College of Law, and T. H. Hardwick, Lexington hotel man, were chairmen of the nominating committees.

The club will hold two meetings annually, in the spring and fall.

W. H. DAVIS, Ph.G. '09, IN EXECUTIVE POST

William H. Davis, '09, of Eastchester, N. Y., has been named vice president in charge of distribution for Burroughs Wellcome and Company (U.S.A.) Inc.

A graduate of the University of Kentucky College of Pharmacy, Mr. Davis joined the company in 1911. He was its representative in Baltimore, Washington and Chicago, and in 1934 was appointed supervising representative for the middle western states. In December 1945 he was named domestic sales manager of the distribution unit.

Dean Stahr Named To Dept. of Army

Dean Elvis J. Stahr, '36, of the University's College of Law, was appointed special assistant to the Secretary of the Army for Reserve Forces, a newly created position, last June.

Dean Stahr is serving as chief advisor on Reserve Forces policy to the Secretary of the Army. He will coordinate and review the programs for all Army Reserve Forces, including the Organized Reserve Corps, the National Guard, and the Reserve Officers Training Corps. He has been granted a leave of absence from his duties at the University.

The new post was created to provide a focal point for liaison on reserve force matters between the Department of the Army and other agencies and organizations concerned with the reserve program.

Dean Stahr is a former Rhodes scholar, a veteran of more than four years service in the infantry in World War II, and a lieutenant colonel in the Army Organized Reserve Corps. He was decorated five times while serving as an American liaison officer with the Chinese Nationalist Forces during the war. He practiced law in New York City immediately before and after the war.

Named one of "America's Ten Outstanding Young Men of 1948" by the national Junior Chamber of Commerce, he has served as a part-time consultant to the Assistant Secretary of the Army since last April.

A native of Kentucky and a graduate of the University, Dean Stahr holds three degrees from the University of Oxford, England. He is a member of the bars of New York, Kentucky and the United States Supreme Court.

Brunch, Dance Are Planned For Alumni

The Kentucky-Miami (Fla.) football game on November 3 is the date for all Kentucky alumni to circle — for that is the game chosen by your executive committee as homecoming day and a full schedule of events has been planned for your entertainment.

Those of you who have come back to recent homecomings will recall the enjoyment of the noontime brunch, served from 11:30 to 1:30 in the Bluegrass Room of the Student Union, and the convenience of being able to drive out to the campus in the morning, view the homecoming decorations, park your cars, and enjoy a leisurely meal with friends before walking across the campus for the big homecoming game.

The brunch is served cafeteria style, with the cost of the meal just what you wish to make it. No tickets will be sold for the brunch, but the management would like to know approximately the number to prepare for, so if you will fill in the blank on this page and return it to the Alumni Office it will facilitate matters in the culinary department.

The game is set for two p.m., and following that President and Mrs. H. L. Donovan will entertain with their annual homecoming tea for alumni and friends at Maxwell Place, to which all former students are cordially invited.

That evening, the executive committee of the Alumni Association will be host to returning alumni at a free dance at the Lafayette Hotel ballroom, with an excellent orchestra furnishing the music.

Make your hotel and ticket reservations now, before everything is filled up, and plan to come back to see last year's national champions in a thrilling game.

Honorary Degrees Granted Four At UK

Dr. Ralph W. Sockman Speaks to Graduates

The University of Kentucky climaxed its 84th annual commencement week program with the presentation of degrees to 1,212 students, and honorary degrees to four outstanding Kentuckians.

Commencement speaker was Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, pastor of New York City's Christ church.

Honorary degrees were presented to Murray Raney, '09, Chattanooga, Tenn., engineer and scientist; Albert Kocourek, professor of law emeritus of Northwestern University; Fred B. Wachs, general manager of the Lexington Herald-Leader; and Dr. Emmet Field Horine, Louisville physician.

The Coliseum audience was reminded by Dr. Sockman of what has made America great and of her role and obligations in the modern world.

He said that America is not rich enough to be a perennial Santa Claus nor powerful enough to be a perpetual policeman.

"We must persevere in working for world unity with imperfect instruments lest we be paralyzed by perfectionism. Our country must be a partner with other nations."

He said when we recall how hard a time our American colonists had in forming a nation, we become more patient and hopeful in regard to the United Nations.

We in America, he said, do not want a government run either by labor or capital, either by preachers or by lawyers, or by any other group or class.

"If we are to keep faith in democracy, we must believe that the collective wisdom of all the people is in the long run superior to the wisdom of any group of people.

Democratic Ideal

"This must remain a government of the people, for the people, by the people. Such a government may not always act quickly and efficiently at the moment but it has more endurance than government by specialists or by dictators."

Commencement week activities opened on Sunday, May 27, with baccalaureate services at Memorial Coliseum, at which Dr. Frederick Keller Stamm, Pennsylvania minister and author spoke on "Modern Man's Predicament."

Fifteen classes held reunions on Wednesday and Thursday, during

Dean Cooper, Janet Anderson, Jim Line Receive UK 1951 Sullivan Medallions

Dean Cooper

Janet Anderson

Jim Line

Dr. Thomas Poe Cooper, for 33 years dean of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, was awarded the University's Sullivan Medallion as the Commonwealth's outstanding citizen of the year at commencement exercises held in Memorial Coliseum on June 1.

President H. L. Donovan announced the award to Dean Cooper who retired on July 1 at the age of 70.

Sharing honors with Dean Cooper were two members of the 1951 graduating class, Janet Anderson, of Owingsville, and Jim Line, former Wildcat basketball star from Akron, Ohio, each of whom also received Sullivan Medallions.

The awards, presented annually to a citizen and two graduates of the state University in 15 Southern states, were established 26 years ago by the New York Southern Society in memory of Algernon Sydney Sullivan, prominent New York attorney of the post-Civil War period.

A native of Illinois, Dean Cooper was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1908. He remained there as a staff member until 1911 before moving to North Dakota to direct that state's Better Farm Association. From 1913 to 1917, the year he came to Kentucky, he was director of the North Dakota Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Division.

In 1925, on leave from his University duties, Dean Cooper served as chief of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's bureau of agricultural economics. In 1940-41 he was acting president of the University.

During his 33-year administration, the veteran educator has seen enrollment in the College of Agriculture increase from 125 to more than 1,000; a doubling in size of the campus experiment station farm; addition of two sub-experiment stations totaling more than 15,000 acres; and the building of a modern education-research plant.

Line and Miss Anderson, selected by a faculty committee as the outstanding members of this year's graduating class, received degrees in engineering and journalism, respectively. Presentation of the Sullivan Medallions was in recognition of their academic and extra-curricular records as undergraduates.

Miss Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart M. Anderson, Owingsville, is retiring editor of the Kentucky Kernel, UK campus newspaper, and recently was named winner of a Fulbright scholarship for a year's study at the University of Glasgow, Scotland. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa scholastic honorary, Theta Sigma Phi journalism society, and Mortar Board, senior women's leadership group.

Line, a forward on two Kentucky basketball teams that won national championships, completed his college work at mid-year and is now employed in Texas by the Phillips Petroleum

Dr. M. J. Kelly, '16, Elected Head, Bell Telephone Labs

Dr. M. J. Kelly, '16, of New York City, executive vice president of Bell Telephone Laboratories, the research and development organization of the Bell System, has been elected president of the laboratories.

He succeeds Dr. Oliver E. Buckley, who has accepted an appointment by President Truman as chairman of the newly created Science Advisory Committee of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Dr. Kelly has had a distinguished career in the Bell System and is one of the nation's leaders in the field of industrial research. A native of Princeton, Mo., he was graduated from the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy in 1914 and received his M.A. degree from Kentucky in 1916. He received his doctorate from the University of Chicago in 1918 and immediately joined the engineering department of the Western Electric Co., subsequently incorporated as Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Dr. Kelly served as director of Vacuum Tube Development for the laboratories from 1928 to 1934 and as development director of Transmission Instruments and Electronics until 1936 when he was appointed director of research. In 1944 he became executive vice president, holding both positions until 1946 when he relinquished the duties of director of research to concentrate on his major administrative responsibilities.

During World War II Dr. Kelly devoted virtually all his time to directing many of the war activities at the laboratories. He supervised the research and development of a large part of more than a billion dollars worth of electronic material and equipment designed for the Army and Navy, and in recognition of this achievement he received a Presidential Certificate of Merit. For the past year, at the request of the Secretary of the Air Force, Dr. Kelly has served in an advisory capacity to the Department of the Air Force to assist in the organization of research and development in that department.

Dr. M. J. Kelly

Dr. Kelly holds honorary doctorates from the University of Kentucky and the University of Missouri. He lives in Short Hills, N. J.

which class luncheons and dinners were held and the climax of the alumni festivities was the annual banquet and meeting of the Alumni Association on Thursday night, May 31. Classes holding regular reunions were: 1899, 1900, '01 and '02; 1918, '19, '20 and '21; 1937, '38, '39 and '40. Special reunions were held by the classes of 1907, 1911, and 1926.

The class of 1907 met for dinner on Wednesday night, May 30, with 35 present. All of the other classes met for luncheon on Thursday May 31, with the class of 1926 returning approximately 80, the largest reunion group attending.

On Thursday afternoon, prior to the alumni banquet, President and Mrs. Donovan held their annual commencement tea in the gardens of Maxwell Place, to which graduating seniors, their families, alumni, faculty and friends of the University were welcomed.

A feature of the commencement program was the presentation of Golden Jubilee certificates to members of the 50-year class who returned to receive their "Half Century" diplomas. Members of the 1901 class present for the ceremony were: Henry T. Bewlay, Akron, Ohio; George H. Hailey, Frankfort, Philip L. Kaufman, Chicago, Ill.; Frank T. Siebert, Merion, Pa.; Aileen Lary Webb, and William S. Webb, both of Lexington.

Friday noon, June 1, the annual commencement luncheon was held, and Dean Thomas P. Cooper was the honor guest. A book of letters was presented to Dean Cooper at the luncheon, and included messages from friends, administrators and men prominent in the agricultural field from all parts of the country. Presiding at the luncheon was Smith D. Broadbent, '34, of Cobb, Ky., prominent UK alumnus and outstanding Kentucky agriculturist, who also holds the master's degree from the University.

Journalism Dept. At UK Becomes School

The University's Department of Journalism was raised to a School of Journalism by the Board of Trustees at its June quarterly meeting, and Dr. L. Neil Plummer, head of the department, was appointed director of the school, which will continue to operate within the framework of the College of Arts and Sciences.

In making the change, the trustees noted that enrollment in journalism at UK was among the top ten of approved schools of journalism in the country; the department has gained national recognition through its professional program, and creation of the school will give a more accurate description of the University's program in journalism.

The board also said that the completion of a new journalism building this summer affords an excellent opportunity for the creation of a school.

The Department of Journalism, which now has five full-time instructors, was established in 1914 under the direction of Prof. Enoch Grehan, who remained as head until his death in 1937. Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, assistant professor of journalism, assisted Mr. Grehan in the establishment of the department and has been a member of its teaching staff since that time.

The new building will be in operation for the fall semester.

SHORTY JAMERSON ON ALUMNI COMMITTEE

Wilbur "Shorty" Jamerson, of Henderson, co-captain of the UK 1950 football team, was named honorary member of the Alumni Association's executive committee for the 1951-'52 fiscal year at the group's May meeting.

A graduating senior in the College of Education, he will serve one year as a representative of the 1951 senior class.

Homecoming — November 3.

Fulton Youth Awarded $2,800 UK Alumni Fund Scholarship

Wendell S. Norman, 18, of Fulton, Ky., has been awarded the Alumni Loyalty Fund $2,800, four-year, all-expense scholarship for 1951. The award is the largest single scholarship offered at the University of Kentucky.

Norman, an honor student at Fulton High School, was nominated by Hubert Jaco, of Fulton, and was graduated May 25 from Fulton High School. He will enter the College of Engineering in September. He was selected as the award winner from 12 finalists, all high school seniors with outstanding academic records.

The scholarship, which pays $700 a year for four years, is made available from funds contributed by members of the UK Alumni Association. Students are nominated by members of the Alumni Association, alumni clubs and high school principals.

This year's recipient, fourth to win the award since its establishment in 1948, was president of his graduating class and has twice lettered in basketball and football at Fulton High. He was a staff member of his high school annual and has been active in scholastic, music and dramatic societies.

At UK he plans to study mechanical engineering.

KINGSBURY RESIGNS AS CLEMENTS AIDE

Gilbert W. Kingsbury, '33, formerly of Covington, administrative assistant to U. S. Senator Earle C. Clements, resigned last June to join the executive staff of Radio Station WLW.

Mr. Kingsbury went to Washington six years ago with the WLW Washington News Bureau, later became administrative assistant to Senator Garrett L. Withers, remaining to serve in the same capacity for Senator Clements.

His new job with WLW will be handling public relations for all Crosley Broadcasting Corp. properties in Cincinnati, Dayton and Columbus, Ohio, and New York City. Mr. Kingsbury is a life member of the Alumni Association.

PAUL BRYANT GUEST OF WASHINGTON CLUB

The Washington, D. C., Alumni Club honored Coach Paul Bryant at its annual dinner meeting at the Continental Hotel in that city last March. Master of Ceremonies was A. M. "Moco" Edwards, Jr., president of the club.

Coach Bryant addressed the group and showed technicolor, sound movies of the Sugar Bowl game. Senator Earle C. Clements, former Kentucky Wildcat center, introduced the speaker.

Classes were represented over a span of years from 1912 to 1950. Harry Ulinski, 1950 Wildcat captain, was there from the most recent class,

McGraw-Hill Head Former UK Student

Curtis G. Benjamin is listed in publishing journals as president of the McGraw-Hill Book Company of New York, but "Kentuck" Benjamin still speaks with a trace of a drawl, and the slick glibness that New Yorkers are supposed to acquire has not penetrated Benjamin. If his college friends were to see him today, they probably would say, "Same old Kentucky."

Mr. Benjamin was born in Providence, Kentucky, and attended the University of Kentucky, 1919-21. He later attended the University of Chicago and received his bachelor's degree from the University of Arizona in 1926. In the summer of 1928, he came to New York from Arizona in answer to a telegram offering a position in a publishing house. When he arrived, the position had been filled, but soon after he was offered a job as a "college traveler" for McGraw-Hill, one of the world's largest publishing firms, and he has been with the company ever since.

Curtis G. Benjamin

This first job he calls a "hoof-and-mouth" assignment. "It was easy," he says. "I'd simply go to a campus, run down the professors one by one, and talk them into using our books in their courses. I always liked talking to professors and getting paid for it was wonderful. I traveled eleven western states, a mighty wide scope of the country."

In 1930 Benjamin opened a branch office and depository for McGraw-Hill in San Francisco. Two years later he went back to New York as manager of the college department, and then spiralled into the presidency of the company, becoming an assistant vice president in 1938, a divisional vice president in 1940, vice president in 1942, and president in 1946. Along the way he was elected a director of the Book Company and of three affiliated companies, the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company, the McGraw-Hill International Corporation, and the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company of London, Ltd. He is also the president of the Gregg Publishing Company, the business education division of the McGraw-Hill Book Company.

The McGraw-Hill executive lives in Weston, Connecticut, 58 miles from his New York office. Mrs. Benjamin, formerly Norma Olson, Delta Gamma, was graduated from the University of Washington. Their two children are Linda, 15, and Johnny, 13.

B. T. MOYNAHAN, SR. GETS HIGHWAY POST

B. T. Moynahan, Sr., '11, of Nicholasville, state highway engineer at Lexington, was named acting rural roads commissioner for Kentucky in June, taking over the post vacated by Emerson Beauchamp who resigned upon filing for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Appointed by Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, Mr. Moynahan has been with the Highway Department since 1938. He left to join the WPA to help supervise the construction of Lexington's Bluegrass Airport, and rejoined the department in 1948 as chief engineer in the sixth district.

E. L. Becker (fourth from left, seated), energetic secretary of the class of 1911, was instrumental in bringing the above-pictured members of his class back for their fortieth reunion last June. They are, seated, usual order; F. T. Miles, H. Lee Moore, A. B. Phister, Mr. Becker, G. B. Merchant and B. M. Smarr. Standing: Dr. L. E. Smith, William Jaegle, member of the 1912 class, a guest; J. ## J. S. Shropshire Is Honored By Delts

J. S. Shropshire, '29, Fayette county farmer and active alumnus of Delta Tau Delta social fraternity, was honored by the national organization at the local chapter's Founders Day banquet on May 19, when he was inducted into the Distinguished Service Chapter of Delta Tau Delta by Hugh Shields, executive vice president of the national fraternity.

The 161st man to receive the award in the history of the organization, Jim was cited for 20 years of active, loyal work, including two years as vice president of the southern division. He was cited for "personal characteristics and habits which have been and are worthy of all acceptance by the fraternity and society at large."

As an undergraduate at the University of Kentucky Jim was president of his local chapter and has been chapter adviser to the fraternity since 1930. He has served as president of the Delta Tau Delta House Corporation, assisted in reopening the chapter after World War II and has served as president of the Lexington alumni group.

The same loyalty and service which he has given to his fraternity have been rendered to the University Alumni Association, and he has served as executive secretary, treasurer and vice president of the general Alumni Association, chairman of the Loyalty Fund and a member of the finance committee for a number of years.

Dr. Scherago Heads Mission To Siam

Dr. Morris Scherago, head of the University's Department of Bacteriology, left Lexington around June 1 for Bangkok, Siam, where he is head of a team of 14 American doctors and scientists assigned to that country for 12 months on an ECA-sponsored program designed at raising standards of medical education there.

J. C. Watts Named U. S. Congressman

John C. Watts, B.A. '24, LL.B. '27, of Nicholasville, was elected to the U. S. Congress from the Sixth congressional district at a special election held April 14. The election was called by Governor Lawrence Wetherby because of the vacancy in the office brought about by the appointment of Congressman Tom Underwood to the Senate seat left open by the death of Senator Virgil Chapman.

Mr. Watts resigned his position as state motor transportation commissioner late in March to run for the office, after Democrats of the district had nominated him as their candidate.

From 1934 to 1945 Mr. Watts was Jessamine county attorney and in 1947 was elected to the Kentucky House of Representatives. He was majority leader in the House in 1948 and has been chairman of the Jessamine Democratic committee for 24 years.

Doctor Scherago will serve as visiting professor of bacteriology and preventive medicine at two Siamese medical schools.

His chief duties include classroom lectures to medical students and con-

Dr. Frank M. Gaines Heads Ky. Hospitals

Dr. Frank M. Gaines, Jr., '38, of Louisville, has been named director of the division of hospitals and mental hygiene of the State Welfare Department.

The 37-year-old doctor is the first professionally trained psychiatrist to head the division. He has been clinical director of the Norton Memorial Infirmary Psychiatry Clinic for the past six months. In that job he supervised treatment of patients at the clinic, which is considered a model set-up.

In his new job Dr. Gaines will have charge of the state's four mental hospitals—Central at Lakeland, Eastern State at Lexington, Kentucky State at Danville and Western State at Hopkinsville—and the Kentucky Training Home for the feeble-minded at Frankfort.

Dr. Gaines is a native of Carrollton and was graduated from Dawson Springs High School and the University of Kentucky. He obtained his medical degree from the University of Louisville and during World War II he served as a captain with the Army Medical Corps, having spent 20 months in Europe.

After the war he did work at General Hospital in Louisville and served as a consultant at Central State Hospital. He has done post-graduate work in psychiatry at New York hospital.

Josephine Weill, '32, of Owensboro, has opened the Bluegrass Shop in that city. The new business project is a gift shop.

sultative service to regular members of the faculties of the two medical schools in Bangkok. He plans also to conduct research in infectious diseases of the tropics.

Most of Dr. Scherago's colleagues in the Asiatic program are from Washington University, St. Louis, through which the educational experiment is being operated.

Harrodsburg Holds "Aggie" Sale Night

Tribute Paid To Retiring UK Star

Tuesday, May 15, was "Aggie" Sale Night in Harrodsburg, Ky., when the 39-year-old coach of the Harrodsburg High School's highly successful cage teams officially retired from the coaching profession because of ill health.

Present to pay tribute to the former Kentucky All-American were sports writers, high school coaches, friends and citizens of Harrodsburg, and B. A. Shively, UK athletic director, officially representing the University of Kentucky.

Feature of the evening was the presentation to Aggie, by Mr. Shively, of a framed plaque from Coach Adolph Rupp, upon which the Kentucky coach had written that Aggie was "one of my five all-time greats."

Larry Boeck, sports writer for the Louisville Courier-Journal, was the principal speaker, and Harry Cooke, UK alumnus and last year's state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, served as toastmaster.

Sale was a former two-time All-American at Kentucky, and was the first UK cager to be awarded the Helm's Foundation "Player of the Year" award. He won it in 1933.

Sale's Harrodsburg teams have won two Central Kentucky Conference crowns and finished near the top of standings virtually every season. His 1940 club compiled the highest Dickinson System rating ever recorded by a C.K.C. team and went to the semi-finals of the Southern High School Tournament in Durham, N. C.

Aggie will continue his teaching duties at Harrodsburg High School.

Charles R. Rose, '47, of Lexington, has been appointed by the State Aeronautics Commission to promote knowledge of aeronautics in Kentucky colleges. He also will have charge of the safety program the State Aeronautics Department carries on among fliers.

The College of Pharmacy basketball team won the city championship in the Y.M.C.A. League in Louisville this spring.

A photograph by John B. Kuiper, '50, of Lexington, was on exhibition last May in the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. Young Kuiper is currently studying at the Institute of Design in Chicago.

THE KEN

Bryant Faces Rebuilding Program For '51

By Ken Kuhn, Sports
Publicity Editor

When Paul Bryant took over the reins of the Kentucky football Wildcats five years ago, he calmly proclaimed to sportswriters assembled at his first press conference two highly significant aims for his tutoring administration.

First off, he declared in a language appropriate to the Bluegrass horse country that he was "not interested in place or show."

Secondly, he said in effect that to produce a winner and a football "name" with national prestige for Kentucky would take five years.

That the "five year plan" proved amazingly successful and even more amazingly an accurate timetable of the Wildcats' climb up the national football ladder is attested by the history of the 1950 season that saw Kentucky reach climactic heights in annexing a Sugar Bowl championship at the expense of the nation's number one ranking team — Oklahoma.

Today, a wiser and more experienced Bryant can't be pinned down to such accuracy in his predictions on the prospects of the 1951 version of the gridiron Wildcats. But he figures to start a new "five year plan" and hopes for a stepped up production of winning teams.

The possibilities of taking up where he left off New Year's Day and tutoring another bowl team of the same or better calibre are pretty remote for '51, according to the man who should know.

Faced with what is unqualifiedly termed one of the toughest schedules ever handicapped for a Kentucky eleven and a squad virtually riddled by graduation of key men, Coach Bryant fears that 1951 will be a long, hard winter of re-building a solid foundation for future progress.

The schedule is a man-killer for a veteran team. After opening with Tennessee Tech at home, the Cats jump squarely into the national spotlight to meet one of the toughest opponents of the season — Texas— on its home grounds. The next week they open their defense of the first SEC crown a U.K. grid team ever captured as they meet Ole Miss at Oxford. Next come three toughies at home — Georgia Tech, Mississippi State and Villanova — followed by a long junket to the sunshine state to meet University of Florida. Fast improving Miami of Florida invades to provide homecoming opposition and the following week Kentucky returns to the scene of its greatest victory — the Sugar Bowl — to meet Tulane. George Washington U. is scheduled at Lexington on the next to last week of the season and Tennessee, traditional rival and only club to conquer the '50 Cats, visits the campus in the final contest.

Nineteen lettermen and six non-lettermen were lost from the Sugar Bowl championship squad of last season and create gaps that may prove extremely difficult to plug in the short space of the 1951 season. Seventeen of the 19 K-men were first stringers on either the offensive or defensive units as they lined up for the bowl game. Absences will be felt most keenly in the forward wall, rated as the nation's best (1949) and second best (1950) all around defensive unit. Gone will be such familiar names as All-America tackle Bob Gain, Sugar Bowl "most valuable" Walt Yowarsky, top flight defensive guards Bill Wannamaker and Pat James, and ends Al Bruno, Benny Zaranka and Charlie McClendon.

Only 16 lettermen will be back to form the nucleus for building a creditable team. The fact that only five of the returnees were among the first 22 men of last season leads the coach to declare his prospective squad "the most inexperienced, weakest in reserves of any team we have ever fielded here."

Going into a little detail, Bryant figures he can field one good offensive team dependent upon the support of All-America Quarterback Babe Parilli, back for his final season. He further opines that one fair defensive unit can be organized, but regrets that this also will be his best offensive unit and handicapped by the necessity of doing double duty. He's hoping for a slightly improved running game, but the personnel which will carry most of the burden is a big question mark. Bruising Bill Leskovar, first string full-back last year, is back, along with half-backs Emery Clark and Ed Hamilton, neither of whom played first string on offense last season.

The team shapes up as stronger in team speed, good leadership, and poise and confidence on the part of the older men; and weaker in depth of capable replacements at all positions, inexperience and all-around defensive ability.

Freshmen will be eligible for varsity competition this year due to a relaxed Southeastern Conference ruling, but Coach Bryant puts his lack of faith in any appreciable help from the yearlings in these words: "If anybody's really helped by freshmen this year, I just hope we play that team."

Any conclusions that can be reached on the prospects for a good season in 1951 must be based, in the end, on the age-old question of whether a good offense can overcome a woefully weak defense.

Alex Groza and Ralph Beard, former Wildcat basketball All-Americans and currently co-owners and players with the Indianapolis Olympians, professional team, were named to the All-Pro Five at the close of last season. Theirs was the only team which had two players making the first All-Pro quintet.

Spivey Named Net "Player Of Year"

Bill Spivey, Kentucky's seven-foot junior center, was awarded the Oscar of basketball last year when he was named basketball's player of the year by the Helm's Foundation.

The foundation, which honors athletes and teams for outstanding achievements, also selected the Kentucky Wildcats as the nation's No. 1 quintet.

Spivey was the fourth Kentucky star to be named player of the year by the Helms Foundation; and it was the fourth time Kentucky had been selected as the nation's finest team. Other UK stars who have attained player-of-the-year honors are Forest "Aggie" Sale, 1933; LeRoy Edwards, 1935; and Alex Groza, 1949.

Died-In-The-Wool Wildcats

These two young cowpokes, sons of Ralph Johnston, '37, are headed for Kentucky in the not-too-distant future. They will take up their residence on the campus when they reach college age, as they have been thoroughly indoctrinated by their loyal father. In fact, they are being taught the fine art of handling the round ball, right now.

The trio consists of Stephen Dudley, eight, holding Spooks, the two-year-old cocker; and David Howes, six. Their dad is AP photo editor for the southeastern division, with headquarters in Atlanta.

Don Whitehead Gets '51 Pulitzer Prize

Don Whitehead, distinguished Kentucky alumnus, Associated Press war correspondent and newspaperman, who last spring was voted Long Island University's 1950 award for outstanding wire service reporting, was one of six men to share the 1951 Pulitzer prize for international reporting.

Don attended the University in 1926-'27 and was awarded the honorary LL.D. degree by his Alma Mater in 1948. He began his newspaper career on the Harlan Ky., Daily Enterprise in 1928 and soon became affiliated with the Associated Press. His distinguished record as a war correspondent in World War II was almost unparalleled, and his graphic account of the rapidly shifting events on the Korean front has won for him these additional honors.

Pvt. W. E. Wardman Given Honor Medal

Pvt. William E. Wardman, '50, of Ashland, Ky., has been awarded the American Spirit Honor Medal. The presentation was made at Ft. Knox, Ky., on May 12.

Maj. Gen. Ira P. Swift presented the award to Private Wardman on behalf of the Citizens' Committee for the Army, Navy and Air Force. The citation was "for display of outstanding qualities of leadership best expressing the American spirit, honor, initiative, loyalty and high example to comrades-in-arms."

Private Wardman is now stationed at Ft. Riley, Kan., Co. B, Class 6 A.O.C. He is a graduate of Ashland High School and the University of Kentucky where he was a member of S.A.E. social fraternity. He was formerly employed in the metallurgical department of Armco Steel Corp.

Three Agriculture Men Are Promoted

A new administrative position in agriculture was created by the University Board of Trustees at its quarterly meeting on June 1 and titles of two other agricultural administrators were changed.

Dr. Wesley P. Garrigus, head of the department of animal husbandry, was named associate director of the Agricultural Experiment Station; Prof. L. J. Horlacher, assistant dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics was named associate dean; and Prof. Thomson R. Bryant, assistant director of agricultural extension, was appointed associate director. All of the changes became effective July 1, when Dr. Frank J. Welch, new dean of the college took over as successor to Dean Thomas P. Cooper, who retired on that date.

In other action the Board of Trustees also named Dr. Howard W. Beers, professor of rural sociology and head of the rural sociology department as head of the department of sociology, succeeding Dr. Irwin T. Sanders who will continue as director of the social research-consultation service and the bureau of community service.

The Board also voted to change the name of the school's Dairy Products building to the Thomas P. Cooper Dairy Products building in honor of the retiring dean.

When the 1950-'51 Kentucky Wildcat basketballers were honored at "Recognition Day" ceremonies last April at Lexington, the earliest and latest tournament champion stars got together. Bill King, the Wildcat guard who converted on a free throw to win Kentucky's first Southern Conference Championship in 1921, and Bill Spivey, the "big boy" who led Kentucky to the S.E.C. and N.C.A.A. championships this past season, both were commissioned Kentucky Colonels by Governor Lawrence Wetherby.

Lee Truman, Jr., '50, In U. S. Air Force

Lieut. Truman

Brilliant defensive fullback Lee C. Truman, Jr., of Owensboro, class of 1950, is now first string on another great defensive team, the United States Air Force.

Graduate from the College of Commerce, this outstanding athlete left behind a great record as one of the leading defensive fullbacks in Kentucky's famous football history. Today 2nd Lt. Truman is serving as squadron adjutant of the 4210th Operations Squadron at Hunter Air Force Base in Georgia.

His last season, 1949, saw Kentucky establish an all-time defensive record for a major college in yards allowed an opponent per game per season.

Lt. Truman had been active with the 436th Troop Carrier Wing Reserve at Standiford Field in Louisville before being called to active duty last April. He was associated with the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company and was in the training program of the Commercial Department as a survey engineer.

Group Establishes Cooper Foundation

Articles of incorporation for the Thomas Poe Cooper Agricultural Foundation, a non-profit organization the purpose of which is to "initiate, encourage and conduct scientific research in the various fields, divisions and branches of agriculture and home economics," were filed in Lexington last April.

The corporation also can establish and maintain scholarships and other aids for study of agriculture at the University of Kentucky and can cooperate with others in agricultural and home economics developments, and can disseminate the knowledge obtained.

The articles provided for a board of directors from 15 to 20 members, including the president of the University, dean of the UK College of Agriculture, president of the County Agents' Association, executive secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau, president of the Home Demonstration Agents' Association, secretary of the Kentucky Seed Improvement Association, the University comptroller, agricultural representative of the Kentucky Bankers' Association and president of the Kentucky Homemakers' Association.

The UK Athletics Department is cooperating with the University's Radio Station WBKY by financing the recording and distribution to every radio station in Kentucky, of a record of "On, On, U. of K.," "Alma Mater," "My Old Kentucky Home" and the National Anthem.

The recordings have been made in the UK radio studios and feature the University band, under the direction of Frank J. Prindl.

Resolutions On Mr. Ben Collings' Death

Ben Hays Collings, who died April 3, 1951, in his office in Louisville, was one of the most widely known business men in Kentucky and in many states beyond. He was a graduate of the University in the class of 1911 with a degree from the College of Engineering.

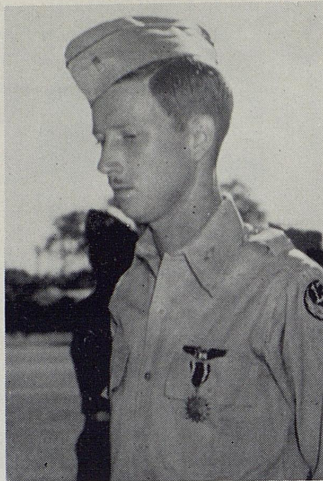

Ben Collings' life meant much to those who knew him well. A friend would hesitate to admire any of his carefully selected treasures lest he might offer it as a gift. He had the faculty of making his many friends a big part of his plans and of making one enjoying his hospitality feel that the party was designed for each one present. His success in business, and it was phenomenal, seemed to make him more and more retiring. A palatial home in Louisville, an enviable establishment in Palm Beach, a lovely boat and many other valuable and beautiful possessions were among his accumulations and he always generously shared them with others.

Perhaps one of the most typical acts of Ben Collings life was his dictation of a record he furnished to the editor of "Who's Who in Kentucky". When the simplest statement of the main events of his life would have filled a column to overflowing, he, Ben Collings, wrote three lines and one word. The notation gave his full name, his home and business address and the fact that he was president of the Andrews Collings Asphalt Company. Three lines was what he wished to give of his life's work to the publisher. It seems almost an intrusion for us to write more.

Ben Collings was married to Miss Bess Hayden, who survives him. A few years ago he established in his wife's honor the "Bess Hayden Collings Scholarship for a highway engineering student." The scholarship was to be administered by the Kentucky Research Foundation.

The subject of this script was a dreamer, a practical and happy dreamer. One could see in his methods and accomplishments the result of the training he received as a student of the University where his great mentor, Dean F. Paul Anderson, often pointed out the majesty and beauty to be found in a bar of cold unwrought iron. Ben Collings saw the possibilities in his ordinary days and wrought them into never to be forgotten service.

Mr. Collings was a member of the Alumni Association and a friend of the University we are trying to serve and we request that this tribute be spread on the minutes of this meeting of May 14, 1951, and that a copy be sent to Mrs. Collings, who is a member of the Board of Directors of the

OWENSBORO PAYS HONOR TO NETTERS

Approximately 300 citizens of Owensboro, a capacity crowd, gathered at the Owensboro County Club last April to honor the Kentucky basketball team at a banquet and testimonial program in which the Owensboro UK alumni, the Owensboro Chamber of Commerce, headed by Dr. Haynes Barr, '23, and other Daviess county civic groups participated.

The entire team and coaching staff were flown to Owensboro by planes supplied by business firms of that city and Dr. Barr presented the group with certificates of merit designating each one an honorary citizen of Owensboro.

William Gant, '47, president of the Daviess County UK Alumni, presided at the dinner and gifts were presented by Berkeley Davis, UK alumnus, to the coaches and members of the team.

NEW YORK HOLDS MID-SUMMER PARTY

New York alumni gathered on June 2 at the home of S. A. Rapier in South Orange, N. J., for what has become an annual party of more than local interest, and approximately 70 alumni and their spouses and dates enjoyed Mr. Rapier's luxurious hospitality and the mint juleps and charcoal broiled steaks presided over and prepared by Milton S. Smith.

The party was planned to honor outgoing President Charles B. Clark who moved to San Francisco, Calif., in June.

Executive Secretary Helen G. King was a guest at the party, and talked briefly about the Alumni Association program for the coming year.

Assisting Mr. Smith, party chairman, were William E. Butler, past president, E. Vernon Albert, newly elected president, and Walter Flippin.

All Four Enjoying Successful Careers

The Ewing family of Anchorage, Alaska, is one Kentucky family which has become a body when the band strikes "On, On, U. of K." All four members of the younger generation are UK alumni, and all four have been loyal to Alma Mater as they have been successful in their chosen careers.

To begin with the oldest, James W. Ewing, or "Jim" as he is known to his University contemporaries, came to the campus in 1924 from Male High School in Louisville and studied engineering here for two years, going later to V.M.I. from where he was graduated in 1929. While a student at UK he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha, Phi Kappa and Blade, Mystic Thirteen and Su-Ky and at present is the associate publisher of his father-in-law, Leigh Harris, publisher of the Henderson, Ky., Enterprise and Journal, where he makes his home. # Annual Report To The Alumni

MINUTES OF BUSINESS MEETING
UK ALUMNI ASSOCIATION,
MAY 31, 1951

The annual meeting of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association was held May 31, 1951, following the annual banquet in the Student Union ballroom.

Judge Edwin R. Denney, president of the Association, presided.

The annual report of the secretary was presented by the executive secretary, Helen G. King, as follows:

It is a distinct pleasure to greet so many alumni of the University of Kentucky this evening and to present to you the secretary's annual report for 1950-51.

The Alumni Association is making sure and steady strides to the point where we of the Alumni Association Executive Committee believe it will become, in the very near future, a militant and forceful organization in the promotion of the best interests of the University of Kentucky.

Our president and fellow alumnus, Dr. H. L. Donovan, has had the wisdom and the vision to see what a strong Alumni Association can mean in the life of a great University and has given his untiring efforts to the promotion of our work. For this we are indeed grateful. President Donovan again this year has loaned us his assistant Dr. Hambleton Tapp in the work of organizing Kentucky alumni clubs and it is with great pride that I can announce to you tonight that 102 out of the 120 counties have active organizations and that in addition to this we have 12 strong metropolitan clubs in key centers in the United States. I also wish to acknowledge publicly the contributions of time, effort and loyalty made to the association this year by our president, Judge Edwin R. Denney, and to credit his leadership with the great progress which we have enjoyed.

Our total membership for the year reached 3,710 which number includes held over life members.

During the year the following achievements have been recorded by the Alumni Association.

The organization of 35 Kentucky clubs and one new metropolitan club.

The erection of a beautiful bronze plaque on the front of Alumni Gymnasium commemorating the achievements of Coach Rupp and his teams.

The sponsoring of the annual football and basketball banquets at which two new awards were set up by alumni of the University—The Samuel L. Huey, Jr. scholastic award to the senior football player attaining the highest scholastic standing, and the A. B. Chandler award to the basketball player most outstanding in scholarship, leadership and athletic ability.

The sponsorship of Alma Magna Mater, which group presented the Alumnus of the Year award to Miss Marguerite McLaughlin at the annual homecoming game last fall.

The presentation of the fourth annual $2,800 four-year all expense scholarship to Wendell Smith Norman of Fulton, Kentucky, who will enter school this fall.

The establishment of coffee and coke hours during examination week for students and faculty in order to create a feeling of interest and understanding in the Alumni Association among those groups.

The obtaining of season football ticket priorities for paid up members of the association.

The presentation for the third year of Golden Jubilee certificates to members of the fifty-year class.

During the year the secretary of the Alumni Association has served on committees planning the dedication of the Coliseum and the Fine Arts building, the Founders Day program and the commencement program. She also has attended innumerable club meetings all over Kentucky and meetings with the following metropolitan clubs: New York, New Orleans, Dayton, Washington, D. C., Louisville, Cincinnati and Philadelphia. In connection with these metropolitan meetings I would like to recognize the work done by the New Orleans club in sponsoring an open house during the Sugar Bowl game and in many ways contributing to the pleasure and enjoyment of 12,000 alumni and other Kentuckians who attended the game. This is one of our youngest clubs and it has done an outstanding piece of work on many occasions. In addition to these meetings the secretary has set up registration at University headquarters at KEA and attended meetings of the American Alumni Council and the Kentucky Press Association as representative of this association.

Early this spring ballots were sent out to active members of the Association to select officers for the 1951-52 year. It is my pleasure to announce the new officers of the association as follows:

President, Louis Cox, Frankfort; vice president, Douglas Parrish, Paris. Three members of the executive committee chosen for three year terms: James S. Shropshire, Lexington; Judge Brady Stewart, Paducah and Frankfort; and Homer L. Baker, Louisville.

Since the graduating classes have become so large we have adopted the custom of asking each college to send to our executive committee April meeting a representative. From this group the committee has chosen one graduating senior to serve as an honorary member of the committee for the succeeding year.

This spring the committee chose Wilbur "Shorty" Jamerson, graduating senior in the College of Education to represent the 1951 senior class on our board.

Various colleges of the University also followed the annual custom of holding elections this spring so that the Alumni office may keep in touch with them.

For the benefit of out-of-town alumni who cannot return to all of the home games the Alumni Association has reserved a small block of seats to the following football games: Georgia Tech, Miami and Tennessee. These tickets will be available to out-of-town alumni only to these games. Incidentally, the Miami, Florida, game on November 3rd has been selected by the committee as the homecoming game this year.

Since my last report to you the Alumni Association has lost a number of outstanding alumni, many of whom have contributed much in time, effort and loyalty to their Alma Mater. At this time I would like to recognize this loss and offer a silent prayer for those men and women who have meant so much to their Alma Mater in years past.

The Alumni office staff consisting of the office secretary, Mrs. J. M. Heidenreich and five student assistants have done an outstanding piece of work this year and the University postoffice has estimated that our department has sent out approximately 130 thousand pieces of mail. I would like for Mrs. Heidenreich to stand and be recognized by the general association and to thank her and the members of the staff publicly for their loyalty and cooperation.

Mr. Carlisle Myers, Jr., in addition to his duties as banquet and reunion chairman, took on the assignment of heading the alumni Loyalty Fund scholarship drive this year and has been of inestimable value to the alumni office in many duties.

Each member of the Alumni board has accepted his individual assignment with enthusiasm and interest and I can say without fear of contradiction that no alumni secretary could have had better cooperation than I have had from these fine men and women on our board. I

It was moved by Mr. Baker, seconded by Mr. Palmore that the secretary's and the treasurer's reports be accepted. Moved and seconded the motion carried.

Judge Denney then asked if any of the standing committees wished to make a report. Mr. Myers, reported for the Loyalty Fund stating that a total of $3,454 had been contributed to the scholarship fund in the 1950-51 fiscal year. He urged everyone present to send in his contribution even though it might be a small one.

Judge Denney then gave his thanks to President Donovan, Dr. Chamberlain, Dr. Tapp, members of the executive committee and Helen G. King for their cooperation during his term as president. He then turned the presidency over to Mr. Louis Cox, the newly elected president.

Mr. Cox greeted the alumni guests and members of the executive committee stating that he would do everything in his power to be of service to the Association.

Mr. Cox announced that the appointment of nominating committees for the Board of Trustees election would be deferred until later in the month, at which time he would be better acquainted with the executive committee membership.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned on motion.

SUE HEIDENREICH (Mrs. J. M.)
Office Secretary

Lieut. Col. Wayland Rhoads, '15, formerly of Lexington, is scheduled to return to this country from Greece where he has been assigned to the Economic Cooperation Administration for the past two years.

Also wish to thank the entire administrative staff of the University for their cooperation. No University can reach the heights without militant, active support of a strong and forceful alumni association. This has been proven innumerable times and I believe that every Kentucky alumnus is ambitious for the further progress and expansion of Alma Mater. With this in mind I am urging you with all the hope and force that I have at my command to get out and work this year for a larger active membership in this association so that when the time comes for us to speak we will have the strength and great numbers to back our arguments.

Next year is a legislative year in Kentucky and the president of this University needs the unqualified backing of every alumnus wherever he may be. It is within your power to manifest your interest by paying your dues in this association and by urging others to do so and also by spreading the gospel of the University to your neighbors, fellow alumni and friends. In this manner, we will be able to assist the administration in making our University truly great as I am sure we do not wish our story of Alma Mater to become a tale told by an idiot full of sound and fury and signifying nothing.

Respectfully submitted,
HELEN G. KING,
Executive Secretary

Mr. Shively then presented the annual audit as follows:

June 4, 1951

Executive Committee of K. Alumni Association
Student Union Building
University of Kentucky
Lexington, Kentucky
Gentlemen:

I have made an examination of the financial records of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association for the period June 1, 1950 through May 31, 1951. The examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such auditing procedures as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion, the accompanying balance sheet and statement of income and expense and surplus, present fairly the financial position of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association at May 31, 1951, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Respectfully submitted,
OLIVER CLAY MAUPIN, JR.

Horlacher Back From South Pacific Trip

Prof. L. J. Horlacher, assistant dean of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, left Lexington the last of February on an international inspection tour of livestock production methods in Hawaii, New Zealand and Australia.

The trans-Pacific trip, sponsored by Pan American World Airways, took Dean Horlacher and a group of 40 Texas livestock breeders on a five-week tour of "down under" cattle and sheep ranches and agricultural experiment stations and to the world's second largest Hereford ranch on the island of Hawaii.

He and Dr. D. W. Williams, president of Texas A. & M. College and the only other educator taking the trip, visited Massey Agricultural College at Palmerston North, New Zealand, famous for its experimental program in grass improvement.

OBITUARIES

WARREN PELTON, 74, of Beaver Dam, a teacher in Kentucky schools for 51 years, died May 31 at St. Joseph Infirmary in Louisville, where he had been a patient for two weeks.

Mr. Peyton had retired in 1947 after serving eight years as superintendent of Ohio county schools. He began his career in a one-room school in Ohio county. He had served as director of teacher certification for 10 years, under three administrations, after taking the post in 1920.

A native of Olaton, Ky., he attended schools in Ohio and Grayson counties and the old National Normal University, Lebanon, Ohio. He held a bachelor's degree from Peabody College, and a masters from the University of Kentucky.

Survivors include his wife, a sister and a granddaughter.

Funeral services and burial were held at Beaver Dam.

J. B. WOOD, 43, of Nicholasville, buyer for the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., died of a heart attack at his home March 26.

A former University student and a member of Sigma Chi social fraternity, Mr. Wood was also Nicholasville circulation agent for the Lexington Herald-Leader. He was a member of the Nicholasville Presbyterian church.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter and a son, his parents and a sister.

Funeral services were held at the Guyn, Kurtz and Hager funeral home in Nicholasville, and burial followed in Maple Grove cemetery there.

CHARLES GOFF DOWNING, 53, of Maysville, died April 29 at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Lexington after a long illness.

A native of Mason county, Mr. Downing attended the University of Kentucky and Mississippi State College. He was a veteran of World War I and was a member of the Kappa Alpha Order.

Survivors include his parents and three sisters.

Funeral services and burial were held in Maysville.

FRANK BLAKE SHINNICK, 54, of Evanston, Ill., formerly of Shelbyville, Ky., died suddenly of a heart attack at his home in Evanston on June 12.

Son of the late Edward D. and Mary S. Shinnick, he attended the University of Kentucky in 1916 and 1917 and was a member of Kappa Sigma social fraternity. He was an advertising executive in Chicago at the time of his death.

Survivors include his wife, Margaret Martinez Shinnick, one son, Charles Edward, a University of Kentucky student; and two brothers, William C., a University alumnus, of Wilmette, Ill., and Edward D. of Lexington.

Funeral services were held at the Catholic church in Evanston June 14, and burial followed in the Holy Family cemetery there.

FORREST T. DALTON, 42, of Houston, Tex., former office manager for Stewart Dry Goods Co. in Louisville, died May 8 in Houston.

A graduate of the University of Kentucky in 1930, Mr. Dalton had lived in Texas since 1940.

Funeral services were held May 10 at Sturgis, Ky.

Survivors include his wife, one son and one brother.

MARY LYONS ATKINS, of Lexington, retired school teacher, died April 24 at a local nursing home following a long illness.

She began her teaching career in Lexington in 1896, following her graduation from the University in 1895. Miss Atkins started teaching at old Johnson school, later transferring to Dudley school and then to Oneida Institute, in Clay county, and at Chances, Washington.

From 1923 to 1925 she was home economics supervisor for Lexington schools and was science teacher at Hunter College, New York, in 1926. She retired in 1940.

A member of the Georgetown Baptist church, Miss Atkins was buried from Kerr Brothers Funeral Home in Lexington, the services being conducted by Rev. E. N. Wilkinson. Interment was in the Lexington cemetery.

Survivors include a sister and three brothers.

MOSES ALPERIN, of Chicago, Ill., formerly of Lexington, died at his home in Chicago on October 1 following an illness of six weeks.

Mr. Alperin was vice president of the Warner Construction Co. in Chicago and had made his home in that city since 1926.

He held the B.S.C.E. degree from the University of Kentucky, obtained in 1923, and the LL.B. degree from the University of Chicago which he received in 1934.

Survivors include his wife, the former Goldie Green.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY:

At the outset I desire to express to all members of the Alumni Association of the University of Kentucky my sincere gratitude upon being selected President for the coming year.

The growth and development of the University has been tremendous during the past few years from the standpoints of scholastic standing, faculty, curriculum, physical plant and athletic attainment. To assist in furthering this progress is clearly a function of the Alumni Association.

The effectiveness of the officers and members of the Executive Committee of the Association will be largely controlled by the degree of assistance and cooperation given by the members of the Association. It is planned that the Committee maintain a closer relationship with the membership during the coming year in an effort to secure a better understanding of the problems and needs of the University and to make more effective such programs as the Association might undertake.

A state university and its alumni association are of necessity dependent upon the entire state. Therefore the roles of County Alumni Associations and of individual members in every county in the state are vitally important to the success of any program of the organization. The Committee shall attempt to secure increasing local participation in every program undertaken during the next year.

With the united efforts of every member, the Alumni Association of the University of Kentucky can have a most successful year. Let each of us dedicate ourselves to making some contribution toward a bigger and better University in 1951.

Sincerely,

LOUIS COX

President
