1911 SENIOR INSPECTION TRIP.

Of Mechanical and Electrical Engineers of State University of Kentucky, to LaFayette, Ind., Chicago and Vicinity.

Conducted by Professors F. Paul Anderson and A. M. Wilson.

Twenty-five half scared and sight-bedazed men collected along-side of track No. 5, in Cincinnati Central Union Depot, March 19th, at 11:25 p. m., where a special car, (soldiers delight) was awaiting them.

After a scramble, the guests of honor were assigned the central lower berth on either side. As some wanted to retire and others to play cards the busy isles were kept in a continuous blockade.

While some were supposedly sleeping, a whirring and thud of pillows from ? (the car ahead) could be heard. This together with the suppressed laughs of the pranksters, and the growls of the sharks, kept the car in excitement until almost day-break.

The sleeper was side-tracked at LaFayette, Ind., sometimes called Purdue, Ind., where the men were entertained by the fraternity men and students. Pres. Stone greeted the men at Mechanical Hall where they were divided into squads and shown thru the buildings. Also Prof. Allen, (University of Michigan), gave a lecture on Engineering in Mexico which the "Colonels" greatly enjoyed. The Purdue men kept the "Corn Crackers" on a tilt all the time and when everything of interest—the co-eds expected, had been seen about the campus, the party started for the gay Morning Glories. The Family, Bohemian and other things, which furnished rich amusement for the Kentuckians.

Upon leaving LaFayette, everyone expressed himself as having enjoyed the courtesy and hospitality extended them by the faculty and students of Purdue University.

Arriving at Chicago, the "chain gang" started to cross Michigan Ave. where they narrowly escaped colliding with the automobiles. This was due to the familiar tone of the police whistle. The Palmer House had its doors wide open, awaiting the arrival of the State University men and bell-boys rushed madly for the "grips". No more than breakfast had been served when Prof. Wilson announced the time of departure was via the "Lake Shore" for Gary, Ind.

Here the men were met by Supt. Gleason and Cutter, '04, who joined the party enroute through the steel mills. Unfortunately some camerists were along and some pictures were taken inside of the plant, but they were turned over to the "safety department" upon departing for gay old "Chi."

The ——— '09 and '10 were awaiting the men in the Palmer House Lobby upon their return only to find that a previous engagement was reserved for Prof. Wilson, who was to escort the men to the Fisk and Quarry St. Stations of the Commonwealth Edison Company.

Tired and sore the "Colonels" took to the tug "Harrison" next morning for the intake in Lake Michigan, where a high sea drowned the grouch and sprayed their hopes. The cool water and stiffness of the breeze put everyone in good humor and close touch for a landing was impossible and they had to seek refuge in the Chicago River from whence they came.

The Chicago Avenue and Central Park Pumping Stations were also visited, where were seen the large vertical, triple, expansion types of Allis-Chalmers and Worthington pumps.

In the evening every one of the party fell asleep only to awake on the morrow and find themselves, after a visit to South Side Elevator Power Plant and Coliseum Exhibit of Maintenance of Way, the guests of the Purdue Alumni at the Boston Oyster House for luncheon.

The Pullman Palace Car Shops were also visited during the afternoon. Here the men were stripped of their cameras to prevent them from photographing any new ideas on sleeping quarters.

Armour & Co. introduced the Kentuckians next morning to their live and dead members of the firm and escorted them through the plant after which they extended a cordial invitation for luncheon which was gratefully accepted.

The Hawthorne plant of the Western Electric Co., was inspected in the afternoon. Here many friendships and acquaintances were renewed as there were quite a number of Kentucky men employed in the various branches throughout the plant.

The last day was the best of all, being optional as to the places of interest visited. These were as follows:

The Chicago "Main" Telephone Exchange, Art Institute, Automobile Row, Matinee in the afternoon and the Alumni Banquet in the evening at the Great Northern Hotel concluded the week's program.

The Chicago Alumni Association of Kentucky State University entertained with a banquet, James W. Carnahan presiding as Toast Master, with President Stone, of Purdue, Prof. Anderson, Prof. Wilson and the Senior Mechanical and Electrical Students as guests of honor. Many interesting speeches and short talks were responded to by the witty and humorous Toast Master and his aides up until late in the night. After many hardy hand-shakes, the party broke up, leaving upon the guests and Alumni, a pleasant and happy occasion remembrance of occasions not soon to be forgotten.

Those who took the trip are as follows:

J. A. Boyd,
J. Campbell,
P. R. Cassidy,
M. A. Cleveland,
C. E. Daniel,
O. L. Day,
E. T. Douglas,

W. W. Stevenson,
R. S. Webb.

Prof. Frankel accompanied the party as far as LaFayette, Ind.

A COMMON BOND.

Library Closed on Saturday Afternoon.

One of the characteristics of a Freshman is to wonder at the new surroundings that he finds on entering college. He wonders at the number of students that he sees, at the number of Professors, at the length of the lessons assigned, at the massive monument of "Clay" which towers above the old dormitory. But he ceases to wonder at such commonplace events as these, when, at last, he loses himself in one of the many volumes to be found in our library.

In due time the first Saturday afternoon arrives, and having nothing to do, and knowing that nowhere can he find better companions than among good books, he contentedly turns his steps towards the library. Behold his disappointment when he finds that it is closed on Saturday afternoon.

Again he wanders and wonders why this should be so. In turn he asks a Sophomore, a Junior and a Senior, and by this, he finds that he has at least one thing in common with them; for all wonder why the library is not open on Saturday afternoon.

Close Contestants.

Mr. Miller the Winner.

On last Saturday evening the annual oratorical contest of the Patterson Literary Society was held in the University Chapel in commemoration of the birthday of Dr. Patterson. It was well attended by a sympathetic and enthusiastic audience and each of the three speakers was greeted with much applause.The result of the contest was very close, each contestant holding the attention of the audience from the first and acquitting himself very crediably indeed, and, as Dr. Patterson expressed it in awarding the medal, each one was honored by having been pitted against such able opponents.Mr. J. I. Miller, of Lexington, was awarded the beautiful gold medal.Mr. Miller is one of the most popular members of the Junior Class and a promising student in the College of Arts and Science. His subject was "Intelligent Patriotism."The very interesting program, which consisted of the speeches and music, was as follows:Opening Address Prof. Worthington

On Sunday afternoon at half past four o'clock, Vesper Services will be held in the Chapel.Dr. Terrell will deliver his illustrated lecture on Greek Religion. Dr.
Terrell, in addition to being perfectly familiar with ancient classical Greece, has traveled afoot throughout the whole of Modern Greece, and is thoroughly acquainted with the beliefs and characteristics of the historic and present day Greeks.Dr. Terrell's lecture is both instructive and intensely interesting; many of the films that will be shown were made by Dr. Terrell himself while traveling in this beautiful country.In addition to the lecture, Prof.
Farquahr will sing a baritone solo, and Mr. Watts will render a violin solo with Miss Boreing as accompanist.Do not forget the time and place.

Scientists Spend Enjoyable Day.

Wondrous Things Occur.

The Scientific Division of the University comprising the departments of Geology, Botany and Civil Engineering, made their annual trip to Natural Bridge last Saturday under the direction of Profs. Miller, Gilbert
Jameison, Sphar, Dean Hamilton, Miss McCann and Miss Dickson, of Sayre, added to the intellectual atmosphere of the trip, while the Patterson Hall Girls gave additional charm to the beautiful Spring day and the romantic setting of the bridge.Numerous were the reasons for that trip, and numerous were the results.
But one of the surprises of that delightful day was when one of the shyest young ladies became quite a "Babb-ler."Michigan students are assessed a library fee of two dollars, the money to be devoted to the purchasing of new books.Athletic Rally in Chapel Friday.—

Misses Gressom, Baxter and Oldham, have returned to school.

The "Courtship of Miles Standish" was portrayed by living pictures on Friday evening. Misses Cochran, Vuran and Weller took the parts of "Priscilla," "John Alden" and "Miles Standish."

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETS.

College of Civil Engineering to Have Its Own Dean.

At a recent session of the Executive Board, the proposed measure, by which the College of Civil Engineering and Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, were to be placed under the direction of one Dean, was rescinded.

This measure was postponed at a former meeting of the Board and since then has met general disfavor and the final action meets the accord of all.

The sentiment of the student is inclined strongly toward the present ruling, not because of any lack of sympathy between the two colleges, but for the reason that their work is essentially different and one man at the head of the two could not promote the interests of both as well as could two men, each as dean of his special college.

After due consideration the Board arrived at this conclusion and accordingly Prof. Rowe will remain Dean of the College of Civil Engineering.

IF HE THIRST, GIVE HIM DRINK.

For many years it has been the custom of the Seniors to plant a tree on Arbor Day, as a lasting class memorial. And today, thanks to that custom, many are the times when the student stretches his weary form beneath the cool shade of the thriving poplars, thanking those who long ago, with fitting ceremonies, placed the sod around their tender roots.

The class of '05, however, wishing to depart somewhat from the usual practice, and believing that, to fill "those who thirsteth", was as necessary in producing happiness as the provision of a haven of rest for the "heavy-laden", erected a beautiful fountain between the Main and Chemistry Buildings. It was artistically constructed of rough stone with a large, brass lion head in the center and the class was justly proud of it in the realization that a long-felt want has been supplied; that the student need no longer suffer inconvenience from the scarcity of water on the campus. At the dedicatory exercises, the class orator pictured with enthusiastic eloquence how, on future days when the sun shown down with pitiless energy, withering the blades of grass, groups of care free lads and lassies would gather around the flowing water as they drank from its crystal depths, would murmur hearty thanks to the class of 1905.

But ah! fond dream for "it was only this and nothing more."

Time has plodded on, and the members of that thoughtful band are scattered far and wide. Some are bearing, with unflinching steps, the torch of Ambition towards the highest pinnacle; some, the flame burning but dimly, are still clinging to the perlious crags below; while a few have passed over the steps and their light has gone out forever. Yet on the campus of old K. S. U. the massive head of the fountain lion rests quietly beneath the granite dome, and the dust of years has accumulated on the tongue which protrudes from the open mouth. Never, has one drop of water oozed forth to cool the brazen lips. Patiently he is waiting for the words of the young orator, on that day so many years ago to come true.

Vast changes have taken place before his ceaseless vigil. Buildings have been erected. Other improvements have been made. Familiar faces have vanished, to be replaced by strangers. The merry voices from the groups gathered upon the campus for the annual tree-planting, sound like a taunt to his weary ears. In the past, a great many thirsty students halted before him, but upon seeing the empty basin, passed on with a mocking laugh. They never come now. Oh no—the place is shunned like an abode of evil spirits. The poor old creature has grown very lonely of late—so lonely—as, with staring eyes, he waits for, in the words of the popular ballad, "Some Day When Dreams Come True."

Game Every Day.

In order to give every man a fair chance to make the team, Coach Ingles has arranged for games every day this week. No admission is charged, and with the line ups given out, the game should be close.

These games not only afford good practice for all the men, but, now that the stage fright has worn off of the new men, give them all an equal chance to show what they can do in a real engagement. Coach Ingles stated that he will probably pick his team this week and all the new men are working hard for places on the team with a chance of making their letters. This year there are four wind pad artists out, Wesley,

Reese, Gower and Woodson, and Saturday will probably see Wesley, Reese and Woodson working three innings each. Gower being ineligible on account of not having signed up in time for the K. I. A. A. Capt. Meadors will probably start out with Beatty, relieving him about the last four innings. Young and Robinson are fighting it out for First Base and both are good men. Burress will in all probability hold the Keystone sack, as will Preston and Scott cover up Short and Third respectively. "Spot" Giltner will be seen courting around center while in left field Coach Ingles will try out Lee, a new man who is showing up well. Farmer will be given a chance in Right Garden.

Now right at 'em boys and make it a shut-out. The line-up for the daily games are as follows:

Regulars:

Reese and Wesley, Catchers.
Beatty and Rice, Pitchers.
Young and Vogliotti, 1st Base.
Burress, 2nd Base.
Preston, Short Stop.
Scott, Third Base.
Lee, Left Field.
Giltner (Capt.) Center Field.
Farmer, Right Field.
Yannigans.

Gower and Woodson, Catchers.
Meadors (Capt.), Lewis and Woodson, Pitchers.
Robinson, 1st Base.
Turner, 2nd Base.
Wall and Morrison, Short Stops.
Cassidy, Left Field.

TRACK ATHLETICS PROMISING.

In last week's issue of the Idea, the aging for track prospects this year, but since then the men are beginning to come out and begin training hard.

Coach Iddings is giving every man his individual training and coaching and is much gratified at the way the men grasp all the details and apply them. The squad is beginning to grow large and one can't help feeling optimistic over the efforts shown by the various candidates.

In the dashes, Needy, Roth, Miller and Kohn are showing up well.

"Bill" Collins is in a class by himself in the long distance events, last year capturing every event he entered in this department.

Johnson is out for the weights and should make a valuable man.

In the hurdle, Utley, who, it will be remembered, two years ago showed such good form, is working hard now and showing good form again.

May, Hart and Noel are trying out for the high jump. If his ankle will allow it, Threlkeld will come out for the half mile.

State should easily be fighting hard for first place in any meet she enters.

Texas won the Southern Intercollegiate meet last year, with Clemons as second, but this year it is expected that State will enter and these two teams will have to work hard, mighty hard, to hold their athletic laurels and keep our speedy athletes from wrestling these laurels from them.

Pretty soon it will be too late to come out so do it now. Get into some track clothes and report to Coach Iddings and everybody join in and help turn out one of the best track teams that ever represented Old State.

Coach Iddings stated Monday that he is much gratified with the improvement the men are showing and the numbers coming out. Next week the Idea will publish a list of all candidates and for what they are trying.

TENNIS CLUB ORGANIZED.

Next Meeting Friday, Chapel Hour, in Prof. Milcher's Room.

At last a Tennis Club has been organized and started upon its way.

Last Friday at Chapel hour, Mr. Marx, acting as temporary chairman, until a President could be elected, called the meeting to order and after a few remarks as to the purpose of the Club and its position in College Athletics, called for the election of a President.

Mr. W. E. Hobson, '11, of Frankfort, Kentucky, was unanimously elected President, but owing to his absence Mr. Marx conducted the meeting.

The following officers were then chosen:

Miss "Jo" Boreing, Vice-President.
Mr. J. R. Watson, Treasurer.
Miss Acker, Secretary.

After a short talk by Mr. Marx on the Tennis prospects for this year, and the healthy exercise afforded by this branch of athletics, President Barker, who was present, spoke on the good chance the girls had in the game for recreation and exercise, and said he approved all kinds of athletics.

He was very much interested in starting this movement as showed by the fact that he subscribed $25 for the maintenance and building of a new court on the land recently purchased by the University, corner of Winslow and Lime, if suitable.

So with President Barker interested and all the members of the club working hard, a bright and successful season is predicted.

All the officers are well chosen and capable and should easily lead the club over the bad places that every club has at the beginning.

President Hobson will doubtless name his committees next meeting as well as bringing up the fee questions, so everyone interested, be present.

UNION SOCIETY CONTEST.

Saturday Evening, April 1st, 8 p. m.

Everybody Invited.

The Union Literary Society will hold its annual Oratorical Contest in the Chapel on Saturday evening, April 1st, at 8 o'clock, p. m.

There will be four orations, delivered by Messers Moore, Tinsley, Sandman and Bouden.

In addition, President Taylor will deliver the welcome address of the evening. There will be music and heaps of oratory, and an invitation is extended to each and every member of the faculty and students of the Institution.

Seats will be reserved for each Professor and his family and for each student and "her", if they will apply before noon Friday.

Admission free.

ARTISTS!

Get Busy With Pen and Ink.

The "Strollers" Dramatic Club will award two of the best seats to the "Brown of Harvard" play, to the artist submitting the best cover design for the souvenir program of the play.

The drawings must have the proportions of seven to four, and should be suggestive of the play.

Two or three colors may be employed, but all drawings must be in pen and ink only, accompanied with a sketch to show color scheme.

Submit all drawings to Business Manager Sanders or Earnest Becker not later than April 6th, as that is the last day they will be accepted.

These drawings may be used on the posters, and besides the honor of having his name attached to them, the successful artist will be able to take his girl to the best play ever seen in Lexington and sit in isle seats in the third row without costing him a cent, except for the ice cream afterwards.

Remember, April 6th is the last day

In accordance with the rapid development of mining in Kentucky and the steady growth of the department of Mining in this institution, the name of the College of Mining Engineering has been changed to the College of Mines and Metallurgy. By this action the Board of Directors have shown their faith in the good work being done by this department and in the great future in the development of the mineral resources of the State. No other state in the union has so much to offer in mining as Kentucky and the demand for the trained Mining Engineers is so great that the supply at present is, in part, being met from other states.

The college of Mines and Metallurgy is made up of the following:

1. School of Mining Engineering.
 - (a) A four years' course which leads to the degree of E. M.
 - (b) A Two years course which leads to a certificate.
 - (c) A Ten weeks course.
2. School of Metallurgy.

This leads to the degree of Met. E.
3. School of Extension.

Dr. James H. Gardner will give an illustrated lecture at Dudley School Friday evening on the Cliff Dwellers. Dr. Gardner has spent a great deal of time in Geological work for the U. S. Geological Survey in New Mexico and his lecture will be illustrated by slides made from photographs taken by himself.

There will be a special meeting of the Kentucky Mining Society Thursday, March 30th, Chapel Hour.

Every member is requested to be there.

Mr. C. H. Wardle has returned to his duties after a week's stay in the mountains, where he was gathering data for his Thesis.

After a trip of ten days' duration, Mr. K. D. White, has again reported for work.

Kessack went to Louisville to gather information for his Thesis.

The heaviest football player at Yale since 1900, weighed 265 pounds; the tallest man was six feet four inches; and the oldest was twenty-six years.

HIPPODROME.

While the bill at the Hippodrome is not nearly so pretentious as some of the shows which have been offered there during the last several weeks, there are four good acts which make a pleasing hour's show.

The bill opens with the two Juggling Johns, who go through some lightning work with the clubs, introduce a number of novelties and throw in some acrobatic work for good measure. The work of the smaller member of the team with a half dozen rubber balls is wonderful and brought down the house repeatedly. Both boys work hard and fast and the twelve or fifteen minutes they are on the stage are brim full.

The Two Heisler Sisters have a good act, but for some reason failed to catch on with the first day's audiences as they should. Their changes are made quick, the singing material is new and both girls have fairly good voices. As the week progresses their act should and probably will be better received and more appreciated.

Rego, a harpist, who evidently hails from "Sunny Italy", is the hit of the show with a harp which he says cost $1,500. If the price of the harp has anything to do with the excellence of the music, Rego received full value for his money. His selections run all the way from grand opera to rag time and all are handled with the same delicate finesse. His line of broken

English keeps up a continued titter which increased to a small sized riot when the harp gave forth "Wearin' of the Green," "Casey Jones" and "Chicken Reel."

Downey, Willard and Swain, in the worthy sketch, "A Call on the Doctor" have a most laughable offering. The sketch is conspicuous on account of the absence of anything resembling suggestiveness, and is of the sort which makes one want to see it again. The make up of the doctor is a work of Art and the Irish characterization is one of the best ever seen here. As the closing act, it fits admirably and sends everyone away in highly good humor. Y

JUNIOR MECHANICALS AT HOME AFTER INSTRUCTIVE TRIP.

"Gee, But We Saw Some Machinery."

Last Saturday night, the Junior Mechanical Students returned home from a four days' through Cincinnati, Dayton and Hamilton, Ohio Machinery plants. All were tired and even some were so tired they never got entirely back until Monday night.

They said their program was so well filled that they had no time or energy to get loose and have some real fun. From early breakfast till supper at eight o'clock, it was walk, all the time, and see something new.

In an interview with one of the returned the junior was asked, "did you see much machinery?" He suddenly broke out, "gee I should say we did". I saw an engine as high as that old dormitory, and it had the biggest drivewheels."

Their experience was very profitable. They saw more than they expected in every city, and the fact that the National Cash Register Co., completes a register every thirty seconds seemed wonderful.
